KILLS HERSELF AFTER DANCE.

Girl Suffering From Melancholia Takes Gas in Bathroom.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Miss Camille Cerny, 20 years old, committed suicide after returning from a dance she had attended with her fiance, Bernard Lutinet, of 490 West Seventy-Eighth Street, Manhattan, at Sokol Hall, 420 East Seventy-Eighth Street. The girl was a stenographer employed by the Robert Gair Company of Brooklyn, and was said by her mother to have been suffering from periodic attacks of melancholia since her recent separation from her sister, who went to the country to recover from a nervous breakdown.

The body was found in the bathroom, a tube from an open jet beside the girl's mouth. Mr. Lutinet said there had been no disagreement and that Miss Cerny seemed to enjoy the dance. On the way home, he said, she began to weep suddenly, but he ascribed this to nervousness.

THE DRAMA IN OLD LONDON

By Hugh Dryden,
(Staff Correspondent Cross-Atlantic.)

LONDON, Feb. 10. — "The Blue Bird" with a love interest—that best describes Materlinck's "The Betrothal," which is a sequel to the former play ,and has been produced with exquisite taste and beauty at the Gaiety Theatre. Tyltyl, now a youth of sixteen, is to choose a sweetheart, and six lovely maidens are sumomned by the fairy Berylune. In his choice he is assisted by those of his family who have departed and those who are yet to come—a revival of the pretty idea of the "unborn children" in "The Blue Bird." It is none of the six, however, who wins the heart of Tyltyl, but the little girl to whom he gave the blue bird, and who, vailed and silent till neary the end, is finally reveaed as "joy." In this role, Miss Gladys Cooper is a vision of grace and beauty. And there is a scene of wonderful delicacy where one of the babies- to-be recognizes her as its future mother.

All London is talking about the artistic treat provided by this Maeterlinck fantasy which is indeed a thing of beauty. So it should be when such men as Charles Ricketts, for the scenery and costumes, Novikoff for the dances, Armstrong Gibbs for the music, and Granville Barker, for the production, are concerned in it.

Oldest English Comedy.

The oldest authentic English comedy, "Ralph Roister Doister," by Nicholas Udall, headmaster of Eton nearly 500 years ago, was performed in the Abbot's Dining Hall, Westminster School, for the benefit of the Westminster Abbey Restoration fund. This play, described as "a comedy or interlude, with musick and ayres," is interesting from an antiquarian viewpoint, dating as it does from before the birth of Shakespeare, and it was performed with quite the sixteenth century spirit. The play concerns the absurd amorous insistency of Ralph Roister Doister, a silly fellow whom Mr. Eric Bush made a cross between a dolled-up Henry VIII and an anaemic Falstaff, towards a certain widow, Dame Christian Constance.

Roister is, frankly, a fool. This was, of course, the fault of the author. The whole company, young men from Oxford and charming and talented young women, headed by Miss Kitty Ashton, played spiritedly, at times boisterously, against the handicaps of such old-fashioned theatre tricks as having to pretend they did not see someone else two yards off ,and mking long speeches to an empty stage.

Shortest Play Ever.

The shortest play ever presented on the English stage is to be included in the "Brand Guignol" bills at the Litte Theatre. Though the action occupies a little under seven minutes, it is claimed that it contains the whole story of the tragedy of three lives. Its title is, "The Shortest Story of All," and the author is G. E. Morrison.

"A Safety Match."

"A Safety Match," adapted by Ian Hay from his novel with the same title is in seven scenes without the orthodox arrangement in acts, and suffers accordingly from lack of form. It is a series of incidents rather than a play, the most striking showing a mine accident with entombed colliers singing "Hold the Fort." Arthur Bourchier is "Juggernaut Carr," the strong silent capitalist, who weds the penniless person's daubhter (Kyrle Bellew). The play was favorably received at the Strand Theatre; but a novel adapted for the stage is not necessarily a play.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as? indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache, and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness, or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments, and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antiacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestents. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

MOTHER OF 14 HAD A LONG, HARD STRUGGLE

Toronto Woman Says Life Seems Altogether Different Since Taking Tanlac, For She's Well and Happy

"Life just seems altogether different since I've taken Tanlac, for I'm well and happy once more," said Mrs. Mary A. Cooney, of 1115 College St., Toronto, Ont. Mrs. Cooney is the mother of fourteen children. She had six sons in the late war, four of them were actively engaged on the battlefields in France nearly four years. Continuing, Mrs. Cooney said:

"I certainly had a long, hard struggle with bad health, and it seemed that I might as well quit trying to ever get well. I was simply broken down and was suffering all the time. My stomach was badly disordered, and I never felt like eating. I would bloat up dreadfully, and often became so weak and fainty I had sinking spells.

"My back hurt awfully, and I had frequent headaches. Then I had rheumatism in my arms and shoulders and the pains were so severe I could not raise my hand to my head. The joints in my knees ached terribly, and often I could hardly walk. I went to bed tired, got up tired, and all through the day felt so weak and dizzy I broke down lots of times and had to give up and go to bed.

"That is how I suffered, but I'm thankful that it is all over with. Tanlac was a Godsend to me, and I feel it is my duty to do all I can to tell others about it. It restored my health completely, and I haven't so much as a pain of any kind now. My appetite is just splendid, and my digestion seems to be perfect, for everything I eat agrees with me just fine. Tanlac certainly is a wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold by The Warne Drug Company, Ltd. (Advt.)

HUMANITE EDITOR SEIZED.

Two Other Persons Also Arrested in Paris as Red Ploters.

PARIS, Feb. 9. — Three arrests were made here in connection with a plot against the internal safety of the Republic, which already has caused the expulsion of several Russian Communists from France.

Those taken into custody were M. Dunois, acting editor of Humanite; M. Griffuelhes, former secretary of the General Federation of Labor, and Alfred Mignot, a commercial traveler.

The three have been asked to explain how they came into possession of checks for 10,000 francs each signed by Dr. Zalenski, alias Abramovitch, known as "the Eve of Moscow." M. Griffuelhes was released when he explained that he was acting for a third party, although the charge against him was not withdrawn.

LOOKING FORWARD FOR BRITAIN

(By LOVAT FRASER)

(Special Correspondence, Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

With the unemployed increasing in numbers every day, it is not easy to say that the outlook for 1921 is brighter than the position a year ago. Yet I think it is healthier and more sane, and that is a great gain.

If we have not yet reached rock-bottom, I trust we are very near it. At least we know where we stand. The dreams have vanished, and it is far better to be face to face with realities.

The first problem to be faced during the coming year is retrenchment. Ministers know it, business men know it, and labor knows it. Even Dr. Addison, though I am told he continues to bluster a good deal, begins to perceive that policy must bear some relation to a dwindling revenue.

It requires courage to say that the outlook abroad and in the overseas Dominions is better than it was when 1920 dawned, but I venture to make the assertion. There is less war talk in the air. All nations are realizing that the whole world is in an economic plight, and with that wholesome realization will come efforts to get things straight.

The danger of world-revolution has receded. The bulk of the people in most countries have seen Russian Bolshevism with the lid off. They know now what it means, and are not in the mood to try the cure of Leninism, which means class slaughter followed by chaos and starvation.

France and Belgium are steady, and Italy is far more stable than seemed possible a few months back. In this country we are not quite so anxious as Marshal Foch about Germany. He is right to draw attention to the German forces of reaction, but, as in our own land, the real danger in Germany lies in the possibility of financial collapse.

Our financial perils are curable enough, if the Government and the public take the right path. In Germany the risks are more imminent and less capable of ready solution. Revolutions are bred out of despair, and Germany has to reckon both with her reactionaries and her extremists. Yet there is still a great preponderance of middle-view Germans, and I should be inclined to back their influence against either the Ludendorffs in silly disguises, or the men who are hand in glove with Moscow.

Though the Entent with France has been subjected to occasional strain, it remains a firm reality. France may rest assured that the bulk of the people of this country desire to stand shoulder to shoulder beside her, as we did upon the battlefield. Popular opinion here continues to take the view that the ties which unite us to France require no fuller definition, and it is quite uncertain that our people are not in the least disposed to engage in any more wild-goose chases in any part of the world. We have neither the money nor the inclination for adventures.

With these qualifications, it may be regarded as axiomatic that this country is heart and soul for the continuance of the Entente. We believe that France and Great Britain must stand as solid buttresses, around which the rest of the Western world may gradually emerge from a sea of troubles.

Russia remains an enigma, and though he seems to have gone there with the best intentions, no visitor has shed less light upon the country than Mr. H. G. Wells. His talk with Lenin told us nothing at all. Apart from the technical and other issues involved, I am no believer in the possibility of any large development of trade with Russia until her form of "government" is modified or changed. Trade is only possible under an administration conducted by sane and practical men, and the Bolshevists are neither. Among a people less helpless than the Russians, Lenin would not have lasted a month.

1 Pill a Laxative, 2 Pills a Cathartic, 3 Pills a Purgative,

This is the Way Millburn's Laxa-Liver Pills Work.

You will never use any of the old griping, nauseating, sickening, purging pills, containing as they do calomel and other drastic mineral ingredients, once you use Milburn's Laxa-Liver, a pill that is purely vegetable.

Owing to the great care used in procuring the highest grade of drugs from which they are manufactured, they are as near perfect as it is possible to get a laxative remedy.

They work gently and effectively, without a gripe or pain.

If you are troubled with constipation, biliousness; driven to distracton with sick headaches, if your tongue is coated, your breath bad, your complexion muddy, your eyes yellow, have floating specks before the eyes, jaundice, itching, bleeding or protruding piles, stir up your sluggish liver with a few doses of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills.

Mrs. Roy Mackie, Orillia, Ont., writes:—"I desire to express my thanks for the relief I have had by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I had been suffering for some time from constipation and bad headaches. I tried all sorts of cures, which did me no good, until I was advised to try your pills. I got great relief after taking only a few doses."

THERE'S GOOD IN EVERY MAN.

That there is good in every man, no matter how despicable he may eb, is clearly shown in the new Paramount Artcraft picture, "The Ladder of Lies" starring Ethel Clayton, which comes to the Allen theatre for two days, Friday and Saturday.

Irving Cummings, is said to have one of the strongest heavy roles in which he has yet appeared. Throughout the picture he incurs the hate of an audience, but at the last moment, he does something that will go a long ways towards restoring a person's faith in his fellow men.

DACHSHUND BACK IN FAVOR AGAIN

ENGLISH WOMEN DOG FANCIERS NOW SHOWING ALSATIAN WOLF DOG.

By HUGH DRYDEN

(Staff Correspondent Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 11. — Women change the fashions in dogs nearly as often as they whisk from one style of hat or skirt to another. The recent Ladies' Kennel Club show brought out an entirely new canine breed, the Alsation wolf dog, and also demonstrated that the Dachshund is once again in favor. People have commented on this fact with surprise, remarking that it is hardly decent to admit German dogs to our kennels so soon after the war. But the devotees of the Dachshund retort that he is no more German than English—perhaps less so—and that he is identical with the old English turnspit that centuries ago was kept in the kitchens of baronial mansions to run in the wheel that turned the roasting meat. Anyhow, the Dachshunds on show were declared to be of good English stock and not importations from Germany.

The Alsation wolf dog resembles a short-coated collie, but is wilder. This clever dog has become highly prized since the war. Many soldiers in France saw and admired him and got him past the English quarantine.

In Alsace the wolf dog is much used for herding sheep, on the ground, perhaps, that a thief makes a good detective, for he was originally a cross between wolf and dog. There is talk among the English breeders of training wolf dogs for police work here. The experts at the show were enthusiastic about the intelligence of the wolf dog, but said that in spite of their rather savage look they are "frightfully timid." They can be easily trained into ferocity. They are expensive, a good pup costing from $100 to $200.

The Pekinese is still a favorite women's pet. There were many of these spoilt darlings at the show, lolling in their satin-lined boudours and submitting with bored condescension to the adoration of their admirers.

FOR THE SMALL APARTMENTS

The new miniature upright grand piano, made by Ye Olde Firme Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterboro, has become one of the most popular pianos of the present day. So many people are to-day living in apartments, duplex houses or bungalows where the rooms are limited in size that this particular piano meets just the want of a very large number of people. But what is also of importance it is a case of getting a Heintzman & Co., upright grand with all the features that has given this piano pre-eminence at a very moderate price.

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR HOLY VOLUMES

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Feb. 11.—Thousands of people attended a Jewish ceremony at Prague, where the Chief Rabbi of Brody and the clergy in their clerical dress carried through the streets portions of copies of the Old Testament which were mutilated when the Jewish synagogue was stormed on November 17. The books were interred in the oldest European Jewish cemetery near the grave of the famous Rabbi Loew.

Prague is one of the oldest Jewish congregations in Europe and Rabbi Loew, who lived in the middle ages, is still the object of veneration by orthodox Jews. According to tradition, he was one of the few elect who had mastered the secrets of Kaballa, the Jeiwsh "Black Art."

Kaballa, according to the Jewish belief, imparts supernatural powers and its disciples can press the angels into their service. Rabbi Loew, says the legend, had created out of dust and clay a sort of human being, a "Golem," who acted as his man-servant, did chores and made himself generally useful.

This Golem, as an unholy being, was not allowed to "live" on the Sabbath, and every Friday at sunset the Rabbi turned him into a heap of dust, to revive him again on Saturday night. Unfortunately the Rabbi, absent-minded like many great men, forgot to scrap his Golem one Friday night and the Golem ran amuck. He demolished houses, and threatened even the synagogue. The Jews fled in terror, but the learned Rabbi by dint of Kaballa exercised and tamed him. "Black Saturday" is still a day of penitence, fasting and prayer in Prague, strictly observed by all orthodox Jews.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before eating more food.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

COMPETITION FOR DESIGNS FOR MEMRIALO

CANADIAN WAR MEMORIAL CONTEST AROUSES INTEREST ABROAD

(Special Correspondence, Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Great interest is being taken here in art circles over the announcement that the Canadian Government has decided to hold a competition for the design of the Canadian memorials that are to be erected on the battlefields of France.

The assessors will be Frank Darling, representing the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada; Paul P. Cret, who is nominated by the Societe Centrale des Architectes Francais to represent the architects of France, and Professor C. H. Reilly, of Liverpool, who has been appointed to represent the Royal Institute of British Architects by the president, John W. Simpson. The assessors will assemble in Canada in the spring to arrange the details of the competition.

Voice Of The People

Peterborough, Ont., Feb. 10th, 1921.

To the Editor of The Evening Examiner, City:

Dear Sir,—In your issue of the Evening Examiner of February 9th, page six, you had an article re service medals, where it says, that only those who have seen service in France are entitled to the medals. But this is entirely wrong. A proclamation, which can be seen in the local post office, reads as follows: "His Majesty the King has been graciousy pleased to authorize the issue of the British war medal to personel who rendered approved service overseas between the dates of Aug. 5th, 1914, and Nov. 11th, 1918, and the Victory medal to personel who served on the establishment of an authorized unit in a theatre of war, between the dates of Aug. 4th, and Nov. 11th, 1918, provided the claims are approved by the competent military authorities."

If it doesn't take too much space in your paper I will give you herewith another proclamation which was issued some time ago.

The riband of the British war medal was officially issued for the peace celebrations in July 1919. It is orange in the centre, watered, with stripes of white and black on each side and borders of royal blue. The medal is circular in shape, and bears on the reverse the effigy of King George, holding a short sword in his hand and mounted on a charger. One foot of the latter is placed on a shield emblazoned with the Prussian eagle, and the sun in full splendor is seen at the top. The dates of the war, 1914-1918 appear on each side. This medal is awarded to all officers and men who left their native shores in any part of the British Empire, whether they eventually entered a theatre of war or not. Men who left the United Kingdom to garrison any part of the British Empire, and equally men from the Dominions who came to England, but did not later go to France, will therefore be entitled to this medal. Women are also entitled to it, if they were enrolled under a direct contract of service for service with the Imperial forces. The Allied or Victory medal was decided upon at the Peace Conference in Paris in March, 1919. The riband, identical for all the Allied countries, consists of two rainbows joined in the centre with red. The shades run from purple at each edge, through blue, green, yellow and orange to the red in the centre. The medal is to be circular and struck in bronze, with plain rim. The lines of the design are, Obverse, a winged figure of Victory, full length in the centre and full face, the borders and background plain without either inscription or date.

Reverse—To bear the inscription, "The Great War of Civilization," translated into the different languages, and either the coats of arms or the names of the different allied and associated powers. This medal is awarded to all officers and men who served on the establishment of an authorized unit in a theatre of war between the dates of Aug. 4th, 1914 and Nov. 11th, 1918.

So any man of the C.E.F. who came as far as England is entitled to the British war medal and any man who fought or was in France, Belgium or in any other theatre of war is entitled to the British war medal and the Victory medal. The local post office will issue free to every man, who served in the C.E.F. an application postcard which has to be filled out and sent postage free to Ottawa.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space you have given me, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
EMILE BAUMER.

TRY TO STEAL GIRL'S BODY.

Grave Robbers Fail in Attempt in Bay State Cemetery.

MALDEN, Mass., Feb. 11.—An attempt to rob the grave of Katherine V. Brown of Everett, a 17-year-old girl who died a few days ago of sleeping sickness and was buried in the Holy Cross cemetery here, was discovered to-day. The invaders came in the night, dug into the grave to a depth of four feet before they uncovered the coffin, tore open the upper cover, and apparently tried to drag the girl's body out. It was found with head and shoulders out of the opening apparently wedged in such manner that the grave robbers were unable to extricate it.

Footprints in the snow led across the cemetery to the road, where they were lost.

CHILDLESS WOMEN

Please Read This Letter And See What Normal Health Will Do For You.

Berwick, Ont.—"I had organic trouble, and after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Medicine all my troubles passed away. I was made strong and well and have been ever since. Now we have a fine baby boy six months old, and I know that I would not have this baby and would still be suffering if it had not been for your remedies. My husband and myself say that your remedies are worth their weight in gold, and I recommend them to my friends. One of my aunts is taking them now."—Mrs. NAPOLEON LAVIGNE, Berwick, Ontario, Canada.

Among the virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is its ability to correct sterility in many cases. This fact is well established as evidenced by the above letter and hundreds of others we have published in these columns.

In many other homes, once childless, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Goods Coming and Going All the Time—That's What Is Good For a Store and the People Who Shop There

The Giddy Little Weather-Vane Up on the Spire Cuts Some Funny Capers on a Breezy Day

It is wafted about by every wind that blows and sometimes points north, south, east and west, or turns about in dizzy circles, all in the twinkling of an eye.

Oft times individuals and organizations having reached the heights where the strong winds blow swing about uncertainly, and their turnings indicate the whims or purposes of stronger elements than themselves.

We often encounter currents and cross-currents in business, that would change our course if we were not steadfast in our purpose to make this store what we think it should be in the way of merchandise and service.

MINSTREL SHOW WAS A SUCCESS

SPLENDID PROGRAMME PROVIDED BY LOCAL TALENT.

The concert hall at St. Alphonsus' Lyceum was well filled on Tuesday evening, for the minstrel show put on under the direction of Mr. Jack Primeau.

Miss Alice Hudson opened the programme with a piano solo, followed by a comedy sketch entitled "The Darky Wood Dealer," by Miss Florence Leahy, Mr. Moore and Mr. Dan Leonard. The latter played the part of the "coon" with great success. Mr. Robert Leonard contributed a solo, which was enthusiastically encored, and then the curtain rose on a cabaret setting, with the refrain of "Old Black Joe" sounding in the background. Mr. V. McCabe and chorus sang "Ragging the Chopsticks," Miss G. Clancy, "Alice Blue Gown," "Kit Picard," "I Aint Got Nobody Much," Miss Allen; "Let the Rest of the World Go By," Mr. Jack Fitzpatrick; "Alabama Moon, Mr. Dan Leonard; "Moses Andrew Jackson, Good Bye," Miss Lottie Hogan; "Down the Trail to Home, Sweet Home," Mr. Cecil Wolff; "When they Called you Mother o' Mine,' Mr Jos. Clancy; "One Sweet Day," Mr. Robert Leonard; "Absent,' and this part of the programme closed with 'Carry me Back to Ole Virginny," started by Mr. Picard followed by a quartette composed of Messrs. Picard, D. Leonard, R. Leonard and Fitzpatrick, and finishing with the entire chorus.

Mr. Vincent McCabe acted as interocutor in this sketch; Mr. Dan Leonard and Mr. K. Picard were the coon waiters; Miss C. Tangney, Mr. F. Shannon and Mr. George Kelly comprised the chorus, and Miss F. Leahy played the accompaniments.

One Act Playlet.

A one act playlet followed entitled "John Clayton, Actor," with Mr. Jack Primeau as John Clayton, Mr. J. Fitzpatrick as Colonel Warren, of the Warrens of Virginia, and Mrs. Jack Primeau as the Colonels daughter, Louise Warren. This was a very clever little offering, and Mrs. Primeau made a charming heroine.

The stage was effectively draped in black, white and green, the cabaret setting especially proving very attractive, and the performance as a whole was most successful, showing a careful training and attention to details on the part of each one taking part.

Mr. Ed. Riley and Mr. Earl Judge were property and stage managers. The furniture was kindly loaned by Messrs. Lane and Eano, and the Cressman Co., Limited, and many thanks are due to Mr. Long of the Cressman Co., for his kindness in helping to dress the stage.

FORD DECLARES LOAN YARN WAS PURELY A HOAX.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—A denial that he is negotiating with Wall Street for a loan of $75,000,000, but on the contrary, is preparing to make loans himself to small towns and villages where he intends to build plants in furtherance of his plan "to promote industry and labor away from the congested centres," was made by Henry Ford in an interview published in the New York Tribune.

Mr. Ford branded the loan story as a "hoax, pure and simple." He said the Ford Company does not need a loan, and that when it asks for one it will be when "we do need the money."

In January, when his plant at Dearborn was shut down, thus giving rise to rumors that the big automobile industry was breaking down, the company sold 50,000 cars. In 1920 sales were 1,250,000 cars. This year's prospects indicate a sale record of 750,000 or more cars, he declared. The shutdown was made so the selling department could dispose of $15,0000,000 to $20,000,000 worth of stocks on hand, and the employes were not hard hit, as the plant remained until a substantial bonus had been distributed. Mr. Ford expects his company to be back to normal production soon.

Mr. Ford expects next to open up plants in scores of small towns and villages. This movement will not only be nation-wide, but may extend to England, he said. He plans to harness the waterpower of small streams for manufacturing various parts of his cars. Transportation to the main assembling plants will be by motor-truck over good roads, which Mr. Ford said he is ready to help build. One such plant was recently opened near Detroit in a town of 1,500.

DISPUTE AT OTTAWA OVER THE OPEN SHOP.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11. — An interesting question at present in dispute between the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Building and Construction Industries and the various building trades unions, which unless amicably settled is likely to have some effect upon spring building operations, is concerned in the maintenance of the closed shop agreement between the contractors and the unions.

Some of the contractors have already asked that instead of an arbitrary closed shop they be permitted when the new wage agreements are mede on May 1st to exercise their option as to the method of operation, that is to say that they can conduct an open or closed shop as they deem wise. The men of course desire a retention of the closed shop principle as at present, which means that every man employed on any construction job must be a union workman.

The question is now attracting the attention of both parties and it is thought that a settlement is probable.

NEILLS

Two Powerful Qualifications

ECONOMY and QUALITY

THAT ARE APPRECIATED BY EVERY WEARER OF A NEILL SHOE

True ECONOMY in buying Shoes depends on one's ability to secure the most reliable footwear at lowest possible cost to the wearer. The one chief reason NEILL'S are able to provide the best values for their customers lies in the fact that in purchasing for Nine Stores in Ontario, they place themselves in the best possible position to secure lowest prices on quantity —buying direct from the manufacturer.

And QUALITY in the NEILL SHOE has its source from this same basis of superior buying power. The advantage is apparent in that a greater demand is made for the strictest attention to details that count in the construction of a good Shoe made for NEILL'S. Also the introduction of extras into the make up of a Shoe is possible, and this materially increases its value without added cost to the consumer.

ECONOMY and QUALITY go hand-in-hand, and this was never truer than to-day, with prices marked down to replacement values.

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Gently massage Musterole in with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

HOW THE BRITISH RULE INDIA

"One wonders where Americans get their impressions of British rule in India," says Dr. David Downie, one of the veteran Missionaries of the United States Baptist Missionary Society of New York, who served forty-five years in India.

Three sources are responsible according to Dr. Downie. First there are the superficial world tourists who after making a hop, skip and jump tour through India, missing all the most noted and beautiful places, and after discussing the country with anyone who can talk in English, return home and pose as authorities on India.

Next come the disappointed Indian students, who having taken a university course, with the aim of getting government positions, and having failed in the examinations, try to avenge themselves by doing all they can to discredit that government.

As the United States is known as a fruitful field for such enterprises, off go the disgruntled ones to the United States, to sow seeds of dissension between Great Britain and the U. S.

Usual Tactics.

The following specimen of their tactics is taken from a New York paper. "To the people of the U.S. of America: we know your love of fair play. The people of other countries have looked on America for the past century and a half as the refug of the oppressed, a haven where the fighter for the right against might could find a sanctuary from the wrath of tyrants, etc." Then follows a long list of complaints against Britain's rule in India—and all because the writer failed to obtain a Government appointment.

These diatribes are full of the most egregious falsehoods but as the majority of readers have never taken an opportunity to study the history of India and have never lived there, they believe them.

But the greatest of the trouble makers is Germany. For despite reverses in the late war, Germany is said to still have her covetous eye fixed on India. Having had to give up all hope of the Berlin-Bagdad route she is now dreaming of a route through the Ukraine and Afghanistan. And in order that she may secure this prize Great Britain must be discredited in the eyes of the people of India.

To do this is a job after Germany's own heart. Her methods are only too well known. Working through a small section of disloyal Indians. Britain is represented as a dastardly power, guilty of the most heinous crimes and the cause of famine and plague of every description. This is the same kind of thing that Germany does in Egypt and elsewhere, and for which she pays handsomely, with funds, the greater part of which Dr. Downie says, come via New York.

India Never Independent.

"The independent India of two centuries ago before the British came," is one of the stock phrases of the disgruntled ones. But as a matter of fact there never was an independent India, contends the U. S. missionary, two centuries ago, nor at any other time. Since the days of the Aryan invasion, in 1500 B.C. there has been neither freedom nor independence in India.

When the Aryans, the Brahmins of today, invaded India, they found the Dravidians already there, and drove them up to the hills or to the south. Eventually these aborignes became the slaves of the Aryans, whose descendents are now actually making a great fuss about "their ancient civilization and independence."

In 327 B.C., Alexander the Great, invaded India and although he did not conquer any one province, as a result of his invasion a number of Indian adventurers sprang up who aspired to gain kingdoms for themselves. Between them they established a number of dynastics, the two most important of which were the Buddhist and the Mogul.

Asoka reigned over what is known as the Province of Behar from 264 to 227 B.C. As he was an earnest convert to Buddhism, that religion soon spread to Northern India. Buddhism is an attempt to reform Hinduism and the two religions co-existed for two thousand years. However, Hinduism has held its own and it is only in Burma, Ceylon, Tibet and China that Buddhism really flourishes today.

The Mogul dynasty existed from 1525 to 1857 B.C., and during that time more ferocious wars were fought than in any other period of India's history.

Although on the surface, the Hindus and Mohammedans may appear to be friends there is, Dr. Downie continues, very little real friendship between the two races, and, until the British came upon the scene there was never anything like a uniform government and no peace of the entire country, in India.

Great Britain's invasion of India was very different from that of the Aryans and Mohammedans. The East India India Company was established solely for the purpose of trade. The French and the Portuguese came for a similar purpose and still have provinces in the country. Eventually the British East India Company's "sphere of influence" was extended owing to quarrels between other companies, until it became the dominant power.

The Indian Government of today consists of the home government in England; the supreme government in India; the provincial governments; and the self governments of the native states.

Prior to the Suzerainty of Great Britain, India suffered terribly at the hands of foreign invaders. The Aryans who made war a part of their religion invaded India, time after time, and during seven hundred years the warring races of central Asia and Afghanistan kept up perpetual wars, pillage and massacre.

Great Britain has given to India, says Dr. Downie, a Government by which protection and civil and political rights are secured to the people. She has established a splendid system of police courts of justice by which justice is secured to all classes, irrespective of caste, creed or color. She has developed the country's resources, educated the people, opened railways, built bridges, dug canals, and installed or rebuilt telegraph and postal systems. Whole districts have been irrigated by the government and land owners are given help and every incentive to cultivate their acres.

In the face of all these facts, it must be admitted by all fair minded persons, concludes Dr. Downie, at least an unprejudiced observer, that while, perhaps the rule of Great Britain in India is not absolutely perfect, it yet has done wonders for India and its nations.

STARVING AUTHORS

The great Dr. Johnson is credited with the assertion that no man who was not a fool ever wrote except for money.

Yet if this were to be attempted as true some of the greatest of contemporary men of letters in Europe should now be set down as fools. For while they continue to write they do not get any money. They cannot even get their works published, owing to the extortionate price of paper. Some of the best known, indeed, among them are literally starving.

Thus, Paul Fort, perhaps the foremost French writer of the present day, has recently appealed to the Paris Government for relief, declaring that he is reduced to living with his aged parents, his wife and his three children, in a single unheated attic room, without sufficient money to buy food.

In Germany Hugo von Hofmanstahl, who wrote all the libretti of the Richard Strauss operas, has been begging in the streets of Berlin for something to eat, while in England Sir John W. Fortescue, who has just published the ninth and tenth volumes of his wonderful "History" of the British Army, writes to the newspapers to point out that, despite his privileged position, his well established position as a most gifted writer and his unique advantages of access to every kind of official documents in his literary work, his remuneration therefore does not amount to more than $4 a week; whereas the printers, the paper makers, the ink makers, etc., that is to say, the mechanic and artisan class of the literary profession and of the publishing industry, can command as much as $50 and $60 a week.

Indeed, John Fortescue, who holds the Chesney gold medal and English and foreign Orders of Knighthood, granted in recognition of his literary achievements and who has a number of most valuable historical works and also some clever novels to his credit, declares that he would have been obliged to give up literature long ago had it not been for the kindness and also the enlightenment of the late Edward VII. (continued by the present King), in bestowing upon him the appointment of Librarian of Windsor Castle, and of Buckingham Palace, and of Keeper of the Royal Archives, an official residence in Windsor Castle, in the form of apartments in the Norman gateway of that historic pile.

Sir John Fortescue is a younger brother of the Earl of Fortescue and A.D.C. of the King. Another brother, Capt. Sir Seymour Fortescue of the Royal Navy, is one of the equerries of King George besides being the latter's Sergeant-at-Arms in attendance on the House of Lords, while Lady Fortescue, the wife of the Earl and a daughter of Lord Harlech, is a favorite lady-in-waiting to Queen Mary.

The Fortescue family, which has always been renowned for its good looks, was founded by Richard le Fort, a Norman knight who was cup bearer to William the Conqueror and who had three horses killed under him at the battle of Hastings.

Indeed, so great was his valor in that battle and so brave was his defence of the Duke of Normandy that he was thenceforth known as "Richard le Fort Escue," or, "Richard of the Strong Shield." His son, Sir Adam, known as Sir Adam Fortescue, obtained, according to Domesday Book, a grant from the Crown, of Winston in Devonshire, with which county the Fortescues have ever since been identified.

DIARY OF A FASHION MODEL

The other day my friend Pam implored me to go shopping with her. At first I hesitated, for I was busy getting my holiday gifts ready to send abroad. However, when she said she knew what she was going to buy, I acceded to her request. So on Saturday afternoon we set out, after lunching at a most delightful tea room.

"Now," said Pam, as we left its portals, "what I want is a jumper blouse."

"What!" I exclaimed, "I thought you had finished buying clothes for this season."

"Oh, but this is not for myself! I am buying a birthday present for my new sister-in-law," she answered, "and I heard her say that she just adored these blouses, and would like a new one every day."

"Well, they are awfully good-looking," I answered, "and so smart."

"I've decided about the color also, so that really I won't take so very much of your valuable time," said Pam, with a grin.

"Then I suppose you know the size," I replied.

"Oh, yes! I want a thirty-six in a lovely shade of ruby wool. I am not sure, however, whether I should have it trimmed with bands of different colored wool or some metal threads, or what."

"Suppose we go to a certain exclusive shop where they make these and always have lots of imported models," said I.

"All right," answered Pam. Along the avenue we went and turned down one of the side streets that house so many of New York's most exclusive fashion establishments. As we entered the shop in question, Pam turned to me and said: "I'm sure we'll find it here."

"I know you will. Just look at this fascinating model," I answered, as we approached the jumper illustrated.

"Why, that's just what I want! It's made of ruby wool."

"And look at the border—gorgeous dahlias worked in scarlet!"

"With black hearts and leaves," continued Pam, as she turned the model around.

"The hearts are made of black chenille, which makes them quite silky," was my comment.

"I think the whole thing is stunning, I must find out the price," Pam replied, as I investigated the fashioning of this handsome jumper.

"A model like this could be worn as a sweater, couldn't it?" asked Pam, as she contemplated her prospective purchase.

"Oh, certainly! A great many of our clients are using them in that way. They often choose those that are made of silk, and they are really quite dressy."

"But don't you think this is just as dressy although it is made of wool?" was Pam's query.

"Certainly! This ruby wool has a silky finish. Then, the floral border is done in raised effect, which is quite decorative."

"Are these real pockets, I wonder?" said Pam, as she slipped her hand into the openings at the side.

"Of course not!" was my answer. "But if you wanted to you could have little pockets at the foot of these openings." I added, as I noted the rueful look on Pam's face as she withdrew her hands from the blouse.

"Yes, that's so! For Irma insists on pockets on all her clothes. I think she'll like the little sleeves—and the neckline is very pretty."

"It certainly is, while the belt gives a most graceful look to the blouse," was my final comment as Pam ordered it sent to her brother's home.

So our shopping tour was a brief affair, after all, but as we walked homewards, up the avenue, Pam insisted on stopping and looking into all the windows where such blouses were on display. They are certainly shown in great variety. "But," said Pam, "I'm perfectly satisfied with my choice. I think it's a lovely blouse."

TREND OF THE YEAR IN MOTOR INDUSTRY

According to the generally accepted rule, when there is keen competition, there is greater engineering advancement than in times when sales resistince is nil. The past year has seen a vast amount of development work. It is plain to see that mechanical excellence is beginning to be the chief aim of the builder. Body work is better, to be sure, but for some time the chassis has been neglected so the car may be made better looking. Changes in body lines are but slight compared with 1920, but body detail has been bettered all through. The cars as a whole are larger and one disappointing feature is that the average car is somewhat heavier. There are more four-cylinder cars than there were last year, more sixes as well; the engines show slightly greater power and more attention has been paid to carburetion. The vacuum fuel feed and battery ignition remain standard. Improvements are to be noted in cooling system and in lubrication. The plate and disc clutches have gained ag ain. Hotchkiss drive has made an increase and three-speed transmissions located apart from the engine have gained slightly. Frames are stiffer, springs about the same with improved mountings and wire and disc wheels accepted by more makers for standard equipment.

The engine characteristics, as a whole, have changed somewhat. The average power output is greater, around 53 horse power at 2270 revolutions per minute. . . . Engine oiling systems have been given a lot of study and a great deal of attention has been given to better balance and a reduction of engine vibration.—Motor.

ANGLO-CANADIAN TRADE HOLDS OUT BIG OPPORTUNITY

SO BELIEVES F. W. FIELD, BRITISH TRADE COMMISSIONER FOR ONTARIO.

(Special Correspondence of Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

MANCHESTER, England, Feb. 11.—There are great opportunities for the extension and recapture of trade between Ontario and Lancashire. This is the opinion of F. W. Field, British Trade Commissioner in Ontario, who has just spent three days among Manchester merchants and traders.

"Finance and commerce generally in Canada," he said, "are quite sound. The crops have been good and the industries of the Province encouraged extension. Throughout Ontario the population is prosperous, farmers have realized high prices on their products during the last six or seven years, and the market generally should encourage British traders to compete energetically in the field lately occupied by the traders of the United States.

"At the moment there is a quiet period, but it is very much less accentuated in the Dominion than in England, and it should be remembered that the resources of Canada and the attitude of the people have produced an exceptional recuperative power in its markets. Heavier buying is bound to follow the present conditions, and I consider the outlook for this year quite good.

"Textiles will be wanted, also textile machinery, and for the makers of this machinery I think there is every possible chance if they can deliver. There is also a probability that the demand will be increased. Other things for which there have been a market, such as compressors, turbines and mechanical stokers, will also be wanted, and experience shows that the only thing requisite for British trade is adequate representation. I would suggest that suitable representation might be obtained by smaller firms by the appointment of one man in the Province, who would be able to look after the interests of six or seven English houses who wish to introduce non-competitive lines.

"It will, however, be a more difficut matter for the manufacturers of electrical machinery to obtain a market for their goods, as American and Canadian competition is extremely keen. Competition is also strong among sellers of cotton piece goods, but I see no reason why Manchester merchants should not regain the position taken from them by Americans during the war, especially as they are the best represented of all British interests in Canada. Many English merchants have large stocks in the Dominion and can supply goods much more rapidly than their competitors in the United States. I would also point out that the rates of exchange are favorable to English sellers in the Canadian market, as the Canadian dollar is discounted by 15 per cent. in the United States. Tariff preferences also assist English manufacturers.

"The department which I represent is very anxious to assist English firms in getting into touch with Colonial markets, and will be glad to give any information that is available. Those businesses which have made use of the facilities we offer have found them invaluable, and one Bradford man told me that the information we had supplied to him before a tour in Canada had been worth £1,000 in his concern. During the past three weeks we of the Ontario office have consulted with representatives of 175 firms. We are about to visit Birmingham, Coventry, Leicester, Nottingham, Cardiff and Newport, and information can also be had from the partment of British Trade in London' partment o British Trade in London."

MUST ADVERTISE TO GET BUSINESS.

Official Gives Word of Advice to Crushed Stone Men.

TORONTO, Feb. 11.—"Too many manufacturers and others in various lines of business enterprise underestimate the real value of newspapers as advertising mediums," asserted A. P. Sandles, with emphasis last night, at the closing session of the National Crushed Stone Association, in the King Edward Hotel. Mr. Sandles, who hails from Columbus, Ohio, feared that many men engaged in the crushed stone business did not realize to the full extent the magnitude of the wave of business swaying toward the industry. He strongly advised that the present time was most opportune for members of the association to inaugurate an advertising campaign on a gigantic scale. "Highway construction in Canada and the United States during the next five years," concluded Mr. Sandles, "will mean more to the crushed stone industry than anything else."

WILSON WILL KEEP SECLUDED 6 MONTHS.

Plans to Bar Engagements and Callers in His New Washington Home.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—President Wilson plans to go into virtual seclusion for a time after March 4.

Freed from the responsibilities of office which have weighed heavily upon him during his convalescence, Mr. Wilson, his friends say, will shut himself in for a period of rest and quiet in the new home he has purchased here. He will deny himself to all callers except immediate members of his family, it is said, and a very few intimate friends with whom throughout his illness he has kept in contact.

No formal engagements of any character are expected to be made by the President until he has thoroughly adjusted himself to private life after ten years in public service. Even the writing which he planned to do upon his retirement from the White House will be postponed for several months, his friends say.

Mr. Wilson is understood to have received a number of invitations to spend part of the summer out of Washington, but it is regarded as unlikely that he will accept any of these.

For possibly six months, friends of the President believe, his life will be wholly taken up with recreation. His chief diversion since his illness has been reading. He is said to have practically exhausted the field of detective stories, of which he has always been especially fond, and more recently has taken up novels and light stories. He has also given some time to reading political and historical works and poetry.

Since his resumption last week of his old custom of attending the theatre, the President is expected to continue as his health improves, to find occasion more and more to avail himself of this form of recreation. He is also expected to continue his daily automobile rides.

TAKE CARE OF THAT COUGH

Some people get a nasty cough and don't pay much attention to it, saying, "Oh, it will wear away in a short time," but while it may wear off, serious injury may have been done to the lungs and respiratory organs by the prolonged, harsh, racking coughing.

On the first sign of a cough or cold get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It will stop that nasty, troublesome cough, ease the tightness across the chest, and loosen the phlegm.

Mrs. Wm. Earnshaw, Apsley, Ont., writes:—"Last winter I caught a bad cold, had a sore throat and a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I tried quite a few remedies, but they did not do me much good until I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I feel that "Dr. Wood's" has no equal."

When you get Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, you are not experimenting with new and untried remedy, but one that has a reputation extending over thirty years.

Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 35c and 60c. a bottle, manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ONTARIO FAIRS ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS.

Promised Higher Insurance Against Rain—Directors Responsible If Gambling Allowed.

That the Ontario Government will in all probability increase the wet weather insurance to country fairs was the information contained in the report presented at concluding session of the Ontario Association of Fairs and Exhibitions at 22 College Street by the deputation which had waited on the Premier. The request as arrived at during the morning session of the association was for an increase in the wet weather insurance losses from 75 to 90 per cent., and the raising of the maximum from $300 to $500. The deputation had also asked for an increase in the grant to fairs of $25,000 over the present $85,000, but this reque st was declined on the ground that the Ontario fairs received larger grants than any other province in the Dominion.

A resolution condemning gambling was unanimously adopted at the morning session. A. M. Hunt, of the Western Fair, London, who introduced the matter, stated that the Government would hold the directors responsible if gambling were permitted, and that they would run the danger of losing the provincial grant if the practice were not stopped.

SPENT SIX YEARS IN THE ARCTIC.

Captain Henrik Henriksen and Rudolph Johnson, of Hudson's Bay Company, Have Returned.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 11. — After an absence of more than six years in the Arctic, Captain Henrik Henriksen and Rodolph Johnson, of the Hudson Bay Company, have returned to civilization for a vacation. The trip out was by dog sleighs elaving Heschel Island, November 19th, crossing the divide to Rampant House, on the Porcupine River. The run to Fairbanks of 1200 miles, ocuied 40 days, and the thermometer during all that time ranged from 47 to 72 degrees below zero. From Fairbanks they travelled by train to Seward and thence by the boat to Seattle.

It was in the summer of 1914 that both, Danes by birth, left Vancouver, in command of the 50-ton gas boat Fort McPherson. They established trading posts at Herschel Island, Bailie Island, 250 miles east, at Kittigaznitt, Aklavick, Fort Bacon, Tree River, Kent's Peninsula and Shingle Point. Extensive trading with the Eskimo was carried on.

Life was Monotonous.

Life at a fur post is monotonous enough but at an isolated spot in the Arctic circle the exercise of all the Christian virtues is required to face conditions often worse than irksome. It is a bleak barren country, although in summer vegetation makes it appearance and it is during this brief interval between winter and winter that the fur trading is carried on the most actively. The skins most valued are the fox, bear, weazel, musk ox and the caribou.

Polar bears show no fear of man, ad they have even proved to be very friendly animals. Captain Henriksen said that they are as "tame as cats." They are frequently seen in the vicinity of the fur posts peacefully devouring some unfortunate seal on the ice.

However, at the sound of a shot, they quickly disappear into the adjacent water. The fur is valuable and the flesh, after hanging for a day or two, has been found very palatable. It is a delicacy much in demand by the Eskimos. Grouse also abound on Herschel Island, and as game laws are unknown in that northern fastness, the place is truly a hunter's paradise.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobody Can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'd get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautifull.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with you dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

LIVE STOCK MEN DEMAND REDUCED FREIGHT RATES

WAIT UPON ONTARIO CABINET AND MAY RECEIVE ITS SUPPORT.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Feb. 11.—Representing the live stock interet of Eastern Canada a deputation headed by W. F. Nickle, K.C., Kingston, waited upon the Drury cabinet to-day to draw the attention of the government to the high freight rates which in view of falling prices and increasing costs are seriously handicapping the live stock business. The Prime Minister gave the deputations an impathetic hearing and the cabinet will likely give support if the live stock men make application for a reduction of freight rates as applied to live stock.

SUGAR ADVANCE IS FEARED BY BUYERS

ON ACCOUNT OF MOVEMENT TO ESTABLISH A HIGHER BASIS FOR RAWS

(Special to the Examiner)

NEW YORK, N. Y. Feb. 11.—The refined Sugar Market is more active as buyers fear an advance in prices on account of the movement to estab lish a higher basis for raws in Cuba. Operators here are showing buying interest at four cents f.o.b. for Cuban and they might even pay 4.12 1-2 cost and freight. The still unconfirmed reports of developments in connection with the plans of sugar and banking interests to secure with the assistance of the Cuban Government a higher price for raw sugars is the chief topic among sugar men. The general opinion is that the plan as proposed according to the unofficial reports is not feasible. In any event several refiners are said to have entered, through their senators, a vigorous protest against approval of the project by the United States government.

DIVORCEES WOULD MAKE QUEER TOWN.

Chicago Judge Expresses Views on Annual Spells of 2,700.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Judge Joseph Sabath, of the Chicago Divorce Court, has separated enough couples in the past year to populate a small town. He has parted 2,700 unhappy couples, in that time—5,400 persons. With the children of these marriages, this town of Divorceville would have a population of around 6,500, the Judge estimates.

"And what a town it would be," said Judge Sabath in an interview.

"What a town. Its main streets in the evening would be lined with men who wouldn't go home.

"It's daily paper would be filled with unhappy scandal.

"Its churches would be empty, for lack of religion is one of the biggest reasons for divorce.

"Its back fences would be lined with women relating their troubles to each other.

"Its children, instead of indulging in innocent play, would stop their games to tell of the unpleasant affairs of Mamma and Papa.

"I would not like to live in such a town—no, nor forty miles from it."

Divorce and Scandal Increase.

But each year every town becomes more and more like Divorceville, the Judge said. Each year there is more divorce, more scandal, and there are more judges dealing with this problem alone. Judge Sabath is discouraged.

Last Thursday afternoon with his court jammed to the door, with scandal hunger court loungers, hanging on to every word of a particularly spicy trial that had to do with the complaint of a husband against his artist model wife, he stopped proceedings and said:

"To-morrow morning I will deliver a sermon in this room at 9 o'clock on the beauty of perfect home ties, and how to keep them."

At 9 o'clock Friday morning the court room was empty.

At 10 o'clock it was again jammed with a scandal hungry throng—so dense that bailiffs had to stop the mob from breaking down the doors.

The Jurist threw up his hands.

"I don't like to say this," he told the interviewer, "but people don't seem to care anything about hearing good about anybody. If I should have a mock trial in this court and bring an old couple, happily married for fifty years, to appear and tell how contented their lives had been to bring their happy children with them and to present the results of fidelity and good citizenship, they would tell their tale to empty benches in the court.

Divorce is too easy, Judge Sabath said. Eighty-five per cent. of all cases nowadays are obtained through default. The man or woman just disappears and does not contest.

"Hardly ten per cent. of my cases are contested," he said.

"In some of the so-called Pagan countries all a husband has to do is to tell his wife to get out and he is divorced. It is not so different in this country. The man or woman disappears, the case is brought into court, and what can a judge do? He has to sign a decree."

ITALIAN INTRODUCES NEW ART, "TACTILISM."

(Cross Atlantic Newspaper Service.

PARIS, Feb. 11.— "Tactilism" is the name of a new "art" invented by Signor Marinetti, the Italian futurist, who, to a large audience of painters, art critics and society people, explained its principles. It is a method of conveying impressions through the sense of touch, which has hitherto been neglected by the arts.

Marinetti told how he had tried to establish a series of conventions, which could be easily learned, by which different touches would bring forth definite ideas. For instance, something rough, spiky and hot to the touch would give the idea of the Sahara. The sea would be conjured up by something smooth and cold, like silver paper, and Paris by a mixture of silk and velvet.

The futurist pioneer is the lion of the season here. He intends to be in Paris for some weeks, but has already received so many invitations to attend fashionable receptions an devening parties that he confesses that he hardly knows how to cram in all his appointments.

He hopes before he leaves to stage his three air and war dances, wrich he describes as "unharmonious and ungraceful."

DEPARTMENTS NOW, APARTMENTS SOON

R. C. BRAUND WILL CHANGE SECOND FLOOR OF HIS STORE INTO SUITE OF SIX.

Alterations planned by R. C. Braund to his store at the corner of Park and Albert streets, include the transformation of the entire second floor into a suite of six apartments. In preparation for this change, Mr. Braund is now launching a special sale to clear out the stock in his upstairs departdents, which will be dispensed with hereafter. The reduced prices apply to all the goods in Mr. Braund's section of the store, considering it apart from the grocery department which is conducted by Mr. Mendel Braund. Immediate room is required to enable the workmen to start on the plans as soon as possible. It is expectled that within a month of six weeks the store will be ready for the contractor. The second story is quite spacious and should provide six comfortable apartments.

Mr. Braund returned this week from a trip to Brantford, St. Catharines, Hamilton and Buffalo. In Brantford he spoke at five Salvation Army meetings, and in Buffalo he addressed two hundred prisoners in the jail last Sunday.

Premier Drury, when interviewed this morning, said he had not read the book. In his opinion any person who would intentionally try to create disunion between the two great Anglo-Saxon races would be a traitor.

INDICATION OF GOVERNMENT'S POLICY IN SPEECH FROM THE THRONE LIKELY.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—Consideration is now being given to the situation in regard to unemployment insurance and it is probable that an indication of the government's intentions will be given in the speech from the throne when Parliament opens on Monday. A curious situation has arisen in this regard. The unemployment insurance figures as one of the recommendations of the Washington Labor Conference and under the provisions of the Versailles treaty states that members of the League of are required to submit conventions and recommendations of the Labor Conference to their competent legislative authority for acceptance or rejection

CHICAGO GRAIN

(United Press.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 11.—Wheat was weak to-day. The technical position of the market has been weakened by the enormous short covering of the past few days and when recent buyers attempted to take profits the offerings were a drag on the market. Locals followed the selling side and their buying to cover short sales for profits gave the market occasional rallies.

Armour was a buyer on the break. Reports from the seaboard to-day were that Germany was willing to cancel 800,000 bushels they had bought for February and March shipment because they could replace it much cheaper with Argentine wheat had a depressing effect. Some talk also was heard of eastern mills asking for offers of wheat from Argentina. Southwest reported increased offerings from the country and there was talk of increased receipts in the northwest. Minneapolis cash wheat was weaker. Premiums in the local market were unchanged.

Corn prices eased off moderately in sympathy with wheat. Good commission house buying was noted on the breaks and shorts were less disposed to press the selling because of the light movement. Weather continues unsettled and country roads are impassable condition, which is tending to curb the movement. Exporters were bidding eleven cents over May track Baltimore for number three. Mixed corn immediate shipment and they booked some at this figure. St. Louis reported 85,000 bushels worked. Domestic demand was slow. Cash basis was 1-2 cent higher.

Oats followed the trend of other grains. Pit trade was without much feature. Cash oats basis was steady. Eastern demand improved slightly.

Provisions were higher early with hogs, but the easier grain markets induced selling and prices broke under this pressure.

LOCAL MEETINGS FOR THE FARMERS

Farmers' Institute Meetings Were Well Attended—Farm Topics.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and last night, Farmers' Institute meetings were held in Smith and Ennismore Townships. On Tuesday night a meeting was held at Bridgenorth, on Wednesday night at the Parish Hall, Ennismore, and last night a meeting was held at the Orange Hall on the 16th Line of Smith Township. The meetings were fairly well attended and were of more than ordinary interest to the farmers. The president of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, Mr. J. R. Mann, was chairman at all the meetings. Mr. A. Fallis, of Millbrook, and Mrs. Watts, of Toronto, were the speakers. Mr. Fallis confined his remarks largely to the business of farming. He urged the farmers to improve their stock and to study the fertilization of the land, and by using only the highest grades of seeds to obtain superior results. Mr Fallis favoured better educational facilities for country children. He believed that consolidated schools would be a step forward. He urged cooperation of the farmers to obtain recognition for the Government to heed their demands. Mrs. Watts dwelt on topics of interest to farm women — butter-making, management of the home, promotion of social activities in the country and greater interest in current events. She also spoke of the inadequate educational facilities in the country to-day and praised the consolidated school plan.

O'CALLAGHAN MUST GO.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Should Donald J. O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, who came to the United States as a stowaway without a passport, fail to leave to-day, a warrant for his arrest and deportation will be issued immediately, it was said at the Department of Labour.

O'Callaghan, who came here to testify before the "Commission of the Committee of One Hundred" investigating conditions in Ireland, was classed as "seaman" by the Labour Society within, and given until to-day to sail for a foreign port.

Commenting upon reports that O'Callaghan had announced in New York a programme of extensive engagements in the United States, Labour Department officials said they thought this probably was a cover to conceal "O'Callaghan's real intention of leaving for Europe as secretly as possible."

SPORTING NEWS, VIEWS AND GOSSIP

CANADIANS DEFEATED WEST LOTHIAN CURLERS BY 105 TO 70

MARQUIS OF LINLITHGOW PRESIDED AT BANQUET IN THE EVENING—STRENGTHENING OF IMPERIAL TIES FOSTERED BY THE TOURING CANADIANS.

A report in the Falkirk Herald, recently received from Scotland, gives a long and interesting account of the curling match between the touring Canadians and six West Lothian rinks, and also of the banquet to the visitors as guests of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club in Edinbrugh.

The Canadians won that day's curling by 105 to 70 shots and the only rink that was down in the score was skipped by R. M. Waddell, of Peterborough, with Robert Hicks playing second stone. The score was 16 to 13. According to the Herald's writer, this was one of the best games of that match, probably because it was the only one o fthe six the West Lothian curlers managed to mark up to their credit. At any rate it received the most attention from the Herald's sporting writer. Waddell was opposed by Provost Philip of the Linlithgow rink, who skipped with all the skill and craft of the veteran, and his colleagues, taking heart and grace from his inspiring lead, rose splendidly to the occasion. The Canadian rink opened with a two at the first end, but the Lithca men squared matters at the next. Spurred on by this success, the Provost's men played in masterly style, and the second last end actually found the scores 16-8 in their favour. The last end proved somewhat disappointing for them, however, the Canadians lying no fewer than five shots. It was a beautifully played end, and none appreciated it more than the Linlithgow players themselves. The other games were equally exciting, the finer points of the play being much in evidence. The feature of all the games was the splendid spirit of sportsmanship which marked the progress of the play, and it was obvious from the interest and zest of the players that their enjoyment was no less than that of the many spectators."

Entertained at Dinner.

A company of 160 ladies and gentlemen assembled with the Canadian curlers at the dinner given in their honor by West Lothian Province of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club. The Marquis of Linlithgow was chairman. The toasts included "The King," "The Imperial Forces,' "Our Guests," "The Dominion of Canada," and others.

Quoting from the Herald: "The Marquis of Linlithgow, in proposing the toast of "Our Guests," spoke of the value and precious character of the visits to this country of the Canadian curlers and the ties that bound together in a great Imperial system the Dominion and the Motherland. The Crown and Throne was one great link, which had been strengthened since the visit of the Prince of Wales to Canada, a visit which was characterized by a genuine warmth and enthusiasm such as had never before been known. (Aplause.) There were also the ties of blood, of history, of a common political history, and the great fabric of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence, but the tie with which they were more concerned, and which perhaps to them was the most important of all, was that of sentiment and affection. (Aplause.) Having been brought up in early childhood in one of the great sister nations across the seas, Australia, he felt he was in a position to value and appreciate this tie. When all was said and done, it was the most important of all as regards the interests and honour of both. (Applause.) It was the tie which, in fact, beyond all others bound our great Imperial system together, and he would not be committing any indiscretion, he thought, as one who had lived in one of the great Dominions, and knew something of the others, when he said that he would be a bold man indeed who would seek to capture the indefinite but vital spirit of this sentimental tie and to imprison it between the four walls of some hard and fast system of Imperial constitution. The future might see such a thing, and, if successful, there was no man in the Empire who would not welcome it more than he himself; but meantime, he said, the fact remained that the tie of sentiment, affection, and mutual trust, and respect, was the most precious thing they could instil into the minds of their children ,and was the most likely to prove the mainstay of the Imperial system of the future. Their dearest wish to their Canadian friends was that they might enjoy themselves while they were here, and take back to their kinsmen in the great Dominion the cheering message from Scotland—that they wished them all prosperity. (Applause.)

$16,000 SKATING AND CURLING RINK PROPOSED FOR LAKEFIELD

THE MONEY WAS SUBSCRIBED IN HALF A DAY'S CANVASS BY REEVE J. C. STRICKLAND—STRONG BELIEF THAT THE PROJECT WILL MATERIALIZE.

ROOM FOR 500 SPECTATORS

Subscribing $16,000 in less than a day, a group of Lakefield citizens are contemplating the erection next summer of a combined skating and curling rink that will provide every facility for hockey matches, curling games and bonspiels. Such is the encouraging report that was heard during the local bonspiel this week and which was confirmed by J. W. Ridpath.

"Jack Strickland tried to get it going last winter," Mr. Ridpath told the Examifier, "but nothing came of it. On Monday of this week he started out again with a blank subscription list, and in a few hours the entire $16,000 was fully subscribed. So we think it will be a go this time."

Mr. Strickland, who is reeve of Lakefield and one of the best curlers in this district, together with Mr. J. W. Allan, who played first stone on Mr. R. C. Strickland's rink of septuagenarians, "The Colts," are credited with putting their names down for $6,000. The rest of the estimated cost of the rink was pledged by other men who are interested in curling and kindred recreations of winter. Such a spontaneous response speaks well for the public siprit that animates the Lakefield townspeople.

Peterborough Deeply Interested.

The news was received with delight by the Peterborough curlers who heard it. According to the advance information, the proposed rink will be large enough to provide a skating surface of regulation size for hockey games. There will also be seating accommodation for five hundred spectators, and the ordinary needs of the curling club will be supplied by two rinks laid out at one side. Whenever needed the skating section could be marked out for other curling ices numerous enough to accommodate a bonspiel.

Have Fatth in Lakefield.

It is sincerely hoped that the Lakefield men will be able to carry their plans into effect. The enthusiasm with which the project was apparently received indicates not only a keen interest in the winter pastime of curling, skating and hockey, but also shows that these citizens have faith in the future of their village. Undoubtedly a new rink would prove a splendid atraction for all the young peope of the village and most of the men.

The Lakefield Curling Club has distinguished itself during the last two winters by their continued successes at the Peterborough bonspiel. All their members are enthusiastic. They have in Strickland, Ridpath and Tanner first rate skips and there are others almost as dependable, besides capable vice-skips. They have also some promising younger material that can be developed just as well in Lakefield as in Peterborough or Toronto, and it does not require a long stretch of the imagination to picture the Ontario Tankard or the Ontario District Cup some day adorning the quarters of the Lakefield Curling Club.

Success An Incentive.

The achievements of Reeve Strickland's rink have given the game a strong impetus at the same time encouraging the other members and kindling their feelings of pride in their Club. Reeve Strickland's father, Mr. Roland C. Strickland, now in his eightieth year, skipped "The Colts" through three games here this week. He is a lover of the game and with the other curlers of Lakefield no doubt deeply desires to promote it within the limits of the means of the Club.

Curling is Broadening Out.

The grand old game, using the phrase in a passing mood of sentiment, is beginning to flourish in this district as never before. Keene, Millbrook, Norwood and Lakefield comprise, with Peterborough, a big family group between whom the best of relations exist. And it was for the purpose of fostering harmony and the development of the game throughout this section that the late Robert Neill presented the fine trophy which bears his name. The annual bonspiel helps in the same direction, and the executive of the Peterborough club is always eager to arrange home games during the season with these neighboring clubs. It has frequently been regretted that Omemee has no suitable rink and that curling is neglected there. On the other hand it has been rumoured lately that a new rink is under consideration for South Monaghan at either Centreville or Bailieobro. It has been stated that R. M. Waddell, who materially helped Millbrook in securing their rink, has also promised financial assistance to the South Monaghan men if they will raise the rest of the money.

A Peterborough Ambition.

All these signs are highly encouraging. These smaller clubs are duplicated in other sections of Ontario and their development in this district speaks well for the men who are wise enough to devote some of their spare time to the exercise, the associations and the pleasure that are the rewards of curling. The smaller rinks break into the limelight from time to time. Lakefield has been mentioned lately. A few years ago Jack Moore, of Keene, won the Peterborough cup, Millbrook has carried prizes home from Peterborough, and Norwood is due for its turn. It may be that Peterborough will soon have to look to its laurels. It has already reached the stage where further progress is prevented by the limited accommodation. Quite a number of the local curlers are convinced that there is a growing need for another rink in Peterborough devoted exclusively to curling. They may be magnifying the prospects, but certainly they like to entertain them when the weather man fails in mid-season and only "number eight" is in use. However, the idea of a new rink is something to dream over for awhile. But in passing it should be said that the efforts of the Peterborough Curling Club, and especially of some of its prominent members, are bearing abundant fruit. Not only are the nearby clubs expanding and becoming more solidly established, but they are linked together by ties that are stronger to-day than ever. This fine spirit is not only good for curling but for the whole district, in which Lindsay is also included, although a trifle beyond the inner zone.

R. HOME SMITH,
Toronto financier and president of Mexico and Northwestern Railroad, who, on return from Mexico, says that country is slowly recovering from effect of years of revolution.

CURLING RESULTS

The eight games won by the McCallum rink of Fenelon Falls, giving them the grand aggregate prizes were as follows:

Matthews-Blackwell Competition:

McCallum.		Opponetns.
12	Tanner, Lakefield	10
11	McCallum, Cobourg	10
19	J. Fitzgerald, Peterboro	5
18	J. Ridpath, Lakefield	4
13	Dr. Harvie, Orillia	5
13	J. Strickland, Lakefield	3

Morrow Competition:

10	Saunders, Stouffville	3
9	F. Carew, Lindsay	7

In this series Kay put McCallum out by 13 to 5. In the games for the Waddell Trophy McCallum won from A. G. Sturgeon by 9 to 5. Thus in the two days bonspiel the Fenelon Falls rink played ten games and won nine of them.

However sceptical of charms, amulets and other supposedly potent occult devices most people may be, A. J. Gould of McCallum's rink, drew a rabbit's foot from his pocket after the Matthews-Blackwell Cup had been handed over to them, and dropped it into the gold lined bowl laughingly remarking that it deserved some such recognition. The rabbit was shot a week ago, and before coming to Peterboro. Mr. Gould, who is a druggist at Fenelon Falls, was presented with the foot as a token of success.

PICTURE ANSWERS QUERIES.

AT THE GRAND

A Very Interesting Programme Now Showing.

The Mona Lisa vampire is with us. A new type of heroine, beautiful and unscruplous, wise and innocent, capable of sustained revenge or of renunciating love, is Norine in "Beautifully Trimmed,' adapted from Marguerite Storrs' "The Orchid."

Carmel Myers plays the part for us at the Grand Theatre, and she invests it with all the fascination of her beauty and with a passionate poise that is her newest acquisition.

It becomes more apparent with every one of her new offerings that this dark-haired, vivacious young star is forging on to a dominant position in the film firmament. Since her return to Universal from the stage she has given us two attractive features in "In Folly's Trail," and "The Gilded Dream,' and now she comes to the fore with another drama in which her exotic charms are displayed to full advantage. Another thing—Carmel has learned to wear clothes of recent months, and in modish froeks among the younger stars she is second to none.

The story of the "Beautifully Trimmed" is that of a society girl whose father has failed in business and died. Determined to make her money on the class responsible for her father's ruin, Norine joins a group in fashionable Bohemia and aids in disposing of counterfeit "great masters" and finding victims for worthless oil stock.

Pell Trenton, Irving Cummings and George B. Williams are pre-eminent in the support of Miss Myers.

A splendid 2-reel comedy that is really funny, and a very interesting screen magazine round out a very fine good-will "both in his own name and programme that is worth seeing.

"THE WHIP"

"The Whip," the pictorial version of the famous English melodrama, will be the offering at the Grand Theatre for five days, commencing Monday next. A few years ago, "The Whip" was presented her for the first time and notwithstanding the fact that it was in the early period of the war when nth thoughts of the people were more in the winning of the war than in attending amusements, it was considered to be the most sensational and exciting racing play shown on a screen. Its revival has aroused enthusiasm rarely manifested towards a motion picture and there is no doubt but that capacity houses will be the order at the Grand during its run. The story is cleverly constructed and lends itself admirably to a film production.

CAR BROKE THROUGH ICE IN KINGSTON HARBOR

KINGSTON, Feb. 10.—Mr Payne, Wolfe Island, broke through the ice when returning from the city in his automobile, just this side of Garden Island he ran on to a bad streak of ice about forty feet long and his car went through and he was helpless. His predicament was seen from Wolfe Island by Mr. Russell, who went out with his team and dragged the car out.

TO DEVELOP MINE

KINGSTON, Feb. 11.—It is given out here that for a consideration of $65,000 the long time liquidated mining property at Kaladar, widely known as the Star of the East, has been absorbed by the Ore Chimney Mining Co., through the efforts of John Fletcher, purchasing agent and associated board of directors. Mr. Fletcher in an interview states early developments are pending.

AN INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS AT SACRED HEART CHURCH

CHINESE MISSIONARY DESCRIBES CUSTOMS OF CHINA AND ITS PEOPLE.

A capacity audience greeted Rev. J. M. Fraser, the well-known Chinese missionary, in the hall of the Sacred Heart Church on Wednesday evening last. Father Fraser, Superior of the Catholic Missions in China, who has spent seventeen years in foreign missionary work, spoke on "China and Its People," an exceptionally interesting and instructive address. Of this vastly populated country, with its four hundred millions of people, a population so huge that, if they were to progress at the rate of one thousand per minute, it would take nine months for them to pass a given point, the missionary spoke in terms of affection, and remarked that he would not care to leave it and come back to our civilization again. The first Canadian missionary in China, he went out there in 1902, and said that when he first saw the Yang-tse-Kiang, the great river of China, which is so wide that it seems to have no banks, he wondered if its yellow waters had imparted their turbid hues to the countenances of the people.

Shanghai, with its rickshaw traffic, is modernly built up, but Ning Po, where the reverend speaker is stationed, has no rickshaws. Here the people are carried in sedan chairs, and the houses are built of brick on three sides, with a carved wooden front.

China has fifteen hundred cities, and a very picturesque country throughout. Now, they have many schools and nine universities, which is a distinct change from former times, when education was practically unheard of. The people are very polite, carrying this quality into all conditions of everyday life, and their language has no change in inflections, a fact with which most of are familiar who have ever stood and listened to the stream of conversation mingling with the steam issuing from laundry windows.

Peculiar Customs.

Annually, they have huge feasts, of which everyone may partake; the good eat in the houses, but the bad must eat outside on the streets. Ancestor worship is the main point in their religion. They consider that departed spirits require food, so place it on tables near the graves, and leave it for the souls to eat. When a man becomes very sick and delirious, the people think his soul is lost somewhere around the neighbourhood, so they take a chicken, a lantern and an umbrella and go forth, calling, "come soul." After a certain time, they believe that the soul will come into the chicken, which they kill and give to the sick man to eat.

At the entrances to their temples, they place two statues, one of the Good God on the right with gold in his hand, to reward the pious, and one of the evil god on the left, with a sword and club for malefactors.

Near Ning Po, is a bridge which at most times is far too low to allow boats to pass under it. They must wait for a certain turn of the tide, and matters are further complicated by the presence here of a dangerous sand-bar. When enquiry was made as to the reason for not building this bridge higher, for accommodation of traffic, the "foreign gentleman" was politely told that the fire god would be enraged at such an action and would immediately burn the city.

The coasts of China are so low that there are three series of dykes from Pekin to Canton. Some years ago the waters overflowed, and the floods, fifteen feet deep, lasted for thirty days, causing a terrible famine, from which thousands died.

Rev. J. J. O'Brien thanked the speaker for his address, and hoped that Father Fraser would favour them again before departing from Peterborough.

Mr. Jos. Lazure acted as chairman for this meeting, and during the evening Miss Kate Masterson favoured the audience with a solo, accompanied by Mr. John Armstrong.

$10,750 FOR EGG SHOWER.

Mississippi Jury Awards it to Labor Leader Driven from Town.

SUMRALL, Miss., Feb. 11.—A rotten egg shower is worth $10,750 to the man showered, in the opinion of a jury when they returned a verdict for that amount here in favor of Charles H. Franck, former Vice-President of the Mississippi Federation of Labor, who was bombed with ancient eggs and other missiles last August as he was forced to leave town after trying to organize a union among negro employes of the J. J. Newman Lumber Company.

The jury held the company blameless, but its three Superintendents, Thomas, Ballard and Lott, responsible and levied the penalty against them.

QUEER DOINGS

(Canadian Press.)

President Gets Less.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Warren G. Harding, as President of the United States, will receive something like $18,000 less compensation from the Government annually than Woodrow Wilson has received. The Treasury will pay Mr. Harding the same amount that it pays Mr. Wilson—$75,000 annually—but Internal Revenue Bureau officials say that Mr. Harding must return nearly one-fourth of this in income tax. President Wilson came into office before the enactment of the 1918 revenue laws, affecting the President and Federal judges.

An Armored Head.

WINSTED, Conn., Feb. 11.—Philip Nickolow, of Thomaston, has an armored head, in the opinion of doctors and officers. When an assailant fired a bullet from a .32 calibre revolver at close range, the missile simply flattened itself out on his forehead. Nickolow's skull was not even cracked, and he is about as usual.

Money No Object.

DENVER, Feb. 11.—Peter McAvich from Hermine, Pa., managed to tear up and scatter to the wind $1,000 in good money before the police stepped in and arrested him the other night. Parts of the torn bills rescued from the gutter showed that McAvich had destroyed four of $100 denomination.

Roof Garden For Church.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 11.—A roof garden will be one of the features of the First Methodist Church of Corning, in an endeavor to keep the young folks in the church, the Official Board has announced. The garden, however, is to be used mostly for holding religious services.

Dignity For Garbage Pail.

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The humble, battered garbage pail has been raised to the post of dignity. It is now the ally of the Volstead Act enforcers. Auburn garbage collectors are now trailed by revenue sleuths who keep to leeward of the wagons and note the contents of all pails dumped. If they smell sour mash or hops, good-night for the home-brewer. The alarm has been sounded here: "Look out for your garbage pail; it may betray you!"

Giggling Girls Barred.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 11.—Giggling girls who powder and rouge have been barred from jury duty by Judge Louis Repetto, of the district court here. Instructions to his bailiff posted in the court room set down that women juries shall contain: "No busy wives of workingmen!" "No mothers of small children!" "No admixture of men!" "No immature women who giggle, rouge and powder, but do not think."

The Poor Office Boy.

BOSTON, Feb. 11.—Wages of office boys in Boston have fallen from a war-time average of $10 to $12 a week to $8, George a Boyan, of Boys' Division of the Boston Continuation Schools, told a conference of the Juvenile educators recently.

CURIOUS STORY OF A STOLEN NECKLACE.

Thief Restored Jewel in Church, After Which He Kissed Owner's Hand.

(Cross Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

ROME, Feb. 11.—A curious story of a stolen necklace restored to its owner under romantic circumstances comes from Venice. For some time a lady belonging to a noble Venetian family has been living in one of the principal hotels of the town. A few days ago a magnificent necklace of Oriental pearls disappeared from the lady's jewel case. Though the thief could have taken away many other precious jewels as well, and a sum of loose money, nothing was touched except the pearl necklace. The police set inquiries on foot; a reward was offered: but nothing came to light.

Later a registered letter arrived at the hotel addressed to the countess. The letter was sealed with a heraldic device, and contained an invitation to the old countess to come at a certain hour to the altar of the famous Nicopeja Madonna in the Cathedral of St. Mark. The letter stated that if the countess failed to come alone no more would be heard of the necklace.

The next day she went to St. Mark's, and knelt down by the altar named. After a while she felt herself touched on the shoulder and, looking round, saw a man in a fur coat, with gold-rimmed glasses and yellow gloves. The stranger whispered in her ear that he was in possession of the necklace and that she could have it back if she would swear before the Madonna not to reveal the name of the person beside her, nor bring any action. The countess nodded her head, and repeated the oath after the mysterious stranger, who then drew from his pocket the necklace and gave it to her. Kissing the old lady's hand, he left the church without saying a word.

HISTORIC LONDON MANSION FOR GORDON SELFRIDGE.

(By Cross-Atlantic).

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Gordon Selfridge, formerly of Chicago, has for his London residence one of the finest historical mansion in London, Lansdowne House, Berkeley Square, for many generations the town house of the Marquises of Lansdowne. It is a stately eighteenth century building, in the heart of Mayfair, standing in several acres of private grounds surrounded by a high wall.

It was reported that Mr. Selfridge had purchased Lansdowne House, but he has merely rented it for a term. The contents include what is merely the richest private collection of sculpture and painting in England.

Mr. Selfridge is proprietor of one of the biggest department stores in London, and of several others which he has recently acquired in the provinces.

RACE DEPLETION.

During 1915 there were 1,000,000 men killed in the war. During the same time more than that number died from tuberculosis. During the last 30 years enough baby boys died in England to give them an army of 3,000,000 men. In the United States statistics show that the economic loss alone is over $3,000,000,000.—Dr. Margaret Patterson.

GERMANS BLAME FRANCE FOR MOST OF POST-WAR ILLS.

England as a Whole Credited With a Desire For Fair Play — Another Struggle With France Not Probable.

(Associated Press)

BERLIN, Jan. 26 (by mail).—Recrudescence of the war spirit of the German people, which even as late as six months ago apparently had been completely banished, recently has assumed a new and noticeable aspect, particularly in relation to the French who generally are blamed for most of the pre-war ills of the German nation.

Civilians and former soldiers alike frankly express the most intense hatred for the French, and again are dreaming of a day when they can even up in war what they have lost in peace. There is no evidence of ill-feeling against the British and toward the Americans, of whom much is expected; commercially, there is every indication of goodwill.

Britain, on the whole, has been credited with a desire for fair play in the execution of the Peace Treaty, but in many sources the opinion prevails that France is destined to have her way, even at the expense of the integrity of the German nation. (This applied to the situation before the amount of the German indemnity was fixed.)

Agitation in certain French circles for an independent South Germany, probably under the domination of Bavaria; the alleged pro-Polish attitude of the French military in the Upper Silesian zone; the insistence of the French that the Einwohnerwehr and other "protective organisations" shall at once disarm; threats of a military occupation of the Ruhr district; and use of French negro troops in the occupied zone, all have contributed to this revival of race hatred.

Delivery of milch cows to the French has, in view of the milk shortage in Germany and the increase in infant mortality, intensified the feeling among the civilian population against the French people.

War Spirit Exaggerated.

A German Government official with whom the correspondent discussed the situation, did not agree with some men who once held high commissions in the army that "another struggle with France is inevitable," but expressed the opinion that "hatred of the French is a natural consequence of French conduct." He believed, however, that superficial aspects had led to exaggerated opinions of the war spirit of the German people.

"For example, German army uniforms may be seen everywhere," he said, "and especially in the universities. The stranger immediately jumps to the conclusion that this is an exhibition of the military spirit. The facts are that many soldiers, and this applies particularly to students, are wearing uniforms to conceal the fact that they have no shirts. They are too poor to buy other clothes."

However, he thought "that other things being equal," the Germans would be willing to promptly go about settling old scores with the French.

COST OF COSMETICS EQUAL NAVAL EXPENSES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—American women now are spending for beautifiers, candy and foibles enough to pay the entire cost of the nation's naval programme, including construction of new ships.

Feminine knick-knacks during 1920 cost approximately $500,000,000, Government records show. The cost of the naval programme for 1921 will be $343,000,000, unless present appropriations are increased.

That little habit of Milady America of powdering her nose during 1920 cost approximately $50,000,000, or enough to build a giant dreadnought and leave $15,000,000 besides.

Perfumes, cosmetics, scented soaps, jewellery, diamonds and ostrich feathers for fans and hats now are pouring into the United States from every other country in the world to make the American women more beautiful and attractive.

America is the only country in the world where candy consumption runs into millions. During 1920 the American candy bill was in the neighborhood of $180,000,000. Approximately $15,000,000 worth of chewing gum was bought in the United States last year.

But it is in the records which show the importations and sale of such things as furs, diamonds, pearls and perfumerie that the influence of the American women on American trade and commerce is really made clear. Reports of the Commerce Department indicate that diamonds are coming into the United States at the rate of approximately $84,000,000 a year and perfumes $5,400,000. Feathers for hats and fans last year bought abroad cost approximately $3,000,000.

The entry list includes 60 breeds, and 11 miscellaneous animals. The varieties run from bloodhound, mastiffs and St. Bernards, all the way down to toy terriers.

LOCAL ENGINEERS HAD GOOD MEETING

PETERBORO DELEGATES RETURN FROM GENERAL MEETING.

The February monthly meeting of the Peterboro Branch of the Engineering Institute, was held in the Board of Trade rooms last night. The meeting was a successful one, between 50 and 60 members and assistant members being present. The president, Mr. R. H. Parsons occupied the chair. He referred to the memorable general meeting held in Toronto last week, to which twelve members of the local branch had the honour to be delegates. These were R. H. Parsons, C. E. Sisson, R. L. Dobbin, P. P. Westbye, R. C. Flitton, H. C. Morley, Alan Munroe, W. B. Davis, R. B. Rogers, James MacIntosh, A. A. Richardson and A. E. Cuddy of Campbellford.

The meeting was by far the most successful in the 34 years' history of the Institute. Engineers were present from Vancouver to Halifax, and each would carry home something of value to the profession, believed Mr. Parsons.

Mr. Smith's Address.

Mr. K. H. Smith, chief engineer of the Nova Scotia Hydro-Electric Power oCmmission and a so chief engineer in that province for the Waterpower branch of the Department of the Interior, under Mr. J. B. Chawlies, well known to many Peterboro people, spoke at last night's meeting. Mr. Smith is an eminent engineer. He has been in Peterboro inspecting the electrical aparatus under construction here for the Commission and consented to speak at last night's meeting. He avoided engineering matters and spoke chiefly of the growing dissatisfaction in the Maritime Provinces of their treatment by Government since Confederation. All the favours have gone west, they claim. The government has ignored the eastern portion of the Dominion, and there is now, he claimed, a marked animosity to the other parts of Canada, and a movement to destroy Confederation is gaining ground. Mr. Smith, from his position, spoke in all seriousness of this matter. He also spoke of the progress and prosperity of Nova scotia, and told how his own city, Halifax, had developed into one of the great ports of the world. He described its immense docks, and slips, which will now harbour the world's largest vessels, he said.

Mr. William Gore.

William Gore, M.E.I.C., one of the outstanding consulting engineers in Canada to-day, and recognized on this continent as an authority on reservoir construction both for water supply purposes, electrical development or irrigation, spoke at length on this subject, which is of great interest to Peterboro engineers, as a large 2,000,000 gallon reservoir is required in the new filtration plant.

Mr. Gore traced the history of reservoirs back to the Ancient Egyptians, where they were first conceived for irrigation purposes. Early construction of reservoirs is also attributed to Peru, India and Ceylon.

With the exception of Portland cement and iron, the materials used by these ancient constructors were the same as those used to-day. However the lack of these necessary materials made failure of the reservoir almost certain. Nevertheless there is one record of a reservoir in India that has been in actual use for 400 or 500 years. The speaker went on and told of the causes of failure of great reservoir disasters, perhaps the most serious of which was that at Johnston, Pa., which caused the death of over 2000 persons and did millions of dollars worth of damage. He described various kinds of service reservoirs such as could be used in Peterboro and pointed out the advantages of the different types.

Bolshevik diplomat and former Soviet representative in the United States who has reached Russia.

MINDEN MEN FINED.

LINDSAY, Feb. 11.— License Inspector Thornbury has returned from the north country, where he had to Minden residents up before Magistrate Jordan on B.O.T.A. charges. The first who was accused of having liquor other than a private dwelling, paid a paid of $100 with $8 costs. The other young man was guilty of carrying liquor on the interior of his person for which pleasure he paid a fine of $10 and costs of $8.

DELIGHTFUL RECITAL IN HEINTZMAN HALL

A PACKED HALL HEARS A DELIGHTFUL PROGRAMME.

A delightful impromptu musicale was held in the handsome show rooms of "Heintzman Hall," Royal Bank building, Hunter street, Thursday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The announcement of the recital drew a full house, many in attendance being obliged to remain standing during the proceedings.

A raised platform was provided for the pianist and soloists and seats filled the available floor space, which were all taken by ladies and gentlemen. The programme consisted of selections by Mrs. George King, the popular soloist of Trinity church, and Mr. Farr, a pleasing young baritone of this city. Mr. Tatersall, organist of St .Paul's, gave several of his masterful performances on the pianoforte, which earned the warm applause of the audience. Mr. Farr's "When the Bells in the Lighthouse Rings" was encored, and Mrs. King's "Carrissmia" was greatly appreciated.

Several selections on the Brunswick phonograph were much admired, and attracted unusual interest by the clearness and fullness of tonal effects.

SHAKE-UP IN THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT

CHURCHILL SUCCEEDS MILNER, SIR L. W. EVANS TO WAR OFFICE, LORD LEE HEADS NAVY —OTHER CHANGES.

THEIR PAST RECORDS

(Canadian Press).

LONDON, Feb. 14.—King George Saturday approved the appointments of Winston Spencer Churchill as Secretary for the Colonies, Sir Laming Worthington Evans as Secretary for War, Lord Lee of Fareham as First Lord of the Admiralty, and Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen as President of the Board of Agriculture.

Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, soldier, politician and writer, was Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies from 1906-8 and became President of the Board of Trade in 1908, for three years. Later he filled the post of Home Secretary, until 1911, and from then to 1915 he was First Lord of the Admiralty.

Entering the army in 1895, he served in Cuba, and in the Indian campaigns. He acted as correspondent for The Morning Post in South Africa. He was born on November 30, 1874, eldest son of the late Right Hon. Lord Randolph Churchill.

To War Office.

Sir L. Worthington Evans, born on August 25, 1868, and M.P. for Colchester since 1910, admitted as a solicitor with honors in 1890, and retired. He was a member of the Board of Trade Committee for Reform of Company Law in 1905. Later he was vice-chairman of the National Unionist Association. At one time he was appointed special manager by high court in connection with the London and Globe and British American Companies, following the Whitaker-Wright smash in 1904.

New First Lord.

Lord Lee, M.P. for Fareham division of Hampshire since 1900, was born in 1868. He entered the Royal Artillery in 1888, and was professor of strategy and tactics, R.M.C., Canada, from 1893-98. He was chairman of the Parliamentary Aerial Defence Committee, and Civil Lord of the Admiralty, 1903-05.

He went into the war in 1914 and was detailed for special service with the expeditionary force as colonel on the staff.

Advance Australia!

Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, former Minister of Education in New South Wales, was born in Westmeath, Ireland. In 1910-15 he was Minister of Public Works and M.P. for N.S.W. For ten years he was a trustee of the Savings Bank, N.S.W.

He published various pamphlets on current topics, including "The Truth About the Transvaal," and the labour platform.

WHERE SIR WILFRED LAURIER SLEEPS. — Design of the monument to be erected over the grave of the Right Hon. Sir Wilfred Laurier, former Prime Minister of Canada. The old chieftain of the Liberal Party sleeps beneath a row of poplars in the Notre Dame Cemetery at Ottawa. Fifty-seven designs were submitted for the monument, the money for which had been raised throughout Canada by popular subscriptions, in sums ranging from ten cents to five dollars. The design of Lalberte & Cote, of Montreal was finally accepted, but the prize money, $1,000, was divided equally between that company and W. D. Cromarty of Ottawa, George Moorehouse & King of Toronto, Emanuel Hahn of Toronto, and B. A. Dore of Ottawa.

FEAR RESULTS OF CHANGE IN THE MINISTRY

WIDE DIVERGENCE OF OPINION IN GOVERNMENT REGARDING CABINET RECONSTRUCTION AND SOME MISGIVINGS.

RUMORS ARE PERSISTENT

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 14. — There is a wide divergence of opinion among Government members as to the expediency of Cabinet reconstruction at a time when the Government's majority is at best precarious and when the presence of every available member in the House is an urgent necessity. The promotion of any member from the back to the treasury benches, means his forced absence from the House for a period of a couple of months. The retirement of a minister to make way for the newcomer, may mean his transfer to the Senate or elsewhere, or ris relegation to the back benches in a more or less disgruntled frame of mind.

Nevertheless, and in spite of a sort of official denial by the Government last week, rumors of re-organization still persist. The names of Messrs. Stevens, Manion and Stewart continue to be mentioned, though each and all decline to say anything definite on the matter one way or another. Rumors of Quebec representation are coupled with the names of Messrs. Gauthier, Boivin (Deputy Speaker' and Mondou. The latter, however, in old Conservative circles from Quebec, is regarded as an absolute impossibility. Since his appointment to the position of Deputy Speaker by the Union Government, he has fairly consistently voted with the Liberals, and has retained their respect. As for Mr. Gauthier, he has declined to sit longer on the Opposition side, but there are many who doubt that he will ever secure a place on the treasury benches.

It is suggested by some that Premier Meighen, if he decided upon re-construction, will lay his slate before Parliament, declare his intenion of issuing writes for all by-elections, will request the temporary clemency of Parliament pending the holding of such elections and the passing of supply and necessary legislation and will pledge himself to be bound by the mandate as reflected in the result of the contests.

SOVIET MINISTER NOT OVERSANGUINE

IF TRADE AGREEMENT NOT SIGNED COMPLICATIONS MIGHT ARISE.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—M. Tchitcherin, Soviet Foreign Minister, is not over sanguine concerning the trade agreement with Great Britain, according to the Moscow correspondent of the Herald.

After expressing this opinion to the correspondent the Foreign Minister is reported to have said that if it were not signed the situation in the near future would become more critical. The Soviet, he declared, had amended the agreement by inserting provisions for the formal recognition of Persia and other Eastern States.

WOMAN GIVEN POISON BY A PHARMACIST?

DOCTOR CHARGES THAT MISTAKE WAS MADE BY DRUGGIST IN PREPARING PRESCRIPTION WHICH CAUSED DEATH.

WILL HOLD AN INQUEST

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Ethel Ruznik, aged 33 years, of 2?1 Augusta Avenue, died in the General Hospital at 2.00 yesterday afternoon trom poisoning. Mrs. Ruznik succumbed after taking a powder which, it is alleged by the police, had been given by a druggist in mistake for medicine called for in a doctor's prescription.

Mrs. Ruznik was in poor health, suffering from stomach trouble, and was being attended by Dr. M. A. Pollock, 425 Bloor Street West. On Saturday night Dr. Pollock examined the patient in his office and decided to take an X-ray before operating. He gave her a prescription for "barium sulphate chemically pure," which he told her to take Sunday morning and return to his office in the afternoon for the X-ray. Mrs. Ruznik, accompanied by her husband, Max, went to a drug store on Saturday night, and had the prescription filled.

Fear Wrong Powder Given.

Sergeant of Detectives Alex. Murray stated that the proprietor of the store was in charge at the time. In making up the prescription he is believed to have given Mrs. Ruznik "barium sulphurite," which is poison.

Not noticing the label on the medicine bottle, Mrs. Ruznik took some of the poison yesterday morning. She became very ill and Dr. Pollock was notified. When the doctor arrived at the house he found his patient had been removed to the hospital. Mrs. Ruznik rapidly became unconscious and died.

Colour is Different.

Dr. Pollock, when interviewed last night, said he had been attending Mrs. Ruznik for eight years. The medicine he prescribed was not harmful. He could not understand how the mistake was made. The medicine ordered was in the form of a white powder. "Barium sulphurite" is also a powder, but similar in colour to gunpowder.

Chief Coroner Arthur Jukes Johnson was furnished with a report of the police investigation, and will appoint a Coroner to-day to hold an investigation. From information learned from the police yesterday the Chief Coroner decided an injury should be held.

TENTACLES OF SOVIET REACH THE DOMINION

MISS AMY M'KONE TELLS WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB OF EXPERIENCES IN RUSSIA, AND CANADA'S DANGER.

TYRANNY OF THE REDS

At the meeting of the Canadian Women's Club on Saturday afternoon in the Public Library, Miss Archer read a letter from the Armenian Relief Association of Canada, asking for further help for the thousands of orphan children in dire need through causes over which they had no control. It was decided to at once forward $30, with a possibility of a further remittance later on.

Miss Amy McKone addressed the ladies on "Personal Experiences in Russia." This was a keen, well-put narration of the horrors of Bolshevism, and would doubtless bear welcome repetition in a larger hall, before a large audience. The speaker, an Englishwoman who had lived for years in Japan, China and Korea, going into Siberia in 1918 with the American Red Cross, living for many months in first-hand communication with all classes of the Russian people was well qualified to speak on Bolshevistic rule.

The Tsar's Gentle Consideration

In Tomsk, the Boston of Siberia, that beautiful white city built by the late Tsar at the end of the old Moscow road, so that the shackled convicts departing on foot for the salt mine might realize very plainly all that they left behind, there was a hospital of 900 beds which had been stipped by the Red forces of all drugs bedding, dressings and fuel. It was to this city that refugees poured in by day and night from all parts of Russia, fleeing before the Bolshevists and every inch of space was taken by the living, by the sick suffering from the malignant fevers that swept over the land, and the dead whom no one cared to bury. "Siberia presents the spectacle of a great bloody giant, fighting on, in the grasp of the most absolute group of despots the world has ever seen. Bolshevism here has destroyed national unity, trade and commerce, and free communication with the outside world, it leaves behind it everywhere heaps of unsightly ruins, and has left to death disease and starvation what was once termed the granary of the world."

No Middle Classes.

The old Russia had no middle class. There were the aristocrats, the Intelligenzia, many of whom were reformers, but are most bitterly hated by the Reds, and the uncouth, illiteraee peasant class, comprising about 80 per cent. of the total population, who were willing to embrace any new doctrine, knowing that nothing could be worse than what they had. But the peasants are leaving the Red standard, and the speaker declared taat Bolshevik forces are now composed mainly of Chinese and Mongolian bandits. The skilled artisans, regarded with almost as much hatred as the aristocrats, were all put to death, and Russian industries are clogged with ignorant, unskilled workers. One of the Bolshevik boasts is that education shall be free for all, and consequently in the University of Moscow, entrance examinations have been abolished. There are many attending it who cannot read or write and a former washerwoman is one of the professors.

Lenine and Trotsky.

Of the two great pillars of Russian freedom, one, the German Russian, Lenine, who is the brains of the movement, started out working for Germany, but still with some Utopian idea of establishing a communistic state, but, the other, the arm of the sect, the German Jew, Trotsky, is nothing but an unscrupulous despot, whose one aim is to increase his own power and wealth.

In Moscow, in October of last year, there were 110 people killed by order, in November, 130, in December, 189, and in January of this year 319 were despatched, because Lenine declared that the Intelligenzia, were not being removed quickly enough. He has declared his intention of going on until every man, woman and child belonging to the old Intelligenzia or educated, cultured class, has been destroyed He also intends to spread the Soviet movement throughout the world, beginning with the British Empire and paying particular attention to Canada and Australia. The speaker declared that there are at present in Canada fifteen socities pledged, even at the price of life, to spread Bolshevism throughout this country, and that, in one place in the West where she spoke against it disturbance became so violent that she was compelled to leave by the back door, and she attributed the defeat of Admiral Kolchak's army at the hands of the Bolshevists to the intervention of the Labor parties of England and the United States.

Parliament Opens With Pomp of Old; Crisis Threatened

WHAT WILL DEVELOP IMPOSSIBLE TO FORECAST BUT IT IS CERTAIN THAT CRISIS WILL BE REACHED EARLY

SITUATION IS TENSE

Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—The fifth session of the thirteenth Parliament of Canada opened this afternoon in the new Senate Chamber, when the Duke of Devonshire formally declared the session open and delivered the speech from the throne. The session is expected to be full of fight. Members of the opposition are determined, they say to force an early election and some of the government supporters are said to be strongly in favor of early dissolution and an appeal to the country. The first move to this end is expected to come when Hon. W L MacKenzie King gets the floor tomorrow. He is expected to move an amendment to the address in which he will call for dissolution and an early election. The opening ceremony to-day was carried out with much of the pre-war pomp and display.

The tariff revision will be the main business of the session, it is expected. Apart from that, so far as is at present indicated, the Government's legislative programme is not heavy. Authority may be sought to create a new department dealing with returned soldiers' problems, and known as the Department of Soldiers' Welfare. The Copyright Bill is likely to be brought in again. Taken as a whole, the session is likely to be characterized by keen battling, with the possibility in view of an appeal to the polls. Government supporters are confident, however, that they will have a good working majority.

Members are already gathering to the capital for the opening of Parliament. Government members are arriving with something of foreboding in their mien, and with no certainty as to whether the session shal lbe long or whether dissolution will be early precipitated. Liberal members still wear the smile engendered by the victory of West Peterborough, and appear to be in a fighting mood. Progressive members are a bit dubious. Hon. T. A. Crerar, their leader, will not be down till the 21st, and it is realized by his followers that the opening days may be critical days. Dr. Clark of Red Deer will be leader in an acting capacity until his chief arrives.

Cabinet Changes Put Off?

A sort of official denial of rumours of reconstruction of the Cabinet has been issued. It may be taken for what it is worth. Obviously the Government must go on or go under. Cabinet reconstruction was certainly in contemplation, if it has been abandoned it is because discretion has been deemed the better part of valor. Every member on the back benches promoted to the treasury benches is a vote lost to the Government in the House for a period of two months, inas much as the appointee cannot sit until he has been re-elected, and the Government at present has not votes to spare. Its majority, as a matter of fact, is quite precarious.

Liberals Will Fight.

The Liberals will start to fight from the first clang of the gong. At the first opportunity an amendment will be offered to the address whose purpose it will be to force a general election. Progressives last session voted for such a resolution moved by Mr. King. This session they are in a bit of a quandary; they profess not to want a general election until after a redistribution of Federal seats by which the prairie provinces hope to have their representation increased by a score or so, and that of Ontario, where the "big interests" live, decreased. So that they are liable to vote down any resolution calling for immediate dissolution. If, however, the King amendment is in the nature simply of a vote of lack of confidence it will be hard for the progressives to evade voting for it.

Indeed the resolution will not be generally popular in a House where quarters are comfortable and among men to whom $4,000 a session looks good.

PRINCE OF WALES RECEIVES CURLERS

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Feb. 14 — The Prince of Wales has received Judge Patterson, Captain of the Canadian Curlers and accepted the team's badge as a momento of the occasion. The Canadian curlers will deposit a wreath on the cenotaph in Whitehall in memory of the curlers of the Empire and will go to France, where they will visit the Canadian battlefields and cemeteries. Lord Beaverbrook entertained the curlers last evening the company including the Lord Chancellor, Lord Birkenhead, Bonar Law and Sir George Perley, Canadian High Commissioner. In a brief speech Judge Patterson told the gathering that there was no feeling in Canada against an appeal to the Privy Council

R. M. Waddell and Robert Hicks of Peterborough, are members of the team.

C.N.R. NOT TO ABIDE BY THE BOARD REPORT

DIRECTORATE DECIDES TO KEEP "NO POLITICS" ORDER IN FORCE BUT WILL REINSTATE DISCHARGED MEN.

TO ENFORCE STRICTLY

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—The directorate of the Canadian National Railways has refused to abide by the majority report of the Board of Conciliation which investigated the dispute between the railway and its employees over the "no politics" order of President Hanna and in a letter to the Deputy Minister of Labor President Hanna states that the order will remain in force and that it will be strictly enforced in the future. The three employees who have been discharged for participating in politics will, however, be reinstated and will receive back pay. They will receive leave of absence to attend the sessions of the Legislatures of which they are members until the expiration of their terms.

Hon. Senator Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, seen at Ottawa, this morning, stated that no further action on the part of the Department was contemplated for the present.

RUMOURED CUBAN SUGAR COMMITTEE.

A rumour is going the rounds in sugar circles that President Menocal of Cuba will appoint a committee of seven to market the 1920-1921 sugar crop. The names mentioned for the committee include R. B. Hawley, president of the Cuban-American Sugar Company, Manuel Rionda, of the Cuba Cane Sugar Corporation, and W. A. Simonson, executive manager of the National City Bank. No definite action has yet been taken.

Practical sugar men have some doubts as to the value of such a committee, and recall unsuccessful pool agreement last year to hold the remainder of the 1920 Cuban crop for 30 cents. This resulted in Cuba's holding the bag for the rest of the world and the big unsold balance of the crop causing the financial smash there.

SHIPPED FROM ENGLAND.

PEMBROKE, Feb. 14.—Work on the new large Maguire Palmer, Paterson Company's splint factory is just about complete, and by the way the machinery is being rushed into place the factory will be in operation in a month's time, which is good news to the unemployed. It will give employment to about 150 hands at the start, and will gradually increase to 400, according to the arrival of the machinery which is on the way, having been shipped from England.

TARIFF WALL AGAINST US NOT WANTED

NORTH-WESTERN UNITED STATES WANTS NO BARRIERS AGAINST CANADA—IS GLAD FORDNEY BILL SHELVED

SAYS DULUTH MAN

"We people of the Northwest, es-"pecially in the grain states, are glad "that the Fordney Bill was shelved. "Those farmers who wanted it were "the one who had suffered from the "depression in prices, and who "thought an embargo would be a good "thing, but, as a whole, we do not "want any trade barriers between Can-"ada and the United States. We do not "think there is any possibility of this "Bill coming up again next session, "and we are all glad of it. We want "to do business with Canada without "any high tariff walls," said Mr. H. F. Salyords, President of the Duluth Board of Trade in a short interview with an Examiner representative at the Empress Hotel on Saturday afternoon.

Hard Times Unknown.

He remarked that while Duluth itself is part of the great iron range of Lake Michigan, where hard times are practically unknown, on account of the high wage standard maintained by the United States. Steel Corporation, that, for the farming communities five hundred miles away in North Dakota and Montana, bankers and grain dealers were doubtful if they were going to realize much from the old crop. Re-adjustment conditions will not permit them to realize more than the present price of $1.50 per bushel, and there will be little change until they get into the new crop in the coming fall. He said that prices on commodities still remained high in the United States, and there was no rapid decline in the cost of living.

Our Soothing City.

He thought that "soothing and rest-"ful is the best way of describing your "nice-looking little city." He had been told that "Peterborough" was a "little backwoods lumber camp," and was agreeably surprised by what he had seen of it. The Saturday market, especially, had impressed him favorably, with its nicely dressed women selling butter and eggs and the very evident pervading spirit of co-operation between farmers and townspeople. "We have nothing like it in our part of the country," he said, but remarked that the spirit of co-operation was in the air, and that the contrast between our system of protecting the farmers and that of the American plan of allowing strong commission merchants to hold up prices and create monopolies for their own benefit, was decidedly in our favour.

Banking System Praised.

Our banking system came in for a share of praise also. It seems odd to an American in passing through a small town to see a little bank window marked, "Our assets are —— million million dollars," but the advantages of our system are plain enough when one considers the movement of the crops, and our instant and easy access to funds for all such purposes. "We, as a people, are not as frugal as the Canadians. We have more of the foreign and transient element in our population, which does not make for heavy savings accounts. The Americans have the reputation for doing big things, but after all, you are more substantial. One thing we want in the United States is freer and better co-operation with Canada. We want nothing in the way of embargoes. We want to sell our goods and have free passage of money, with no duties. It is ridiculous for the two countries to have different money and such a high rate of exchange, but when the world trouble is over, things will be more normal."

SUNDAY CONCERTS WILL BE ARRANGED

PROCEEDS ARE TO BE DEVOTED TO CHARITABLE PURPOSES.

Arrangements are under way for a series of Sunday night concerts, with vocal and band music, as the principal features of the programme, to be held in the Grand Opera House, the proceeds to be devoted to charitable purposes. The Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, owners of the Grand, will derive no financial benefit from these concerts, Mr. W. J. Phillips, the local manager, having made the necessary arrangements. It is proposed to have the concerts commence at 8.30 o'clock so that the church services will not be interfered with, and a silver collection will be taken at the door. The Children's Aid Society, St. Vincent's Orphanage and other institutions will in turn benefit from the concerts.

REDUCTION IN WAGES AND MATERIAL COST START BUILDING BOOM

FAR BEHIND ACTUAL NEEDS, CITIES ARE SO CROWDED THAT THEY ARE A MENACE TO PUBLIC HEALTH—READJUSTMENT MUST COME.

Manufacturers of both building brick and paving block have a large supply of goods on hand, says the Wall Street Journal. At this season of the year, however, the clayworking industry normally adds to its supply of building material.

While this has been an open winter, the practical difficulties that beset construction at this season of the year, such as protecting walls from freezing, etc., add materially to the cost of building. Therefore nothing but the most urgent work is being done.

There have been, up to this time, only minor reductions in the cost of building and although the need for new construction is one of the most serious problems of the time, the widely prevalent feeling that construction work can be done more cheaply later is causing prospective builders to delay work.

Labor costs in building and brick-making industries have not, except in rare cases, been reduced at all. It is therefore the opinion of leaders in this branch of work that there can be no great reduction in construction costs until there has been some readjustment of wages. This readjustment has already started. In a few cases wages have been cut and in most cases men are on strike.

A leading manufacturer of brick and tile machinery, who is attending the annual session of the National Brick Makers' Association here, said: "Our business is very good. Some of our competitors are not doing so well, but I believe that when wages are readjusted and the cost of building becomes nearer normal—that is somewhere near the 1914 level of cost—there will be one of the biggest building booms ever seen in this country. We are far behind actual needs now. The population in the cities are so crowded that they are a menace to public health.

"Our paving brick machinery department is fairly busy. We manufacture more of this class of machinery than any other concern in the world. We expect this business to be greatly stimulated when wage readjustment is effected. The brick paved road has proven its superiority over other material time and again. The great Indianapolis speedway is now paved with vitrified paving block. Other materials were tried first and found unsatisfactory.

"Many states like Ohio, for instance, already have hundreds of miles of brick paved road. The increasing number of automobiles has caused more interest to be taken in good roads than ever before, and nothing has ever put road material to such a severe test as heavy, speeding, motor trucks.

"Millions of dollars worth of bonds have been voted by communities all over the country for good roads, but the cost of construction for the time being is holding up much of this work. Before the war the cost of a mile of brick paved country road was about $30,000; it is now about $65,000. State and county officials consider the cost excessive and are refusing to pay it. Later on this work will be done.

"The price of money—that is, the difficulty of selling bonds except on a high yield basis—is also having an adverse effect on the good roads movement. Bankers, however, of the Middle West believe that before the end of the year money can be had on more favorable terms than it can be had now.

"If the automobile is to continue with us we must have good roads. As the population increases, the need for new construction will become still more urgent. If even absolute necessities are to be met, one cannot escape a feeling of optimism, so far as home and road building are concerned."

CRUEL DECEPTION.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 14.—Mrs. F. A. South, who last month startled Atlanta with the announcement that at the age of 52 she had given birth to triplets, has acknowledged in a statement that the three children, together with six others in the South home were obtained from foundling institutions.

BIRD QUITE UNKNOWN.

Cornwall, Vt., Feb. 14.—Ornithologist are endeavoring to determine the species of a strange bird that descended in the barnyard of Mrs. F. D. Manchester, wooed a Plymouth Rock hen and was slain in a duel with a jealous rooster. The intruder was grey about the size of a duck, had a long red beak and such short legs that it waddled with difficulty. Its feet were webbed and in fighting it used its bill like a rapier. Superior agility won for the rooster.

A QUEER HOUSEBOAT.

Boston, Feb. 14.—A frog which had taken up residence in a pickerel's stomach, was dispossessed by Harry Fairbanks, of this city, who hooked the fish through the ice at Mill Pond, N. H. A few minutes after eviction the firmisternial tailless amphibian shook off winter torpor and hopped languidly to new quarters behind a stove. The pickerel houseboat was 15 inches long.

CLAIMS WORLD-RECORD.

McColl, S. C., Feb. 15.—This town, "population 2,129," the guide-books aver, claims a world's record. A church survey just announced, disclosed only two men and a boy who are not church members, taking 12 years as minimum age. The females were unanimous.

FAILED IN CONTRACT.

Niami, Fla., Feb. 15.—Joe Thomas, an aged negro, is in trouble through failure to make good a contract to bring back to life, the late, lamented husband of a negro woman. She said she gave him $15 and the deceased's gold watch for the job. He said he buried the timepiece at the grave to rouse the sleeper but it didn't work.

ENDICOTT-JOHNSON STARTS NEW FACTORY

Addition at Johnson City Brings Total Productive Capacity Up to 100,000 Pairs Shoes Daily — All Other Factories on Full Time.

Boston—The Endicott Johnson Corporation has this week begun operations at a large new factory which was completed about two months ago at Johnson City.

This addition brings total productice capacity up to about 100,000 pairs of shoes a day. The new factory has, of course, started on a moderate scale but production will be gradually worked up as business develops.

Conditions at the time the new factory was completed did not warrant immediately starting it up as all the Endicott Johnson plants were then working on a curtailed basis.

Now, however, all the factories, with exception of the new one, are working on a full time basis. About the middle of January the plants at Johnson City, where about 75 p.c. of the company's product is manufactured, were increased from a 5-day week to a 6-day basis and the factories at Endicott, New York, have just recently been put on a full basis.

The starting of the new factory is indicative of the confidence of Endicott Johnson officials in the business outlook. They believe there will be a good steady improvement in demand for medium priced shoes. Everything points to the fact that stocks of merchandise have been pretty well liquidated.

IRISH OUTRAGES INCREASE.

(Canadian Press).

DUBLIN, Feb. 14.—An increase in the number of Sinn Fein attacks against the Crown forces and similar outrages in Ireland has been reported during the past week. Official reports to-day covering week-end activities, deal with outrages not only in Dublin and throughout the south and west, but even in the northern County of Monaghan and the north-western part of County Mayo, a region heretofore reported quiet. From two districts in Mayo the police reported finding on Saturday roads trenched with stone barricades erected across the highways, as if in preparation for ambuscades. One of the reports emanated from Ballaghadereen, the home of John Dillon. At Macroom, which since the Kilmichel ambush, has been occupied by large forces of auxiliaries, a fusillade was fired and three bombs were thrown. At Carrickmacross, County Monaghan, an attack was made upon a patrol of ten policemen within a few yards of their barracks.

YOUNG GIRL FINDS RELIEF

Wants to Tell Other Girls All About It

Evansville, Ind.—"I am eighteen years old and have been bothered for several months with irregular periods. Every month my back would ache and I always had a cold and felt drowsy and sleepy. I work in a millinery shop and I went to work everyday, but felt stupid and would have such cramps. I had seen Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and had heard several women talk of it, so mother got me some. This Vegetable Compound is wonderful and it helped me very much, so that during my periods I am not now sick or drowsy. I have told many girls about it and would be glad to help anyone who is troubled with similar ailments." — STELLA LINXWILER, 6 Second St., Evansville, Ind.

Some girls lead lives of luxury, while others toil for their livelihood, but all are subject to the same physical laws and suffer in proportion to their violation. When such symptoms develop as irregularities, headaches, backaches, bearing-down sensations and "the blues," girls should profit by Miss Linxwiler's experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

BUDS APPEAR ON TREES SIX WEEKS AHEAD OF TIME.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14. — Trees in the vicinity of Ottawa have already commenced to show signs of life as a result of the fine weather.

The twigs from some of the trees bore buds, some of them being well developed. The buds on the lilac branch were fairly large and looked as if they might break within a week. The soft maple was also well developed.

Inquiries from an official of the Forestry branch showed that these trees have budded from three to six weeks ahead of time. It is usual for the lilac to bud around the middle of March and the others near April 1st.

It has been pointed out however that this early budding is no indication of an early spring or continued warm weather. If it were to turn very cold suddenly and continue that way the trees that have already budded would most likely die and not bloom all summer.

ATHLETIC WORK AT R.M.C.

KINGSTON, Feb. 14.—The Royal Military College athletes are making good progress in the course of training being carried out for the assault-at-arms that is to be held by the G.W.V.A. on the 11th and 12th of March. The class of N.C.O.'s of the permanent force, being trained for instructors is showing marked improvement. The G.C.O. made an inspection of the college and saw the class at work. He congratulated Lieut. S. C. Cutbush upon the fine showing of the men.

FAST TIME SHOULD FEATURE HUDSON BAY DOG DERBY

ALASKAN METHOD OF RACING ADOPTED AND IS IMPROVEMENT —LIGHT RACING SLED AND DOGS TWO ABREAST THIS YEAR.

(Canadian Press Limited.)

THE PAS, Feb. 14.— Fast time should feature the fourth annual Hudson Bay Dog Derby, to be held from here to Flin Flon and return, a distance of approximately 200 miles, for a purse of $2,500 March 1. The Alaskan method of racing has been adopted by the "mushers" and already a great improvement in the speed of the teams has been noted in the preliminary trials. What was thought to constitute a record when Goyne, the Derby winner of 1920, covered a 100 miles in 13 hours and 14 minutes, has been beaten by the local racing teams in easy fashion time and again this winter in their workouts. One contestant driving a team of nine huskies covered 50 miles in 5 hours and 14 minutes. This is three miles an hour more than was possible under the old single-file system of harnessing when barely seven miles an hour could be made.

Two Dogs Abreast.

This year a light racing harness and sled and the harnessing of two dogs abreast instead of the hitherto single-file with a heavy harness and a carriole of considerable weight, is in vogue. The new sleigh weighs under 25 pounds and the total weight of the harness for 13 dogs will not average more than a half pound to a dog.

One of the great faults of the single-file system of driving was that going up hill it caused the entire weight of the pull on the dog nearest the carriole and destroyed whatever chance there was for speed in a pinch. It lessened the speed and uniform working of the team as a whole and at times it inflicted great hardship on the sleigh dog.

Three Hills to Climb.

On this year's course there are three hills to climb going and coming, but otherwise the route is an easy one over lakes and beaten trails where the ground is even. Probably 60 per cent. of the distance is over lakes. This also is another factor for greater speed. A short rest at Flin Flon on the outgoing end, to feed and rub the rubs, is the only stop officially provided for and that one long enough for the cards to be signed and the dogs checked up. It is optional with the drivers to remain as long as they like. In all other respects the race is a no-stop one.

The type of dogs in the race differs in only two respects from the reliable husky or wolf-mongrel so familiar in Northern Manitoba and Sasaktchewan. Stewart possesses a team of eleven Siberian coast dogs with very sharp, pointed ears, low in the body and well lengthened. Goyne is the other exception with a team of 13 setters, of the setter-mongrel type. His team is perhaps better trained to command than any of the others and he has exhibited wonderful control over them. They do not appear as hardy and powerful as the husky dogs in the other teams, but they may be speedier for shorter distances.

Fast Time in Workouts.

Exceptionally fast time has been made by Winterton, driving Morgan's team of huskies in recent workouts. Larry McKay and Sam Pranteau have two high-class types of husky teams, wild and only partly controllable. Because he could not control them two years ago McKay lost the race. He was nosed out by Bateese Campbell by half a team length. The latter is training far off in the hush and nothing much is known of his team. G. R. Bancroft is regarded as possessed of a sure winner of a place as a result of fast work-outs and the apparent great reserve power of his dogs. They used up the owner and two other drivers before they were got under sufficient control to understand what was wanted of them.

Len Seppala, the famous Alaskan, and Frank Gleason, of Anchorage, with 17 dogs each are serious contenders, but their teams are old and possibly not possessed of the great speed and strength that made them famous in Alaskan races.

Helgason, of Gimli, and Bjorkman, of Winnipeg, are two unknowns to dog racing here. There are three other teams working out further north of this place and should they develop satisfactorily to the owners they will be entered.

During training three pounds of finely chopped beef or mutton mixed with suet is fed each animal daily following workouts of from 75 to 100 miles and so far not a dog has showed signs of weakness.

OTHER OFFICIALS ARE ENVIOUS OF SALARY OF CHIEF THOMPSON

WINDSOR ALDERMEN SAY PRECEDENT ESTABLISHED WHICH WILL BRING DEMANDS FOR INCREASES FROM EVERY CIVIC DEPARTMENT.

WINDSOR, Feb. 14. — Much dissatisfaction is evident here among some of the city officials at the salary of Chief of Police Thompson (formerly of Peterborough), who was apointed to office at $3700 a year, an increase of $1100 over the salary of his predecessor. Other officials are paid proportionately much lower salaries, and opinions are expressed by aldermen that the precedent established by the police commission in increasing the salaries of the chief and other police officials must be followed by other civic committees.

As compared with the $3700 a year paid to the chief of police, Fire Chief Defields, who has 22 years' service to his credit, receives $2200, while City Engineer Brian is paid $3500. Assistant Court Clerk Warrow recently had his salary raised to $2700 with a promise of an additional $250 at an early date.

Petitions from the firemen will shortly be presented to the council asking that their salaries be placed on the same plane as those of the police department. A similar move among the city hall employees is promised.

MRS. H. O. PETERS, of Kansas City, Mo., whose experience with Tanlac has been nothing less than wonderful, declares her husband. After her improvement he takes it himself and his health is also restored.

"One day a friend persuaded my wife to take Tanlac and the results have been nothing less than wonderful. Her troubles have not only entirely disappeared, but she has actually gained twenty pounds in weight, and now seems to be in perfect health. She has suffered for eight years with headaches, nervousness and loss of appetite and was in a badly run-down condition. She could not eat much, had pains all through her body and limbs and was so weak at times she could hardly stand on her feet. She was losing weight and gradually getting worse all the time in spite of all we could do.

"After seeing the splendid results my wife was getting I began taking Tanlac myself and before I had finished my second bottle, I was eating things I had not dared touch before in a long time. I am now eating just anything set before me and my appetite is fine. I suffered for five years with the worst kind of stomach trouble and nervous indigestion, but it has relieved me entirely. We both owe Tanlac a great debt of gratitude."

The above enthusiastic statement was made recently by Herbert O. Peters, well-known citizen of Kansas City, Missouri, residing at 534 Walnut Street.

Tanlac is sold by the Warne Drug Co., Ltd.

CRIME WAVE IN NEW YORK DRAMA

(By Ben Deacon, Canadian Press Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—New York's well-known crime wave appears to have splashed the drama. The casualty list of the past week's shows is appalling. In the half-dozen productions which have been presented to the public during the past seven days there are no less than four suicides, one mysterious murder, two most deplorable cases of infanticide, and one attempted suicide, to say nothing of a great marine disaster with a shocking loss of life. It was really very awful.

Tragedy and thrills! It certainly was a bad week for the nervous first-nighter who finds it difficult to court slumber after an evening spent in viewing a stageful of corpses. It was a wonderful week, however, for those who relish the theatrical thriller. A great week, also, for those who deplore the happy ending and adhere to the belief that the highest Art is the portrayal of a bunch of morbid half-wits who conclude the last act by deciding that life is not worth living. It was a great stage slaughter.

Heavy Loss of Life.

The heaviest loss of life occurred in the spectacular melodrama, "In the Night Watch," which the Shuberts are presenting at the Century. In this a French battle cruiser is sunk and all hands are lost, with the exception of a very few required to round out the plot in the last act. "In the Night Watch" opened one week ago, but did not get into its proper stride until the middle of the week. A scene shifter's hat became entangled in the complicated machinery upon which the big scene of the play depends, and it was not until Wednesday night that the last remnants of the hat had been picked from the mechanism and the cruiser Alma sank in the smooth and regular manner in which a ship of her tonnage should sink. On the opening night, she sank, it is true, but that hat very nearly kept her afloat. A scene shifter, merely by making a careless selection of a place in which to store his little brown derby, very nearly saved an entire ship's company.

It must be admitted that the story of "In the Night Watch" is not remarkable, and at times it is tiresomely talky, but as a stage spectacle it is a remarkable achievement. It came to New York from Paris via London. The original French version was entitled "La Veille d'Armes," and the Century production is "freely" adapted from this. One gains the impression that this freedom of adaptation robbed the story of some of its interest, but the damage which has been wrought in this way is more than balanced by the scenic magnificence with which the piece has been furnished.

The big scene, of course, is the sinking of the Alma. In this the Shuberts have demonstrated that the mechanism of the stage can be superior to that of the screen in imparting thrills. It is a marvellous piece of stagecraft. You see the plunging bridge of the cruiser with the lights of the enemy ship in the distance. As the shells strike the bridge the structure gradually crumples. Then you see the great hull of the cruiser settling down and finally plunging beneath the waves. There are several other scenes in which remarkable mechanical effects are employed, notably the close of the first act, when the French fleet is seen getting under weigh, and the Alma pivots around as her anchor is weighed. Slower movement would improve this. A ship of the tonnage of a battle cruiser does not swirl around like a canoe, even when hurrying out to meet the enemy. There is a galaxy of stars, several of whom are content with comparatively minor roles.

A Mystery Play.

Another thriller is "Near Santa Barbara," a melodrama written by Willard Mack for Williard Mack, which was tried out on the road under several aliases before opening here. It is a mystery play of the type that has been tested and found financially successful in New York. It adds one murder to the week's theatrical crime wave. The murdered gentleman was a gambler, and there were four characters, including, of course, the hero, who had reason to wish him translated to another world. With each successive act—there are four acts—the plot thickens, the mystery deepens, and the audience is led to follow false clues, until within two minutes of the final curtain the real murderer is discovered, and everybody goes home happy. "Near Santa Barbara" is being prevented in the evenings at the Greenwich Village Theatre.

Ends in Hanging Bee.

Two very deplorable cases of suicide are still to be recorded. They occur in "Diff'rent," a new play by Eugene O'Neill, presented by the Provincetown Players this week to the "special" audiences which attend their matinees. Away back in 1890 Emma Crossby broke off her engagement to Captain Caleb Williams because she discovered an indiscretion which he had committed while on a voyage to the South Sea Islands. Emma decided to be an old maid, and that is what she became. But thirty years later, having fallen in love with a worthless young scamp, she refused to admit it, and resorted to cosmetics and kittenish ways in her efforts to attract the young man. Captain Caleb, during the thirty years, we are informed, has diligently shunned the temptations which beset the path of the seafaring man in an effort to atone for his one little slip, and bring a blameless life to offer Emma—or blameless except for the South Sea Island incident. Therefore, on being informed by Emma that she is going to marry the youth, his nephew, he is disappointed. He declares the world is a rotten place, and forthwith goes down to his barn and hangs himself. Emma, discovering that the young man has no intention whatever of marrying her, saunters out to her own barn, and there she hangs herself. Emma was not a sociable person. After keeping the captain waiting for thirty years, she might at least have joined his little hanging party. But no; she had a barn of her own, and she preferred to do her hanging there, leaving the poor captain suspended in melancholy solitude.

SOME AUTOMOBILE HINTS

Handy Receptacle.

A convenient receptacle to have around the garage for cleaning bolts, nuts and other small parts is made by removing the bottom from a pound coffee tin and soldering in its place a coarse wire screen. The parts to be cleaned are then placed in the tin, the cover put on and the receptacle is shaken in a larger pail containing keronene or gasoline. Dirt and grease is separated from the parts by the oil and is allowed to fall through the mesh.

Spring Breaks.

A broken spring-plate should be repaired or replaced at once by a skilled spring-maker, not by any chance a blacksmith. If the intermediate plates should break at the centre bolt, the spring clips should be tightened down until it is possible to have the break repaired. Very often rebound clips are loose or broken. Missing rebound clips may result in broken main plates.

Protect the Fuel-Line.

It often happens that the fuel-line rests against some more or less sharp edge of the chassis. The vibration inevitable when the car is in motion causes a slight rubbing, which in time wears the piping through and a leak results. A break of this kind may be repaired by wrapping the pipe with soft wire for a couple of inches on each side of the leak and then tinning the whole over with solder. This not only cures the leak, but prevents further chaffing.

Windshield Supports.

On many makes of cars the windshield is held in place by steel arms, which protrude through the cowl and are fastened on the under side by a nut and lock nut. Sometimes these nuts work loose from the vibration present, with the result that the shield is allowed to move slightly. The first evidence of this is seen in cracked finish in the vicinity of the windshield supports. In making the necessary periodic inspection for loose nuts and bolts these windshield supports should not be forgotten.

Trouble in Cooling System.

When engines which normally keep cool even in hot weather or heavy climbing begin to heat up, suspect the condition of the rubber hose which connects the radiator with the water jacket. There are two such pieces of hose, but it is the top one which usually "goes bad," because it carries the hot water from the top of the engine into the radiator. The bottom hose carries the cooled water either to the pump, if there is a pump, or directly back to the water jacket if the engine uses the thermo-syphon cooling system.

Cars which use pumps for water circulation have smaller pipes, and consequently smaller rubber hose connections than those which use thermo-syphon cooling system. Hot water gradually disintegrates the rubber and cotton of the hose, and when the inner lining of the hose breaks down into a mush, it frequently stops up the hose connections to an extent sufficient to prevent proper water circulation. Replacing such a hose connection can be done in a few minutes by anyone who can use a wrench or screwdriver, and is an operation which does not need the skilled and expensive services of a repair man.

Sometimes engines which cool properly in winter heat up when the first warm days come. In engines of the pump circulation type this is often caused by a hitherto unsuspected freezing of the pump, which has resulted in broken pump wheel blades. Dismounting the pump and taking it to pieces is the only way to make sure of this trouble. The remedy is a new impeller in the pump.

Financial Flights.

"Why do they call the financial backer of a show 'an angel?'"

"I can't figure it out clearly," answered Mr. Stormingham Barnes, "But I think the fact that riches have wings must have something to do with it."—Washington Star.

WASTING TIME.

Sir Sam Hughes seems determined to waste the time of the House of Commons, for in addition to his resolution advocating a return to the patronage system, the Lindsay knight has a question on the order paper dealing with the raid on the Guelph novitiate. The raid, an incident of the days of conscription, is a matter in which the average Canadian has no concern. It has passed from public memory and there seems no reason why Sir Sam or anybody else should drag the old question out at every session and take up the time that would be much more profitably spent in dealing with public business of importance. The fuss that was made over this matter was bad enough when its details were fresh in the minds of the people, and at this stage the ex-Minister of Militia would be of more service to his constituents if he would devote himself to a consideration of questions that are worth while, rather than to keep on rattling a lot of dead bones. But it is perhaps too much to expect from Sir Sam. His question on this subject last year was unanswered. If it meets a similar fate during this session there will be no regret.

A NEW LIQUOR ACT.

The working out of British Columbia's new liquor regulations, announced on Friday by Premier Oliver, will be followed with close attention by Canadians generally. The new system to be inaugurated in the Pacific province contains a number of features that are unique so far as this country is concerned. Liquor is to be sold under government control only to those who secure a permit for the purchase of their liquid refreshment, and a person who abuses his privilege in this respect will have his permit cancelled and be unable legally to buy liquor. And when it comes to purchasing from an illegal vendor—a bootlegger, to use the vernacular—British Columbia promises that the buying of liquor under such circumstances shall be a punishable offence, so that the purchaser as well as the illicit dealer stands in danger of a heavy fine for a violation of this section of the Act. To encourage the municipal authorities to be keen in their enforcement of the regulations it is provided that each municipality is to receive one-half of all the revenue obtained from fines under the Act in their respective districts. There will be keen interest in watching the actual trial of these regulations.

A MEMORABLE SESSION.

The session of Parliament which opens to-day promises to be one of the most exciting and momentous in the history of the Dominion House. What the developments of the next few weeks will be no one can say with any degree of authority. All that can be learned at Ottawa is that the Government of Hon. Arthur Meighen seems determined to fight until the last ditch to hold the reins of office as long as possible and that the Opposition forces, led by Hon. MacKenzie King and Hon. T. A. Crerar, are equally resolved to force dissolution as rapidly as it can be effected. Premier Meighen in his first session as leader of the Government faces about as awkward a situation as any prime minister has been called upon to encounter. His majority in the House has rapidly been disappearing; some of his followers are ill or absent from Canada and will not be found behind him this session, and the status of other former supporters of his administration is dubious to say the least. In addition his Cabinet is in need of reconstruction and the result of the local by-election is interpreted in many quarters as an indication tha the people lack confidence in the present administration. All in all the combination of circumstances is such as would dismay many a leader. The new Premier, however, is nothing, if not a fighter and the situation affords him an opportunity to show his qualities as a battler. The events of the session will be followed more generally and more closely than the people of Canada usually followed the activities of their parliament, for this promises to be a memorable session indeed.

THE NEW SYSTEM.

It is claimed that the new system of protection for the fish and game of Ontario inaugurated last year is getting good results. It is sincerely hoped that this is the case, although so far as the fishing is concerned the new plan has not been tested. It is during the spawning season that the bulk of the illegal fishing is done, and it is at this time that the damage caused by the fish pirates is necessarily the greatest. If the method adopted by which thirty-eight overseers give their whole time to the work instead of having over two hundred overseers who only were on duty a part of their time, prevents the slaughter of fish that usually takes place in the spring, then the anglers of the province will be under a deep debt of gratitude to the Farmers' government. In theory the new plan looks more business-like than its predecessor, and members of the Legislature who hail from the north, where the question of game protection is a vital one, agree that it is giving much better results. It is too early to pass judgment on the system as it works out in regard to the protection of fish in the waters of old Ontario, but next spring will afford a thorough test. The changes that have been made, however, represent an honest attempt to improve the conditions and as such they should be welcomed by every sportsman. And incidentally the man with real sporting blood in his veins should not hesitae to assist the overseers in seeing that the law is carried out. The individual who deliberaely violates the game laws is uot deserving of consideration from those who love hunting and fishing for the sport that is in these pastimes.

A NEW USE FOR DREAMS.

"Consulting psychoanalysts," who profess to detect the thought-processes of the subconscious mind by studying the dreams of their clients, are "the rage" in Old London. "Have you had your psycho analysed yet?" seems to have become a common query in the smart set. If a man dreams that he has been shot out of a rocket to the moon, it is not a sign he has been eating too much cheese before retiring, but an indication that he ought to become a civil engineer. If a woman has a vision of being burned at the stake, it is not because her nerves and digestion have gone wrong but a warning that she is cut out for a career on the stage, and not for the mere housework to which she has been mistakenly devoted. The psychoanalysts declare that as a man dreameth in his sleep, so is he. For a little dream and a not so little fee, they will trade him information as to the occupation he should follow, and whether he should marry a blonde or a brunette.

There are, of course, complications. Dreams will have a new, a commercial value. The inducing of dreams will be worth while. Who will be safe from her cook, a silent partner, perhaps, of the psychoanalyst around the corner? And it will be an everyday sight to see some luckless individual stop suddenly upon a street corner, overcome by the fearsome knowledge that he has had a dream the night before, but has, alas, forgotten it. In an agony he will wrack his mind for details which refuse to materialise. Conscious that this may be the very dream which would indicate him for a High Court judge, he will go about haunted by the fear that he has missed it for ever. And the dreams which are yet to come may doom him to the role of the ditch-digger or hemp-picker. His will be a terrible suspense.

There is, of course, nothing new about the mere interpreting of dreams. Joseph did it for Pharaoh in Egypt, and Daniel for Nebuchadnezzar among the Chaldeans, in each case with marked advantage to the fortunes of the interpreter. But these owrthies of old seem to have confined their talents to prophesying future events which the dreams of their patrons indicated. The modern psychoanalyst "goes them one better." He takes a dream apart, and finds out what makes it tick. Then he harnesses the mainspring of that dream to the future life of the dreamer, and tells him whether he ougt to go fast or slow and what occupation he is fitted for by his subconscious ruminations.

Psychoanalysts are mind-carpenters who take the round pegs out of the square holes. They say they do, anyway. They are efficiency experts who have utilised what has been considered a by-product of the brain for their own, and—it is hoped—their clients' profit.—Toronto Star Weekly.

HARDWARE LINES SHOW MANY PRICE REDUCTIONS.

Many important price changes have taken place last week, says Hardware and Metal, the chief of which are further reductions in rope and cordage, cotton goods, cotton rope, sash cords, clothes lines, seine twines, candle wick, gasoline, and some grades of lubricating oils; oakum, copper rivets, horse clippers, coaster waggons, copper rods, sheets and tubing, and some lines of tools. Linseed oil and turpentine are also lower. Wire nail prices have been further reduced by wholesalers. Bar iron and steel are at lower levels and English standard galvanized sheets have been reduced in price.

The steel market is in a more quiescent state than it has been for some months, and there are no immediate signs of any improvement. The present rate of pig iron production reported from Pittsburg is about 60 per cent. of capacity, and the trend is toward a further decrease. Steel merchants are drawing on their present stocks almost entirely, and some of the trade that should be good at the present time is being curtailed.

Business continues to improve in the volume of orders received, but some lines in which there should be good business now are quieter than usual. Taken altogether, orders are smaller, but it is realized that merchants are buying oftener than formerly.

The Crown Attorney has agreed to liberate them on agreement that the Harkness woman will go to a Toronto institution, and report at stated intervals to a woman probation officer. Kitty Inch, who claims to be the wife of the younger Garfield, will be taken to the home of her mother-in-law, who lives on Huron Street, Toronto. Both agree to be available if the police require their presence at the Woodstock murder trial.

HOW TO OVERCOME THE MOTOR DEFECT OF THROWING OIL

Many motors which are otherwise perfectly satisfactory suffer from the failing of throwing oil through their main bearings. It is possible that this difficulty may be due to a slight pressure in the crank case, in which event the installation of a breather pipe might prove successful. Failing in this, the main bearings can be altered by the addition of a small leather packing washer which must be fashioned to fit the shaft snugly. An oil groove should be provided between the crank case housing and the bearing. This is arranged to drain back into the base. The packing washer is fitted from the shaft and attached to the crank case housing by means of small screws.— In Motor Boating for January.

WINNIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT THE LOVE OF THE HORRIBLE

The other day, when the cranks began writing letters, telling people to keep away from the Wall street district in New York at two o'clock on a certain afternoon—what do you think happened?

Was Wall street and its vicinity deserted, except for the police and a number of secret service men?

It was not, it was crowded, jammed, packed to suffocation, and so were the streets around the custom house, which was booked for an explosion, too, according to the warnings.

It took a great squad of mounted police and two or three hundred sailors with fixed bayonets to keep the excited, jostling, pushing, whispering, grinning crowd away from the scene of the greatest danger.

And that was the day after the great explosion which killed thirty-four people.

What in the world is getting the matter with human beings?

Have they gone utterly mad in the craze for excitement?

It does look like it, doesn't it?

What Sort?

What sort of people were in that crowd, I wonder! I wish some one had taken a picture of the most crowded spot. I'd go a good many hundred miles just to see that picture thrown upon the screen.

What sort of faces would you see in such a picture, I wonder?

Low brows, eyes too far apart or too near together, slack jaws, outstanding ears, febrile, emotional, unstable, half-baked creatures with only one aim in life, and that aim excitement?

What was it they hoped to see—death, in its most hideous form?

Agony and blood and tears! Are these sights such a treat to behold that men and women who can read and write and who know enough to find their way to and fro their homes, will crowd each other fairly to a pulp and risk their own lives for a chance to see them?

Something beautiful, something funny, something joyous, something cheerful—ah, yes! Who wouldn't take a risk to see such things as these?

Is there a kind of hypnotism in horror? Do people of a low grade of intelligence love to see a great disaster?

What is it that they like about it?

Perhaps they are like a blind boy I once knew—almost blind.

He loved a thunder storm, because the lightning was so vivid that sometimes even his darkened eyes could get a sense of brilliant light!

Jazz Hypnotized?

Perhaps these people who crowd to any scene of disaster, even at the risk of their own lives, are so dull of intellect and so wrapped in a kind of half drowsy apathy all the time that they welcome anything that will tear the veil from their dull eyes, and give their slow beating hearts a chance to palpitate.

Excitement, emotion, jazz—these are the only things which seem to appeal to a certain grade of intelligence.

That's what the blaring trumpet of the jazz band appeals to, isn't it? The love of excitement and the need for it. I wonder how long we are to go on breeding jazz-hypnotized men and women, who will risk their lives for the chance to see somebody blown into a million atoms.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., F. A. C. S.
Commissioner of Health, New York City

Upon the subject of sleep volumes have been written. Many novel theories have been built and much vocal energy expended in explaining those theories. How many hours out of each day should be given to sleep? This question has been asked during the ages. What is the answer? There is an old rhyme about the hours of sleep:

Nature requires five, custom takes seven,
Laziness nine, and wickedness eleven.

The amount of sleep necessary for individual health depends upon the individual himself. There is no invariable and unfailing rule. It is like the amount of food—one person seems to need, or at least to crave, more than another. By the way, is it not true that great eaters are usually great sleepers?

I have a friend who takes his temperature at least once or twice in twenty-four hours. He counts his pulse three or four times a day, wears amber beads to keep off disease, and is in fevor of worry all the time over the state of his health. His dear, good mother, ignorant of the fear she instilled into her beloved boy's heart, drilled these silly ideas into his head. When he reads this he will telephone his remonstrance.

Sleep Before Midnight.

So, it seems to me, you need not worry much over the amount of sleep a member of your family takes. So long as the health is good, the cheeks rosy, the eyes clear, the appetite satisfactory, and the energies normal in their expression you need have no concern. On the other hand, if you are easily fatigued, pale of lip, heavy-eyed, sleepy at unusual times, nervous and irritable, then you may uspect a need of more sleep

There is an old saying that "an hour of sleep before midnight is worth two hours after." I believe this. To my mind nothing is more enervating than late hours.

Children under 8 years of age should start for bed at 8 o'clock. After 10 years of age they may stay up until 9. "To beditis, 9 o'clockitis" is a famous old prescription that has lengthened many a life. Ten-thirty or 11 o'clock is late enough for adults, unless you care to gamble a little on health by more or less frequent violations of the rule.

These rules are founded on a rising hour of 7 o'clock. If 6 o'clock is the rising hour, as it is for many who work with their hands, the time of retiring should be advanced an hour. "To sleep the clock around" is none too much for the little chap. Ten hours is about right on the average for the middle childhood period. The rest of us should have at least eight hours' sleep every night.

Sleeplessness Problems.

Napoleon never took more than five hours' sleep. That was all right for Napoleon, but it won't do for the rest of the world. Seven hours will answer with many, but a good, safe rule is eight hours. When the twenty-four hours are divided into three equal parts, one period for work, one for sleep, and one for refreshment, entertainment and deeds of mercy, we have made wise division of our time.

You ask what shall be done when you, usually a good sleeper, suddenly become sleepless? You lie awake for hours at a time, with a rush of thoughts, worries and anxieties, falling into restless slumber later, and awakening more tired than when you went to bed.

First, we will inquire about your habits:

Are you smoking too much?

Are you drinking coffee or other stimulants in the evening or at the evening meal?

Are you suffering from eye strain and reading a lot in the evening?

Is your bedroom poorly ventilated? Are you too warmly or too thinly covered at night? Are you sleeping in an unusually noisy place?

Are you suffering from digestive disturbances, either of stomach or bowels?

Are you worried over business or domestic affairs? Are you in debt or in doubt?

Have you changed your habits in any radical way by walking less or otherwise?

Are you bored with yourself, neglecting recreation and entertainment?

Is there any disease of your nose, teeth, heart or kidneys?

Is there unusual paleness or excessive redness of your face, lips, ears and fingertips?

If you are sleepless, ask yourself all these questions. One of them probably will lead you to the solution of your problem. In the mean time, take a brief, hot bath, simply drying off without brisk rubbing. Drink a small glass of hot milk, then go to bed in a well-ventilated room, with your head out of the draft. A wet pack to the back of the neck or to the wrists may be helpful.

Under no circumstances resort to drugs of any sort without the advice of your physician. He may be needed, too, to give you help after you run over all the questions suggested. Give yourself a day or two of rest, take a short vacation, associate with a new group of acquaintances for a little while. Go to the movies for a night or two, having good company, a happy evening, and developing honest fatigue.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a woman 35 years of age, and my husband won't let me put paint on my face, and he won't buy me any clothes. What I get I have to buy. He won't give me any money, and he is always found with other women, and he drives me to go with other men. I know a wealthy man about 45. Would it be advisable to quit my husband and marry the other man? Please advise me what to do.

WORRIED.

WORRIED: If your desire to use make-up is the cause of your trouble with your husband, why not be satisfied with your natural complexion? Perhaps, if you made yourself naturally attractive and agreeable to him he would not seek the company of other women. Why not try to win him back before thinking of such a serious remedy as you suggest?

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of 19, and am to be married soon.

Will you please tell me whether it is proper to wear a wedding ring before one is married or not, and on what finger should the ring be worn?

TROUBLED.

TROUBLED: Your husband places the wedding ring on your finger, the third of the left hand, at the altar, at the point in the marriage ceremony when the minister (or magistrate) asks for the ring, which your husband is supposed to have in his vest pocket. You shouldn't wear it before that moment.

URGES MEIGHEN GO TO COUNTRY

INTERVIEW WITH PETERBORO MEMBER IN TORONTO GLOBE.

The following is from Saturday's issue of the Toronto Globe:

"It is the manifest duty of the Meighen Government to end the state of uneasiness in which the country finds itself by doing the only thing left for it to do—go to the country with the least possible delay.'

This statement was made to the Globe by Mr. George N. Gordon, the newly elected member for West Peterboro in the House of Commons. Mr. Gordon was on his way to Ottawa for the coming session.

"There is no doubt whatever," he said, "that the chief issue in the contest in which I was successful, was the continuation in office of the present government. The tariff, important, as it is, was not the issue in West Peterboro. Sectarianism had no place. The issue was entirely the record and present attitude of the Administration at Ottawa. It was simply a case of the people wanting to show their desire to have that administration beaten at the polls."

Too Much Meighen Machine.

Asked what in his opinion, was the effect of the Conservative organization's efforts in this riding, Mr. Gordon answered: "There is no doubt whatever that the Conservative machine, as it is called, had much to do with killing Mr. Denne's chances. That gentleman was and is personally popular but the machine work was so open and so glaring that it simply shocked the people. While it had some effect naturally on my vote it really did me very little harm. In this respect I want to pay a tribute to the organization of the Liberal women. It was simply wonderful. All the workers were volunteers in the strictest sense of the word and they had the riding covered from end to end. I can state with some pleasure that I secured a good share of the returned soldier vote. The important point is that the veterans' vote, wherever it went, was placed against the government.

Hint for Rowell.

For the first time in recent history Liberals who have been in some way, even slightly, connected with the U.F.O., came across to the Liberal side. Similar action, to my mind, should be taken at once by Hon. N. W. Rowell, whose riding is next to mine. I think that Hon. Mr. Rowell should walk acoss the House to his friends, and by his action help to force the present government to the country."

As an interesting side-light on his contention that the government should act so as to "clear the air" for the country, Mr. Gordon stated that on the day following the election in Peterboro, two large concerns in that city, the Quaker Oats Co., and the Canadian General Electric Co., took on men, and industrial conditions, he said, were now steadily improving.

Mankind is divided into two classes —those who drive autos and those who dodge them.

CANCEL BRITISH DEBT? BUT STATES REFUSED

Secretary Houston Said to Have Suggested Long-Term Instead.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.— More than one suggestion that Great Britain's war debt to the United States be written off has come from British sources, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said here after Secretary Houston had been closeted with the committee for two hours discussing the status of United States Government foreign loans.

Committee members said Mr. Houston, had confirmed that the British Government had made a formal proposal to cancel the debt and the treasury of department had refused. First intimation that such a proposal had been made was given J. Austen Chamberlain, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a recent address in Birmingham, England.

Some senators said the course of Secretary Houston in dealing with such suggestions had been eminently satisfactory.

Mr. Houston was said to have reiterated that the only course open to him was to follow the law authorizing the treasury department to exchange the present allied certificates of indebtedness for long term notes. The secretary read a long prepared statement to the committee detailing all payments to the allies and the present status of the loans. At his request no part of this was made public, but it was said have been substantially that given by him recently to the senate judiciary committee.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. his famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

BURNING HER CARGO, SHIP IS OUT OF COAL.

Canadian Vessel Will Go to Aid of British Steamer Bristol City.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 14.—Repeating her calls for assistance, the British steamer Bristol City, reported short of bunker coal and burning parts of her woodwork and cargo to keep her engines going three hundred miles off Louisburg, N.S., wirelessed C. H. Harvey, of the Marine and Fisheries Department here, advising him that she was proceeding slowly toward Louisburg in a southerly gale and had not been able to procure assistance from any vessel.

Mr. Harvey advised Capt. Crinks, of the distressed vessel, that the steamer Sable Isle, now at Louisburg, would go to his assistance as soon as possible.

TO BE TROUBLED WITH CONSTIPATION

THE CAUSE OF MANY ILLS.

If you do not feel well and go to your family physician, one of the first things he will do is ask you to hold out your tongue. The reason for this is that the condition of the tongue shows the condition of the stomach and bowels.

If you allow your bowels to become constipated you will have bilious attacks, sick headaches, coated tongue, foul breath, heartburn, water brash, etc., and those troublesome piles, which cause so much annoyance and misery.

Keep your bowels moving regularly and you won't be sick.

In Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills you will find just the remedy you require for this purpose. They are purely vegetable and do not gripe, weaken, or sicken.

Mr. Jas. S. Harris, Box 934, Halifax, N.S., writes: "For two years I suffered with constipation. I could not get anything to cure me, and hardly anything would give be even temporary relief. One day my uncle induced me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and even brought me a vial. I tried them without much faith, but I soon found they were doing me good, and after using the second vial I was relieved of my trouble."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE STORM-GLASS OF SUPERSTITION

(By G. K. CHESTERTON)

(Copyright 1921, by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service, Inc.)

Somewhere toward the end of the nineteenth century something snapped in the human brain. Too many heavy and shapeless things had been piled on top of it; big and bewildering machinery, and materialistic systems of the universe, and indigestible realistic fiction, and fatiguing fashions in art and science, all piled up in one tower of rubbish to the stars, until the bridge of the brain broke under it. Large numbers of naturally intelligent people simply ceased to think at all about anything. They are wandering about to this day with open minds, not to mention open mouths. The natural result of that is that they are ready to swallow anything, including germs; when there is anything like the seed of a superstition blowing about, they are simply so much dead soil for it to grow in. They have no principles of thought to protect them. On the appearance of any new thing, they have no way of criticizing it clearly, or even accepting it intelligently. They simply absorb the superstition, and the superstition does the rest. Now the worst of this tame superstition is that it is exactly what turns at any moment into wild superstition. When the general mentality is thus hollowed and eaten away, it may sometime suddenly subside into very ancient abysses. Even those who still behave like sensible men have no notion of how near the others are to behaving like savages. So the sensible men in America woke up one fine morning, to find their free republic under a taboo more fit for the Cannibal Islands.

For instance, there is something like a thin sheet of paper between us and the revival of witch-smelling. Sometimes it is literally a thin sheet of paper; a sheet of newspaper. A popular Sunday paper has lately been filled with stupendous articles on Spiritualism, by Dr. Ellis Powell, a gentleman who has done the world good service in the past; better service, in my opinion, than he is doing now. Anyhow, after suggesting the spiritual atmosphere of Christmas (of all things in the world), he calmly passes ton to ask why psychic powers are not used to investigate murders, or in other words to hang men. He mentions mildly and almost apologetically the reasons that at present restrain us from following up this cheerful prospect. They are merely the facts that ghosts are not now legal witnesses (but that could soon be altered); and that ghosts sometimes disapprove of vindictiveness and capital punishment. For the really exalted spirits beyond the veil have all become Nonconformists. But I am not reassured by this assurance. For however it may be with the dead, my experience among the living is that those who shrink from condemning men to death are often eager to condemn them to a medical captivity worse than death. It is called curative treatment; and it consists in first locking a man up because he is incurable, and then subjecting him to any totures by which anybody will pretend to cure him. I would rather be responsible for giving a man up to the gallows for a man can only have his head cut off once; but he can have his head cut up any number of times, with every change in the ever advancing progress of cerebral science. I have a horrible feeling that the new ghosts would approve of such experiments for the progress of cerebral science; and I, therefore, greatly prefer the old ghosts who confined themselves to crying to God for blood. The old ghost was only interested in the blood of some particular assassin or tyrant; but the curative scientist is interested in the brains of everybody, innocent and criminal alike. But I should certainly be surprised, and even annoyed, if the cry of one of the old ghosts for blood could be gravely taken down as evidence against a modern man in a modern court. I should be roused, and even roused to resistance, if somebody proposed to identify a murderer according to the ordeal of the Dark Ages, of making him touch the body to see whether it would bleed. But that ordeal seems to me as natural as the circulation of the blood, and as human as the touch of the hand, compared with such a paragraph as this, with which the spiritualistic article ends:

"In fact, I was once told from the other side that before long we should have an instrument invented, something like a large storm-glass, which will be fixed on every witness box, in full view of judge and jury. As long as the witness is telling the truth the contents of the instrument will remain white; but as soon as he diverges into perjury, they will turn red."

That is what I mean when I say that men may suddenly turn into savages. That is what I mean when I say that we have come within measurable distance of witch-smelling. In fact, it would be far more sensible to say that a particular man has an extra faculty of smelling a real witch with his real nose. There is something much nearer to a reality we all vaguely recognize, in the metaphor about a savor of evil or an odor of sanctity. We might imagine men who had the Second Smell, like the Second Sight. But whatever supernatural properties I might claim for my nose, they would be more imaginable, for instance, than if I claimed them for my necktie. It would seem to mark a shade more of barbarism to believe that while I am talking to a truthful person my necktie remains its usual color (a vivid emerald green with purple spots) but that when he begins to tell a few tarradiddles, my necktie turns scarlet on the spot. And even my necktie is nearer to my soul than an "instrument," apparently a sort of barometer stuck up in a law court. Obviously, that barometer is like the magic mirror or talismanic rock in some archaic fairy-tale. We are back in a world of winged horses and castles carried away by dragons; in a forest of wizard lances and wandering bells; of the sword that none but the hero could draw; of the girdle that none but the pure woman could put on. I do not primarily object to all that; personally I like it. But it is a serious business if we are really to act on these fancies as if they were facts. If we are to put our shirt on the winged horse, and let the dragon carry off all the cottages and house-property to dispose of as he chooses. It is worse still if the new magic is to go into partnership with our brutal bureaucratic and materialistic science and our servile and snobbish police system. It is worse if the wizard lance is to be used for black and not white magic; or the hero's sword is drawn to serve the dragon and not slay him. For the whole trick of the thing is in the word "instrument," that is in the typically modern appeal, first to our reverence for science, and second to our ignorance of science. When modern people hear of instruments they vaguely think of something like instruments of surgery. They forget all about instruments of torture. Just as the magician's wand had to turn into a lance in feudal times, it has to turn into an instrument in our own times. They forget that the magicain's wand sometimes turned men to stone or to swine. Mythical and material things might alike warn them of their danger; they might read about peril of abuse like in all that science really does and all that magic was supposed to do. Magic produced poisonous dragons and science produced poisoned gasses; and still they believe that all is gas and gaiters; the optimists can still believe in nothing but their own laughing gas. But this is because, like other people under laughing gas, their minds have become a sort of blank. For spirits going into such a swoon nothing remains but the last thing that they have seen. Souls falling into such a sleep go on dreaming about the last thing that they remember. So in the Dark Ages men went on dreaming of Virgil and the romance of Rome, though in their dream the figure of the poet turned to the figure of a wizard. And just as the same word "grammar" came by all sorts of complications and confusions to mean grammar and magic and the Latin language, so in our own time the word "science has come to have exactly the same meaningless mystery and power. As it increases in confusion it increases in control. Science may mean anything, even the denial of science; as can be seen in the title of Christian science. But though a modern fad can do without the elements of a science, it cannot do without the terminology, nor, above all, without the title. The thing must be an instrument and not a tool, still less a weapon like the wizard lance. As our fathers in the forest could believe most easily in a sacred spear, we can believe most easily in a sacred barometer! But even for them, grammar had its grammatical convolutions. Their charms and incantation also were full of long unintelligible words. Abracadabra is quite as intelligent as anthropology. The interesting point is that when the new superstitions spread, they will have the savor of decaying Darwinism, as those of the seventh century had the savor of decaying Virgilism. But the thing which adds to all these truths a cold touch of fear, is the almost creepy and uncanny innocence with which sincere men like Dr. Powell talk of trusting to such omens in matters of life and death, and turning the ghost into the tribal avenger of blood.

That brings the question of the spiritual origin of spiritual messages to a sharp and deadly issue. And I for one, before I use spirits as bloodhounds, wish to know that they are not all hell-hounds.

Lots of men wouldn't know what to do with their money if they should ever get out of debt.

WAS A.D.C. TO DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE

EARL OF DALKEITH BECOMES ENGAGED TO MISS ESTHER VREDA MARY LASCELLES WHILE IN CANADA.

(By Lydia Kingsmill Commander)
(Staff Correspondent Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, January 18.—(By Mail)—The engagement is announced of the Earl of Dalkeith and Miss Esther Vreda Mary Lascelles. Lord Daikeith is the eldest son of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, and was born December 30, 1894. He is a Captain in the Grenadier Guards, and took part in the European War, afterwards going to Canada as A.D.C. to the Duke of Devonshire. Lord Dalkeith is a brother officer and an intimate friend of the Prince of Wales.

His fiancee, who was twenty last September, is the elder daughter of the late Major William Frank Lascelles, Scots Guards, who died in March 1913, and of Lady Sybil Lascelles, a second daughter of the late Duke of St Albans, who died in 1910, and a grandaughter of the late Right Hon. Sir Frank Lascelles (grandson of the second Earl of Harewood), who was British Ambassador at St. Petersburg in 1894-5, and at Berlin 1895-1908. She is exceedingly popular in a large circle of friends.

Walter John Montagu-Douglas Scott, Earl of Dalkeith, is one of those happy people on whom Fortune may be said to have smiled from birth. Heir to the great Scottish duchies of Buccleuch and Queensberry, and with Douglas blood in his veins, he was educated at Eton and became popular with his "set". In those days he was Lord Whitchester, which name he exchanged for his present courtesy title on the death of his grandfather in 1914.

While serving with the Guards in France, Lord Dalkeith came into intimate contact with the Prince of Wales, and the two have been firm friends ever since He has always been persona grata at Court and he is so fond of military life that he hopes to remain in the service for years to come. After the armistice the earl was often seen in the company of the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York.

He is a typhical Douglas in appearance and action. In keeping with most members of his family he loves an open-air life and passes as much time as possible in Scotland. He is an excellent shot and wields a rod and line with more than average ability.

Despite his wealth and position, Lord Dalkeith is one of the most amusing young soldiers one can meet. He is fond of 'rugger," and before he went to Canada was frequently to be seen on the ground at Twickenham, mingling with the crowd, pulling at his pipe and making audible comments on the game—particularly when a Scottish team was playing.

Among his many other hobbies is tracing the history of his family, and he is no mean authority on the history of Scotland. Some time ago he remarked to a friend that he had been reading the records of his early ancestors, and, he declared with a laugh, "they seem to be such a shady lot that I am ashamed to think that I am descended from them."

The first of the great Scott family known to history was called Sir Richard le Scot, who flourished 800 years ago The name Walter did not come into use until 200 years after that, in the person of Sir Walter of Branzholm, who made his mark by suppressing the rebellion of the Douglases.

Another Sir Walter was knighted at Flodden fought at Pinkie and was killed in the High-street of Edinburgh by the Kerrs. His great grandson, a raider of the first water, was ultimately delivered up to the English as a hostage in connection with the feuds between the two countries, and was raised 1606 to the peerage as Lord Scott of Buccleuch.

His son Walter gain advanced one more step in to the earldom of Buccleuch, but the female line became extinct, and the peerage fell to the Hon. Mary Scott.

When she died the title fell to her sister Ann, who married Charles the Second's natural son, the naughty Duke of Monmouth, and on her wedding day the pair were created Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch. But his Grace lost his head in a double sense, for he raised a rebellion and was executed in 1685, and his titles were forfeited. They were, however, revived on behalf of his grandson, sixty years later — minus the English Dukedom of Monmouth; but that las was made up for in the person of his grandson, the third duke, who inherited, through his grandmother, the Dukedom of Queensbury.

This double-headed duke married the daughter of the Duke of Montagu and that was how Montagu came to be triple-barrelled with the names of Douglas-Scott, the patronymic of the family. His second son succeeded to the Barony of Montagu which is held now by Lord Montagu of Beaulieu whose family name is Douglas-Scott-Montagu, where as the Buccleuchs are called Montagu-Douglas-Scott.

Thus the primary title of Lord Scott of Buccleuch conferred in 1606 has snowballed itself into the extraordinary conglomeration of titles as follows:—

The Duke of Buccleuch and Queensberry, Marquis of Dumfriesshire; Earl of Drumlanrig, Buccleuch Sanquhar and Dalkeith, Viscount Nith, Torthorwald and Ross; Baron Douglas of Kinmount, Middlebie, Dornock, Scott of Buccleuch, Whitchester and Eskadale, in Scotland Earl of Doncaster and Baron Scott of Tindale in England.

In spite of this accretion of titles the political power of the Buccleuchs has never recovered the smashing blow dealt to it by Gladstone in Midlothian.

The present Duke is called John, and that is accounted for by the fact that his elder brother Walter, Earl of Dalkeith, was accidently killed while deer stalking at the age of 25 in 1886.

PEN PICTURE OF RUSSIA TO-DAY

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 12.—John Yaska, a native of Esthonia, then part of the Russian Empire, but who emigrated a number of years ago and worked in this city as a gardener, became impregnated with revolutionary doctrines, and during the winter 1917-1918 did active propaganda work in Toronto on behalf of Bolshevism. His one desire was to return to Russia and take part in the revolution. Unable to gain entry from Europe, he finally went to Vladivostok. He was held there until June, 1920, and this letter, addressed to his children in Toronto, gives an account of his experience during the five months, June-November, when he made the acquaintance of Bolshevism first-hand, and finally, by proclaiming his Esthonian citizenship, escaped across the border to Revel. His wife he left in rags near Petrograd, where she was a Commissar, in charge of Government railway coal oil stores. His letter, dated Revel, Esthonia, Nov. 18, 1920, is as follows:

Dear Children and Friends,—I am notifying you that at last I have got to a place where I plan to remain a longer time. I reached Vladivostok Nov. 20, 1918, and lived there one year and seven months. On June 18, 1920, I left Vladivostok by the train of the International Red Cross, and after five months, reached Revel. To remain in Russia is impossible; it is impossible for a righteous man to live there; even righteous and honest Communists must hide in the furthest corners.

Ruling and Robbing.

The Commissars (i.e., all officials, high or low, of the Bolshevist Government) are living and enjoying blessedness. They are ruling and confiscating not according to their own regulations but according to their desires; if you are well dressed the Commissars will call you "bourgeois," and you are robbed; but when a Commissar has a fur coat, which formerly cost a thousand rubles but now is worth three million rubles, he is allowed to do so—he is a privileged person. The Government is composed almost entirely of Jewish youths and Esthonian and Lattian hooligans.

Peasants hide their grain under ground and from time to time exchange it secretly for salt, tea, needles, thread and other goods, but in the barns he dare not keep it; he is supposed to receive the ration of a city laborer; all bread-stuffs are under registration and the peasant is supposed to deliver all but his ration to the Government. The Government pays the peasant the fixed price of 27 rubles for a pud (40 lbs.) of grain and also milk, and for his chicken and meat 100 rubles a pud. Yet at Verkhnendinsk, where there is free trading, one pound of meat cost 1,200 rubles, a pound of cow butter 5,000 to 6,000 rubles, a pound of salt 1,500 to 1,700 rubles according to quality, a pair of boots 100,000 to 120,000 rubles. I sold my rubber boots at Verkhnendinsk for 27,000 rubles and bought a pud of rye flour for 11,000 rubles; in Irkutsk a pound of bread cost 600 rubles.

Can't Live Honestly.

So it is impossible to live honestly. Everybody is stealing, no matter whether he is a Commissar or not. The laborer's salary is 1,500 to 2,000 rubles a month and 20 to 30 pounds of rye flour a month "to eat or to look at." But even this ration is only in name for at Verkhnendinsk they gave the laborers one pound of flour each at Easter and three pounds in August, or a pound a month. But the Commissars eat as though they had three stomachs, while soldiers and laborers, especially the laborers, starve.

Now I will describe why peasants are hiding their grain. For instance, if he has a cow, he will get for this say ten puds of meat at 100 rubles a pud, or 1,000 rubles, from the Government; the Government cannot give him goods in exchange because it has nothing except "Soviet rags," as the paper money is called. The peasant needs salt. On the market he must pay 1,500 to 1,700 rubles for a pound of salt, and so his cow will not purchase him one pound of salt. That is why the peasant hides his products. In Transbodkalia peasants hide their cattle in the woods, but requisitions are in full swing.

Fourteen of us Esthonians finally departed from Vladivostok, as I have said, but ten of us were stopped for three months at Verkhnendinsk. They offered us good positions as Commissars, or Government officials. They put Russians, Poles and others quickly to work, but treated us more gently though we were not allowed to proceed. We lived for a time on what we had brought with us, but after seven weeks, five of us went into the Buriats—they took positions on the so-called Buriat-Aymach Committee—but no one wished to work in the Government offices.

But I did not agree with my fellows and appealed for permission to proceed further, and because I was not registered on the Labor Bureau at three o'clock in the morning of Sept. 15, I was arrested in bed. After ten hours they allowed me to go and be registered, but I found that here was no liberty for the laborer, you were as you might say chained to your job. An overseer of the Military Electrical District gave me a certificate appointing me to work gathering the wood supply for them, but I did not work there even a minute; I visited markets and sold old boots and shoes to peasants in exchange for flour.

Towns Are Dirty.

In September the Garrison Commandant received a telegram from Moscow to pass ten Esthonians including myself. . . . We left Verkhnendinsk Oct. 16 and arrived at Petrograd Oct. 27. The town is dirty, wooden houses are broken up for fuel, and wooden pavements have been pulled up and burned too; water closets are never cleaned; the banks of the Fontanka, Moyka and Katherina Canals are covered with piles of wood, where women with hand sleighs stay in line waiting their turn. The city is nearly empty, with perhaps but one-fourth of the old population. Stores are closed with most of the windows smashed; around the Isaac Cathedral more wood is piled. The general view of the city is piteous and ugly; plaster is falling from houses and there is nobody to repair it; the former palaces are also on the way to ruin. Tell everybody who knows me that I never expected to find such disorder. There is nobody to work; all the people try to sell something and carry away anything that happens to fall into their hands.

Commissars, as well as laborers, receive but a small salary, and yet one sees a Commissar losing in the pool rooms 20,000 rubles an evening. Where does he get such money? He confiscates something and it is all right. Jewish youths hold the Russian peasants in an iron grip (literally, "in mitts of goose skin"), in the same way as formerly Nicholas held them. But it is not a small number of Commissars who will be killed; in its present form the Soviet Government and cannot endure and the massacre of Jews will be pitiless. I do not doubt that among them are honest and progressive people, but when among a hundred Communists there are ninety-nine swindlers—especially the Jewish element, the most selfish (they fill up their pockets and then "good-bye!")—how can it go on?

I visited Torbino for a day and a half and found my wife and Teo in rags; Lidochka is through the Gymnasia and now is at Novgorod studying in the Higher Courses—I did not see her. My wife is serving on the Nicholas Railway at the Malaya Vishera station; she is a Commissar—supervisor of the storage of kerosene, which is coal oil; she steals two pounds of coal oil and trades it for potatoes and flour. Fedia and Finia are living poorly; I brought them from Mama at Torbino ten pounds of potatoes and some flour. At Moscow rye flour costs 20,000 rubles a pud; at Irkutsk 15,000 and at Verkhnendinsk 11,000 rubles, but laborers' wages run from four to seven thousand rubles a month. A bottle of milk costs five to six hundred rubles.

Ask friend Volchok to read this letter and not believe I have become an ardent Monarchist!

I have got here to Revel because I declared my Esthonian citizenship. I could not bring Mama, Teo and Lidochka with me because they are now Russian subjects and must work; for this they each get a first-class portion of thirty pounds of flour a month—for a single man a second-class portion is twenty pounds of flour a month— and an eighth of a pound of tea, but no sugar at all.

I want to stay at Revel where we could live not badly. But owing to my long travels I have used up all my money. With three to five hundred dollars it is possible to live here better than in Toronto and start a little business. I hope Mama, Teo and Lida will make a choice of Esthonian citizenship and come here after Christmas for ever. Ask Allia to send me fifty or seventy-five dollars —all three are in rags.

Other Extracts.

Following are extracts from a letter written by Nicholas Olesko, an Ukrainian, formerly of Oshawa, Ontario, where there is a considerable Ukrainian settlement, to his friend there, Ignace Kravec. This man was a great believer in Bolshevism, and while in Canada expressed the hope that the Bolshevists would invade Galicia "and make it a Bolshevist paradise." In the spring of 1920 he went to Galicia from Canada. Bolshevist troops under Budenny were masters there for five weeks until expelled by General Petlura. He writes from Horbkiv, Eastern Galicia, under date of last December:

"This summer we had 'the people's defenders,' or Communists. We lived 'the full life!' I lived 'very much' these people. You might reckon them civilized apes! It is true that I would not include all of them in this class but the term might be applied to great numbers of them. They do not understand for what they are struggling and what they want. If someone tells them something they answer with a string of Russian curses: 'I am a hero; I am fighting for you, because what is yours is mine —but what is mine, it is not yours!'

"When a man's horse is taken from him to carry stodes, loot, etc., he may have a piece of bread in his mouth as he works in the fields. The Bolsheviki will take it from him and leave him to starve. They took cattle, horse wagons, pigs and all fowls. And now the Galician peasant does not want even to hear the word Bolsheviki! Truly the Bolsheviki would equalize—not the rich with the poor, but the poor with the beggar. Not only the rich farmer, but even the poor man will not hear of Bolshevism. It is the truth when it is said that the Bolshevists will drag Socialism back for many years. It is truth, too, that even with a hook you may not pull the peasants to Bolshevism."

Writing to his son at Oshawa, Ont., from Kopytiv, Eastern Galicia, on Dec. 10, 1920, Tymko Kravec says: "The Bolsheviki were in our district five weeks, but may God protect us from ever seeing them again! There were many invasions and much robbery during the war, but of all who passed through our country they were the worst, and robbed in the worst way."

Carry On, Advertising!

Instead of decreasing your efforts, get into a greater activity. Rather pay keener attention, if it be possible, to the manner and the matter of your advertisements, and to the careful selection of mediums, than waste time in the consideration of whether you will advertise, or will "wait."

"Wait Not: Want Not" —is a good paraphrase of the age-worn adage for a constant reminder to advertisers.

The long, strong and steady pull will win over the spasmodic effort.

If you will observe Daily Newspaper Advertising carefully, you will notice that those firms whose names and products are household words to you are at present using daily newspaper advertising with the same degree of frequency, and are giving increased attention to their space and display.

These firms are not holding off—they do not strike a balance sheet every night. They are in business for this year, next year, and for years to come.

They know that Public Good-will is not a matter of to-day and to-morrow.

And they know that Daily Newspaper Advertising is the one constant, impregnable medium that will hold for them, through all conditions, the good-will they have won in the mind of buyers.

To them their Daily Newspaper Advertising is as necessary as their Sales Force—more so, in some cases. And if you will consider their judgment for awhile, you will, we think, agree that it is well founded, and worthy of adaptation to your own business needs.

This Association will be pleased to advise you upon ways and means of using Daily Newspaper Advertising to advantage; or consult any recognized advertising agency, a list of which will be supplied on request.

PETERBORO MAN RETURNS FROM A TRIP TO COAST

SPIRIT OF CONSERVATIVE OPTIMISM THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

Mr. W. J. Hopwood sales manager of The North British Rubber Co., of Edinburgh, returned on Saturday from his annual coast to coast trip to the selling agencies of the company, having covered all the principal cities from Halifax to Vancouver, the cost cities as far south as Los Angeles and returning by the middle west and Chicago. He reports business conditions as being practically uniform through the different sections of his territory, a spirit of conservative optimism and careful readjustment prevailing the whole trade; many of the larger wholesale houses report that having written off 25 to 30 per cent. of the value of their inventories at stock taking, they will be in a position to offer this merchandise to the retail trade at lower prices during the season, which should result in an adjustment in prices of many lines. In the meantime they are not anticipating much on future requirements, but looking to the manufacturers to adopt the same policy with regard to their offerings for Fall trade thus completing the readjustment along the whole line.

Conditions in the fruit growing districts are very unsettled owing to exchange situation and lowering of ocean freights. Italian and Spanish fruits are being sold in the New York market at less than the cost of transportation from California, this has resulted in cancellation of contracts by shippers and fruit is rotting on the ground. In motoring through the country oranges and lemons can be bought at the gates of the ranches for $1.00 per case.

The rice growing is even in worse condition, millions have been invested in this industry in the last three or four years and last year produced a bumper crop—but about the time it was ready to harvest, the world was flooded with Japanese rice at very low prices and thousand of acres in California were either never harvested or fed to the hogs—resulting in a total loss to the growers.

After spending a week in this city attending to personal business Mr. Hopwood will return to the Toronto Office of his company.

CHURCH SERVICES AT MARK STREET

LARGE CONGREGATIONS AT BOTH SERVICES—NOTES ON SERMON.

The congregations both morning and evening were larger than usual, and the music was characterized by spiritual fervour. The subject of the morning sermon was "Your Own Business," and was an exposition of Isaiah lx:1: "Arise, shine, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee." The following thoughts were presented by Rev. G. E. Ross:

The Face of the Picture Turned to the Wall.

There is a certain picture, the face of which I would turn to the wall. It represents Christ as standing at a door, knocking, and having a big lantern in His hand. You might as well hang up a lantern as an aid to the sun as to put one in Christ's hand—for He is the Sun of Righteousness. Keep your lantern, my brother; — Christ needs it not, neither will you if you walk in His light. Man does not grope His way through a world of darkness; he is blind in a world of light, and the warm beams of the Sun Eternal gently and sometimes fiercely beat against his closed eyes, wilfully closed, from the cradle to the grave. Jesus holds not a lantern out to you and to me as He stands knocking at the soul's bolted door; He offers us a reflector, that having received His light ourselves, we may arise and flash its beams on other men.

The Divine Luminary and Human Satelites.

"Thy light has come." It is because the light of God has come to us that we rise up to shine.

All man needs is the opening of the spiritual eye that the light may be seen. Our little life is enveloped by the spiritual world.

Out in the great universe, beyond the shadow of the earth, there is perennial sunshine. Night is the shadow of the earth cast upon the face of the sun. When the soul is born again it seems as if the curtains of night were suddenly withdrawn, and the whole spiritual universe flashed in a moment into day. Why? Because until the dark veil of the Eternal was dissolved the soul had been blinded to the invisible.

First, there is the dawning light. Then spiritual penitence, love and prayer. The result of this is the summons "Arise, shine." Oh, man, when the light of thy God has pierced and transformed thy soul thou wilt eflect the glory which has risen in thy heart, and bear witness of the regenerating power of the divine spirit. Thus the deepest emotion of man's nature will reveal itself in his life.

The Soul of Man is the Reflector Only.

The sun is the only luminary that shines with his own light; all others light their candles at his fire. The Sun of Righteousness is the only light in the universe of God that has not touched another flame. "Do we fling a shining radiance along another's path? Do we illuminate the dark haunts of sin, and woe and agony and death? This is not due to any light of our own but to him who is the "Light of the World," and who bids us "Arise and Shine."

Jesus said, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father." If you and I are reflectors of Christ's light, men may say of us, "We saw Jesus in His face, heard the voice of Jesus in his voice, felt the grip of Jesus in his hand-clasp, and heard the foot-fall of the Son of God as He walked at our side. Nothing will commend us to the world like a good, healthy, robust, muscular, seven-day-in-the-week Religion. Real rough and tumble religion never tires anybody; it's the force and sham that men despise.

Held in Position by the Central Sun.

All the heavenly bodies circle around the great central luminary and are held in position by his power. The silver moon gently gliding along through the azure fields may be termed the consort of the sun. The Church of God, "Fair as the Moon," is the eternal consort of the Sun of Righteousness, and she shall flash His glory for ever and forever. We are to shine because of the coming of our light and because the glory of the Lord is risen upon us. Some of us have been shining in the political arena recently, and there was quite an illumination. Some members of the church shine at bridge party or a ball. Others shine in the pool room or the gambling den, but they do not light their torch at heaven's fire. Our light must guide men back to God—not away from Him. Men will not criticize as much if we reflect Christ.

When God Enters the Soul We Shine Unconsciously

Men feel the secret charm of this unconscious shining. The glory of the Lord manifests itself in life—in the majesty of holiness. Christian separateness is not external non-conformity.

The life and light of God is the life and light of the cross in the human heart. The glory of the Lord manifests itself in the earnestness of our efforts for men.

Light the Most Valuable Thing in the World.

It is better to economize anywhere else than on light. Light is the best policeman in the city. Economy in light is often extravagance. The highest grade of light is spiritual light. Nearly every creature that God has made but man will instinctively turn and come to the light. The light which we reflect not only illuminates but warms. The aurora shines along the Yukon River in Alaska with great brilliancy during the winter but it never melts the snow; there is no warmth in its fires. What eternal dignity conferred upon us that we should reflect the image of our God.

Beware of your Lanterns' Gleam.

It was summer, but the night was very dark. A large tree stood before the door of my neighbor's house. Thousands of small birds were sheltering among its thick foliage. As I passed beneath the tree with my lantern, a beam of light pierced the masses of leaves and instantly a bird fluttered into the grass a few yards away. Scarcely had the winged songster reached the ground when a large cat at a bound sprang to the spot. I cannot think of what followed without a shudder. My false light drew that innocent bird to its death. May God help us to shine true, and reflect his image in our life.

TRADE WITH THE FAR EAST

(By F. A. McKenzie in the Empire Mail.)

The Far East presents today the greatest potential market in the world for our manufactured goods. The group of peoples stretching from Siam to Sagahlin number five-twelfths of the human race. They have been during the past few years swept by a wave of Western reform. Their picked young men are studying in London, Paris and Washington, their countries are more and more being opened up by railways; they have a powerful and numerous press, in which the art of advertising is carried to a fine point; their people are rapidly abandoning old ways of living, old styles of clothing, old tastes in food, for the styles, the fashions, the methods and the machinery of Europe and America. Here we have a market affording special opportunities but equally having special difficulties of its own. Many of these difficulties are of a political nature. The British manufacturer has to confront competition of a different kind from elsewhere. If the prizes are great, the obstacles are high.

For many years Britain was supreme in the China market. It was a case of England first and the rest of the world nowhere. This supremacy has been seriously challenged, first by Germany and then by Japan. German competition was greatly weakened by the results of a serious financial crisis some years ago, which caused the collapse of some of the biggest German houses, and later by the war. But the German has still to be reckoned with. He is not unpopular among the Chinese, and is persistent and hard working. Japanese competition is altogether of a more serious kind.

The manufacturer who contemplates tackling the Far Eastern market should at the beginning acquire a very real respect for the people he is trying to cater for. He will find possibly much to amuse him in their prejudices, but he will find very much more to respect in their sound business qualities. He is seeking the support not of barbaric folk, but of people highly educated and highly trained, with a civilization older than his own.

The Japanese Problem.

No one can attempt to do business in the Far East without immediately coming up against the Japanese problem and finding himself up against it all the time. The Japanese politically are our Allies; commercially they are our great rivals. They are rapidly developing their manufactures, not merely for their home markets, but for world export. You will find them everywhere, strong, self-contained, energetic and progressive communities, fighting hard for trade, tooth and nail, and fighting hard for the control of trade.

Despite very cordial relations that exist between Japanese as individuals and the European communities, the Japanese as a body are not popular with the English-speaking people of the Far East. Their unpopularity is due partly to their very virtues and partly to their faults. The Englishman who from childhood has looked upon himself as one of the supreme people of the world, does not like it when he finds himself being met in business and sometimes undercut and undersold by an Easterner who is confident of his natural superiority over the European. The Japanese are freely accused of trickiness in trade and not keeping to their bargains, and of adopting methods which we do not think fair. There is some truth in this, but it is not the whole truth. The great Japanese houses conduct their business on the most scrupulously honest lines. Japanese national finance is beyond suspicion. But the smaller Japanese dealer is apt to be tricky, and has to be handled very carefully. He has a bad reputation for repudiating bargains when they go against him. The quality of his products have to be watched.

This is largely due to the ancient national traditions which made trading for personal profit among the Japanese a dishonorable and a disgraceful thing. The old time Japanese trader, knowing that his neighbors looked on him as a scoundrel, thought that he might make his scoundrelism as profitable as possible. This feeling remains in some quarters in spite of every effort of the Government, the great merchants and the financiers, by education and precept, to remove it. The broad general rule remains. The great Japanese merchants are as reliable as the merchants of any other land, but there is a sufficient proportion of unreliable men among the smaller manufacturers and merchants to make the English business houses very careful of entering into transactions which depend upon their business honor.

The main complaint against the Japanese among the business community in the Far East is that they are attempting by political influence and by control of means of communication to close up parts of the Far East to us. They are giving Japan practically a monopoly of Korean trade. Korea a land with close on twenty million people. Now that they control large parts of Manchuria, some of the most experienced Far Eastern houses refuse to try to do business there, they believe that it is no use; they say that the Japanese give their own goods such advantages on the railways there and use their influence in such ways to spread Japanese trade, that the English firm stands little or no chance. It is a general complaint that the Japanese control of Tsing-Tau has made the market around there much more inaccessible to the British than ever before.

Alongside of this employment of political influence has gone the wholesale purchase by the Japanese of all manner of natural rights and commercial privileges in China. During the war, when England was too busy to interfere, they secured enormous advantages in this way, sometimes by the wholesale bribery of local officials, or by the exercise of great political pressure. Their business aim is commercial domination of the East.

British Manufacturers and Japanese Representatives.

Some big British houses, recognizing the remarkable advantages possessed by the Japanese for Eastern trade, have resolved that it is better to co-operate with them than to fight them. Anyone who studies a list of Far Eastern enterprises will see how more and more Japanese merchants are becoming the representatives of British manufacturers in Asia. This is what the Japanese want.

The firm desiring to open up business with the Far East has first to pick its market and next to decide whether it is going to work exclusively through one big exporting house, attempt to create direct trade, or establish its own Far Eastern headquarters in one of the big Treaty ports.

What is the country to be aimed at?

Japanese Imports Limited.

Today all but the most adventurous will rule Korea and Manchuria out. Japan presents a limited market for manufactured goods. The main imports into Japan are raw materials, especially raw cotton, food, more especially rice, and partly finished goods for further use in manufacturing. To-day only about one tenth of the goods sent into Japan are wholly manufactured and the tendency with most of these is to decline. Japan is more and more making her own. Her manufacturers are being backed by the Government with technical education, subsidies, liberal orders and every kind of nursing possible. Foreign goods are hampered by heavy tariff duties and the policy of State protection is being carried by the Japanese to its logical conclusion. I find it difficult to regard Japan as a permanent market for any great quantities of our finished goods. When Japan wants anything in paying quantities, she begins to make it. It is easy enough to laugh at these native manufactures as being crude; often enough they are. But they very steadily improve.

How to Enter the Chinese Market.

The best way for a business house to start cultivating the Chinese market is first to enter into a relation with one of the great commission houses for handling its goods and then to send a trusted representative over to China to study the field on the spot and to push the goods. Advertising schemes will be necessary in the daily press, possibly on the railway stations and elsewhere. It is necessary that the representative sent out to the Far East should be a man of responsibility and dignity, well paid and with an ample expenses account. The social life of the white communities in the Far East plays a vital part in business. The representative of a good house should keep up his end. He must, if he is to do the best for his firm, enter into social relations with people, both European and Chinese. Her is a case where liberal expenditure pays. It is not fair to the representative himself or to the business not to do this.

An alert representative will learn more in one trip than can be discovered in any other way. He will find, for example, how the goods of his firm are to be specially packed for his customers, how local prejudices in different parts have to be studied and how the Chinaman must have what he wants in the way he wants it, if permanent business is to result.

Honesty of the Chinese Merchant.

The visitor will get in touch with some of the great Chinese merchants, and, if I am not much mistaken, will acquire a very real respect for them. The Chinaman is a great, big, broad guaged business man. His honesty and his dependability have become the tradition of the East. He is not so perfect as some of his friends try to make out—business dependability among the younger men has rather gone down in China in recent years—but still he is one of the best traders in the world to have to do business with. The word of the average big Chinese merchant is his bond.

The problem of native manufacture will no doubt in future years be more serious for the British manufacturer in China as it is now in Japan. The Chinese population are undergoing a process of transformation from an agricultural to an industrial people. Factories will become more and more numerous. Chinese labour is cheap—although not nearly so cheap as it once was—patient, disciplined, and reliable. Most manufacturing houses will have to face the problem before a generation is over, whether it will not be to their interest to have branch factories in China. But it will be an enormous help to them if in advance they have secured a market for their goods by a wise system of importation.

The Siamese market, a very important one to the South, presents great possibilities.

STRANGE TALES OF THE AFRICAN JUNGLE

Rev. H. A. Withey, who has spent many years as a missionary in Africa, principally in the Angola region, has been paying a visit to civilization. He brought back with him many stories of the jungle, of which the following are interesting samples:

The wild natives of Angola had again revolted against the Portuguese traders. There were wholesale massacres of the most terrible nature, and runners of cannibalistic rites struck terror to the hearts of all whites. So far, however, the missions had been unmolested; for the tribesmen are believers in Nzambi, the creator of all things, and the men who have taught them religion and sanitation they call "the People of Love."

Often they will do much for them without gifts, though at other times they hint most strongly for the welcome present. The hammock-carrier chants proverbs, and occasionally he may be heard singing as he is swinging you along through the jungle:

"A white man is praised for his liberality not because he is white. The egg of a hen is white also."

Which is an African hint, so to speak.

It was during these fearful massacres that one of the missionaries was being carried through a high, grass-covered pathway, when, with a swish through the undergrowth, a war party was on them. Summarily they commanded the white man to get down from his hammock.

"Who is he?" they demanded gruffly from the carriers.

"He's a harmless chap," replied the faithful blacks. "He's just a missionary."

"That's all very well," and the hungry eyes of the hunters looked him up and down. "But we don't know him."

There were repeated assurances of the reverend's innocence, which had not succeeded in convincing for itself, when one of the hostile group had a brilliant thought.

"If he's a missionary, he can sing and pray. Sing and pray, there!" the savage commanded.

The preacher obliged them with a few hymns and prayers in their own dialect.

And what looked like imminent death changed to mutual salutations and the freedom of the jungle.

There are some who would see in this, doubtless, an answer to the question as to the efficacy of the prayer.

How Kolohondo Became Chief.

This is a folk-tale that the African boys will tell you in the fire-light of a chill evening on the veldt.

Some day you will be wandering along the bank of a river, or across a tract of jungle-grass, when a tall naked black will come stalking along toward you.

"My name is Kolohondo-Ka-ndala-ndengituma-ndenge-jimbulula!" he will say.

Now, that explains a great deal; but I shall not tell you what, until the end of this story. Then, perhaps, you will have guesses what the tall naked black is called.

Once Kolohondo's father told him to go out to catch a rat. So the boy obeyed. When he brought back the dead beast, his father said:

"Go and cook the rat with your brother!"

Now you know, and I know, what his father meant. But not so Kolohondo. He beat his brother over the head with a stick and put the boy and the rat into a pot for a nice stew.

He was forced to flee from home.

All along the land went Kolohondo, and it was ever so with him. He did what people told him to do, but it was never the right thing.

Finally he came to a certain tribe, where the chieftain grew to have great confidence in his ability. One night Kolohondo was told to watch out for enemies, and to shoot whomsoever should be heard prowling about.

At dusk Kolohondo took his great bow and arrow and climbed into the top of a great gray baobab tree, the fruit of which at a distance looks for all the world like so many dead rats hung up by their tails. There Kolohondo watched and listened to the noises that are like the rustling of many secret things in the mystery of the heavens. Soon he saw shining oiled limbs gleaming along the green ways, faintly lit by the stars. Twang!

The chief himself lay dead by Kolohondo's arrow.

The tribe gathered to punish, but Kolohondo stood his ground.

"I did as I was told," he said simply.

"That's so! That's so!" and they nodded their palm-oil soaked heads and grinned gleefully. "He did as he was told. We will elect him chief."

And so it was that Kolohondo, the simpleton, became a tribal chieftain.

And you have guessed his name?

Kolohondo-ka-ndala-ndengi-tuma-ndengejimbulula means "When you command me to do anything, explain it thoroughly."

COMPROMISE SPRIT NEEDED AT CONFERENCE

(Canadian Press.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 14. — The hope that the Allied delegates would enter the near eastern conference at London next week with a compromising spirit was expressed here to-day by Abdul Medjid Efendi, heir presumptive to the Turkish throne. Only by such attitude on their part would it be possible to establish peace in the near east, and he said it might be too late to insure an end of hostilities, if the Turkish Nationalists have made any military agreements with the Russian Bolsheviks.

HAD AN ANNOYING HACKING COUGH

GOT NO REST AT NIGHT

Hacking coughs are very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest, and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition, that unless you get immediate relief the cough may become settled and serious lung trouble ensues.

There is no better remedy than Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for relieving all kinds of coughs or colds, combining as it does the lung healing virtues of the pine tree with which is combined wild cherry bark, and the soothing and healing expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Mrs. E. J. Ross, Penhold, Alta., writes: "About three years ago I caught a very bad cold, accompanied with a sore throat and hoarseness. I was so hoarse you could not hear me speak. I could get no rest at night with the terrible annoying, hacking cough. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. I finally saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised, so I got a bottle. It at once gave me relief, and after using four of them, my cough had all gone. Now I always keep it in the house."

"Dr. Wood's" is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trademark, price 35c and 60c a bottle. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Toronto, Ont.

SPORTING NEWS, VIEWS AND GOSSIP

THE "BUTT END" MUST GO

If you are a hockey fan you doubtless have noticed a player suddenly drop to the ice and roll around apparently in great pain. "Must have taken a cramp," some one in the crowd will say. "I didn't see anyone hit him."

The cramp theory is right once in a while but generally it is wrong. Usually he has been the victim of an operation known to hockey experts as "being handed the butt end."

The phrase needs no explanation to the real fan, but for the benefit of the uninitiated it may be explained that the injured player has been jabbed in some vulnerable portion of his anatomy, usually the pit of the stomach or the ribs, although sometimes in the face, by the butt end of an opponent's stick. The assault necessarily takes place at close range and is done so swiftly that most of the crowd never see it at all; hence the surprise when the victim falls.

But that is not hockey, some reader will say.

Of course it's not hockey, or sport, either, but the trouble is that many young players are apparently being educated to believe that it is both.

Anyone who witnessed the City League games last week saw for themselves how far the education of these players in the mistaken theory that assault and battery is a substitute for hockey ability, is in progress.

There was about as much illegal stuff handed out in these games last week as there usually is in a N.H.A. game. And with the professionals hockey is not a sport, but a business, and they are paid for their ability to assimilate punishment.

There should be no place in amateur hockey for such tactics—certainly not for the use of the butt-end, which is by long odds the most despicable method of rough play that can be employed in Canada's natural game.

Tripping and slashing are bad enough, but often they are accidental, and at least they are done in the open.

But "butt ending" is submarine warfare; it is the sneaky kind of an attack that usually catches its victim unprepared, and with no defence.

It should be made impossible in hockey, and could be if the proper methods are used.

The "butt end" is never accidental. The very manner in which it is used makes it deliberate, for there is no play in a hockey game that requires the stick to be in such a position that a player can be jabbed with the handle.

And therefore because there is no danger of a player being punished for an unintentional violation of this particular rule all referees should be severe in the penalties they hand out for this offence.

Giving a two minute penalty is only a farce.

The player who is detected in the act of "butt ending" should get ten minutes for the first offence, and go off for the rest of the game for the second. And an offender, who after being punished in one game, uses the same tactics in a later fixture, should have his certificate cancelled.

Drastic?

Not a bit too much so, for there is absolutely no justification for that style of hockey. A good clean body check adds zest to a game; tripping may be unpleasant, but often it is accidental—but for the use of the butt end there is no defence.

It is cowardly, mean and dangerous.

The City League officials should see that it is eliminated before someone loses an eye or is injured internally.

The League race this year has been productive of great hockey. Four more evenly matched teams have never played in a local league and every game has been a battle royal, providing thrill after thrill for the fans. It would be a shame to have such splendid sport spoiled because some of the players—and no one team is any more to blame than any other in this respect—consider it necessary to use roughhouse tactics.

And it will be so spoiled unless the offenders are properly dealt with.

In the name of clean sport let the management of every team instruct their players to eliminate the so-called "inside" stuff and to keep their minds upon securing goals rather than knock-outs.

WELSHMEN LOST TO SCOTLAND IN THE INTERNATIONAL FIXTURE

WON BY 2 GOALS TO 1—BRADFORD DOWN MIDDLEBORO—"VILLANS" LOSE TO SUNDERLAND—SCORE WAS 5 TO 1—PALACE LEAD THE THIRD DIVISION TABLE.

Scotland defeated Wales by 2 goals to 1 in an international game Saturday. This was the forty-first meeting between these two teams, and Scotland have won 28 games, Wales 4, while 9 have been drawn. Scotland has scored 131 goals against 38 by the Welshmen.

There were one or two surprises in the first division of the English League, the most notable of which was the defeat of Middlesboro by Bradford. The Park avenue eleven have won only five games this season, and up to Saturday were gracing the bottom of the table. Sunderland were visitors at Wilton, where they trounced the "Villans" by 5 goals to 1. Burnley still maintain their strong lead at the head of the table, and Saturday they downed Derby County by 2 goals to 1. The "Geordies" strengthened their position by defeating Huddersfield Town by an odd goal. Both the Manchester teams were defeated. The United went under to Everton at Old Trafford, while City lost to the "Spurs" at Tottenham.

Leaders Tie.

Birmingham, the leaders of the second division, were only able to tie with Clapton Orient, so now have to share first place with Bristol City. The City defeated Fulham by 2 clear goals. The big surprise of this section was the defeat of South Shields on their own grounds by the Wednesday. The tail-enders, Stockport County, also registered a win at the expense of the "Peacocks." West Ham United dropped into fifth place as they were unable to beat Bury, while Blackpool took the fourth place by accounting for Rotherham County at Rotherham. Five of the visiting team in this division got away with the two points, while two of the games were drawn.

Low Scoring in Third.

Low scoring was the rule in the third division, and in five of the games the results were decided with only one goal being scored. Crystal Palace jumped into the lead by defeating Newport on the later's ground. Northampton had their revenge on their old rivals, Southampton, who knocked them out of the English Cup competitions. The Northerners won by 2 goals to 0.

Celtic's Big Score.

In the Scottish League games only three of the visiting teams were successful, Rangers still kept their commanding lead by downing Dundee on the latter's ground. The other two visiting teams to win were Airdrieonians, who downed Dumbarton, and Third Lanark, who shut out Queen's Park. The biggest score of the league was that of Celtic against St. Mirren. The "Saints" were snowed under to the tune of 6 goals to 0. Motherwell took a drop in the league standing, as they were defeated by Hearts.

In the replayed cup ties Armadale accounted for Bo'ness, while East Fife accounted for Stevenston. Clydebank and Alloa were again unable to break the tie, the game ending in a goalless draw.

BRITISH SPORTING NOTES

(By Hugh Dryden)

(Staff Correspondent Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).

LONDON, "Soccer" football is by far the most popular sport in Britain not even excepting racing. The turf has thousands of keen followers who have never seen a race but derive their interest in it from the newspapers and city bookmakers. But every football "fan" takes a first hand interest in the game, and every Saturday afternoon from September to April the big arenas are ringed with dense masses of humanity. A "gate" of 50,000 to 70,000 is not unusual at an impotant League match.

In January, the football enthusiast begins to get really excited, for the first round games in the League tournament are played off, and he starts speculating on the final result due about the end of April. Nearly a million spectators witnessed the thirty two ties in the first round this year. Most of the grounds were very muddy after heavy rains, and on this account, no doubt, many unexpected results were recorded.

Clubs which had been fortunate in the draw did remarkably well for no fewer than 22 teams won at home and six more played drawn games. Only four suffered defeat. The visiting clubs to win were Burnley, leaders in the Football League, Huddersfield Town, runners for the Cup last season, Cardiff City, who are bracketed first in the Second Division of the League, and Lincoln City, second in the Midland League, Darlington drew with Blackpool, but the other three clubs of minor importance lost.

Of the 26 victorious clubs, nine belong to the First Division of the League, six to the Second, and ten to the Third, with Lincoln City of the Midland League. No fewer than eight First Division League teams were eliminated from the competition; five were engaged in drawn games, and as one of these was between Liverpool and Manchester United, the number of clubs belonging to the leading tournament cannot be more than thirteen, whatever the results may be in the replay. Except in the cases of Middlesborough and Bolton Wanderers, who, at Derby and Preston respectively, lost to clubs below them in the same competition, the First Division sides were beaten by teams belonging to inferior competitions.

Many American track athletes will be sorry to hear that the great South African runner B. G. D. Rudd President of Oxford's Athletic Club, is sick, and may not be in condition to run for his University during the spring season. Mr. Rudd has been suffering from tonsilitis, and is in a general run down state of health, which some attribute to over-work in the running game. Rudd's brilliant running at the Pennsylvania Relay Carnival last year will be long remembered in America.

BENNY KAUFF TO PLAY WITH THE GIANTS AGAIN

And Is Expected to Play a Big Part in McGraw's Battle for the Pennant.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—With a pitching staff that didn't begin to function until mid-season and an improvised infield, the Giants ran Brooklyn clear to the wire for the championship last year.

That's one of the reasons why Joseph D. O'Brien, secretary of the New York Giants, figures that the McGraw club will do better this season.

"Manager McGraw isn't worrying about the club," he said. "He's in Havana now and probably will not return until time to go to the San Antonio training camp."

"When Frisch went out of the game last spring and Larry Doyle's legs went bad, the Giant infield collapsed. Then Benny Kauff had to be released and centre field became weak. In addition, the pitchers were going bad. Yet after all these breaks the Giants finished second.

"If Goldie Rapp comes through as expected at second base, the Giants will have one of the best infields in the business. Kauff is coming back and he should fit in as he used to with Burns and Young.

"The catching department is very strong and the pitchers all look promising.

"In addition, we will have the services of Hugh Jennings and Jesse Burkett as coaches. That will mean a lot to the club.

"Brooklyn and the Pirates will not be easy marks, but we think, without too much over-confidence, however, that we have next year's pennant winner.

"The club tried hard to get a good infielder, but did not succeed, as the club owners would not consider spending a fortune for Rogers Hornsby or Heinie Groh. However, we can win without them."

WES BARRY'S LOVE FOR SCRAP SATISFIED

Wesley Barry, the boy actor, is somewhat inclined to be pugnacious, which is rather fortunate for him, because if he hadn't lost his temper once he might never have found his way into the films. Director Marshall Neilan "discovered" Wesley while fighting with several boys on the streets in Los Angeles. For once, however, the scrappy Barry has things coming his way in "Dinty," the picture in which he is starred and in which he will be seen at the Allen Theatre, begining to-day. In this vehicle Wes has the part of a fighting San Francisco newsboy and is given the opportunity to put up the best scrap of his young life.

"THE WHIP"

For powerful, gripping and intensely interesting scenes, no photoplay ever shown eclipses "The Whip," the famous racing play which will be the offering at the Grand theatre to-day, remaining for a 5 day showing. When "The Whip" was presented on the speaking stage in New York after it had a run of two years in London, it was given a production that was an historical event. The play was also translated and presented in European countries and when shown in Australia ran there a long time. In motion pictures even more startling realism has been secured. The monster train wreck, the wonderful racing scenes and the other sensational incidents make it a screen drama away above the ordinary picture.

AT THE EMPIRE

"THE POINT OF VIEW" A STIRRING STORY OF FALSE FAMILY PRIDE.

Many persons can look at a beautiful landscape and see nothing but scrawny trees, a waste of blue sky, and a patch of water that they know is wet and possibly, if one looked closely, dirty; while another sees in the same landscape all the wonders of the universe, the tender touches of the master of all artists and a glory of colour and beauty that holds them spellbound. It is all a matter of viewpoint.

In "The Point of View," which will open at the Empire Theatre to-day for three days, starring Elaine Hamerstein, Marjory Thorncroft looks at life through glasses of false pride. The softer and finer things of life were overlooked in the effort to keep up a social front, until a rough Westerner tears the glasses from her eyes and shows her a new world alive with the flowers of love and happiness.

"DARDANELLA"

The entire world is daffy over "Dardanella"—over the big namesake song and instrumental hit which has swept the globe and over the McGregor Company's alluring, enticing and beautiful production of Hardin and Evans' international musical comedy success.

"Dardanella' comes to the Grand next Saturday with its stupendous array of special features, catchy novelties and captivating specialties. Its' a laughing, whirling girly show that's different and will prove the same sensational success here as it has in all the leading cities of the United States and Canada.

NEW RESIDENCE RULE FOR O.B.A.A. THIS YEAR

JAKE SOLOMON'S PROPOSAL THAT IT BE MADE MARCH 1 IS LIKELY TO BE CARRIED AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ONTARIO BODY.

Messrs. Ward Patterson and Jake Solomon attended the meeting of the Ontario Baseball Association in Toronto, when plans for the season were discussed. Mr. Solomon brought up the question of the residence rule, promising that it should be 1st or 15th March instead of 1st January as at present, and the change is likely to be made at the annual meeting.

A Toronto report says:

The opening shot was fired in amateur baseball circles for the season of 1921 when the Ontario Amateur Baseball Association held a meeting this afternoon at the Carls-Rite Hotel. A large delegation was present from towns and cities throughout the Province. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mr. F. E. Robbins, and in his opening address he welcomed the delegates, and from the large attendance a big year is looked for this year.

The meeting was called to talk over the weakness of the past and to lay a foundation for plans for the future. The president stated that the association may have made mistakes in carrying out their executive work throughout the year, and to-day they were gathered to hear complaints and get suggestions that will go on as motions to the annual meeting.

President F. E. Robbins started off the meeting with the first suggestion, that the association secure a suitable trophy for the intermediate and junior champions, and also a committee be appointed to look after these two leagues in organisation and campaign work. This committee wound be under the jurisdiction of the sub-committee. Mr. Verrall amended this, that instead of trophies that individual cups and medals be secured for the players.

The amendment met with the approval of the meeting, and the following committee was appointed to work on securing medals or cups, and have a report at the annual meeting: Pres. F. E. Robbins (chairman), H. H. Roxborough, W. Snyder, W. Smith, and any more the chairman wished to appoint.

Change in travelling rates will be another question to be passed at the annual meeting. The new rate calls for a reduction of 15 cents a mile per man to 10 cents, and in case of postponement the visitors be paid 5 cents instead of 7½ cents.

The constitution of the association calls for the annual meeting to be held the last Saturday in March. Owing to Easter being so early, and the above date comes in Holy Week, the date was changed to the first Saturday in April. In conjunction with this, the time was changed from 2 p.m. to 10 a.m. The gathering starting in the morning allows the delegates to get home the same day.

The residence rule in the association calls for every player to be a resident of his city or town by 1st January. The delegates from the smaller cities claimed this was a hardship to their leagues. In several of the smaller cities and towns throughout the Province manufacturing plants have closed down, and the young boys have gone to other places to work, with the intention of returning when business opens up. If these boys are barred under the residence rules, it means these places are out of baseball. Therefore, the delegates at the annual meeting will have to debate on the question of changing the date to 1st March.

Delegates Present.

The following officers and delegates were present: President, W. F. Smith, Toronto; president, F. E. Robbins, Hamilton; secretary, N. B. Dulmage, Guelph; treas., A. J. Walsh, Toronto; H. Soanes, Tweed; Ward Patterson and Jake Solomon, Peterborough; John G. Nott, Oshawa; H. H. Roxborough, Toronto; A. Verrall, Toronto; P. E. Jordon, Midland; Robert Long, Brantford; D. Saunders, Collingwood; H. W. Sturn, Kitchener; C. E. Donmoyer, Woodstock; Wm. J. Snyder and A. J. Waite, Hamilton; F. W. Moynes, Lindsay; P. M. Kennedy, Toronto; D. P. McFarlane, Harriston.

WAGHORNE TO REFEREE REMAINING GAMES IN THE CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

The City Hockey League Executive at a meeting on Saturday night, decided to ask Fred. Waghorne, of Toranto, to referee the remainder of the League games. When communicated with, Waghorne expressed his willingness to come here whenever ice conditions permit of play, and he will be here in time to start the first game at eight o'clock.

The League is not dissatisfied with the work of the local referees, but there appears to be a strong feeling within the League and among the great majority of its supporters that the proper thing to do is to use an outside official for the balance of the season.

An effort will be made to play two games on Tuesday or Wednesday night, and the next and final brace of games as soon after as possible. There will be a two days' rest between games for the teams.

DANGER IN SNOWBALLING.

Local Young Lady Seriously Injured —Struck on the Eye.

The danger attached to snowballing is brought to one's notice in the daily walks to and from business. The culprits are usually the youngsters coming from school. And even on the Sabbath the habit is formed, and serious hurt is in many cases the outcome. One case just came to our notice yesterday afternoon. A pupil coming from St. Paul's Church Sunday School was passing the Y.M.C.A., on her way home, when several lads in the vicinity commenced the snowballing nuisance. One of the boys let drive a snowball, which caught this young lady on the right eye, causing the eye to swell badly and become discoloured. She was helped to Dr. Buchanan's office, and from there to her home, and is now under treatment, as it is feared a small bone has been fractured near the nose.

This sport is on the increase, and unless some means are used to prevent the nuisance—either in the home by the parents, or by the police—no doubt worse accidents will occur.

TO TREAT CANCER WITH NEW X-RAY

HARVARD PROFESSAR OF PHYSICS DISCOVERS X-RAYS OF HIGHLY PENETRATIVE POWER.

(Canadian Press).

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 14. — Discoveries made by William Duane, Professor of Bio-Physics at Harvard University, working in collaboration with research students of physics, have made it possible, according to Harvard physicists, to secure X-rays of a more penetrative power than have ever been obtained in the United States, and these rays are to be used for the first time on this continent in the alleviation of cancer.

While it is emphatically stated by Professor Duane that X-rays are not to be considered as a permanent cure for all kinds of cancer, it is known that they are highly beneficial and are a marked alleviative.

SUICIDES IN THE STATES

New York, Feb. 15.—Suicides in the United States during the year of 1920, numbered 6,171, including 707 children, according to Dr. H. M. Warren, president of the Save-a-Life League. This exceeded the figures of the previous year by more than 1,000 cases, he said. During the year 2,604 women died through self-destruction. This is a large increase over the proceeding year.

The increased percentage among women was ascribed to their entry into commercial and political life. Unhappy domestic relations and living conditions also were large contributing factors.

The youngest suicide in the United States during the past year was five years of age, while the oldest was 103. More than 400 soldiers have taken their lives since the termination of the war, Dr. Warren reports.

Classified among the causes of self-destruction in 1920 were 75 presidents and managers of large business concerns; 36 men reputed to be millionaires; 23 wealthy women; 24 lawyers; 8 judges; 51 doctors; 40 actors and actresses; 34 college professors and teachers; 27 college students; 24 brokers; 50 bankers; including 14 bank presidents; 12 clergymen; 2 evangelists and 1 Y.M.C.A. secretary.

TORCHY PROVES A PRETTY GIRL HELPS TO ESCAPE FROM TROUBLE

There are lots of ways of getting out of trouble without resort to violence. This is exampled in "Torchy Comes Through," second of the two-reel comedies made from the celebrated stories by Sewell Ford, and starring Johnny Hines, celebrated comedian, which comes to the Allen Theatre to-day. Here Torchy is trying to help a visiting Prince marry the girl he loves when a guard pins him to the wall. Just at that moment an attractive girl, rather negligee, passes down the hall. Quickly Torchy "introduces" the guard to the girl and as the former turns to bow, Torchy flees. It is another example of "native wit," with which the comedy is filled.

WOULD ACCELERATE WAR CRIME TRIALS

GERMANY WISHES TO CONFER WITH ALLIES ON THE MATTER.

(Canadian Press).

BERLIN, Feb. 14. — The German Government has asked permission to send a qualified representative to confer with the British, French and Belgian judicial authorities in an effort to accelerate the prosecution of persons charged with war crimes in the preliminary list submitted by the Allies. Britain is the only country appealed to that has yet consented, and a representative of the Foreign Office will leave for London next week to confer with representatives of the British Department of Justice on the manner of conducting the trials.

Of forty-five persons accused in the preliminary list of war crimes submitted by the Entente, 13 are declared to be dead, or their whereabouts unknown. Proceedings instituted against the other 32 have resulted inconclusively, it is learned, because of the absence of tangible evidence against them. The British Government furnished data in the cases of seven of the accused men, but this evidence, it is claimed, has been found lacking in concrete facts necessary to carry on prosecution before the German Court trying cases at Leipzig, which also demands that accusing witnesses be present. France and Italy thus far have submitted only perfunctory indictments on a basis of which it is asserted the Leipzig Court cannot proceed against the persons accused.

WON TROPHY IN IMPERIAL COMPETITION.

Mayor Code has proclaimed the afternoon of Tuesday, 22nd February, a half-holiday in Smith's Falls in honour of the visit of the Governor-General, who will present the rifle team of the Collegiate Institute with a trophy won in the Imperial competition.

M'BRIDE SLAPS BACK AT LABOR

"MORE AFRAID OF EMBARASSING GOVERNMENT THAN ENACTING LABOR LEGISLATION."

(Canadian Press).

BRANTFORD, Feb. 14. — M. M. MacBride, M.L.A., gave out this morning a statement in answer to the action of the Executive of the Ontario Independent Labour Party Saturday when Mr. MacBride was ruled out of the I. L. P. He said in part: "That outfit has about as much influence in Canadian Labour circles as a plugged nickel would have if subtracted from John D. Rockefeller's income. To hear them reading me out of the party sounds like one of Mutt and Jeff's jokes. Everybody knows I crossed the floor of the Legislature some weeks ago. They seem to be more afraid of embarrassing the Government than they are anxious to enact legislation in an Independent Labour Party platform."

LOCAL GROCERS ARE LOOKING FOR LOWER PRICES FOR EGGS

THEY WELCOME THE ADVENT OF LOWER PRICES.

"Whatever goes up is sure to come down." An old saying ran something like that and it has proved to be true in many an acid test. On Saturday it again demonstrated its infallibility when the price of eggs in Peterborough fell from the 65 to 70 cent level down to the accessible 50 cents price. Eggs last fall started ascending, 65, 70, 75 and 80 cents was reached and passed. At 90 and 95 they reached their peak and since the New Year slipped back to 70c., where they remained to the consternation of the egg-eating public and to the joy of the hen owners. The storekeepers, perhaps, were classed in with the public in their attitude against the high price of eggs for they did not sell as many during the regime of high prices.

During the latter part of last week the farmers were very much disconcerted to find that the buyers were offering them 45 cents for eggs. "Why?" they asked and were informed that the day of the five, six, seven and eight cent egg was over, that egg markets all over the continent had smashed. Still the buyers did not buy and five cents was lopped off, and at 50 cents the sale brisked up. This was the prevailing price, but as the baskets still remained full and the city buyers dwindled in numbers the basketeers cut their price to 48 and 45 cents as a final inducement.

Lost Money.

Simultaneously as the price was cut on the market storekeepers shut their eyes metaphorically and marked down their stocks of eggs to 50 cents, a price which was still prevailing in the stores to-day. One well-known grocer in the north end of the town told the Examiner to-day that he had lost $25 easily on eggs last week. "I had large stocks," he said. He bought eggs, he said, early last week at 65 and 70 cents and was nipped with a large stock of these high priced ones. On Saturday e said frankly they tried to get as much as they could to get out as easily as possible, but all the people would pay was 50 cents. On Friday they cut their price to 60 cents, he said, seeing the drop coming. He predicted a further drop in price. The markets all over America seemed clogged with eggs. The Chinese importations and the great production at home because of the warm weather, is responsible for the lowering of the price. Toronto and Montreal could buy eggs cheaper in the States so they refused to pay the high prices in this country, he added.

"I wouldn't be surprised if they go down to 45 cents," said a south end grocer. He had fortunately only had a small stock and lost only 75 cents. On Saturday they reduced their prices to 50 cents and were still selling to-day at that price.

Two downtown grocers were to-day selling at 50 cents. One looked for another drop, another expected a slight rise when the present stocks on the market were used up. In any event the trade in eggs is expected by all the grocers to pick up now, and as a body they are not sorry over the establishment of lower prices.

Butter remains quite steady and no decline is anticipated. June cheese is up from 35 to 40 cents a pound. September cheese still sells at 35 and 38 cents.

PRESENTATION TO REV. C. J. PHELAN

ST. PETER'S SODALITY RECOGNIZE SILVER JUBILEE.

On Sunday afternoon last, the members of St. Peter's Sodality presented Rev. Father C. J. Phelan with a bronze desk set and an address on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. The address was read by the President of the Society, Miss Amy Halpin, and Miss Rudkins presented him also with a beautifully illuminated spiritual bouquet. Father Phelan replied in suitable terms.

Father Phelan will celebrate his silver jubilee on Wednesday, Feb. 16th, with a High Mass to be sung at 10.30 at the Cathedral. Many of his friends and acquaintances will doubtless avail themselves of the opportunity to be present. Father Phelan, who holds office in various Catholic societies, has been also actively identified with the Peterborough Health Association for the last five years, is president of the Children's Aid Society and a member of the directorate of the Exhibition Board.

He has been in prison for a year, and passed through the ordeal of two trials at Barrie, the first jury disagreeing. The mystery, "who murdered returned soldier (Ironsides) on March 5, 1920?" is stil unsolved.

CO-ORDINATION OF CITY WELFARE WORK

PROPOSITION LAID BEFORE BOARD OF HEALTH BY MR. W. E. DYER —CONSERVE HEALTH OF CITY AND REDUCE MORTALITY.

This morning the Board of Health in its February session and transacted little of interest outside of routine business and a motion based on an address to the Board by Mr. W. E. Dyer, local superintendent of a prominent American insurance company, which is carying on an active welfare and public health work and seeking the city's co-operation to this end.

Mr. Dyer, who had taken this matter up previously with M.O.H. Young card before the Board certain information on a proposed co-ordination of the welfare work of Peterborough. He showed a commendable financial status for his company, including a large number of policies placed here in support of his contention that his institution is vitally interested in the health and weal of this community of over 25,000 souls. Among other suggestions for health conservation Mr. Dyer referred to the proposed establishment of a venereal disease clinic with a nurse in attendance; and he also pointed out that his own company maintained a nurse who last year made approximately 2,250 visits to their policy holders in cases of acute illness and in nection with childbirth. But, he added, it is felt that there were not so many pre-natal calls as there should have ben, which he hoped will in future be remedied by cooperation from a larger and better organization for this work to be developed shortly.

Mr. Dyer explained that his company's proposition had in view the reduction in mortality of mothers and babies, greater efficiency and bigger accomplishments in local welfare work generally. To this end the best brains money can buy would be available, and this city would be offered everything at the company's disposal that may help in a co-ordination of the Public Welfare Nursing Work as has been done in many other cities on this continent. In Toronto, he said, one hundred health nurses are employed, and the death rate has been reduced from 15 per 1,000 to 11.4 in ten years.

Mr. Dyer among other things, declared that any city of considerable population should have a full time medical health officer, and that in connection with the Welfare Work there should be a supervising nurse whose knowledge of the work and whose ability to organize were of the highest order.

May Co-operate

Mr. Dyer was given an attentive hearing and Mr. Mason moved that the chairman and Dr. Young examine into the work of this company, and see in what way co-operation in welfare work could be effected between it and the Board.

Stewart and Reynolds. The floor managers were Messrs. Jackson, Huston, Bennet, and Speirs. After dancing until midnight, the young ladies prepared a splendid luncheon, followed by more dancing until about four o'clock in the morning, when the party broke up. Mr. and Mrs. Warr were extended a hearty vote of thanks for their kind hospitality in opening up their house, and all went away feeling that they had spent the best evening of the year.

REVISION OF TARIFF WILL BE FEATURE

LITTLE OTHER IMPORTANT LEGIS FORECASTEDD IN SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

(Late Despatch; Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—The necessity for revision of the customs tariff was one of the main subjects dealt with by the Duke of Devonshire in the speech from the Throne at the opening of Parliament this afternoon. He stated that the conclusions arrived at by the Tariff Commission would be submitted to the members in due course. He stated that in such revision regard must be had to the necessities of revenue and as well that the principles of protection to Canadian labour and legitimate Canadian industries, including agriculture, must be consisently maintained. Customs duties imposed to that end, however, should be no higher than is essential to insure good living standards among the working population and to retain and make possible the normal expansion of industries. The speech from the Throne contained little that had not been forecasted. His Excellency congratulated Parliament on the prosperity of the country and its comparative freedom from unrest. Other legislation forecasted in the speech dealt with unemployment insurance and old age pensions. There will be a Bill for the repeal of the Conservatism Act, amendments to the Dominion Elections Act and Bills relating to Copyrights. Income and War Tax Act and amendments and scientific research.

HELE-FERGUSON RELATIONS ARE UNDER INQUIRY

ADMITTED MINISTERS OFTEN DISPOSED OF MATTERS WITHOUT RECORDS BEING KEPT.

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—The Timber Commission to-day devoted its morning session to an inquiry into the interior economy of the Department of Lands and Forests and the relation of Carl C. Hele, lately private secretary to Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Minister of Crown Lands. Deputy-Minister Grigg denied Justice Latchford's suggestion that his own position became largely a fiction after Mr. Hele came in. He admitted Ministers often disposed of matters without records being kept for the Deputy-Minister. The functions of the private secretary often overlapped those of the Deputy-Minister, and the private secretary could be appointed by a Minister as acting deputy, and was also secretary of the Department. Mr. Hele was such, for, as private secretary, he received $1,800, when made Deputy-Minister $2,500, and later $2,700, the office now paying $3,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—There was a regular bull market in wheat to-day. It is evident that the calendar theory of buying late in February has many adherents as there was considerable breath to the buying after the market opened. Much of the buying was construed as investment buying but shorts were run in and there were many stop loss orders to buy uncovered. The start was lower on sales by Common Houses. The strength in corn was a big factor in this market. A new estimate on the Australian surplus shows only 72,000,000 bushels available for export. This is a further reduction of 16,700,000 bushels and caused some investment buying. There was no export demand for wheat and the milling demand was not any thing to drag about. Mills were after soft wheat and paid 3½ cents over March for Number 2 Red South west reported freer marketing of wheat from the country. United States visible supply decreased 2983,000 bushels.

Corn exhibited much strength. The factor in this market was the broadening of export demand. Sales of 75,000,000 bushels were reported worked for export since the close of Friday. Local shippers sold 525,000 bushels to the seaboard. Export bids were 1-2 cent better than Friday. Exporters bidding 11 3-4 cents over may track Baltimore for No. 3 mixed corn shipment by next Friday and 11 1-2 cents over shipment. All February receipts were heavy and the United States visible supply increased 4,000,700 bushels last week. Cash basis was unchanged. Domestic shipping demand was poor. There was heavy buying of corn throughout the session.

Oats were affected by the general strength in all markets. Locals were good buyers and some commissions house demand was needed while selling pressure was light. Cash basis was unchanged. Eastern shipping demand was slow. United States visible supply increased 25,000 bushels.

Strength in hogs and grain gave the provision market a stronger tone. Cash demand for products is very slow.

UNION PRAYER SERVICE.

George street Methodist, Murray street Baptist and St. Paul's churches are uniting their prayer services on Wednesday evening and will all meet in George street church. The request has come from the W.C.T.U. that a part of the Wednesday evening service in all our churches be devoted to special prayer for the success of the coming referendum campaign. In view of the meeting of all citizens interested in this campaign Thursday evening in St. Paul's church, it seems fitting that such a meeting should be preceded by a united prayer service, such as is planned for Wednesday evening. The members of these three churches are asked to set aside Wednesday evening for united intercession for the blessing of God on the coming campaign for a dry Canada.

IRELAND CAN NOT SUCCEED BY VIOLENCE

KING GEORGE, IN OPENING PARLIAMENT, DECLARES NOTHING CAN BE GAINED BE THIS MEANS.

---"CAUSES ME DISTRESS"

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Violence will not solve the Irish problem, King George declared here to-day in his speech from the Throne to the two Houses of Parliament in formally opening the session. One of the outstanding sections of his address referred to Ireland, the King saying:

"The situation in Ireland still causes me distress. A misguided section of the Irish people persists in resorting to methods of criminal violence with the object of establishing an independent republic. Neither Irish unity nor Irish self government can be attained by this means."

FIVE PERISH IN FIRE ON A FARM

MOTHER AND FIVE CHILDREN RANGING IN AGE FROM TWO TO FOURTEEN YEARS.

(Canadian Press.)

MONCTON, N.B., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Oliver G. Steeves and five children perished this morning when their house on Niagara road, about three and a half miles from Moncton, was destroyed by fire. Mr. Steeves was in the barn at the time giving his stock their early morning feed. Returning, he found the house a mass of flames. The fire was too far advanced to rescue Mrs. Steeves and her five children, ranging in age from two to fourteen years.

NEW MARMORA SCHOOL IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

MARMORA, Feb. 15.—Marmora's new continuation school, which was opened last fall, was badly damaged by fire at noon yesterday. Fire started in the basement during the noon hour when there was no one in the building. The village fire protection system had been out of commission for some time owing to a wheel breaking at the pump. Therefore the only means of protection available to-day were two chemical engines and buckets. Fortunately there was a good supply of water in a cistern which was in the school and the flames were prevented from spreading to the second floor. tI is estimated that about $1,500 will cover the damage done to the building.

After agreeing to the demands of the people, the Nawab, (the Mohammedan ruler of the district), arrested the leaders in the movement, whereupon rioting broke out. IRA BURTCH FATALLY INJURED IN LONDON

SON OF MRS. JOHN BURTCH, PETERBORO, MET DEATH IN LODON, ONT.

Ira Burtch, who was almost instantly killed in London, Ont., Thursday last, when the cornice of a building collapsed, throwing him to the pavement 30 feet below, was a son of the late Mr. John Burtch and Mrs. Burtch, 301 King Street, Peterborough.

The late Ira Burtch, who was 50 years of age, is survived by his widowed mother, three brothers and five sisters. They are: Mrs. R. A. Dickinson, London, Ont.; Mrs. C. R. Wheaton, Saskatoon, Sask.; Mrs. Adjt. Wm. Hood (who with her husband have been doing missionary service in India and Burma, and are at present furloughing in Peterborough); Misses Ida and Amelia Butch, Peterborough; Mr. Lewis Burtch, Peterborough; David Burtch, Kingston; Reuben Burtch, Watertown, N.Y.

Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Ira Burtch in her great sorrow. Their eldest son, Ira Burtch, aged 21, was killed in action in France on Sept. 2nd, 1918.

The late Ira Butch met his death while engaged with I. Thompson, a fellow-employee of the Signry Company, London, in hanging a large sign in front of the Canadian Ladies' Wear Company's store, near Waterloo Street.

According to the story told by Mr. Thompson, Mr. Butch was on a ladder resting against the cornice of the two-story building, and engaged in fastening a heavy iron pole to support the sign, into the bricks. His companion, standing below, sought to test the strength of the arm by tugging on some ropes suspended from the end. With the first pull, and without the slightest warning, the tapestry brick cornice, which stood two feet higher than the roof, gave way, and hundreds of bricks crashed to the pavement below. Mr. Butch was thrown from the ladder and fell amid the wreckage.

The injured man was rushed to the Victoria Hospital, but expired before reaching there.

Deceased was a Mason, and well-known and esteemed in London.

CANADIAN DOLLAR AT NEW York to-day ..... 88.03 cts.

THE OFFICIAL COUNT GIVES GORDON 4093

SHERIFF'S RETURNS MADE YESTERDAY ALTER THE FIGURES SLIGHTLY BUT NOT THE STANDING.

TOTAL VOTE OF 13,003

The official results of the West Peterboro bye-election now available are:

Gordon	4093
Denne	2811
Burnham	2595
Campbell	2[illegible]9
McMurray	1103

As previously published by the Examiner they were:—

Gordon	4091
Denne	2817
Burnham	2582
Campbell	2304
McMurray	1075

These figures from the official count made at the Sheriff's office late yesterday afternoon. Each ballot box was opened by the Deputy Sheriff, Fred Hall and the five separate envelopes containing each candidates votes, the poll book, the statement of the vote and the deputy returning officer's account taken out. The figures in the statement were entered in the official return by Miss Nan Hall, daughter of Sheriff Hall and the fat ballot envelopes placed into large canvas mail bags ready for their Ottawa journey by the deputy sheriff. Ald Whitehouse was the only witness of the procedure besides the Examiner representative.

Box Missing.

The first box was opened at 2.30 and by 4 o'clock the returning officer's official return was filled in. Everything operated smoothly until Poll 39 came to he entered. To the consternation of the Sheriff and his assistants no ballot box for North Monaghan Town Hall could be found. Mr. Hall was convinced the precious box had been returned but it could not be found. However all anxiety was soon allayed when Ald. Whitehouse unearthed the box underneath the pile of opened ones. With every division accounted for it was only a matter of addition and the figures above were arrived at at 4.25 o'clock by the Deputy Sheriff.

Analysis of Vote.

According to the official figures there were 31 rejected ballots and 62 spoiled ones.

The total number of votes polled was 13,003 counting the spoiled ones. Of the legal vote of 12,921, 7475 were cast in the city as follows:

Gordon	2858
Denne	1986
Burnham	1739
McMurray	574
Campbell	318

Five thousand four hundred and forty six voters voted in the country. Campbell led the field with 2001. Gordon came second with 1235. Burnham next with 856. Denne secured 825 and McMufray 529

These figures must be accepted as correct for no one is calling for a recount. They, on analysis, show that the country turned out en masse to exercise their franchise but in the city just a little better than 50 per cent. of the voters cast a ballot. If the franchise was limited what a resounding protests would be heard but the voting indicates that the franchise is not yet as fully appreciated as it should be representing as it does the voice of a person in public affairs. Does the vote in this bye-election indicate that the people of the country many of them living far from the heart and centre of things take more seriously the serious business of sending a representative to Ottawa than their city cousins? Had the urban part of the riding voted as the country did fully five thousand more votes would have been cast.

"BOB" ROGERS GOES GUNNING FOR GOV'T

(Specail to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—As usual, Hon. Robert Rogers, former Minister of Public Works, was present at the opening of Parliament yesterday, sizing up the situation and viewing the new Parliament buildings, which he considers his personal monument.

He is frankly against the government and is attempting persuade his former Conservative colleagues to join him in resurrecting the Conservative party, from what he considers the grave of unionism.

He talked with great frankness with the newspapermen to-day. Speaking of the outcome in West Peterborough, he stated: "There is no mistaking the voice of the electorate of Peterborough. They have spoken in tones louder than thunder demanding immediate return to party government, demanding the discontinuance in Canada of political obstetrics, demanding real political surgery, demanding a major operation that will save Canada from the menace of the noxious growth of manipulators of war profiteers and their solicitors." He was disappointed that J. H. Burnham was not returned from Peterborough.

SOUTHAMS NOT TO BUY TORONTO WORLD

(Canadian Press.)

Clarkson, of the firm of Clarkson, Forber and Dillworth, liquidators of The World newspapers. "There is absolutely nothing in it," he declared.

"Are there any negotiations under way?"

"There are certain negotiations now on, but I can't say anything as to them. They are not with the Southam interests, however."

THE BRITISH MINISTRY TO FACE CRISIS

OPPOSITION TO THE LLOYD GEORGE COALITION GOVERNMENT AND DISCONTENT INCREASING.

TEST BEFORE SUMMER.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—New political alignments and proposal of legislative and government issues of tremendous import to the people of Great Britain were foreshadowed when Parliament re-assembled here to-day after a recess of seven weeks. The opposition to the Lloyd George ministry and the discontent with many of the policies it has pursued in the recent past, semed to have reached a climax and it appeared that the stability of the cabinet would be given its crucial test before the final adjournment of the session next summer. Attacks on the Government seemed certain to centre about Ireland and the plans of the Premier for the future government of the Irish people. Several former supporters of the coalition government were among those who were most bitter in their comments on the Irish situation and appeared to be united with the opposition.

FORGOT TO PAY A LOCAL BOARD BILL

STRONG ARM OF THE LAW REACHES OUT WITH GOOD RESULTS.

R. S. Avery of Toronto, was arrested in the Queen City on Sunday night by Detective W. Meagher of the local force on the charge of "jumping a board bill" at the Munro House and to-day he appeared before Magistrate Dumble. The charge from the Criminal Code was that having run in debt to Mrs. Bertha Munro proprietress of the Munro House he surreptitiously left without paying the said bill amounting to $129.25. Early in September the prisoner who is employed by the Art Studios, came to Peterboro with his crew of five men and started operations with the Munro House as their headquarters Mrs. Munro was not paid for their board and to-day Avery admitted he forgot to pay the board bill and was ready to make restitution. Costs of $19.35 were included in the Magistrate's judgment. Avery said he would have to find the money in Toronto and in the meantime he will have to secure bail to the extent of two hundred dollars.

GEM THIEVES, OPERATING WITH DRUGS, TERRORIZING PLAYGROUND OF EUROPE

(Cross-Atlantic News Service.)

NICE, Feb. 15.—Police along the Riviera are seeking a daring gang of gem thieves who have terrorised the resorts. Their latest and biggest haul was from one of the largest hotels, where they drugged an American diplomat and his wife, and got away with over two thousand dollars' worth of jewels and money. The jewels were hidden in a secret drawer in a desk, while the money was in a drawer of a table.

Owners of fine jewels who are vacationing along the Riviera are taking great precautions now, and there is a small army of the best detectives from all the capitals of Europe here on guard.

D'ANNUNZIO IS TO BE MARRIED

(Cross-Atlantic News Service.)

VIENNA, Feb. 15.—Gabriel d'Annunzio, formerly dictator of Fiume, is about to be married. His bride, it is reported here, is to be Luizolla Baccara, the noted Venetian pianist, who was his guest at the Fiume Government Palace, where she was addressed as "Highness" and lived in Royal state with military guard.

D'Annunzio's first marriage to the Duchess of Callese was ended by divorce. He is now living in seclusion in one of the old palaces here, and refuses to see even his most intimate friends.

HOUSE READY TO COMMENCE THE SESSION

LIBERALS HELD CAUCUS THIS MORNING TO CONSIDER POLICY AND RESOLUTIONS ARE CROPPING UP.

CRERAR STILL IN WEST

(Canadian Press).

OTTAWA, Feb. 15. — Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressives, will probably not take his seat until Monday morning. He is expected to reach Ottawa on Sunday. Hon. Mr. Crerar is in Winnipeg attending the sessions of the Agricultural Council of Canada.

The first caucus of the session was held by the Liberal members at 11.30 o'clock this morning. There was a full attendance, and questions of the policy affecting legislation to come up during the session were discussed.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux would have a special committee appointed to go over the estimates before they are laid on the table of the House of Commons. The move for that reform which has been made in the House in previous session is renewed by Mr. Lemieux in a resolution of which he has given notice.

Pensions to widowed mothers are the subject of a resolution which is to be introduced in the Commons by C. G. Power, South Quebec. Mr. Power proposes to amend the Pensions Act so as to provide that the pension of a widowed mother of a member of the forces who has died on active service shall not be reduced on account of her income, and, further, a pension shall be granted her of right whether or not there are other living children.

The amounts paid the Government by cold storage and packing establishments will be stated in the House on Wednesday in reply to questions filed by Joseph Archambault. Mr. Archambault is asking information as to the total amounts collected under the excess profits law, under the Order-in-Council of March 9, 1918, fixing profits of such houses and cold storage plants, names of firms who have paid and the date and amounts of payments.

URGES CO-OPERATION CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION HELD MONTHLY MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association was held in St. Paul's Church last evening. President Chapman was in the chair. A splendid programme was rendered. The chief feature of the evening was an address by Dr. Graham, of Toronto. In a forceful manner he made a plea for greater unity and co-operation of the Christian bodies, stressing especially the value of social service work. At the close of his address a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Dr. Graham and all who participated in the programme.

The following resolution was then enthusiastically carried:

"Resolved that the Ministerial Association expresses great pleasure in the faithful and successful operation of the Deep Sea Mission Committee of this city, and pledge their hearty support to this committee in their annual appeal to the people of Peterborough for contributions to the great work of Dr. Wilfred Grenfell."

At the close of the business a social hour was enjoyed. Dainties from tables decorated with roses and smilax were served. Thus a pleasant and profitable evening was brought to a close.

KINGSTON MAN HAS FIGHT WITH THREE MASKED BANDITS.

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 15.—That he was called from his bed about one a.m., and met at his door by three masked men who demanded money is the story told by a young married man, named Bovey, living on Pine Street, to the police and the latter are investigating. Bovey says that he succeeded in tearing off the mask worn by one man. This is now in the possession of the police. Bovey says that when he tore the mask off the three men made off.

URGE REFORM LEGISLATION

BOARD OF TRADE PROTESTS AGAINST QUESTIONABLE AMUSEMENTS AND WOULD CHANGE ELECTION DAY.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS

More enthusiasm on matters of civic interest was noted at the well attended general meeting of the Board of Trade held last evening, presided over by Mr. Edgar Worth.

A report from Fire, Water and Light Committee included the following resolution, which was passed unanimously:

"Whereas, it is a recommendation embodied in the February, 1919, report of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association,

"And Whereas, the cost of installation will be insignificant in comparison with the benefits derived therefrom,

"Therefore Resolved, that we, the Board of Trade, assembled in general meeting on February 14th, 1921, strongly urge the City Council of the City of Peterborough to make necessary arrangements as early as possible to instal a system of red lights for the fire alarm boxes throughout the city."

Mr. J. John gave a vivid description of the accident which occurred at Inverlea Park, and suggested that some public recognition should be made of the bravery and courage of the rescuers of Leslie Hoyland. A resolution was adopted by the meeting that a communication of the incident should be forwarded to the Royal Humane Society explaining the accident, and suggested that action should be taken by that body to publicly recognize the courageous services of Iris Payne and Arthur Sayer, and also that a letter of condolence be forwarded to the parents of the deceased girl, Enid Pakenham.

Questionable Amusements.

Owing to the demoralizing character of some of the side-shows travelling with the various carnivals throughout Ontario, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas the questionable amusements which attend the weekly shows of the travelling carnival type do not tend to good education or the upbuilding of character, and are thereby detrimental to the best interests of citizenship,

"Therefore Resolved, that we, the Board of Trade, assembled in general meeting on February 14th, 1921, strongly urge that the Provincial Government take necessary action to forbid any questionable amusements, particularly those travelling with weekly shows and carnivals, to be shown in Ontario, and that a copy of the above be forwarded to the Hon. E. C. Drury, Premier of Ontario, the Hon. W. E. Raney, K.C., Attorney-General, and J. E. Rogers, Esq., Superintendent of the Ontario Provincial Police, the City Council, and the Township Council of North Monaghan."

Municipal Election Day.

The suggestion from the Executive Council of the Board to amend the Municipal Act, so as to change the municipal election day from New Year's Day to the first Monday in December, came in for considerable discussion.

It was unanimously decided that New Year's Day was most inconvenient for the citizens to cast their vote, but no definite decision could be arrived at as to the alternative date which would be most satisfactory to the electorate Further investigations will be made by the Board, and recommendation will be made at the annual meeting on March 8th.

INCREASED TELEPHONE RATES IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Business Interests and Public Suffer Attack of "Telephonitis."

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Febraury 15. — While several Canadian cities have been the scenes of lively controversy over increases in street railway fores. Great Britain has its bone of dispute in an increase of telephone rates.

The business interests and general public have suffered an attack of what some call "telephonitis" as a result of an announcement by the Postmaster-General that he would increase the telepohne charges on April 1st to present subscribers and immediately to new subscribers.

These increases are based on a report of a select committee of the House of Commons and call for an annual rental of eight pounds, ten shillings against the old charge of five pounds. The present fee of three pence (six pence) at a public call box will remain for short distances, but longer distances will be proportionately increased. These charges have to be made to meet an estimated charge of 10,000,000 pounds sterling for this year, or an increase of 147 per cent. over the pre-war rates.

The volume of criticism which the first official statement called forth has since grown considerably and not only have resolutions of protest been sent to the government from every chamber of commerce in the country, but combined action is being taken by the various chambers with a view to some alleviation of what is called the "iniquitous" imposition of higher charges for a service which is admittedly inefficient.

Some are even advocating a boycott but conservative opinion inclines to the belief that this would seriously injure the service in the future.

A deputation representing the press of Great Britain protested to the Postmaster-General but received but little encouragement. The Postmaster pointed out that wages in the department had trebled and the cost of the plant more than doubled. The expenditure of the department in 1913-14 was 5,952,000 pounds sterling, and in 1920-21 aggregated 14,600,000 pounds.

It is claimed by the business community that since the government took over the telephone service from the National Telephone Company, which paid a dividend of 6 per cent, the service has grown increasingly inefficient and expensive, and the very strongest efforts are being made towards a postponement of the proposed increases until the whole matter has been inquired into and debated in Parliament.

The chief cause of contention is the abolition of the old flat rate of five pounds yearly with unlimited calls, and the imposition of a sliding scale of charges which will mean a heavy addition to the bills of commercial houses throughout the United Kingdom.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She Mixed Sulphur With it to Restore Youthfulness. store Color, Gloss.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

PRESENTATION AT BONNER-WORTH.

Yesterday afternoon the employees of the reeling room, at the Bonner-Worth factory, gathered together and presented Mrs. J. Carr with a beautiful brass jardiniere. The following address was read, after which Mrs. Carr thanked them one and all in a few brief words:

Dear Mrs. Carr—

It is with sincere regret that we, your workmates, of the reeling dept., Bonner-Worth Mills, have learned that you have decided to leave us for other empolyment.

While you have been with us we have always found you a cheerful and helpful worker and shall miss you very much.

In token of our regard for you we would ask you to accept this gift and trust that it will remind you of the time you were one of us at the Bonner-Worth. Signed on behalf of the Reeling Dept.—G. Woodgate, M. Willshaw.

SAY!

Did you see the crowd carrying home the Elliot Stock since the SELLING-OUT SALE Opened on Saturday Morning! or Did you share in the opening feast of bargains in Ladies' Wear that the big offering provided?

Remember, a $40,000.00 stock cannot be handed out in single purchases in a day, or a week, perhaps not in several weeks, but we will do our utmost to clear every shelf and rack in the store in the very shortest possible time. We face a stunning loss to force a quick clean-up of everything, but we do not hesitate a moment. Our factory demands our entire time. While we linger over this clearance of our retail stock, work of great importance in the factory is neglected. We can't pause to consider such matters as costs or profit. Our one urgent object is to have the goods transferred from our store to your homes. If we could do it in one week we would. The bargains are certainly good enough to do it.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 14.—Mrs. Robt. Watson was the guest of friends in Peterborough last week.

Mrs. F. J. Burgess is visiting friends in Lindsay.

Miss Traill, who is spending the winter in Peterborough, was in the village last week with friends.

Miss Kathleen Trevor, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Webster last week.

Mr. A. E. Dawson has returned from a business trip to North Bay and other northern points.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mackay and son, of Edmonton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stabler last week.

Mr. Thompson Braden was in Lindsay Friday on business.

Mr. S. A. Grylls, of Toronto, is a week-end visitor at his home in the village.

Mr. A. Weddell, of Peterborough, was in the village on Friday.

Miss Mona Fortier spent the week-end in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Mullen left last week for Toronto, where they will reside in future.

Miss Hampton was in Peterborough on Saturday.

Miss Corkery spent the week-end with her parents in Peterborough.

Miss Mollie Thomson, of Peterborough, was a week-end visitor in the village.

Miss Alice Hill, of Peterborough, spent the week-end with her parents in the village.

Mrs. J. H. Chant returned on Saturday from a fortnight's visit to friends in Toronto.

Mrs. J. M. Simpson has been called to Penetauguishene, owing to the serious illness of her mother.

Mrs. W. G. Stone, of Burleigh, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Sanderson.

Presented With Purse.

At the annual business meeting of the Baptist Church, held recently, Miss Minnie Stabler was presented with a purse of money as a token of appreciation for her faithful service as financial secretary, an office which she has held for some years. The financial statement was gratifying in the extreme, as the books showed all liabilities paid and a nice surplus. The meeting wound up with a social, which was much enjoyed by all.

Proud of Curlers.

Lakefield is very proud of her curlers, who have brought fresh honors to that time-honored institution — the Lakefield Curling Club. Reeve J. C. Strickland's rink brought back handsome trophies, but no rink entered in the bonspiel received higher honor than the young old men, who were affectionately termed "Lakefield's Colts." Very few places could produce such a rink, and their record at the bonspiel proves their merit at the "roarin' game."

Fifth Card Party.

The fifth of the series of card parties under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. took place on Thursday evening last, and was a great success. Each of these parties is more successful than the one preceding it, according to those who have been privileged to attend the whole series. Miss M. Hampton won the lady's prize, and Messrs. R. Duff and A. Wannamaker were tied for the gentleman's prize, so the matter was settled by playing off, which made Mr. Duff the winner. Mr. Webster Blewett won the consolation prize.

Lakefield Brotherhood.

The first weekly meeting of the Lakefield Brotherhood, as the newly formed young men's association is called, was held in the Methodist Church Parlours on Thursday evening last, and was attended by seventeen enthusiastic members. The idea is to unite all the young men of the village and vicinity in greater social fellowship. The club will support all lines of outdoor sport and hope to have strong teams in baseball and football and a live wire canoe club and tennis club as well as a track team. Though the Brotherhood is under the auspices of the Methodist Church, membership is open to every young man of the village. A literary and debating society will also be formed. Weekly meetings will be held every Thursday evening in the basement of the Methodist Church at 8 o'clock, and a Sunday morning service will be held at 10 o'clock every Sunday.

The following officers were elected: Hon. President—Rev. S. F. Dixon.
President—R. A. Hirsh.
1st Vice-President—R. A. Payne.
2nd Vice-President—A. E. Partridge.
Secretary—R. E. Green.
Treasurer—George Sherin.
Pianists—K. S. Madill and F. Erskine.

Good Sleighing.

The snowfall of Friday made very good sleighing, and the farmers took advantage of it to bring in wood, etc., in their sleighs. The procession of wood sleighs was a service of great joy to the small fry, who thoroughly enjoyed lots of "bobs" on Friday and Saturday.

Just one or two little tablets of real organic phosphate dispensed in drug stores under the name of Bitro-Phosphate taken with each meal is probably just what you need to cause you to jump out of bed in the morning eager for the industrial battle of the day.

EDUCATION BY THE IGNORANT

(By G. K. CHESTERTON)

(Copyright, 1921, by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service, Inc.)

Needless to say, the notion that people can be classified, according to how many of them have learned to read, only serves to show how few of them have learned to think. The test of illiteracy is obviously unphilosophical, and as a matter of fact it is also unpractical. It is unpractical in the cases where it may be applied in practice; as in the admission of aliens to the American Union. It is very dangerous to make it the test of a citizen that he can sign his own name, when he may possibly carry the accomplishment to such perfection as to be able to sign other peoples'; it is very short-sighted to erect a barrier that may keep out a farmer and let in a forger. Nevertheless, I imagine that most of us can see the importance of reading and writing in their place; and that we should like them taught to everybody everywhere. We have heard less about the illiteracy of the Russian peasantry since it has become a useful tool of a Jewish despotism instead of a Russian despotism; but I have no doubt that it has encouraged some elements of secrecy; and autocracy in the methods of both. Anyhow, any reasonable man will agree that the symbols of Cadmus ought to be common, like the fire of Prometheus, and (I will add) the vine of Dionysus; and that after that fashion every man ought to be a man of letters.

But the modern position about education is much more peculiar than this. It is much more particularist and even sectarian. It is a good thing to learn the alphabet; but the tone of current culture concerns something much more special than learning the alphabet, even if it were, as its name implies, the Greek alphabet. It is something much nearer to the nature of the dumb alphabet.

Indeed, we may roughly say that most modern education consists of deaf-mutes teaching the dumb alphabet to people who can talk. This may seem a hasty and hostile summary; but I do not say it merely in haste or mean it merely as hostility. Many deaf mutes I have known have been intensely intelligent people, and have contrasted favorably with many talkers who were deaf without being mute. The dumb alphabet was really a remarkable and ingenious system, like the Morse code of signalling, which may be regarded as a gigantic dumb alphabet. The modern science of lip-reading is even more marvellous; and nobody who has seen even a little of the elementary training for the deaf and dumb, as I did in Battersea, can doubt the skill and devotion that sustains it. There is nothing to be said against all these arts and accomplishments and systems, except that they all admittedly founded on a defect, that they only arise of that defect, and only address themselves to supplying that defect. But it would be a queer state of affairs if they began to be applied to people who did not suffer from the defect. It would be interesting to see a husband and wife sitting opposite each other at the breakfast table and signalling in the Morse manner, with little flags and angular movements of the arms, as if they had plugs in their ears or gags in their ouths. It would be singular, if a mob, listening to the deafening voice of some demagogue, were nevertheless all provided with small field glasses to follow his speech by the laws of lip-reading. Al this would gradually and gently impress our minds with the idea that some mistake was being made; and the mistake would be forgetting the fact that all this efficiency was supposed to arise out of a defect.

Now all that special modern machinery which we csll education arose out of a defect, or rather out of a decay. It got finally to work towards the middle of the nineteenth century, as the first reaction against the collapse that had followed the congestion and competition that had been the first experiment of the century. Men had stampeded to the great cities, throwing away their agricultural traditions and they made a concerted attempt to live without traditions and even without agriculture It rapidly became apparent that this last step ofprogress had been rather a rash one, and that the next step of progress might be a step over a precipice.

For there is something apparent here, something I have often noted before, but something that can hardly be noted too often; for it is at once the nearest and the most neglected fact of human history. Our movement since the Reformation has not only been a steady progress, but it has not been even a steadfast marking of time; it has not been even an orderly retreat. It has been a series of false start in different directions, each followed by so striking a failure that it was admitted by the next generation to be a failure. We dived into the dark and bottomless well of Calvanism, on a logical assurance tha ttruth lay at the bottom of the well. We not only found ourselves in a hole, but we had to get out of the hole. We attempted a sort of anthropoid ascent in the aboreal manner represented by Darwin. We not only found ourselves up a tree, but we had to come down again. So the young man of the type and time of Tennyson in "Locksley Hall," was encouraged by the spirit of the age to leave his father's field, "seeing in heaven the lights of London flaring like a dreary dawn," and longing to join the mob of men, his brothers, "men the workers ever working something new." Unfortunately it gradually dawned on him that the dawn was indeed a usually dreary dawn. Men were indeed working something new; but the new thing was the New Poor Law and the New Bastille, and all the new cruelties and perversiosns of capitalism. But when men had created this chaos, it became obvious that it must turn into some sort of cosmos, to that which God hadmade. Men who had lost the stars must have some kind of lamppost; and men who had lost tradition must have some kind of instruction. Therefore, to recur to the first figure of speech, an artificial system of signs had to be substituted for the old oral tradition of humanity. The poor in the slums were dumb with misery, and deafened with machinery. And the deaf mutes had to be approached with the dumb alphabet of education. Methods abnormally strained and specialistic ahd to be employed to get the mind to move at all. The public school had to be not so much an infant school as an idiot school.

It is true that in England the conditions were complicated by the fact that the freest and most popular agricultural traditions were already destroyed by the great pillage; and that we had to do not with peasants but with agricultural laborers. But, as a matter of fact, nobody took the smallest trouble to consider even the traditions of agricultural laborers. Indeed, nobody even inquired whether they had any. Those who set out to teach the laborers would have laughed at the very suggestion of learning from the laborers. And yet we have the best possible proof that there was a great deal to learn. Thes uneducated people still retained the very thing that educated people are now trying in vain to recover. They drank out of the old china and the old pewter which the aesthetes now think too precious to be used for drinking. We venerate in the museum the very things we drove out of the home; and when we ourselves threw a thing on to the dustbin, we are thankful to find it in the old curiosity shop. The same is true, of course, of a thousand rules of thumb from thatching to watching the weather; and indirect instruction would be no substitute, even if it were meant for a substitute. Modern children are sent for a day in the country where they might have passed all their days. Modern children are actually taken for a thing called anature walk. But even a nature walk was once quite natural.

All this is or ought to be familiar; but a new fact has now appeared which is much more menacing. In a movement like that of the town Jews of Russia against the religion of all the peasantries, we have all this instruction by the ignorant supported not only by ordinary officialdom, but by ordinary militarism. We have all this bad education becoming in a new and special way compulsory education.

Along these lines any education act may become a coercion act; not in the milder sense in which it is a coercion act in England, where the poor often obey the arrangements of the plutocracy without waiting for the mobilization of police; but rather in the grim sense of a coercion act in Ireland, which has to be applied not so much by a police force as by an army. The townsmen will attempt to free the people of the country from the peculiar evils of the town. They will attempt to apply an urban remedy, and find, even if they succeed, that they have succeeded by first spreading an urban disease. They will destroy the substitutes that they do not understand, or rather they will destroy the original sanities for which they themselves have only the substitutes. They will be like men who should sweep away the whole of the dairy produce of a rich country-side, in order to introduce some particular and probably inferior brand of margarine. These educationists have always neglected such natural resources and natural remedies; and tyhe reason is simple enough. It is because these educationalists are themselves uneducated. But in their new militaristic mood they will not only neglect but destroy.

In short, we may say, as in the previous parable, that the deaf mutes may not only impose the dumb alphabet, but persecute every other sort of alphabet. The deaf mutes have many of the qualities required in one of the recent revolutionary oligarchies. They are a minority; and such a modern movement always comes from a minority. The dumb alphabet might very well serve as a secret langugae; and such an oligarchy has almost always begun as a secret society. Many stories have been written about spies, who learned a great deal about other pe9ople's business by means of lip-reading. And such a movement generally contains a considerable proportion of spies. We are used to such reformers who think their own defective language a sufficient substitute for every other language. But when we meet the reformer walkin gabout with a large knife, and proposing to cut out everybody's tongue as a useless organ like the appendix, we may possibly begin to bestir ourselves.

NEW DRUG COMES TO PETERBORO'

The Only Drug Known that Acts Directly on the Liver. Your Liver is the Cause of 99% of the Ills Susceptibe to the Human System.

Tanated Calomel, the new drug, is accomplishing wonderful results with people who have been troubled with aches and pains. Why is it doing such wonders? Well! Because it is the only drug known that acts on the Liver.

You no doubt have been taking all kinds of medicines from time to time, but with only temporary results. The reason you get no permanent results is because these laxatives, kidney pills, tonics, etc., do not act upon the Liver, and you cannot keep your Bowels, Kidneys or Stomach regular if the Liver is clogged up and fails to function its part.

Tanated Calomel acts on the Liver, causing it to excrete bile into the Bowels, causing a natural discharge of the refuse.

You cannot be healthy, strong and vigorous when your Liver is not working. Your system soon becomes poisoned with refuse from Bowels. This poison naturally goes to the weakest organ of the body—maybe your Stomach, Kidneys, Blood, etc.—causing Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Kidney Trouble, etc., making you feel drowsy, weak and tired.

Tanated Calomel is very different from all forms of Calomel. It is very quickly taken up by system and acts on Liver in very few minutes after taking. No salts, seidletz or castor oil are necessary to remove it from system, as it is self eliminating.

Doctors recommend that you take one tablet of Tanated Calomel about 15 minutes before eating, which gives the system a chance to assimilate it before taking food.

F. C. Webber is the Agent for Tanated Calomel.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1921.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

Beyond the announcement that a revision of the tariff following the inquiry by Sir Henry Drayton's commission will be submitted during the present session, the speech from the Throne delivered at the opening of Parliament yesterday did not indicate a very lengthy programme of new legislation. As heralded in Ottawa despatches a few days ago, the Commission of Conservation is to be abolished, the functions for which it was created to be assumed by the different departments of the Government. The trade agreement with the British West Indies is to be submitted for the approval of the House and there will be bills amending the Dominion Elections Act, relating to copyrights, the simplification of the Income War Tax and other matters of this kind. If the speech from the Throne were to be relied upon as an accurate summary of the proceedings of the House, the present session might be regarded as a comparatively uninteresting one. But the people of Canada are not so much concerned on this occasion with the legislation to be produced as they are with the political developments that may take place during the session, and in the tactics to be adopted by the Government and Opposition forces. The address does not, of course, touch upon the maze of rumours that are setting the country agog, but they are, nevertheless, the real feature of the session.

THE MACBRIDE CASE.

The action of the Independent Labour Party in reading M. M. MacBride, M.P.P., out of the party several weeks after he had deserted his Labour colleagues on his own account, strike the Brantford member as somewhat of a joke, and his opinion will be shared by a good many others. This Mr. MacBride is not noted for his imitation of a shrinking violet, and yet there is much in his remarks that strike home. In his charge that the Labour group in the Legislature are more afraid of embarrassing the Government than they are anxious about advancing labour legislation, he hits his former colleagues in a very vulnerable spot. Undoubtedly they have had to scrap some of the planks of their platform, especially the eight-hour day question, because an attempt on their part to pass these measures would place the Government of which their group forms a section, in a very awkward position and so, for political expediency they have shelved some of their Labour principles. There is no doubt of the wisrom of their course in this respect, but at the same time, from a Labour standpoint, they have left themselves wide open to attack, and Mr. MacBride has found no trouble in locating the weak spot in their armor. The honours of the first clash go to the man from Brantford, who taunts the Independent Labour Party with the remarks that the result in West Peterborough shows that the organization is "on its way to the cemetery."

STARTLING TESTIMONY.

The testimony given by Albert Griggs, Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests, before the timber probe yesterday as to the lack of method and system in the administration of the Department, furnishes a striking commentary upon the way in which public business is transacted. It is not very pleasant information for the people of Ontario to learn that the system of book-keeping in vogue in the Lands Department would be "a disgrace to a country grocery store," and that it has been in force since before Confederation, without any material improvement. Imagine a department so badly disorganized that the Deputy Minister has never had time to find out whether or not it was being operated at a profit, a department conducted in no way like a modern business concern and lacking system, cohesion and ambition to such an extent that Mr. Griggs declares that he has no objective but to get out of the job "because it is so impossible under existing conditions for a deputy to put any life in it." If the Deputy Minister's evidence is correct, and there is no reason to doubt it, every administration that has been in power in Ontario must accept a share of the blame for the system of which he complains has been kept in force by each succeeding government. A re-organization would seem to be long overdue. A thorough clearing out of the department, the superannuation of the older employees, the dismissal of the dead wood among the remaining members of the staff, the institution of modern methods of accounting and the building up of a system that would at least enable the department heads to know whether or not the department is being operated at a profit are steps that are absolutely necessary in the light of Mr. Grigg's evidence.

THE BUDGET.

Hon. Peter Smith, the Provincial Treasurer, is expected to bring down his Budget this afternoon and the Opposition groups are counting upon finding much ammunition in the figures for attacks upon the Government's administration of the Province's finances. The expenditures in a number of departments as tabled in the public accounts last week are larger than ever before, and in view of the fact that economy in public business is one of the planks in the platform of the Farmers' Party, the Provincial Treasurer will have to do some very skilful explaining to convince the Opposition that the huge expenditures of the past year were justifiable.

Hon. Peter Smith was not responsible for the Budget presented at the last session, for it represented the financial operations of the Hearst Government, but the figures he brings down to-day are his own, and the Government must take full responsibility for them. Evidently the U.F.O. legislators are finding that many things have a different look from the inside, for even Government House, the cost of the maintenance of which drew horrified exclamations whenever mentioned at a farmers' meeting, drew a larger appropriation than usual last year.

ROBBED WIDOW'S HOME.

COBOURG, Feb. 14.—Police Magistrate Horsey, of Bowmanville, sent Henry Reid, 24 years of age, to serve six months in jail here for housebreaking. It is alleged that prisoner was caught rifling the bureau drawers in a widow's house.

AN IMPOSSIBLE WAR.

People all over the British Empire, all over the world, according to a report which has been disclaimed but not denied, are wondering what made the British Government call every correspondent, representing an American newspaper or news service to Whitehall, and tell them regarding Great Britain and the United States that "we are treading the path leading to war." Very grave reasons must have led to such an unusual procedure. It must be remembered that Great Britain has very special means of gathering secret information and that her people have like all nations, an awful regret that they did not heed the warnings of th late Lord Roberts as to the Hun preparations for war.

It will occur to any one who follows events at all closely, that there is a determined element in the United States, whose great aim has been to stir up deadly enmity between the British Empire and that country. The notorious Hearst leads this, while the Huns, and a certain section of Irish-Americans—not by any means all—aid and abet him. Whether they intend to try to force war is a matter which most people do not feel justified in declaring a decided opinion upon, but at all events the Hearst press is not backward in pressing for a big American navy, one which will outclass that of Great Britain, and for the maintenance of a large American army. They press for these, they describe the Motherland as seeking to oppress not only the United States, but the whole world, and use every abominable lie they can think of to stir up such feelings as in past days could only, at some time produce war. They are using Ireland as a catspaw.

It may be that it is all this which has made the British Government make this statement. It may be that in addition to any special information it may pass the British Government as an onlooker can see more clearly than the Government and the people of the United States where the men we have referred to are leading that country to if they be not shown up in all their horrid ambition. It is to be hoped that this is the correct view, that it will awaken the American people to what is going on. Not that there is any real fear of war btween the two countries. Such a war is an impossible one so far as human thought at the present time can judge. The British Government says that there are no disputes between the two countries which cannot be settled diplomatically; that without doubt is the view of the great mass of American people and they can be trusted to see that there shall be no war.—Kingston Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Independent Labour Party is a little late in reading M. M. McBride out of the Party He seems to have already done that for himself.

The Toronto police made forty-one arrests for gambling on Sunday, but the records look as if they might have been better employed in stopping the hold-ups and robberies reported over the week-end.

Whatever may be thought of Premier Drury's "broadening out" policy, the manner in which the Provincial expenditures hav "broadened out" call for a word or two of explanation.

There is a telephone in Canada for every eleven people. It generally seems to the individual, however, that some one of the other ten is always on the line.

300 unemployed men were refused the privilege of sleeping in a New York church. And yet some of the congregation doubtless sleep there every Sunday.

Labour group are more afraid of em- Laboru group are more afraid of embarrassing the Ontario Government than they are anxious to enact Labour legislation. And the member for Brantford is not far from the mark.

Kipling must have been thinking of the Meighen Government when he wrote:

"If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on."

Bolshevism is the loose nut in the cogs of the human machine.

Drury's broadening out policy is already evident in the expenditures column of the public accounts.

After all it does seem most descriptive in many cases to refer to Cabinet possibilities as "timber."

Pride is a form of stiff neck acquired in attempting to keep the eyes of a self-formed opinion of personal importance.

What these rabid radicals who rant of various sorts of "freedom" really most desire is free publicity even in the form of notoriety.

The young lady next door is pleased that the men are beginning to criticize feminine clothes, even if it is on the ground of lack of them. They never used to notice what a woman wore.

The Kingston Whig remarks that the biggest joke in this world is the man who takes himself too seriously And it strikes us that the man who takes a joke too seriously might be put in the same class.

Now that women are serving on English juries few men will go into the dock or the witness box without straightening their ties at least, but we hate to think of what would happen to the woman prisoner who neglected to powder her nose.

PONTYPOOL HONORS ITS WAR HEROES.

PONTYPOOL, Feb. 15.—Sunday's services at Pontypool Methodist Church, of which Rev. A. McLauchlin, B.A., is pastor, were a splendid tribute to the veterans who served overseas in the Great War.

The whole community turned out; and in the evening the largest congregation ever known there was present, every space, even within the communion rail being filled, and surpassing the attendance even of the special services of the church.

In the morning the I.O.O.F. and Methodist Vets paraded in memory of its fallen, and in the evening the L. O. L., 82, Rev. A. McLauchlin, B.A., County and District Chaplan and Worshipful Master, paraded with District Jas. Richardson at its head.

The morning service was for the unveiling of a splendid honor roll containing 48 names. General John Hughes performed the ceremony, after which the congregation stood at attention while the "Dead March in Saul" was played by Mrs. R. Spencer, organist, and neice of the General. General Hughes spoke of the character and services of the Canadian troops overseas, complimenting them on their work in action. The honor roll, which is hand-painted and enclosed in a massive but simple oak frame, the work and gift of Mr. Hector Chambers, in member of his brother, Flight Commander Percy A. Chambers, R.F.C., M.M., D.S.O., and is draped by a silk Canadian flag, the gift of his mother.

Mrs. A. McMahon made the presentation and Mrs. W. H. Hooper replied, accepting the care of it for the trustees.

At the evening service the Veterans paraded and were given the seats of honor. At their head were two war-scarred veterans, Captain J. D. Sullivan of the 1st Battalion and Company Sergent-Major J. G. Powell of the 21st Battalion, who are recruiting for the "C" Company, 46th Durham Infantry.

Major Rev. H. A. Frost, B.A., B.D., who left the pulpit at Pontypool to go overseas, and who served in France, Egypt and Great Britain, preached in the morning on Galations, 5-13: "For ye were called for freedom, only use not your freedom for an occasion to the flesh, but through love serve one another."

In the evening the sermon was largely of personal remniscences of the fallen men and experiences of the ex-pastor as chaplain. Major Frost touched all hearts, stirring them to loyalty and gratitude for those who were considered it worthy to die for so great a cause. A splendid baptismal font was unveiled in memory of Capt. P. W. Chambers, Geo. Veating, Edgar Graham and Henry Smith and with their names inscribed on a silver plate. This and the honor roll being the gift of the choir, who also rendered special music, assisted by Mrs. C. Houston, of Toronto, as soloist. Choirmaster R. Spencer made the presentation and J. W. Glenney received it for the trustees and the font was dedicated by the pastor, Rev. A. McLauchlin, B.A.

A Danger Signal— Tender and Bleeding Gums

Healthy teeth cannot live in diseased tissue. Gums tainted with Pyorrhea are dangerously diseased. For not only the teeth are affected, but Pyorrhea germs seep into the body, lower its vitality and cause many ills.

Pyorrhea begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the poisonous germs that breed in pockets about them.

Four out of five people over forty have this disease. But you need not have it. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection. And keep Pyorrhea away by using Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy, the teeth white and clean. If you have tender or bleeding gums, start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

ST. CATHARINES HAS PETITIONED PREMIER.

Chamber of Commerce Asks Meighen to Ban Handicap Laws.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Feb. 15.—St. Catharines Chamber of Commerce has forwarded the following petition to Premier Meighen:

"Whereas the Legislature of the Province of Ontario has been petitioned by some public bodies to pass laws prohibiting any municipality from granting exceptions from taxes, or fixing the assessment of any firm who may be desirous of locating in Ontario; and, whereas, this organisation feels that by so doing the Province of Ontario would be retarding its own manufacturing growth, whereas in such case the industries would be apt to go to other provinces where assessments can be obtained;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the St. Catharines Chamber of Commerce respectfully requests the Provincial Government to refrain from passing any laws which will handicap Ontario in securing additional industries, for we feel that a law of this nature will act unfavourably, unless it is desired by every Province in the Dominion."

OUTPUT OF EMPIRE

Miss Cora Hind writes in The Western Home Monthly of "An Outport of the Empire," a little hospital equipped by the Red Cross 35 miles from Prince Albert, Sask., in the district of Paddock Wood. The hospital was erected because there is a very considerable soldier settlement at Paddock Wood. Within th past year 50 babies have been born and gratifying to relate, no baby has been lost and no mother has been lost. Near the hospital is a modern school building and a quarter of a mile away is a community hall which is providing a delightful social centre for the whole district. Miss Hind tells of having a long chat with Miss McKillop, who is in charge of the work of visiting soldier settlers' wives. Miss McKillop had just come from a long trip in the Tisdale district. One of the first questions asked was: "How are the brides, particularly the brides from the Old Country getting along" Miss Hind tells the story:

"At the mere mention of them, the face of Miss McKillop brightened, and she hastened to tell me that she had personally made 200 visits, each visit representing a different family, and she assured me that out of that number there were only 10 women who were not likely to make good under the conditions in which they weres placed. Of these ten, two were Canadian born, the other women were from the Old Country She went on to speak with much enthusiasm of the courage with which the women from the Old Country were meeting the new strange conditions and were adapting themselves to life in the Canadian West. She spoke of one bride, the one at the most remote point of her territory, 'a graduate from Newham College, and also a graduate in music in London, who had no complaints to make of this country, but who was steadily facing her difficulties as they came along and adapting herself with really marvellous rapidity to her changed surroundings.

"The soldiers' wives from the Old Land could have no better friend than Miss McKillop; she was born in the West, and is thoroughly familiar with all pioneer conditions; and in addition to her practical experience, she has her academic training; above all, she is bringing to her work a sympathetic enthusiasm that must go far to inspire a similar spirit in the women whom she goes to visit.

"I had the pleasure of taking afternoon tea with a soldier's bride who had only come out from England in April last. Up to the time she had never seen a Canadian cook stove, and had never a built a fire of wood. She had made bread in the Old Country, but never with Canadian flour, and she had no knowledge of buttermaking yet, it has never been my privilege to eat more delicious homemade bread or better flavoured butter than furnished for tea table that Sunday afternoon. She told laughingly of her difficulties in adapting herself to Canadian flour, which seemed to her to take an incredible amount of water. One of her chief difficulties had been to remember to put more wood on the fire while the bread was in the oven, but she told of her difficulties laughingly, and, when ask how she liked the country said: 'Oh, it is wonderful. I made up my mind to like it, before I left England but now I love it.' Her little four-roomed house was exquisitely neat and clean, and the beautifully polished silver and dainty napery were an indication of the quality of the home from which she had come. No one after seeing her home would have the slightest doubt that she was a valuable addition to the country.

"I was specially interested in the soldiers' wives in this Paddock Wood district, because I had seen them, going in the August of 1919 when I was coming from the Henrybury and Alberville districts. My heart ached for them when I saw them going in, and realized as they could not possibly realize, the pioneering difficulties that were before them and it was most gratifying to learn how many had made a success of settling in the new country. One cannot help rejoicing to think of the fifty babes, real genuine Canadians. This is the form of immigration, which, above all others Canada needs."

SUICIDE BY POISON OF OWN INVENTION

(Special to The Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

PETROGRAD, Feb. 15.—Kenstantin de Mereshewiski, formerly a famous professor in the university here, killed himself in a hotel in Geneva with a poison of his own making. He had escaped from Russia with a little money two years ago and had fitted up his hotel room as a laboratory. When his money ran out he left a note with the hotel porter warning against opening his room as it was filled with poison gas, then closed the room and opened the containers in which he had the gas stored. When firemen broke into it several of them were overcome by the gas.

It is sometimes easier to take things as they come than it is to induce them to come.

SAYS SLAIN BANDIT WAS 'STOOL PIGEON' IN WHITMAN INQUIRY.

Frank Walsh, Shot After Whiskey Hold-Up, Was Auto Theft Witness, Prosecutor Asserts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Frank Walsh bandit, one of the three men killed when a truck with twenty-five barrels of whiskey was waylaid near Monmouth Junction, N. J., on Thursday night, was a "stool pigeon" for the Whitman investigation, according to Assistant District Attorney James F. Smith.

Ex-Governor Charles S. Whitman said yesterday that he had talked several days ago to Walsh and had placed him on the list of witnesses to be called before the Grand Jury later. Mr. Smith said that he was using Walsh as a "stool pigeon" in the meantime. He said he knew nothing about the manner of Walsh's death, but that he had received an anonymous telephone call indicating that Walsh had been murdered to prevent any further "squeal" on his part.

Walsh's contribution to the Whitman investigation had been the statement that certain members of the Automobile Squad were identified with a loosely organized gang of bandits who combined bootlegging and automobile stealing. He also furnished a list of "crooked" garages in New York City and New Jersey where stolen automobiles and illicit whiskey were hidden.

Walsh, according to Mr. Smith, had said that he paid a share of the money received from rewards and the sale of stolen automobiles to a relative of a city Commissioner, who was said to have divided it with policemen.

Walsh's Examination Delayed.

Walsh was to have been called before the Grand Jury this week, but the flood of new evidence on other lines caused Mr. Whitman to change the program and postpone further presentation of cases regarding automobile graft for several days. Walsh was notified that he would not be called before the Grand Jury until Tuesday after next.

Walsh was shot in the eye, and, according to first account, he was shot by one of the men defending the twenty-five barrels of whiskey from the bandits' attack. His body, however, was found several miles away from the scene of the hold-up, and it was reported yesterday that he was murdered by his former accomplices for becoming a "stool pigeon" to the Whitman inquiry.

The manner of Walsh's death resembles that of his former partner, Frederick P. Eckert, also a bootlegger and automobile thief. Eckert was found murdered in an automobile on Staten Island. The mystery in his death was never cleared, but it was reported that he had been assassinated because he was about to "squeal." According to detectives, he had threatened to betray grafting prohibition agents. Mr. Whitman recently made a statement linking Eckert with "automobile graft" in the Police Department.

"Walsh was the right-hand man of Eckert," said Mr. Smith yesterday. "He knew a lot about Eckert's death and about Eckert's connection with the Police Department. We found him a mine of information about automobile grafting and bootlegging in which policemen were implicated.

Told About Thieves' Scheme.

"Walsh was the man who told us about the scheme of automobile thieves for 'ageing' automobiles—that is, hiding them away for sixty days until the insurance had been paid and then bargaining with the insurance companies for a 'reward,' if they recovered it.

"You see, 'ageing' the car, increased the rewards. The insurance companies had to pay the insurance in sixty days. Now, for instance, if they had paid $2,000 insurance on a $3,000 car, they would naturally be willing to pay high to recover it. The adjusters would pay $100 to $200 for a car immediately after it had been stolen, when there was a good chance that they would still recover it, but after sixty days they would be willing to come high. They paid rewards as high as $500 sometimes to get back cars on which they had paid heavy insurance. This scheme of holding cars back for sixty days was a new one, but it had been found so profitable that many cars were being kept back."

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

COBOURG, Feb. 14.—A ten-year-old boy named Moran narrowly escaped fatal injury when he jumped from Greer's auto bus or George Street, directly in front of George D. Wood's car. Fortunately the latter vehicle was only travelling at about 10 or 15 miles an hour, and was quickly brought to a standstill, Moran escaping with a cut tongue and severe bruises under the chin and on the legs. The heels were torn loose from both boots.

GRAND TRUNK SETTLES WITH MRS. W. G. HANNAH

The examination at Cobourg for discovery in the case of Mrs. Wm. G. Hannah, of Rossmount, against the G.T.R., ended in an agreement being reached by which the railway pays Mrs. Hannah $1,500 and all costs, including hospital and doctor's bills. Mrs. Hannah, however, is to pay her own solicitor's fees.

On July 12st last, when leaving the excursion train at Campbellcroft, Mrs. Hannah fell beneath one of the cars. Both feet were so badly smashed that amputation was necessary. In her evidence at Cobourg Mrs. Hannah stated that the train was travelling at a fast rate when her husband jumped with the baby. Mrs. Hannah followed and, according to her own admission, knew she was in great danger of meeting with an accident.

The man who puts the lighted end of a cigar in his mouth acknowledges his mistake more quickly than gracefully.

Scientists highly recommend yeast as a food and as a corrective agent for certain functional disarrangements, attributed to poor blood conditions. Soak a cake of Royal Yeast for half an hour in a cup of luke-warm water with one teaspoon sugar. Then stir well and strain once or twice through muslin and drink the liquid. BETTER results will be obtained by allowing it to soak over night and drinking half an hour before breakfast. Repeat as often as desired. AIM TO PROTECT THE DEAD FROM ALL LIBEL

Legislation for the protection of the good name of those no longer living is to be enacted by the British Parliament. This action is said to have been brought about by certain passages in an autobiography of Mrs. Asquith dealing with persons dead and gone in a manner calculated to pain and offend their relatives and friends.

Something of the kind was suggested at the time of the appearance of the sensational reminiscences of that dreadful old lady Cardigan a few years before the Great War which were full of attacks and slurs upon the memory of those no longer in the world to undertake the defence of their reputation.

But the matter was allowed to drop, partly because other sensations supervened and partly, too, because the book was so scurrilous and its aged authoress the late Lady Cardigan so declasse that most booksellers refused to handle it for fear of being sued for libel by the people still living whom she had maligned. It was barred from all the libraries and bookstands, and it is difficult nowadays to find a copy thereof.

But Mrs. Asquith's autobiography is of a different character. She is still a notable figure in society. Her book though open to many objections, is not one which under present conditions of law in England any publisher or bookseller need be afraid to handle. It has been accepted by all the libraries and is having an enormous sale.

There is nothing in it that can be construed as libellous of the living, though it deals with some of the living in an unfriendly fashion. But it does affect the reputation and the esteem of some of the dead.

It is this as well as the knowledge that Mrs. Asquith's example is now about to be followed by the publication of similar candid autobiographies and reminiscences by women and men less gifted than Mrs. Asquith, and who may endeavour to seek equally sensational effects by more or less unfounded attacks on the dead to atone for their lack of the information and of the experience which she undoubtedly possesses in a rare degree that has rendered the prompt enactment of prohibitory legislation a matter of urgency.

CITY SEEKS PRICE FOR GRAVEL LOTS ALONGSIDE BRIDGE

PROPERTY AT CORNER OF BURNHAM AND HUNTER STREETS WILL BE OFFERED FOR SALE.

To sell the property at the corner of Hunter and Burnham streets in Ashburnham or to retain it for park purposes was one of the questions considered by the Railway and Parks committee last night. Its purchase from the Dickson estate saved the city thousands of dollars in the construction of the Hunter street bridge. A rich supply of gravel was turned up right alongside the cement mixers, and the top soil was used in filling the east approach. The whole area has been deeply excavated, and the Council is faced with the necessity of making some disposition of the lots. If they are taken over by the Parks committee naturally the Bridge committee will expect to be paid for them. This however is only a detail.

Ald. Gainey said he considered the site was highly desirable for a park.

"That's my idea," remarked City Engineer Parsons.

Ald. Phelan—It would be rather expensive.

Mr. Parsons—Where could you get a park centrally located that wouldn't be expensive?

Ald. Gordon—It has been found that a park along a river is a dangerous thing. It would have to be fenced.

Ald. Crowe—I don't care what you do with it, but I certainly think you should get Riverside.

Ald. Gordon—The bridge has cost so much and the city has so many obligations that it seems to me a park there would be a luxury.

Ald. Crowe—I would hold the property. Ten or twelve years from now it would be valuable.

People Have Approved.

Ald. Gainey and Mr. Parsons contended that Ashburnham needed a park and that the site beside the bridge, reaching down to the river, was an ideal one. Besides, the ratepayers had approved of the establishment of a park in that place when they voted in favour of the expenditure of $33,000 a year ago.

Ald. Gordon moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the property be advertised for sale, that prices be asked for subject to building restrictions satisfactory to Ald. Gainey, chairman of the committee and to City Engineer Parsons, and also that a strip on the north side of the lots be retained for the "slopover" of the east approach to the bridge.

WOULD USE MICROBES TO OVERTHROW ORGANIZED GOVERNMENTS OF WORLD?

HEAVY GUARD PLACED ON COLLECTION OF BACTERIA AND MICROBES IN LISTER INSTITUTE, THROUGH FEAR OF THEFT.

(Special to The Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Heavy guards have been placed about the national collection of microbes at the Lister Institute here, as a result of the recent theft of over a hundred thousand dollars worth of germs and serums from the laboratory of Dr. Goldechmidt, at Hamburg, Germany.

It was suggested at the time that the theft was done by agents of Soviet Russia, who might use their deadly prize in their plotted overthrow of all organized governments. The Hamburg collection contained cholera, typhoid, tuberculosis and influenza germs in quantities so great that their criminal use would bring a reign of terror throughout the civilized world. The collection at the Lister Institute contains samples of eight hundred different strains of bacteria.

"We have bacteria here from almost every country in the world and are receiving more every day," said Dr. St. John Brooks, who is in charge of the collection. "It is hoped to make this the most valuable collection of death dealing and industrial useful micro-organisms in the world. But they must be guarded. In the hands of unscrupulous men they might overwhelm civilization."

Surely, you want to keep well right through the winter.

YOU don't want to suffer with an ulcerated throat or inflamed tonsils. You don't want to be bothered with a racking cough that is disagreeable all day and that keeps you awake at night. You don't want to be in bed for months with pleurisy or pneumonia.

If you wish to keep well, realize at once that a cough is a dangerous, insidious disease, which should be stopped at its very outset, and not allowed to develop into anything more serious.

An ounce of prevention is indeed worth many pounds of cure, in the case of a cold.

DOMINION C. B. Q. TABLETS are the ounce of prevention that prevents a cold from developing into tonsillitis, bronchitis, or pneumonia.

These tablets contain Cascara, Bromide and Quinine in a pleasant form; are mildly laxative; relieve headache and neuralgia; and break up a cold in a few hours.

All druggists sell DOMINION C.B.Q.

Insist on having them.

Nervous Trouble

Nervous troubles are, without a doubt, the most discouraging form of sickness to the sufferer. You are tired and ill but cannot say what is wrong, no pain except frequent headaches, you are fretful, cross and irritable without a cause, no ambition or desire to continue your daily routine, you feel a picking or itching of the limbs or body and feel that some terrible calamity is about to overcome you, cannot enter into your former pleasures and prefer solitude to the company of your friends. In such cases the whole nervous system is deranged and requires the most careful attention. Take one of Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets every night or every second night and if there is any tendency to Stomach trouble take one Special Stomach Tablet three times a day before meals. For sale at Warne's Drug Store. The Henderson Herb Co., Toronto. 25c, 50c and $1.00 per box.

THE DANDELION.

The dandelion was a pest;
That is, some years ago;
To see our lawns so bilious like
Just filled our hearts with woe;
But now the golden dandelion
We think extremely fine.
We pluck its blossoms with delight
And make them into wine!

BLAMES FAILURE OF LEAGUE FOR EXISTING UNREST IN THE WORLD

RT. HON. H. ASQUITH, FORMER PREMIER OF BRITAIN, THINKS OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS FAILURE.

(Special to The Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Right Hon. H. Asyuith former Premier, than whom there is no more acute student of international politics, though his administration failed in the early months of the war, to-day blames much of the worldly political and economic unrest on the failure of the League of Nations to function properly.

"I am still full of hope for its future, but so far, what a disappointing record of missed opportunities and meagre results," he said. "The reason is not far to seek. The League has been overshadowed, it is not too much to say that it has to a large extent been ousted, by a small coterie of the great powers, the Supreme Council of the Allies.

"Also, it lacks much of the real power which it might otherwise possess, because it is still lop-sided in its constitution. It cannot speak with the conjoint voice of all the constituent members of the household of nations.

"This and the complete and unfettered re-opening of the markets of the world are the only real cure for unemployment, though there are many quack remedies on the market."

LEVERHULME NOW IS FISH DEALER.

Millionaire Soap Baron Establishes Great Chain of Fish Markets.

(Special to The Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Lord Leverhulme, England's millionaire soap manufacturer, has become a fish dealer. His new venture, "The Mac Fisheries, Limited," has opened a hundred and eighty-seven stores in London alone, invading even the aristocratic Bond Street. His shops are after the plans of the model American fish markets, where everything is displayed on white slabs with a cooling pipe underneath. The fish is picked out by the customer and placed in a carton, which can be carried home, looking like a purchase in a dry goods store.

Several of the branches are managed by graduates of Cambridge and Oxford, who first served apprenticeships in the Billingsgate fish market and pushed fish barrows across London bridge.

Dr. J. G. Rutherford, C.M.G.
Who is mentioned as the probable successor to the Rt. Hon. Arthur L. Sifton in the Meighen cabinet.

"What is the meaning of 'consistency'?"

"'Consistency,' my son, has to do with the fitness of things."

"I don't know just what you mean."

"I will give you an example."

BYERSVILLE LOOP WOULD GIVE TEN MINUTE SERVICE

COUNCIL WILL URGE THE EXTENSION OF CHARLOTTE STREET LINE TO CHAMBERLEN STREET.

By extending the Charlotte street car line down the Monaghan road from its present terminus at Patterson street to Chamberlen street forming at that point a loop with the C.G.E. line, a ten minute service can be provided for the Byersville district. This idea was outlined by one of the Hydro-Electric Commission's officials to Ald. Gainey, who submitted it to the Railway committee last night. It indicates a change in the plans which were laid out last year when it was proposed to tear up the tracks on Albert street and leave a dead end on the Park street branch at the C/G.E. plant.

Although all the details were not gone into, Ald. Gainey informed the committee that the rails and ties for the Monaghan road link have been bought, and suggested that the Hydro-Electric Commission should be urged at once to authorize the building of this link. Three cars would be sufficient for this loop, it is understood. A turn-out would be required on the Monaghan roads for the cars to pass. Two of them would go only as far south as the corner of Chamberlen street and the Monaghan road, and the third would make the full trip to the end of the present C.G.E. line near Henry Hope factory. Not only would the Byersville service be speeded up, but the congestion of traffic, especially the overcrowding that prevailed before the seven-cent fare was introduced, would be appreciably relieved.

The Railway committee decided that, instead of sending a deputation to Toronto for the sole purpose of interviewing the Hydro Electric Commission, some of the members who went up to-day to lead whatever support they could to Peterborough's private bill could find time to call at the Hydro office.

DEMOLISHING THE TEMPORARY BRIDGE

THE "LOW ROAD" TO ASHBURNHAM WILL SOON BE EFFACED.

Take a last snap shot of the temporary bridge at the foot of Simcoe street for it will soon be gone. Large signs were posted yesterday at both ends of it announcing its closure to the public, and Ald. Hamilton, chairman of the special committee, stated last night that its demolition, including the uprooting of the spiles upon which it was built, would be begun at once. The new Hunter street bridge is now carrying all the traffic over the river and, from that alone, may be regarded as an accomplished fact. The removal of the wooden bridge is part of the mopping up work, of clearing the nearby ground of the remnants of the material used in the construction of the half million dollar structure at Hunter street.

Some of the lumber has been sold to the C.G.E. company, Ald. Hamilton said, and also to Richard Sheehy and Sons, who will use it on the new dam at Nassau. An inventory of the shovels, motors, dump carts, timber and other left over material will be made one of these days, and it is likely that the goods will be put up for sale.

Ald. Hamilton asked City Engineer Parsons if he wanted any of the dump carts, but Mr. Parsons replied that they were too small for the city's requirements.

Murder of Colleagues Turns French Socialists From Reds

(Special to The Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

PARIS, Feb. 15.—Three French Socialists, Lefebre, Berger and Lepetit, were slain while attempting to escape from Russia. Their death was ordered by the pan-Russian Extraordinary Commission, but is regarded by the French Socialists as a cold blooded murder, and has done much to alienate French Socialistic feeling from the Soviet Government.

They had been under observation for some time, according to information from Riga, and when they asked for passports home, the Russian Government refused. They then pretended to take a trip to the Volga district and escaped thence to Murmansk. They were recognized when they embarked from there for Scandanavia and Moscow was telegraphed of their movements.

A coasting boat was sent in pursuit, and they were taken off their ship, their papers all confiscated and then they were thrown overboard to drown.

THE HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD

(Samuel Walter Foss in the Ottawa Journal.)

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn,
In the place of their self-content;
There are souls, like stars, that dwell apart,
In a fellowless firmament;
There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths
Where the highways never ran—
But let me live by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

Let me live in the house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
The men who are good and the men who are bad.
As good and as bad as I,
I would not sit in a scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban.
Let me live in my house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man.

I see from my house by the side of the road,
By the side of the highway of life,
The men who press with the ardor of hope,
The men who are faint with the strife.
But I turn not away from their smiles nor their tears,
Both are part of an infinite plan;
Let me live in my house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,
Wise, foolish—so am I.
Then why should I sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?
Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
And be a friend of man.

Denmark Apprehensively Watches German Election

(Special to The Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 15.—Denmark is watching with fear the result of the German elections on February 20th, an ticipating this date may be the occasion for the counter-revolution which the former Kaiser is planning and which would probably mean to Denmark the loss again of those border provinces which Germany once before seized and which were returned only by the Versailles Treaty.

News from Germany is not reassuring to these Danes who seek peace. In East Prussia all preparations have been made for a wholesale rising, while the Hohenzollern propaganda is spreading throughout the entire Empire. Wilhelm is reported to be hurling the millions allowed him by the German Republic back into Germany to buy its downfall.

The weakness of the present Government in the face of threatened Bolshevik revolution is driving many persons who are not really sympathetic to the Hohenzollern revelation into its camp. Germany feels the need of a strong executive and William's adherents are showing his record as an administrator before the war as the chief argument for his return.

For Thin Waists and Sleeveless Gown

(Toilet Tips).

A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

THE VINEGAR MAN

(By Ruth Comfort Mitchell)

The crazy old Vinegar Man is dead!
He never had missed a day before!
Somebody went to his tumble-down shed,
By the Haunted House, and forced the door.
There in the litter of his pungent pans,
The murky mess of his mixing place,
Deep sticky spiders and empty cans
With the same old frown on his sour old face.

"Vinegar-Vinegar-Vinegar Man!
Face-us-and-chase-us-and-catch-us you-can!
Pepper for a tongue! Pickle for a nose!
Stick a pin in him and vinegar flows.
Glare-at-us-swear-at-us-catch-if-you-can!
Ketchup-and-chow-chow-and Vinegar Man!"

Nothing but recipes and worthless junk;
Greasy old records of paid and due;
But, down in the depths of a battered trunk,
A queer, quaint valentine torn in two
Red hearts, and arrows, and silver lace,
And a prim, dim ladylike script that said—
(Oh, Vinegar Man, with the sour old face!)
"With dearest love, from Ellen to Ned!"

"Steal-us-and-peel-us-and-drown-us-in-brine!
He pickles his heart in "—A Valentine!
"Vinegar for blood! Pepper for his tongue!
Stick a pin in him and "—once he was young!
"Glare-at-us-swear-at-us-catch-if-you-can!"
"With dearest love"—to the Vinegar Man!

Dingy little books of profit and loss
(Died about Saturday, so they say).
And a queer, quaint valentine torn across
Torn, but it never was thrown away!
"With dearest love from Ellen to Ned"—
"Old Pepper Tongue! Pickles his heart in brine!"
The Vinegar Man is a long time dead
He died when he tore his valentine.

DELICATE GIRLS NEED NEW BLOOD

RICH, RED BLOOD MEANS HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

The anaemia of young girls may be inherited, or it may be caused by bad air, unsuitable food, hasty and irregular eating, insufficient out-of-door exercise and not enough rest and sleep.

It comes on gradually, beginning with languor, indisposition to mental or bodily exertion, irritability and a feeling of fatigue. Later comes the palpitation of the heart, headaches, dizziness following a stooping position, frequent backaches and breathlessness. In a majority of cases constipation is present. There may be no great loss of flesh, but usually the complexion takes on a greenish-yellow pallor.

Cases of this kind, if neglected, become more serious, but if taken in time there is no need to worry. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are free from any harmful or habit-forming drug, are just the tonic needed to remedy this wretched state of health. Though it is not noticeable, improvement begins with the first dose. As the blood is made rich the pallor leaves the face, strength and activity gradually return and the danger of relapse is very slight.

If any symptom of anaemia appears, prudence suggests that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be given at once, and the sooner they are taken the more speedily will their action improve the blood. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Med. ine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WEATHER FOR 1921.

J. B. Bowes, Chatsworth, the well-known inventor and sawmill man, formerly of Pinkerton, is quite a weather prophet, and is generally correct in his predictions. Writing in the Chatsworth News, Mr. Bowes predicts what the weather in 1921 will be like. He says:

Based on purely scientific principles as I know them, they are for the northern hemisphere and mostly applicable to regions about the 45th degree of latitude. They do not apply to districts whose temperature is varied or ruled by air or water currents like Britain or British Columbia.

I have just about 80 per cent. of scientific principles on which my theory is based, yet I fully expect to be 75 per cent. correct. I am asked, "Why not get the facts you want?" I haven't the price.

January, 1921.

Very mild.

February.

Average temperature; 15th cold and stormy; also last week.

March.

Decidedly cold and very heavy snow falls, with high, persistent winds for the first fifteen days. A very pronounced thaw sets in about the 17th; very warm until the last three days, then cold and stormy.

April.

First three days cold, then very warm until the 21st, when a pronounced storm of rain, snow, and frost will prevail for about a week.

May.

Very warm and dry.

June.

Warm and drier than average; rain and probably frost about the 10th; rain in last wek.

July.

Month will open with rain, followed by warm weather; very dry towards end of month.

August.

About average temperature and dry; rains the first and last weeks.

September.

First eighteen days average temperature, and very dry until about the 22nd, when there will be a very pronounced storm of rain, wind, and frost, and (in northern localities) snow.

October.

Very dry and very warm, especially the latter portion.

November.

Warm and drier than average, with rain and frost about the 16th.

December.

Very mild.

I look for three very dry summers, mild winters, cold and wet spring and fall weathers—springs that will open up early, followed by heavy rains, frosts, and in the earliest cases, snow.

Britain and all other places that get more heat than their latitude calls for water or air currents like the Gulf Stream, will have very cold, wet summers.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY IN PETERBORO

OLD CUSTOMS RECALLED AND THE MEMORY OF THE SAINT HONOURED BY A NUMBER OF PARTIES AND ENTERTAINMENTS.

"To-morrow is, St. Valentine's day,
All in the morning betime!
And I a maid at your window,
To be your Valentine."

Hamlet.—

According to the old legend St. Valentine was beheaded on February 14 ,at Rome under Claudius. The old notion was that birds began to couple on that day, and hence arose the custom of young persons of both sexes chosing each other as "valentines" for the ensuing year by a species of lottery, and of sending love missives to each other.

Parties in the City.

Postal returns indicate a great falling-off in the numbers of valentines sent during the past decade, one large office showing a decrease from 117,000 to 45,000 within five years, but that the memory of the saint still lingers is quite evident from the number of Valentine teas and parties that throng around the mystic date, and from the offerings in the local book-stores, where sweet and gracious sentiments, and "heart interest" effusions jostle the hideous caricatures, the limping verse and vulgar doggered so dear to the heart of the small boy For St. Valentine, like St. Nicholas, is primarily a patron of the children. What a chance to get back at the cross "Teacher", at the tyrannous "cop", at the "smart Alec," at the haughty telephone girl, with perfect satisfaction and in perfect safety.

But there are some exquisite Valentines, with their tiny cupids and interlaced lovers' knots. Who but would wish to receive one of these dainty, lacey missivs, and there are all sorts of fussy fripperies in the way of decorations, bright red hearted serviettes, doyleys, and fancy hangings of all kinds in attractive reds and whites.

YOUNG PEOPLES' GUILD HELD VALENTINE PARTY

The regular weekly meeting of the Young People's Guild of St. Paul's Church took the form last night of a masquerade Valentine party. The evening was spent in games and impromptu musical offerings.

ST. ANDREWS' YOUNG PEOPLE

St. Andrew's Young People's Society entertained their friends at a Valentine party in the lecture hall of the church last night The hall was pleasingly decorated in an appropriate manner, and all present wore paper hats of variegated colours. A very enjoyable evening was spent, at the close of which dainty refreshments were served. Those taking part were: Miss Bertha Hill; piano solo, Mr. J. Smith; piano solo, Miss M. Herridge; reading, Mr. F. Clarke; banjo selection, the Misses N. and P. Hardie executed the Highland Fling and the Sword Dance, and Mr. J. Johns, stories and monologue.

TRINITY CHURCH VALENTINE TEA

The young ladies attending Mrs. A. F. Lane's Sunday School class in Trinity Church gave a Valentine Tea from 4 to 6 and from 9 to 10 in the Reid street Hall yesterday. A very substantial sum was realized for the Sunday School Missions. The hall was tastefully decorated with hearts and Cupids, and the menu cards also took the form of a heart. The company was entertained with Victrola selections.

A VALENTINE TEA IN KING GEORGE SCHOOL

The Valentine Tea held in the kindergarten of the King George School yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Home and School Association was a success in every way. There were a large number pres ent, and a nice sum was realized for the work of the Association. The room and tea-table were very pretty with red hearts and flowers. Mrs. Harry Adams poured tea, and the refreshments were in charge of Mrs. A. C. Gray and her committee. Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. A. Perrin both contributed solos to the musical part of the programme.

GREAT BRITAIN LEADING WORLD IN SHIPBUILDING

Great Britain is now leading the United States, and consequently the world, in the construction of merchant marine tonnage, according to the Weekly Bulletin of the Department of Trade and Commerce. On December 31, 1920, the merchant tonnage building in the United Kingdom aggregated 3,708,916 tons as against 1,310,312 tons in the United States. The United States total represents a reduction of two-thirds for that country. According to Lloyd's Register, the amount of tonnage completed compares unfavorably with that of pre-war times In 1913, 23 per cent. of the total work in hand was completed each quarter, while the corresponding figure in 1920 does not reach 13 per cent. In spite of this the tonnage launched in the last quarter of 1920 was 12,000 tons in excess of the previous record figures established in the December quarter of 1913. The tonnage launched during the December quarter last year was 580,000 tons.

Brown four tablespoons of butter, add three tablespoons of flour, and then two cups of the water in which the liver was boiled. Boil thick. Now boil a quarter of a cup of vinegar, a teaspoon of chopped onion, a little salt and sugar. Boil and add a tablespoon each of chopped olives and chopped pickles.

VEGETABLE COOKING

1. Strong-flavored vegetables like onions, turnips, cabbage, cauliflower: (1) Cook in a large quantity of boiling water. (2) Change water two or three times. (3) Cook uncovered and add salt to last water.

3. Vegetables which may be cooked in their own juice or in very little water: Tomatoes, squash, spinach, vegetable marrow.

Vegetable Water Sauce.

Two tablespoons butter, 2 table spoons flour, 1 cup vegetable water or ½ cup milk and ½ cup vegetable water. Salt and Pepper to Taste.

Melt butter in a saucepan, stir the flour and seasonings into it, and stir over the fire until frothy. Add vegetable water gradually and stir constantly over fire until it boils and thickens.

Vegetable Soup.

Four tablespoons beef dripping, one third cup carrots, one-third cup celery, one-third cup turnip, one-half onion, one and one-half cup potatoes, one tablespoon butter, one-half tablespoon chopped parsley, salt and pepper, one quart water. Prepare vegetables and cut in small pieces. Cook carrots, celery and onions in dripping until a delicate brown; add potatoes and turnips; cook two minutes longer and then add water; cover and simmer one hour. Add water as needed to keep the amount of liquid one quart. Add butter, parsley and seasonings.

Stuffed Potatoes.

Cut off end or side of three baked potatoes. Give potatoes a squeeze first. Scoop out inside part and mash it with one tablespoon butter, pepper and salt and two tablespoons milk, and beat until light. Refill, still leaving top a little rough. Brown lightly in oven. Any one of the following may be mixed with potato for variation: 1. Finely chopped cold meat. 2. Finely minced parsely. 3. A little grated onion. 4. One egg to one cup mashed potatoes. 5. The top may be sprinkled with a little grated cheese.

French Fried Potatoes.

Wash and pare small potatoes, cut in eighths, lengthwise, and soak one hour in cold water. Take from water, dry between towels and fry in deep fat. Drain on brown paper and sprinkle with salt.

Succotash.

Cut hot boiled corn from the cob, add an equal quantity of hot boiled shelled beans. Season with butter and salt, and reheat before serving.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair with a Home-Made Mixture.

Joicey Williams, the well known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound, and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky nor greasy and does not rub off."

M

THE GARDEN OF ASIA.

While many of us feel that we live in exceedingly well populated districts, even the most crowded communities are almost deserted when compared with some sections of China. Take Sze-chuan, for example.

In this province sixty million persons live. The area is 181,000 square miles. As Sze-chuan is surrounded by mountains, and in some places is bare rock itself, about 50 per cent. of the total area is impossible to cultivate. We find, in consequence, that these sixty million human beings are crowded into a space less than half the size of Quebec, and that all the food they eat is grown within this area.

The problem of raising the food necessary to keep these millions alive is complicated by the Chinese farmers' lack of scientific knowledge and the primitve implements he uses. In addition, rice, which is the staple food of China, is the most difficult of all.

FUR PRICES

At the Lowest

A Statement of Conditions in the Fur Market

¶ Speculation, after the armistice, drew into the fur business a large number of persons without technical knowledge, who indiscriminately raised prices so that furs of inferior quality brought at the auction sales nearly as high prices as the better class furs.

¶ The collapse of this speculative market during 1920 left this merchandise largely in the hands of untrained and interloping dealers. The necessity of selling at once to liquidate bank and other invested funds, explain the extraordinary low prices quoted for certain grades of fur during last summer and autumn.

¶ To-day, the quantity of Fine Fresh Furs to be obtained is not large. From tabulated reports the catch to date is less than 50% of last year. The supply of Good Furs has been growing more limited every year and cannot be artificially increased.

¶ Just as during the speculative period inferior Furs brought the prices of really Fine Furs—the fine goods declined nearly to the price of the inferior when the collapse came. This condition is rapidly changing and is functioning again into the correct channels.

¶ As the purchasing power of the world develops, the supply of Good Furs will be less and less in proportion to the demand, and much higher prices must rule. This is being realized, as in the recent auction sales in New York and Montreal on certain furs, prices advanced to a very much higher value than they were one month ago, owing to demand and supply.

¶ Our "Pre-War Sale" Prices on Fur Garments and Fur Sets—Prices based on the "slump values" of Raw Fur.--Still holds good during February.

¶ Prices will advance after this sale closes, because Fur Skins are costing more and a new Government Sales Tax is promised, which will necessitate advances.

¶ We present this statement in order to keep faith with and to inform the public.

C.G.E. Toolroom play Bankers and Hamilton's play De Laval in the City Hockey League bill to-morrow night. C.G.E. and Bankers have the first game, which will be called at eight o'clock. Fred Waghorne will referee both contests. They will be well contested and hard fought, and in view of the fact that ice conditions may not be the best, the no smoking edict will be enforced. This much is due the players.

Bankers are a team to be feared, and C. G. E. will have to fight hard to land a victory, which they so much desire. Bankers showed much improvement last week and they are coming stronger every game.

When the De Laval-Hamilton's game is over the battle will be won and not before, according to the critics who have followed the play of the two teams, and have in mind the remarkable strength shown by De Laval against the C.G.E. when they earned a one-goal victory, and their win over Bankers in overtime. This contest should equal, if not surpass, any game played on local ice this season.

"BLUENOSE" NAME OF CANADIAN SEA RACER.

New Schooner to Compete in International Schooner Races.

HALIFAX, Feb. 15.—"Bluenose" is the name which has been selected for the schooner, now nearing completion in the yards of Messrs. Smith and Rhuland at Lunenburg, with which Captain Angus Walters, formerly master of the fleet "Gilbert R. Walters," and his associates hope to earn the honor of being the Canadian contenders in the second series of international schooner races to be held off Halifax this fall for the Halifax Herald Trophy.

"Bluenose" represents a marked departure from the type of schooner which has found most favour in Nova Scotia yards during the past few years, but fishermen are agreed that this departure is all in favor of the vessel's efficiency as a fishing machine. That it will also add speed is a matter they are taking for granted for the time being, reserving their considered judgment against the time that the fleet makes an actual start for the fishing banks in the spring.

Fishing experts who had previously contended that to build a schooner for speed was to impair her usefulness as a fisherman, express wonder at the accommodation which the "Bluenose" will provide for crew and cargo and the concensus of opinion is that she will prove capable of stocking as large a fare of fish as any schooner of equal waterline sailing out of Nova Scotian parts. The only criticism of the boat as a fisherman is that "she will not work well in a tide," but that too, they admit, remains to be proved.

W. J. Roue, of Halifax, the amateur designer, who is entering the schooner field for the first time with his design of the "Bluenose," expressed himself to the Canadian Press as being pleased with the work that is going into his creation and the speed with which she is being constructed. He stated that it would not be the fault of her builders if she failed to win out in the elimination trials next fall. fl

STREET CAR LIGHTS ARE TOO POWERFUL.

The objection of C. R. Banks, president of the Peterborough Automobile Club, that the headlights of the street cars are too powerful and are a menace to traffic, found ready support from the Railway committee of the Council last night. Ald. Crowe moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the Hydro-Electric Commission be requested to adopt some means to diminish the danger of these glaring headlights. It was said that the lights of the new cars are satisfactory, but those on the old ones are blinding and altogether too powerful.

HARRY THORNTON STUDIES THE MARKET IN THE BIG CITIES

RETURNS TO THE CITY WITH A DETERMINATION TO CLEAR OUT HIS ENTIRE STOCK AND WAIT FOR LOWER PRICES BEFORE REPLENISHING.

Harry Thornton, of the Semi-ready Store, has just returned from a trip to the big manufacturing centres, where he went to study at first hand the trade conditions to-day, and to try and get a clear vision on the future.

"We have a large stock of the highest quality men's wear in stock, and I want to know just where we stand. A lot of the stuff one reads in the newspapers is pure buncombe, and one can only judge by going to see the people who import and manufacture.

"I did not find reductions in wholesale prices more than 10 per cent. in any single instance, and in many cases there was no reduction worth speaking of.

"Retail merchants in the cities are unloading goods bought at summit prices, and some who have bought with lack of judgment had grown panicky, and were selling below cost of replacement. But this not general.

"Peak prices have passed away, and there must be reductions all along the line.

"With freight and travelling prices still going up, and the recent rise in express rates imposed by the Railway Commission, some of the savings have been eaten up. It will soon be advisable to have factories in every community to overcome the prohibitive cost of government transportation.

"I am going to do something for my customers ,and though mine is all the high quality apparel, and was never made for bargain sales, I'm just about ready to give every man a chance to get quality wear for less than he'd pay for the cheap and tawdry stuff.

"There is no dearth of supply as there was for years. Prices are bound to decline. Some manufacturers advised me to hang on, just as some of the farm leaders advise farmers to stow their wheat away while the price is falling.

"There may be advances and upward jumps, but I'm going to sell all I have now and wait and see. I may have to wait a year for another slump in prices, but I'll be waiting with decks cleared for action.

"That is my conclusion after a thorough look in at the market conditions throughout America and Europe. I know that clothing workers are on strike ,and that production is curtailed, but there are too many idle folks who have to pay rent for strikes to last long," concluded Mr. Thornton.

BIG RANCHES ARE SLOWLY PASSING.

Westerner Says They Are Bound to Be Circumscribed.

The cattle countries of the great North-West are undergoing a tremendous change, according to Fisher B. Weaver, of Wolf, Wyo., owner of an enormous ranch in that section. Mr. Weaver says that the prices of beef are bound to go up even more, and that it is very unlikely that they will ever again return to pre-war figures owing to the present lack of interest in cattle raising.

"The big ranches are passing," said Mr. Weaver. "The average ranch now will not run over 700 head of cattle, as against many thousands in the old days. Horses are now being raised in greater numbers than cattle. However, when things get settled more beef will be produced than ever before, but it will be fed. This beef will weight more and it will bring a much higher price. I doubt if it will ever go any lower again, but the quality will be improved.

"There was a day when the cattle were driven south in the winter and came back north in the summer, but now the rancher is limited as to area almost entirely by the necessity of being next to a Federal forest reserve. There isn't enough land on which to run a big bunch of cattle without using their reserves. For instance, there is the Yellowstone Reserve and the Big Horn Forest Reserve of a million acres, and the Teuton Reserve, south of the park. But no longer is there room for the old-time herd.

"Less than five years ago the State of Wyoming was not fenced from Sheridan, near Montana, to Cheyenne, near the Colorado line. The old ranches were ranches only in name, uncircumscribed as to area, and the rancher moved from one point to another, wherever he found the best feeding places. In 1912 the homesteaders began to take up the land. One of the Government requirements for a homesteader, or 'nester,' as we call him, is that he must have a fence. These fences prevent the ranging of the cattle, and indeed they often prove a great loss, because whereas the cattle in the old days used to run before a storm, and thus keep from freezing to death, now they are driven up against a fence, and there they stand and die.

"We still do our work in the same old way. We have a general round-up in the spring and brand everything in sight. We drive the cattle up into the mountains and leave as many men as we think necessary, but in spite of anything we can do, they travel all over the mountains and cattle of different herds get badly mixed up. When the spring comes, and the cattle are brought down, we have to invite our neighbours to come and select their own, and there is a great exchange in stock."

GOVERNMENT MOBBED BY UNEMPLOYED

AT THE MOVIES

Wesley Barry's debut on the screen as a star in "Dinty" which opened an engagement at the Allen Theatre last night, is the crowning achievement of the freckle-faced youngster's meteoric career and a triumph for that wizard of the silent drama, Marshall Neilan, who created and produced this remarkable photoplay.

As "Dinty" O'Sullivan, a fighting San Francisco newsboy, young Barry under the masterful direction of Neil an, has completely captivated his audiences. In his own inimitable way he brings out the tears and laughs at will. There is a touch of tender pathos in Neilan's fascinating story when Dinty loses his old Irish mother, but for the most part it is brimming over with humor, a pretty romance and thrilling adventure constituting the backbone of the plot.

How Dinty becomes king of the Newsboys' Trust, works his way into the good graces of the assistant district attorney, aids in the recovery of his financee who has been kidnapped by a gang of Malay half-breeds, and engineers a little romance of his own, is revealed in one of the best and most unique films of the screen.

Pretty Colleen Moore, as Dorcen O'Sullivan, plays an important role, and her clever work is one of the outstanding features of the production.

Dinty's lieutenants in the Newsboys' Trust are a cheerful pickaninny played by Aaron Mitchell and a Chinese youngster portrayed by Walter Chung. Wesley Barry is also ably supported by such well known screen players as J Barney Sherry, who has the part of Judge Whitely; Marjorie Daw, in the role of Ruth Whitely; Pat O'Malley as Jack North, assistant district attorney and Noah Beery, as King Dorph, a Malay half-breed.

With a splendid cast, an unusual story and excellent photography, "Dinty" is one of the finest film entertainments offered in this community this season.

LEADER CABLE FOR DIRECTING VESSELS.

(Canadian Press.)

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Feb. 15.—Foreign naval attaches accredited to this country visited this city recently, at the request of the Admiralty, to witness a demonstration of the leader cable which is used for directing ships into Portsmouth Harbour.

The objects of the leader cable system are to enable ships, by means of submarine sounds and signals, to make a good landfall in foggy weather, to lead ships into harbour, to lead a ship from open water through a restricted channel to open water, to give warning of the outlying dangers, and to assist a vessel to keep a straight course from port to port, and thus save fuel.

The system was invented by the British Navy, which made an exceedingly successful use of it in war time, but owing to the great potential value of the system to the Mercantile Marine during the war, the Admiralty have not disclosed the full methods of working it until now. The recent tests were designed as a practical demonstration to all the Powers of the utility of such cables. A leader cable has already been laid in the Ambrose Channel, New York Harbour.

After an experimental existence of over a year, the Portsmouth cable has now become a permanent addition to the navigating facilities of the port, and all large war vessels are now being fitted with the receiving apparatus necessary to enable them to use it.

"THE WHIP" DREW A LARGE AUDIENCE

WILL BE PRESENTED AGAIN TO-NIGHT

For powerful, gripping scenes, no photo play ever shown in Peterboro has eclipsed "The Whip,' which was presented yesterday afternoon and night at the Grand. The silent drama unfolding the attempt to do away with a race horse, carried thrills galore, and it kept the large audience interested from start to finish. The picture will be shown again to-night and to-morrow, afternoon and evening.

The story of "The Whip," abounds with thrills and tense situations, the climax being the immense train wreck where the Saratoga express crashes into a freight car, splintering it to kindling wood, and itself going over the embankment, a mass of wreckage, cars, boilers and twisted iron.

The plot of course centres around "The Whip," a beautiful race horse, which has been scheduled as a winner for the big handicap. Enemies of the horse's owner, a pair of crooks and a bookmaker, give themselves up to all manner of villainy to accomplish their contemptible end—that of killing 'The Whip." Though they almost succeed in their end, enough to make the plot an amazingly interesting one, the crooks are thwarted and "The Whip" wins the race. At the last moment the jockey is held by a police warrant, and Diana Beverley, the owner's young daughter, rides the horse to the winning post. There is a love story in the picture, and as all good tales do—"All's well that ends well."

Those who are fond of dogs and horses will enjoy this photo-drama, as there is a fox hunting scene, a horse show and a race course. The cast of actors in "The Whip' are most capable, the leading characters of the story being Diana Beverley, her lover, Hubert Brancaster, Mrs. D'Aquila, Baron Sartoris and Harry Anson, the jockey.

The stage effects which are very realistic, add greatly to the thrills and suspense of the production, and anyone not having seen the picture, as well a s those who have, cannot spend a more enjoyable hour than by taking in this great melodrama now showing at the Grand.

"DARDANELLA"

"The wonder show of the century," the McGregor Company's three-ring circus of musical comedy, "Dardanella," is underlined for presentation at the Grand on Saturday next. "Reviews," "Follies," "Frolics," "Passing Shows," "Carnivals" and "Scandals" have all been rolled into one gigantic whole—a whale of a show—setting a pace that defies competition and making it the most distinctive song and dance revue of the entire comic world. It's a concoction of jingling mirth, tinkling song and a tornado of jazzing.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BANQUET AT MILLBROOK

HUNDRED AND FIFTY GATHER AROUND THE FESTIVE BOARD—ANNIVERSARY W.M.S. OF CANADA

MILLBROOK, Feb. 15.—Over one hundred and fifty gathered around the festive board in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening last ,to fittingly observe the fortieth anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society in Canada.

It is thirty-five years since the Millbrook branch of this society was organized. At the present time there is also a Mission Band and Mission Circle, both in a flourising condition and doing good work in this splendid field of service.

Mrs. S. T. Tucker occupied the chair and the speakers were Miss P. Byam. Miss S. Hetherington,and Mrs. Kendry, treasurer of the district branch.

I am proud, said Miss Byam, to be a member of a society which has, for the past forty years, been growing, and achieveing success, and I feel that it is true patriotism to Christianize and Canadianize the foreigners in our midst, She also drew attention to the fact that the society has 222 workers in Japan and 35 missionaries in China.

Cot in Hospital.

Miss S. Hetherington, who spoke on behalf of the young people, especially the Mission Band and Circle, said: For the last eleven years we have had a Band supporting a cot in a hospital in Chentu, China. We now have a Mission Circle educating a girl in China. We need at the present time more workers in Christ's service. In enlisting in the Christian army under the leadership of Christ there are no stumbling blocks—Christ gave no erroneous orders.

Miss P. Burnham spoke on the value of prayer. Our very existence, she said, depends on intercession; intercession would put more power into our efforts. A little time spent in study would sweep away dislike and unjust prejudice against the forces for good. She concluded by saying that were it not for women there would be many places that the gospel would never have reached.

Activities of Society.

Mrs. Kendry was the last speaker, and gave an account of the activities of the society since its inception, paying tribute to the Millbrook branch. She also made a plea for volunteers for the mission field. The call is just as great for women in the mission field as was the call for men in the trenches.

Musical Numbers.

The speeches were interspersed by the following music: Song, by four boys of the Mission Band; piano duet, Misses Elson and Hetherington; reading, Miss Hampton; piccolo solo, W. Byam; song by four girls of the Mission Band; solo, Mrs. Sayles; chorus, by Circle girls.

HEADACHES

Make Life Miserable

Headaches are one of the most aggravating troubles one can have, and it is hard to struggle a long with a head that aches and pains all the time.

Headaches seem to be habitual with many people; some are seldom, if ever, free from them, suffering continually from the dull throbbings, the intense pains; sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then again over the whole head.

There is only one way to get relief from these persistent headaches and that is by going direct to the seat of the trouble, for unless the cause is removed, the headaches will still continue to exist.

The fact that Burdock Blood Bitters keep the stomach, liver and bowels toned up is proof enough to show that it will eliminate the cause of the headaches.

Mrs. Harold Lanain, Owen Sound, Ont., writes:— "My system was run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head, which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitter, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health, so I took another and am glad to say that it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to my friends, who were in a similar condition, and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

Clarkson, of Nashwaak Village, president of the York County Branch of the United Farmers of New Brunswick, that there will be a United Farmers' candidate in the field in the coming Federal by-election in York-Sunbury. FORD CARS AND FORBSON TRACTORS

BRISK MOVEMENT IN EARLY BOOKINGS AND ENCOURAGING PROSPECTS FOR SPRING.

In talking with our reporter, Mr. Duffus, Motor Sales, stated to-day, that the sale of Ford cars during the last six weeks was equal to summer business and that a considerable shortage of cars was inevitable The Ford Sedan, Coupe and Touring Car were selling faster than they could get delivery for. This morning they had to telephone the factory for four touring cars and one Fordson Tractor which the customers wanted immediately.

Next Monday afternoon and all day Tuesday a Tractor and power farming demonstration will be held at the new premises of The Duffus Motor Sales at which all interested in power farming are invited. Interesting lectures illustrated by moving pictures and practical demonstration setting forth the advantages of power farming and the general value of the tractor will be among the attractions.

FINAL OBSEQUIES OF BYE-ELECTION

Carload of Documents to be Shipped to Ottawa.

The official count of the vote yesterday by the Returning Officer in the West Peterborough by-election gave G. N. Gordon a majority of 1,282 votes. The duties of James A. Hall, returning officer, however, will not be completed for one week yet. He has to forward to Chief Electoral Officer O. M. Biggar, of Ottawa, immediately after the sixth day next following the final count of the votes of each candidate, unless before that time he has received notice of a recount by the Judge. All the paraphernalia of the election will be shipped by registered mail to the capital on Monday next, unless something unforeseen crops up. Returning Officer Hall must send first the election writ with his return on a special form that the candidate having the largest number of votes has been duly elected. Secondly, a report of his proceedings, which report shall contain such observations as he may think proper as to the state of the ballot boxes or ballot papers as received by him. Thirdly, the official stamp, all the ballot papers, including those unused, the original statements of the several deputy returning officers, together with the list of voters and the poll books used and all other books, lists and documents transmitted to him by the deputy returning officers.

Besides his return to the Chief Electoral Officer, Mr. Hall must make a similar return to each candidate.

The Chief Electoral Officer maintains a record of the vote and other facts and gives notice in the Canada Gazette of the successful candidate, and also forwards a certified statement of the votes to the Auditor-General, who satisfies himself if the candidate's deposit should be returned.

A full report will later on be printed by the Chief Electoral Officer, with full information on the results of the West Peterborough by-election.

HEAVY TRADING IN "VICTORIES"

NEARLY $60,000 WORTH OF VICTORY BONDS, 1933, TRADED IN TORONTO.

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—Victory Bonds of 1933 maturity were considerably in evidence in the sales lists of the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, nearly sixty thousands of this class of government stocks being traded with noon price at 98 3-4, the general trend of sales being about on a par with yesterday's price. Other Victory and War Bonds were dealt in to some extent with prices firm to higher. On the whole the market was steady for all securities, Brazilian showing a slight advance over yesterday at 34 1-2 to-day. C. P. R. was fractionally stronger. The papers and banks were not much in evidence

HELPED ALL THREE IN THE ONE FAMILY

QUEBEC MAN GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Absolom Duchesneau Gives Three Reasons Why He Advises Everyone to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills for Kidney Ills.

St. George, Beauce Co., Que., Feb. 14.—(Special) —Just how much good Dodd's Kidney Pills have done in one family is told by Mr. Absolom Duchesneau, a well-known and highly respected resident here.

"My health is very much better since taking Dodds Kidney Pills," Mr. Duchesneau states. "For two years I was in pain but since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills the pain is gone.

"I also induced my mother to use Dodd's Kidney Pills for sleeplessness and the results were very satisfactory

"My sister, too, took Dodd's Kidney Pills for backache, and she is better.

"Do you wonder that I advise everyone to use Dodd's Kidney's Pills"?

The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills have come to occupy such a prominent place in the family medicine chest is that so many of the ordinary every day ills come from sick kidneys. Rheumastism, urinary troubles, backache, diabetes and heart disease can all be traced directly or indirectly to sick kidneys.

Ask your neighbours if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for sick kidneys.

HOPES FOR LABOR BOOM IN SPRING

HUGH ROBERTSON, SUPT. LOCAL EMPLOYMENT AGENCY, TALKS ON UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION.

Although the present unemployment situation is not improving, Mr. Hugh Robertson, local superintendent of the Government Employment Agency, regards the future with optimism. In fact, to-day he told The Examiner he thought that in the spring a shortage of labour was not at all improbable.

At present, unemployment has hit not only ordinary labour, but the skilled trades especially. The building trades are experiencing hard times but the unemployment here is fortunately not as widespread as in the larger industrial centres. Several men have come to Peterborough from Toronto seeking work, but Mr. Robertson had not heard of them securing employment.

No labourers have been sent to the Welland Canal from here, as Toronto is sending a large number of workers there.

Mr. Robertson, when asked if he did not think it would have been a better policy for the city to make those who are receiving relief engage in some work, and remove the stigma of pauperism, replied in the affirmative. He regretted that a start had not been made with the filtration plant, as this would have given work to many men who need it badly.

Mr. Robertson also stated that there were numerous factory girls out of work. Female factory help was not in demand, and many young ladies, bitter as the pill was to swallow, had been forced into domestic service. But while there were a few good domestic positions open now, most of those indexed were from homes blacklisted by the domestics of this city years ago.

In regard to reports in the Toronto papers that several industries had greatly increased their staffs of late, the agency superintendent said that as far as he knew, only one factory had taken on any more hands, and it was engaging men, who had been laid off, opening up a department that has been idle for some time.

PLUMBING INSPECTORS HOLD A CONVENTION

ART, METHERAL, OF PETERBORO, READS PAPER ON ENFORCEMENT OF BY-LAWS.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 15. — Urging that plumbing inspectors and all sanitary inspectors should receive special instruction in public health at some recognized school or college, Dr. W. H. Hutton, Brantford Medical Officer of Health, followed this up by urging the members of the Ontario Plumbing Inspectors' Association in convention here to be "apostles of public health." He declared that they should preach the gospel of sanitation, for sanitary instruction was more than sanitary legislation.

There was a large attendance of plumbing inspectors present from all parts of Ontario. Mayor George Wedlake presented the welcome to Brantford and President George Broomfield told the delegates some of the early history of Brantford. A luncheon and motor tour of the city followed. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, George Broomfield, Brantford; Vice-President, J. C. Palmer, Oshawa; Secretary, W. S. Meadows, Toronto; Executive, B. Kirk, Toronto; J. Bush, Toronto; David Wark, Hamilton; A. Metheral, Peterborough; C. Young, London; S. C. Webber, Niagara Falls; D. McPherson, St. Catharines. St. Catharines was chosen as the next meeting place. Papers were given on "Smoke Testing," by A. Fitzsimons, Toronto; "Enforcement of Plumbing By-laws," by A. Metheral, Peterborough; "Notes on the Work," by S. C. Webber, Niagara Falls; and "Troubles of an Inspector," by David Wark. The session wound up last night.

Exemption for New Industries.

On a communication received from the Welland Board of Trade, consideration was given to the proposal of various municipalities that the exemption for new industries, as is customary by most municipalities in Ontario, should be eliminated.

Owng to the competition from other provinces in the Dominion in securing new industries by these inducements, it was decided that Ontario would be at a great dsadvantage to discontinue the present practice, but that if a Federal law was passed disallowing this practice, it would be most beneficial to Ontario.

On this subject the following resolution was passed unanimously:

"Resolved, that the Peterborough Board of Trade respectively requests the Provincial Government to refrain from passing any laws which would handicap Ontario in securing additional industries,(for we feel that a law of this nature will act unfavourably, unless it is desired by every province in the Dominion."

Made-in-Canada Campaign.

The exchange situation between Canada and the United States was thoroughly discussed, and particular emphasis was made of the fact that $100,000,000 premium had been paid on exchange to the United States on business done with them, during the years 1919 and 1920. It was felt that this situation could be relieved to a considerable extent if this subject was brought to the notice of all Canadian citizens, and that an endeavour be made to decrease the buying of American products in favour of Canadian.

With this object in view, it was decided that a circular be passed around at the annual meeting, to secure the signatures of all members and others agreeing to buy nothing in the United States which can be bought at home.

Old I... Re-union Week.

General enthusiasm was unanimously shown on the suggestion that the Board should take the initiative in instituting a Re-union Week for the old boys and girls of Peterborough.

A resolution was adopted to this end, and requests will be forwarded to all organisations in the city to send a representative to a future meeting, soliciting their co-operation and active support in carrying out this project.

It was considered that this Re-union Week will entail a considerable amount of detail in arrangements, and that the whole-hearted support of every organisation in the city was necessary to carry it out and make it a momentous period in the history of Peterborough. A special committee of the Board has been appointed by the President to get action immediately.

Nominating Committee.

The following members were elected unanimously to act as a nominating committee, to bring in a slate of 30—15 of whom will constitute the officers and executive council of the Board for the coming year: G. O. Cameron (chairman), W. A. Richardson, J. R. Corkery, W. S. Merrell, and C. E. Sisson.

Election Judges.

Five election judges were appointed by the President to act as scrutineers for the annual election day, to be held on 1st March: F. C. Hungerford (chairman), S. A. Brett, Jas. Garside, N. Phelan, and C. S. Cmumer.

The following were appointed as auditors for the year ending 28th February, 1921: W. R. Morris, V. Eastwood, and W. H. Dunsford.

Closing Remarks.

In closing, the President, Mr. Edgar Worth, believed that the postponement of the regular meeting from the week previous had shown its value by the attendance at this meeting, and the discussions on the various subjects which had been considered.

He particularly requested that the members should consider it a particular duty to poll their votes on the annual election day on 1st March, and that a particular effort should be made to have a record attendance at the annual meeting to be held on 8th March.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Counsel for Donal O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, sought to-day to have the state department reconsider its decision that their client was without rights as a political refugee and subject to deportation because of his arrival in the United States as a stowaway without a passport. The department officers said that careful consideration would be given the claims of O'Callaghan's Counsel, but it was intimated that the department still regards the case as one for the department of labor to pass upon.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of Herbie Reynolds, who died Friday, Jan. 15th, 1915.
(By F. A. Conners.)

In a little snow-white casket,
In the corner near the wall,
Lies the form of little Herbie,
Who has answered to the call;
It was the voice of Jesus,
As he said, "Come unto me,
And Herbie answered softly,
"Yes, Lord, I'll follow Thee."

He is gone to be with Jesus,
In that land of light and love,
Where with Jesus all the ransomed
Are gathered safe above;
And we'll go some day to join him,
In that mansion bright and fair,
Where we'll never know earth's sorrows,
And there'll be no parting there.

Now there comes to you this message,
Who are here and well to-day,
They're the precious words of Jesus,
And to you they softly say,
"Come unto me ye weary,
And I will give you rest,"
Take my easy yoke upon you,
And your soul shall then be blest.

We are passing, swiftly passing,
As the hours speed away,
We may be gone to-morrow,
Who are here and well to-day,
So to you I bring this message,
Now beneath His chastening rod,
Make ye ready for the journey,
"Prepare to meet thy God."

—By the Family.

In loving memory of Herbie's birthday, Feb. 15th, 1904.

DOMINIONS MUST ASSIST MOTHER LAND

LLOYD GEORGE DECLARES IT IS TOO MUCH FOR BRITISH ISLES TO BEAR DEFENCE OF GREAT EMPIRE ALONE.

MAKE COMMON CAUSE

(Canadian Press).

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Premier Lloyd George, speaking in the House of Commons last evening, declared that it was too much to ask of these small islands that they undertake the whole burden of the defence of the gigantic Empire in every sea, and that at the forthcoming conference of the Premiers of the Dominions in London, the whole problem of Imperial defence must be considered. There must be, the Premier said, co-ordination not only between the various services but between the several parts of the Empire. He stated that the conference of the Dominion Premiers to be held in June would be the most momentous event in the history of the Empire. General consent was now given to the principle that the Mother Country and the Dominions must make common cause to defend world liberties and the Empire's interests. This did not mean that it was the intention to involve Canada, Australia and India in all the Mother Country's quarrels, but it did mean the standing together of the various countries of the Empire when there was some great cause at stake as in the late war.

FARMERS WILL SUPPORT KING

SUCH IS GENERAL OPINION AT OTTAWA, ALTHOUGH SOME DO NOT FAVOR IMMEDIATE ELECTION.

(Canadian Press).

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—The attitude of the National Progressives and cross benchers to the Liberal amendment to the address is causing much discussion about the House corridors. Some of the farmer members from the prairies are stated to be rather in favour of holding off until the West can get what they term proper representation by redistribution. Others, however, appear to think there is no time like the present for bringing on an election if such is possible. Generally speaking, at the present time, it is thought the Progressives will support the amendment.

Left, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party; right, Hon. T. A. Crerar, Leader of the Farmers' party, who, it is rumored, have at least reached a temporary understanding in their common effort to bring about the dissolution of Parliament and a general election. Mackenzie King is expected hourly to give notice of a resolution calling for dissolution and a general election. At the last session he introduced a similar resolution which was defeated, but due to the way in which the government's maojrity has been whittled down, he has a chance of meeting with success at this session.

Clergy and Laity Honor Rev. Phelan, 25th Anniversary

RECTOR OF ST PETER'S CATHEDRAL TO-DAY CELEBRATES 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF HIS ORDINATION TO THE PRIESTHOOD.

MASS AT ST. PETER'S

Reverend Father C. J. Phelan, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, celebrated this morning the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. The church in which he was baptized, confirmed and ordained, in which he received his first communion and which has been the scene of his labours during the last six years of his pastorate of the cathedral parish of the diocese of Peterborough, was filled with a large congregation who joined with the jubilarian in his thanksgiving. Father Phelan sang high mass, assisted by Father McAuley of Ennismore as deacon and Father William McCann of St. Francis' church, Toronto, sub-deacon.

Bishop O'Brien was present, together with Monsignor Whelan of Toronto, Monsignor Casey of Lindsay, and Monsignor McColl of this city. The clergy of the diocese were largely represented and in the congregation were not only many of the parishioners of St. Peter's, but citizens of other denomiantions, friends of Father Phelan's boyhood and youth, comrades of his lacrosse days, and citizens with whom he has been associated in his later years in public activities. The presence of such a diverse gathering was in itself a splendid tribute to Father Phelan's work, both as a priest and a citizen. Mayor McIntyre and members of the City Council, Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., Mr. Thomas Tooms, M.P.P., Mr. Roland Denne, chairman of the Industrial Exhibition of which Father Phelan is an honorary but active member, Mr. George Duncan, chairman of the Utilities Commission, Mr. E. F. Mason, members of the Peterboorugh Health Association and of the Children's Aid Society, and old friends such as Miles Hamilton, Harry Rush and W. G. Morrow, these were some of Father Phelan's fellow citizens who joined with him this morning in his happy and jubilant passing of the silver milestone in the service of the Catholic church and its congregation of St. Peter's Cathedral.

The festive aspect of the occasion was marked by the singing of the Gloria in Excelsis, part of the mass which is ordinarily omitted during Lent. And at the conclusion, after Father McAuley had sung the "Ite Missa Est," the bendiction was given

CROWD TREATS REDS "ROUGH"

POLICE NECESSARY TO PROTECT SOCIALISTS FROM ANGRY MOB IN ITALIAN TOWN.

FIRE LABOR EXCHANGE

(Canadian Press.)

ROME, Feb. 16. — Disturbances have broken out at Metera, in the Province of Potenza, Southern Italy, as a result of the arrival of M. Hoenning, Russian Bolshevik emissary, says a despatch to the Giornale D'Italia. Citizens refused to permit his entry into the town and an angry crowd invaded the town hall, drove out the Socialist members of the Council and hoisted the National flag. Finally the mob set fire to the furniture and papers in the office of the Labor Exchange. The police were compelled to intervene to protect the Socialists from the fury of the populace, it is declared.

GEDDES RETURNING AFTER HAVING SOUNDED GOVT. ON DISARMAMENT

(By W. Orten Towson, Staff Correspondent of the Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, February 16.—Sir Auckland Geddes is returning to the United States by the s.s. Aquitania. He is a complete optimist on the question of future relations between the United States and Great Britain. It is now known that he came to Britain to sound the Government regarding certain proposals in President-elect Harding's mind for an international conference on naval armaments.

It is important that there should be a preliminary understanding between Great Britain and the United States, for without it the conference might lead to public differences between them on the naval policy, and that atmosphere would be favourable for a discussion of ideas which may startle some people. With big ideas in the air, there is danger that unless there is an active will to come closer, the two countries may end by drifting further apart.

That was the whole idea in Sir Auckland meeting the American correspondents, and which created such a beautiful breeze by misquotation. I understand that the balance of the evidence taken by the Cabinet Committee on the naval shipbuilding policy is against the submarine etremists, but there will be no big programme for the present. The policy is to hold up on all unnecessary work until the chances for an international agreement have been thoroughly explored.

CARUSO SAYS FAREWELL TO OPERA STARS

FAMOUS OPERATIC TENOR SUFFERED SEVERE HEART ATTACK LAST NIGHT AND LAST SACRAMENT ADMINISTERED.

REQUIRES STIMULANTS

(Canadian Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. — Enrico Caruso, the famous operatic tenor, who has been slowly recovering from a pleurisy attack, suffered a severe heart attack early this morning. At eight o'clock Caruso's condition was reported to be slightly improved. The attending doctors admitted, however, that the famous singer was desperately ill.

ENRICO CARUSO

Caruso at intervals throughout the night and the early morning relapsed into semi-consciousness but rallied slightly after the ministrations of oxygen and heart stimulants. Caruso expressed a wish to see the opera singers with whom he had been associated and many of them visited him during the morning. To each of them he said "Good-bye." The last sacrament was administered.

An official bulletin issued by Caruso's doctors at noon said:

"Caruso has rallied from a very severe relapse. His condition is not satisfactory, but there is some improvement."

HANNA ORDER COME UP IN PARLIAMENT?

(Canadian Press).

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—The view is expressed here that the dispute between the management and employees of the Canadian National Railways, arising from President Hanna's "no politics" order, may be the subject of debate in the House of Commons during the present session. Although no definite news has been received, it is thought the employees would prefer to have the case placed before Parliament to the taking of immediate action. Both parties are standing firm, but it is thought that some way out of the difficulty might be found on the floor of Parliament.

Mackenzie King Moves Want of Confidence Amendment to the Speech From the Throne

LIBERAL LEADER DEMANDS A GENERAL ELECTION AND ASKS WHAT RIGHT A GOVERNMENT WITHOUT A MANDATE HAS TO REVISE THE TARIFF—MEIGHEN, IN REPLY, DECLARES GOVERNMENT CONSTITUTIONAL AND WILL HOLD ONTO POWER.

BOTH PARTIES PREPARE FOR WAR TO THE KNIFE

(Canadian Press).

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—The Liberal effort to secure a dissolution of Parliament and a general election at an early date began yesterday afternoon, when Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Leader of the Liberal party, moved an amendment to the reply to the speech from the Throne, as follows:

"We respectfully submit to Your Excellency that Your Excellency's present advisers do not possess the confidence of the House or of the country, and that their retention of office constitutes a usurpation of the powers of popular government."

Hon. W. S. Fielding seconded the amendment.

The reply of the Prime Minister to the Opposition Leader was emphatic in its declaration, that the Government would carry on and would not be stampeded into dissolution by the Leader of the Opposition or the party press.

The galleries were filled to hear the two Leaders.

Following the moving and seconding of the reply to the speech from the Throne, Hon. Mr. King launched almost immediately into the fight after a few brief preliminaries. "By what right, by what authority, are you attempting to carry on the government of this country? We on this side think that you are usurping the power of the people in direct violation of the spirit of the constitution."

Is Not Union Government.

Mr. King said the present Government was entirely different in personnel, character and purpose from the Government which was there at the last election. The former Government was a Government for war purposes. "Will the Prime Minister say that his Government now is a Union Government? Will he say it is a war Government?"

Nobody was deceived by the new title. "It is a bundle of inconsistencies and insincerities. It is not a Union Government. It is a reactionary Tory Administration. Either this Government is entirely new, with a new Prime Minister, a new policy and supported by a new party, the existence of which has yet to be proved, or it is the ragged edge of the old Union party."

Mr. King went on to declare that it was usurping the power of the people, and reviewed the history of the old Cabinet, from which, he said, had gone 12 Ministers. He wanted to know how the new Government was any legitimate successor to the past Government. Could the Prime Minister say that this Government could be credited with the war work of the past Government in view of the many changes?

"It is so different in character and personnel that it is presumption for it to think that it is entitled to any of the credit of the Government of previous days. Could the present Prime Minister have formed a Unionist Administration in 1917? Unless he is prepared to say that he could, he cannot carry on now. Will he say that he is the Leader of a war party at present?" Mr. King then quoted from various speeches made by Government members in 1917. He quoted Sir Robert Borden as saying at that time, "There is only one issue."

The Liberal Leader wanted to know by what right the Government could revise the tariff. The tariff had been excluded in 1917 from the work of the Government. How could Mr. Calder reconcile himself staying with the Government to-day and his statement in 1917 that they would never have a Union if it had to be reached on the question of the tariff. They had been told in 1917 that they were not to forget their ideas, but to postpone them.

Prime Minister Replies.

The Prime Minister, in resuming the debate at the night session, declared that the resolution of the Liberal Leader was meaningless, as it served no purpose, because the defeat of the reply would mean a lack of confidence. The idea, he said, was not to make an issue in Parliament, but to see that there was no issue at all. All Governments, he said, remained in power because they had the confidence of a majority of the members elected by a majority of the people.

He replied to Mr. King's statement that the new Government was different in character and aims by stating that in character, purpose and aims the Government was in accord with the Government which preceded it. "In policy we are the continuation of that Government, and the legitimate successor. Only one of the Ministers who have retired did so because of any difference in principle and policy. Never has a Government sat in Canada with so many ex-Cabinet members with it who agree with it."

Mr. Meighen characterized some of Mr. King's utterances as unparalleled exaggerations. He maintained that, admitting that the purpose of the Government was for war purposes and purposes arising out of the war, then the duty of the Government was not yet done. The duties of the Government were just as sweeping as those of any Government entrusted with powers.

His Tariff Defence.

Replying to Mr. King that the Government could not revise the tariff, the Prime Minister said that the Government had made changes in the tariff each year, although it was not a revision, because the time was not ripe for a revision until now. He recalled that 12 months ago Mr. King had supported a resolution asking that the tariff be dealt with at once.

The Premier said he felt undisturbed over election precedents in China, Germany or Russia. The constitution in letter, spirit and everything else said the term was five years, although the usual practice was four years.

"Is there any sharp issue dividing this house now?" asked the Premier, declaring that there must be a great issue before there could be an appeal to the people.

"We do not propose any radical policy. We won't give more to the people than they have voted for for years. The Government would not be performing its duty to the people if it were stampeded by the voice of a party press or a party leader. Last year the Liberal Leader complained we did nothing with the tariff. Now he says you shouldn't touch it."

PROHIBITION CREATES DEMAND FOR CANDY AND PRICE ASCENDS

(By JEANNEATE.)

Why is candy up and sugar down? That's the question. In these days of the O.T.A. we must have candy. It's a necessity of life. Jack London, when he wrote "John Barleycorn," made the statement that the average man who was a heavy drinker might have escaped his fate if he had cultivated the vice of candy consumption in early life. But everyone likes candy. Time was, a long time ago, when one could purchase quite an exorbitant number of pink, yellow and white creams in exchange for a round copper cent, and for five cents, one could treat the crowd and have some left over. Now, you can buy nothing worth mentioning for a dime. The other day, after the expenditure of fifteen cents, we counted the result. A modest half dozen. And they weren't chocolates either. Those dusky beauties are far beyond the reach of the unextravagant sweet tooth. Fifty cents will only net a very small bagful, just enough to make you want more. It didn't seem so bad when sugar was up, but now, when the sliding scale has become so popular, why the haughty aloofness of the succulent buttercup and marrowbone?

TITLED PEOPLE START GARAGES

(Cross-Atlantic News Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 16.—It has become quite the fashion for the "new poor" to take a hand in the motor industry. No end of people who are in Debrett and Burke hire out their cars and sometimes they drive as well.

The Black Cat garage is very popular, and is doing a very flourishing business. It was started during the war with two cars; now it has forty to its name!

Among those interested in the concern are Mrs. Ronald Menzies, who was an enthusiastic driver during the war, and the two Lichfield boys, Mr. Rupert Anson and his brother.

Others in the motor business are Lady Iris Capell, who, under the name of K. Smith, runs a garage in Ebury Street, and Lord St. Oswald, who owns the Harina garage, near Southwick Palace, where Lord and Lady St. Oswald lived before they sold their London house and moved into the country.

THE WEATHER

A year ago this morning it was 0 below zero, and it had been drifting badly the previous day and night. To-day at noon it was 55 degrees in the shade, with the sun shining brightly, the little snow we have had rapidly disappearing, and a pronounced feeling of springtime in the air. Of course the pessimist says "We will pay up for this later on," but for the time being we may well ignore him, and enjoy the fine weather to the full when we have it.—W. P.

No minister has even been able to trace his unpopularity to short sermons.

TO INCREASE CAPACITY OF GRAND STAND

siastic over the board's proposed activities for thi syear and looked with great optimsm into the future. President R. Denne was in the chair, the other officers being all present with the exception of Mr. Vincent Eastwood, the treasurer. The directorate at the meeting was as follows: Thomas Brown, C. F. Kitney, John Gillespie, J. O. Ball, E. W. Wood, D. Jordan, W. H. Webber, T. Cruikshanks, S. A. Oke, R. C. Grandy, Bruce Johnston, S D. Hall, E. B. Fowler, G. O. Cameron, R. B. Rogers, J. Kelly, W. H. Young, W. H. Dunsford and W. Barry.

Several new members were present at the meeting and a hearty welcome was etxended to them by the President, to which Mr. W. H. Dunsford, included in this group, replied, thanking them for their warm welcome. The committee which struck the standing committees was composed of G. O. Cameron (chairman), W. J. Cox, T. Brown, H. Webber, J. O. Ball and R. C. Grandy. This committee was formed on the motion of Mr. W. J. Cox, his name afterwards being added to the list, and after being out about half an hour, they brought in the new committees, which were endorsed by the Board. They also recommended that J. Gillespie be appointed assistant superintendent to render aid to "Tom" Brown in times of stress, and this was acted upon by the board.

Out of four names submitted as representatives of the poultry association on the directorate, that of Fred Holmes was unanimously chosen, and Mr. Holmes was last night placed on the poultry committee.

Dates For the Fair.

Discussion first opened last night on the dates for the fair, but no discussion could be arrived at until Lindsay's dates are known. Mr. R. C. Grandy, who represented Peterborough at the convention in Toronto last week, informed the board that Lindsay had not yet set its dates but it wanted a three days' fair and it wanted this city to drop back to the old three-day system with it, so they could split the week evenly between them.

"I don't think we should go back. We should be going ahead," declared the President, and most of the director held similar views.

Vice-President Turner expressed himself similarly, and Mr. Cox said that he felt the same as Mr. Turner. "I wouldn't back down. I'd go ahead." Mr. Turner suggested that a deputation go to Lindsay and try to reach an amicable agreement as to the two dates. Peterborough, according to him, wanted Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and if necessary would like to be able to have Tuesday. He favoured having both fairs follow each other so that a higher class of attractions could be secured with two shows close together assured the vaudeville artists and carnival shows. "We made it clear when they were down here we did not want to conflict with them. We also made it clear that our fair came first." Mr. Turner ventured the opinion that Lindsay, if approached in the right spirit, might consent to take the week after Peterborough and thus not compete with Peterborough at all.

After a meandering discussion, the matter of sending a delegate to Lindsay was left to the executive committee, and Mr. Turner lost no time in mustering forces for an impressive but peaceful swoop on Scugogville. In all he secured some ten or twelve volunteers who will list to the clarion call of duty, which translated, means an automobile horn at the front door and journey thence some fine day soon along with the President, who, with Mr. Turner and Mr. Cameron, will probably form the Peterborough spokesmen.

New Grandstand.

President R. Denne emphasized to the Board the need of getting in each committee's budget as soon as possible, and it was finally decided to have the next meeting when all reports are to be in, three weeks from last night. Vice-President Turner told the Board last night that another grand stand to seat one thousand people was absolutely essential to the success of the fair and the holiday attractions. He moved that the Board's architect submit plans and specifications on a wood and steel grand stand to seat one thousand, to be built as an addition to the present one. Mr. Turner declared they wanted to get the best job they could for the least money. Mr. Turner's proposal was commended throughout the room and his suggestion to drop the construction of a cattle barn this year and concentrate on the grand stand, as they require the revenue this will bring in, met with similar aproval, and his motion passed. Mr. Denne dwelt on the need of a cattle barn as demonstrated at the recent Shorthorn sale which had to be held in the horse barn, but conceded that the need for the grand stand was of paramount importance. The grand stand, stated Mr. Turner, would be built without a canopy, but the construction of one later on could be allowed for.

Mr. Grandy, the delegate at the Toronto convention, advised the Board in a brief verbal report, that Fair Boards must, according to a resolution passed at the meeting, have an impartial person, not a director or superintendent at the grounds, to confine his attention to the gambling devices.

"I don't see why we need another man," said Superintendent Brown. "Besides the superintendent, the officers who are supposed to keep a wary eye on the concessions include the city police, the county police and the Provincial police." "Do not forget the license inspector," added a director with a smile. Mr. Brown's idea that the extra man was superfluous was agreed with.

Before the conclusion of the meeting, the superintendent again expressed his appreciation of the splendid chair given him by the Board, and more especially the handsome bouquet of roses sent to Mrs. Brown.

Although he arrived just as the meeting was over, Mr. Robert Hendry consented to sing and tell a joke. And then he told "another 'un—and the applause! Persons walking along the street below must have thought the Fair Board had been given a deed of the Fair ground or some equally to-be-rejoiced-at happening had occurred.

PROMISES BIG SALE OF QUALITY MEN'S WEAR

HARRY THORNTON WILL ANNOUNCE TO-MORROW THE EXACT HOUR OF A WHOLESALE SALE IN A RETAIL STORE ON GEORGE STREET

"To-morrow I will be able to give the exact date of an unreserved sale of men's wear which I purpose," said Harry Thornton, whose voyage of study to the manufacturing centres was referred to yesterday.

"I am going to keep my word to the letter. All costs of distribution will be thrown away. I will not even ask my customers to pay the present high cost of freight and express, which are double what they were under efficiency management of the railways.

"The wholesale cost at the factory will be the rule. I am willing to sacrifice $15,000 in converting a $50,000 stock of Semi-ready suits and other high quality wear into money.

"To-day I am busy working on particulars. I do not have to fix up new price tickets, or go into any gulling tricks of the trade so common in the large cities, for all my goods are marked in plain figures, and the suits have a silk price label sewn in the pocket. Coming into our shop, a man can buy on sight and unseen with perfect safety.

"I have never conducted what one might call a bargain sale — for with quality goods, so carefully made from the best materials, there is always a steady sale.

"But wholesale prices have dropped 10 per cent., and by next winter there should be another decline of a like amount, and I am, as I said before, going to clear the decks for action. My customers can depend always on getting the best for the least money —always." 1d

(Canadian Press.)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Feb. 16. —One hundred passengers were landed during the night from the Portuguese steamer, Sao Vicente, from Lisbon, which struck on a ledge in the harbor entrance yesterday. It was expected that unless the vessel could be floated at high tide the remaining two hundred passengers would be taken off this morning. The vessel remained nearly on an even keel and the sea was smooth.

MISS PANKHURST LEAVES POLITICS

NO PENSIONS PROVIDED, SO SHE MUST LOOK FOR A JOB.

(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Christabel Pankhurst, formerly one of the famous suffragist trio, is looking for a "non-political" job. She advertises that "Miss Christabel Pankhurst (owing to the victorious termination of her leadership in the cause of women's political enfranchisement) seeks remunerative non-political work."

Asked what the advertisement exactly means, Miss Pankhurst said: "It means that I consider that political independence for a leader is impossible unless he or she is financially independent. I am not a woman of independent fortune and have given all the years of my life to working for a cause which has militated against my taking up a profession.

"There are no pensions provided for women who have successfully led a cause to victory, as my friends and supporters are kind enough to say I did in respect of the enfranchisement of women.

"Perhaps if I had been a man I should have been in a mode fortunate position, as is Mr. Hughes, the Prime Minister of Austria, whose supporters have raised a fund of 27,000 pounds, which makes him independent in every sense, including the political sense, for the rest of his days.

"Men, of course, realize—their political education and experience has taught them—that political pensions for those who have not private fortunes are necessary in certain cases if independent leadership is to be maintained.

"So, as I have to earn my own living, I am determined to do it in a way which cannot possibly compromise my political independence. I am, therefore, looking out for non-political occupation."

No man is truly great who is unable to realize how insignificant he really is.

The size of trouble depends on whether it is coming or going.

GERMAN ELECTION NOT WITHOUT DANGER OF COUNTER-REVOLUTION

MONARCHIST PARTY HAS SOUNDED TOCSIN TO ATTEMPT RETURN OF THE HOHENZOLLERNS TO POWER

By Viggo Topper.
(Staff Correspondent Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

BERLIN, February 15.—The question of who is to succeed Herr Ebert, the blunt master-saddler, as president of Germany, is occupying all minds here, and is arousing scarcely less interest in France. Even the most radical socialists admit that it will be of advantage to the country to elect a more representative person than an honest artisan, and that at least during the first years of reconstruction the office should be held by a man skilled in the intricacies of diplomacy.

Under these circumstances it is not strange that the former Chancellor of the Empire, Prince von Buelow, should be pointed out as the man to save Germany and that he, in case he agrees to accept the nomination, will get the support of not only practically the entire People's Party but also of a great many more radical elements.

The question is, however, will this ambitious statesman, once known as "The Kaiser's Bernhard," accept a nomination to become chief of the German Republic at a time when it is known that Wilhelm Hohenzollern has not yet given up all hope of the return to power of his dynasty. It must be admitted, however, that very many facts seem to indicate that Prince von Buelow is not unwilling to return to politics, and with the great prestige he enjoys at home as well as abroad, his acceptance of the nomination would mean an immense gain to the parties that are preparing to meet the threatening assaults of the monarchists.

The leaders of the German National Party, Herr Hergt and Count Westarp, have sounded the tocsin to call their followers to battle against the present socialistic government, and the latter has openly declared that he aims at nothing less than the restoration of the Hohenzollerns. Hergt has without hesitation accepted his program well knowing how strong the "Kaiser idea" still is among the upper and middle classes of the German people.

Maximilian Harden, who always keeps a very sensitive finger on the pulse of the German people, writes in the "Zukunft," "Do you know the chief occupation of German society at present? They are thinking of nothing but the coming court mourning which is to be religiously carried out. During the hardest times Germany has passed through during these last years no less has ever thought of curtailing their pleasures and amusements, but when the Kaiserin dies everyone will be declared an outlaw who does not dress himself in the deepest mourning. The tailors of Berlin are busily occupied making uniforms for the "all highest" funeral at Potsdam.

"Many there are who hope that the interment of this good German woman may become a monarchistic demonstration of the most pronounced kind, while others assure us that the body will be taken to Potsdam quietly and almost secretly. The letters of thanks for expressions of sympathy have been printed long before the death of the old lady, and even the most democratic papers last month were filled with descriptions, more or less imaginary, of how the imperial "Dulder" spent his Christmas, and how he, on the sacred eve, personally put ten Dutch guilders into the hand of each of his Dutch servants."

Now Harden is invariably in opposition to the present government, and frequently also to public opinion. His strength is criticism, and he is well aware that as an opposition writer he creates the most sensation. To this fact must be added his trongly Semitic feelings which he formerly had to suppress when he was writing in Bismarckian and super-Prussian spirit, but to which he now gives free rein. At present the old Bismarck admirer is extremely Red; he fights the republic because it flirts with monarchists, "received telegrams from Wilhelm I. R., arranges public prayers in the churches for the 'kaiserin' and issues 'Williamistic' proclamations to the new army of non-commissioned officers which everyone knows is to form the nucleus for the legions of revenge against France."

With what great anxiety the Democratic parties in Germany are looking forward to the coming Prussian elections is shown by an article by Herr Theodore Wolff, editor-in-chief of the "Berliner Tage-Blatt." He emphatically maintains that if Germany has been treated so harshly by her former enemies this is solely due to the violent monarchistic and reactionary propaganda that is permitted to be carried on within the country.

"To counteract this propaganda which is recklessly ruining Germany, republican leaders have now planned a campaign. A league is to be formed for the purpose of training and educating the people, to run a nail through all the lies and to work energetically for the republicanizing of the republic, tasks which have become absolutely necessary. We must put an end to all the swindling, to all the misery, to all the disgusting things we are now witnessing which have come to the republic, and we must expose the origin of the war, which was greeted by the reactionaries as a bath of rejuvenation, and was lost thru their blindness. We must ask our young people if it is not the most beautiful and highest ideal when a nation, instead of being driven like cattle, knowingly and independently out of its own strength and intelligence, fully conscious of its responsibilities, rebuilds ruined Germany. This task is, of course, an exceedingly difficult one, for the reaction, which has at its disposal the inexhaustible wealth of the war profiteers, has brought up the newspapers throughout the country, guarantees countless people a pleasant existence and sends its spellbinders to all parts of Germany.

"In many small towns anyone who in this republic calls himself a republican, is turned out of good society and put on a footing with tramps and loafers. How often have we not pointed out that practically all our judges, trained under the old regime, are utterly unable to understand and sympathise with the form of government it is their duty to support, and at best the republic is barely mentioned in our schools.

"Former republican governments have neglected much because they lacked initiative, determination and energy, and the present government is, besides, lacking in harmony and consistency. Throughout the whole discussion about disarmament, we have here done nothing but send one note after another couched in terms of the law. It wouold have been far more effective if we had answered the question which is constantly being put to us from the other side—republic or reaction?"

Undoubtedly, the editor of the "Berliner Tageblatt" is right. But judging from his own description of conditions in Germany which in many ways reminds one of Harden's indictments, one is justified in strongly doubting if Germany's present Berlin leaders, with or without the assistance of the planned republican league, will be able to save the republic from a fatal disaster. It may even be a question whether Prince von Buelow, if he consents, will be able to save the first German republic, but it is at least a most interesting question.

So far the Prince has preserved a sphinx-like silence, but to anyone endeavoring to sound him he will undoubtedly answer: "When I am asked officially, I will answer officially."

DUTCH COURAGE IN THE JERSEY SKEETER

What Happened When Dry Officers Poured Liquor on Hackensack Meadows.

(By H. I. Phillips)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(Thousands dollars' worth of contraband liquor was disposed of by being poured into the Hackensack meadows of New Jersey, breeding place of the famous Jersey skeeter, a few days ago.)

Scene—A mosquito breeding creek.

Time—Morning after the whiskey deluge.

The heating propensities of the hootch have brought the skeeters out two months ahead of the scheduled hatching time and the pests are seen running around wildly, but with no sense of direction.

To the left quite a boisterous flock of mosquitoes are singing with great gusto. To the right a few hundred are in a free-for-all-fight. In the center a particularly large mosquito, apparently one of last season's suddenly revived, is flat on his back with a violent case of hiccoughs.

First Skeeter—Whoopla!

Second Skeeter—Whoopla yerself!

First Skeeter—You're a hot lookin' mosquito in your present shape I must say.

Second Skeeter (throwing out chest)—I'm not a mosquito.

First Skeeter—And what are you then?

Second Skeeter—I'm an African lion, that's what I am, an African lion.

First Skeeter—No you're not. I'm the African lion; you're just a couple of insignificant, petty, inoffensive Bengal tigers,—both of you.

Second Skeeter—Woof! Woof!

First Skeeter—What kinda talk is that?

Second skeeter—That Lionese for raw meat I must have raw meat.

Third Skeeter (staggering up and joining party)—Get out of my way! D'ye hear me? Get out of my way or I'll tear yer to bits.

First and Second Skeets—Who are you?

Third Skeeter—I'm a dinosaur, the largest flying thing that ever roamed this earth (hic) and I don't care who knows it. Tough? Say I'm goin' over now and sting the marble figures on the Soldiers and Sailors' Monument so badly it'll give the whole group malaria, including the iron cannon and the granite shaft.

Chorus from convivial skeeters in distance:

Oh, clear the way! oh clear the way!
We're out on an awful bust;
We're out to slap big game to-day
And kick up lots of dust.
Thought we were born in Hackensack
We ought to be with Hagenback.
For we're terribly horrible, horribly terrible
Man-eating sons o guns!

First Skeeter—The idea is good, but the metre is rank. All the boys seem to have a big idea of themselves this morning. Im feeling pretty ferocious myself. I think I'll fly over to the railroad tracks and hold up a train!

Second Skeeter—Well, I'll just gunter dip my beak into this stream once more. There sure is a kick in these meadows this season.

Third Skeeter—You've all gotter have one with me or I'll tear yer into ten thousand smithereens, no smithereen bigger than a ton!

They join arms and withdraw to the stream quaffing for some time.

Presently, with a loud war whoop, they take to the air.

Four Mosquito (as they fly overhead)—Where are you eagles going?

First, Second and Third Mosquitoes (in chorus)—Over to destroy New York and the New England coast towns!

NEW ENGLISH COINS IMITATE COUNTERFEIT

(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Many large stores and shops are complaining of the discoloration of the new semi-silver coins, which they declare assume extraordinary hues, including green-ish-yellow after being in circulation for a few days, making it exceedingly difficult to distinguish them from counterfeit coins.

An official at the Mint says that after the coins have been in circulation for a little time they will wear right again and go back to their original color.

ANOTHER HAPSBURG IS EXPECTED

(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

GENEVA, Feb. 16.—The ex-Empress Zita of Austria, who is the mother of six children, is expecting another child in the spring. It will be her second child born in exile, the Archduke Rudolf having been born in Switzerland in 1919.

EXEMPTING INDUSTRIES.

Among the subjects discussed by the Board of Trade at its meeting on Monday evening was the question of exemption from taxation of new industries, the matter being brought before the local Board by a communication from Welland. There is no question of the desirability of the elimination of this system of aiding manufacturers, but the Board of Trade has taken the right position in asking the Provincial Government not to take any action in passing legislation in regard to the exemption for industries unless such laws are adopted by all the provinces. As long as other sections of Canada are permitted to offer such inducements to new industries Ontario cannot afford to put herself under a handicap, as she undoubtedly would be doing in passing a bill of this kind suggested. The system may be wrong in principle and a burden to some extent, at least, to municipalities, but unless the change is Dominion-wide, it would be folly to think of Ontario sacrificing herself for the benefit of the other provinces. The passing of a Federal law doing away with exemptions would be quite a different matter, but provincial action is neither desirable nor wise. The agitation for a reform in this respect should be staged at Ottawa, not Toronto.

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

The Farmers' government has expended Ontario's funds during the past year very lavishly—in fact for a government composed of men who made the financial policy of their predecessors in office a special subject for attack upon every possible ocasion, it may be said, exetravagantly. The Farmer members who in the last campaign assailed the old parties for what they called gross extravagance in the conduct of the affairs of the province, cannot expect to escape criticism, either in the House or out of it, upon their financial operations during the past year. The economy that they preached while out of office has failed to make its appearance, the public funds have been as freely dispensed as ever, and if there has been any saving achieved anywhere it is not readily apparent. Like the husband who complains of the size of the bills his wife manages to pile up in running the home and then tries his own hand at the operations for a week or two, the Farmer legislators have discovered that theory and performance are two different matters. Doubtless most of the expenditures made last year were justifiable, just as were amounts paid out by previous governments, but men who went up and down the country in 1919 waxing eloquent as they described the terrible extravagance of the government then in power, must expect a little of their own medicine when the Budget shows a huge expenditure and a deficit that doesn't furnish much chance for self praise.

CIVIC APATHY.

In many Ontario centres the question of the most suitable date for the municipal elections has been a matter of discussion recently, and the local Board of Trade had an innings over this topic the other night without coming to any definite conclusion except agreeing that New Year's Day is a most inconvenient polling day. The reason for this decision is, of course, the usually small vote that is polled on the occasion of the municipal elections, and there is a variance of opinion as to whether it would be better to have the voting early in December or else to adopt a date later on in January or perhaps in February. Judging, however, from the vote registered in the local by-elections it is by no means clear that the fact that the municipal elections are held on New Year's day is responsible for the apathy of the electors. In the political free-for-all, with five candidates appealing for support and with a lavish advertising campaign and a record deluge of oratory to arouse interest in the event, the official figures show that only a little better than fifty per cent. of the voters residing in the City of Peterborough exercised their franchise. If the most extraordinary political campaign in the history of Peterborough could not attract more than half the electors to the polls, it looks as if something more than a change in date would be necessary to arouse the citizens to a sense of their responsibility in connection with the municipal elections. The probe into the cause of the indifference of the people will have to go deeper before the real reason is uncovered. In theory, New Year's Day, being a holiday, would seem to be an unusually appropriate day for voting. In practice it has not, apparently, proved so, but there is more than one reason to suppose that the people who do not bother to vote upon that day would be found equally indifferent upon any other date that might be selected.

A LESSON FROM CHINA.

The people of China, whom the white races look upon as, to a certain extent, moral degenerates, are nevertheless the first to turn into definite action their protest against the extreme styles of dress worn by modern women. They are not at all pleased with the short skirt, silken hose, bare arms, and low necks of the civilised world, and their protest has gone so far as to bring forth action from the police. According to the North China Mail, the chief of police of Shanghai has issued an edict against the extravagant styles of dress which some of the Chinese women have copied from visitors, and it warns these women that penalties will be imposed on those displaying bare arms and silken ankles.

"Women's wearing apparel," says the police edict, "is mostly too short, permitting exposure of the arms and ankles. Some of the clothing is an imitation of foreign styles, making the wearer neither foreign nor Chinese. The wearers are devoid of shame and frequent public streets without embarrassment. In future all such women will be arrested and fined."

We wonder what the women of this country, who indulge in extreme fashions in dress, would say if such an edict were to be issued here. We do not say that it would be a good thing, as we have at the present time quite enough legislation of a kind that imposes restrictions upon personal liberties. But it does seem as if it would be as much a protection as a restriction for some of the ultra modern women who believe in dressing somewhat after the style of Rudyard Kipling's "Gunga Din."

It seems rather paradoxical that, while we are spending millions of money to bring civilisation and modern culture to the Chinese, the police of China should find it necessary to fine women for indulging in the ways of their Christian sisters. Here again the question arises as to whether contact with civilisation has a degrading or elevating influence upon the yellow races. Evidently the Chinese authorities think it is, to a certain extent, harmful. But it is also true that the same things which are harmful in China are harmful here, and it would, perhaps, be well, for their own sakes, if some rules for moderation in dress were laid down for the women of this country.—Kingston Whig.

Optimism is the advance agent of prosperity.

Anyone can pick out the mistakes when it's all over, but it's a rare human who can see them coming and side-step.

Probes are very educative. Ontario is beginning to unlearn all it had been taught about how we are governed.

The Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests admitted frankly at the timber probe that the book-keeping system in vogue in his department would be a disgrace to a country store. Enlightening, but it doesn't answer the question in some people's minds as to how it compares with Ottawa.

Of course Ottawa went about the thing ostentatiously and imported a staff of efficiency experts at five-figure fees to wind up the red tape which was annoying the wearied and overworked civil servants.

But according to charges made one efficiency expert was so bewildered by what he saw that he burned valuable Government papers as junk. No danger of that at Queen's Park, evidently, for it was also brought out at the probe that in many cases no records were kept.

If the movement to prohibit the presentation of actualities in the "movies" and to substitute fairy tales is successful apologists for human weaknesses will have to find a new "demon" to excuse the crime wave.

IMMEDIATE CHANGE IS NOT ANTICIPATED.

In speculative quarters no immediate change from current conditions is expected in the stock market, the opinion being that the current movement of prices and prevailing stagnation are typical of this period of the year and that it is not unlikely that no change will be witnessed until later in the month. In the meantime the movement of prices will be governed mainly by the professional element, depending upon technical conditions. It is possible, however, that some new developments may bring about either an advance or a decline in prices, but in view of the belief that the market appears to be fairly well liquidated, no sharp reaction is looked for. On the other hand, it is possible that the market will soon begin to discount developments at Washington, in view of the change in the Administration next month. Advices received indicate that some favourable news can be expected soon of the constructive measures which the new regime will propose as affecting the nation's problems, both financial and economic.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY TREASURES ON VIEW

MAGNIFICENT GOLD PLATE AND FAMOUS VESTMENTS TO BE SHOWN.

(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 16.—For the first time in their history, the magnificent gold plate and famous vestments belonging to Westminster Abbey are to be shown to the public. Some of the copes and chasubles are centuries old. Lectures on "The Ornaments of Westminster Abbey" and other subjects will also be given in the Abbey for the first time for many years.

Fifty years ago Dean Stanley aroused a storm of protest when he invited Professor Max Muller and other scholars of distinction to lecture in the Abbey. In mediaeval times, the naves of British cathedrals and parish churches were used frequently for purposes of a semi-secular character, and the nave of old St. Paul's was a fashionable promenade lined with booths and stalls for the sale of all kinds of vanities.

RETAILERS OPPOSED TO EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

Objection From Eastern Ontario District Filed With Premier Drury.

TORONTO, Feb. 15. — Premier Drury and other members of the Legislature, have been notified of strong objections made by the Retail Merchants Association of Eastern Ontario, and the Ottawa District to any move to include retailers within the scope of the eight-hour day legislation now before the Ontario Legislature. The following telegram was sent to the Premier by the merchants:

"The Retail eMrchants of the Eastern Ontario and Ottawa District strongly opose any attempt to include them in the proposed eight hour day legislation. They demand exemption from its provisions as there is now a satisfactory early closing act upon the statute books of the province, under which they are operating."

Copies of this message have been forwarded to H. P. Hill, M.P.P. and J. A. Pinard, M.P.P., Ottawa's representative in the Legislature with the request that they should take the necessary action.

DOMINIONS ARE NOT PUPPETS TO FORCE HANDS OF BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

(Canadian Press)

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Feb. 15.—Statements to the effect that the Dominions had conferred with the United States in regard to Pacific naval policy have aroused keen interest in New Zealand The comment of the Press is that the Dominions are not to be used as puppets to force the hand of the British Government.

Though she is vitally interested in the defence of the Pacific, New Zealand's problem differs from that of America and Australia in important respects. New Zealand has no huge tracts unsuitable for white settlement. An active immigration policy will provide a white population capable of holding the islands. Japanese are almost unknown, there being under 100 in the Dominion, compared with 3,500 Chinese and 700 Hindus. The new Immigration Restriction Law is expected to keep Asiatic immigration within bounds without causing friction.

The Dominion's main interest in Pacific problems arises from the guardianship of Samoa and Cook Islands. This involves further naval responsibilty, of which the light cruiser Chatham, which recently arrived here, is the first instalment.

There is not the remotest possibility of New Zealand's consulting America, even informally, without full discussion first in the Councils of the Empire

500 POLICE TO WALK THE PLANK.

Chief Says They Are Lagging and Will Be Cleaned Out.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15. — Chicago's Police Department is facing the biggest shake-up of its history. Chief of Police Fitzmorris declared in an ultimatum that there are 500 good-for-nothing policemen on the force, and announced in emphatic terms his intention of ridding the force of every one of them.

The Council Finance Committee has approved a contingent fund of $50,000 for the Chief's use. If the Captains, Lieutenants and Sergeants are unable to find the 500 laggards, who, the Chief declares, are "pulling the wrong way," evidence gathered by special investigators will be presented to a trial board against the "higher ups."

The Chief's ultimatum, which came just three months after his appointment, in part says:

"In these three months I have found that there are 500 policemen on the force who will not work. I'm through playing ball with them. They had better begin to look around for new jobs, for they are going to leave the police force.

"Out of the 5,100 on the force we have about 4,600 who will work and are working. I'm going to fight like hell to keep them on the force, to get their pay increased, to see that their work is recognized through promotion.

"The remaining 500 of the 5,100 I'm going to give the gate, and I'm going to do it quickly. I'm not going to hold the bag for them any longer.

"These 500 men are fighting me, trying to make my work as Chief a failure, trying to prevent me from carrying out the Mayor's orders to me to clean up Chicago. They are out of luck.

"Mayor Thompson has given me a job to perform, and I'm going to do it. If I can't do it through the present police system I'll create a system of my own."

SPEAKER NOT FRIGHTENED BY PRECEDENT BOGEY

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Feb. 15.— Hon. Nelson Parliament, speaker of the Ontario Legislature, is not at all frightened by the bogey of precedent. When a proposition appeals to him he goes right ahead, indifferent to the protests of scandalized respectors of customs, who assure him that "isn't done." For years a legislature was not properly equipped unless it had a number of young pages joyously skipping school and earning an honest dollar or two on the side. Educationists have protested regularly and this year Mr. Speaker has put the ban on boys of compulsory school age.

Up to the present a number of lads ranging in age from fourteen to nineteen have been engaged to act as pages and these will do work that was divided among twenty-one boys last year.

THAT SON-IN-LAW OF PA'S — By C. H. Wellington

"Here Comes The Bride!"

Everybody wishes her well! Happy and radiant she starts out on life's adventure. She should have health to begin with. Good looks in woman do not depend upon age, but upon health. You never see a good-looking woman who is weak, run-down, irritable, out of sorts, fidgety and nervous. Headaches, backaches, and troubles of that sort are all destroyers of beauty. Men do not admire sickness. It is within the reach of every woman to be well, healthy and strong if she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

TORONTO, ONT.—"Less than a year ago I was in a very poor state of health; my back ached dreadfully and I could scarcely drag myself around to do my housework. I started to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I cannot praise it too highly for the great benefit I received. My backache and pains disappeared entirely and I soon was restored to perfect health. I know that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best woman's medicine, for I have tried others that were recommended, and nothing has ever helped me so much as the Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. KATHLEEN WHILLANS, 13 Brookfield St.

CLOSING OF LIGHT-WELL IN COURT ROOM DOESN'T IMPROVE ACCOUSTICS

WARDEN GRIFFITH AND REEVE McINTOSH EXPERIMENTING WITH CANVAS STRETCHED ACROSS THE OPENING IN THE CEILING OF THE COUNTY COURT—HAVE AN OFFER FROM JOHN MANVILLE CO.

In an economic attempt to improve the accoustics of the County Court room Warden Griffith and Reeve McIntosh have had a square of canvas stretched across the bottom of the light, well level with the ceiling. It has been generally believed that the echo which is thrown back from conversations was mainly due to the large opening above the centre of the room, but the canvas expedient has simply cut off the light without reducing the muffled effect of the sounds and their reflection from the walls.

At the January session of the County Council representatives of the Canadian Johns Manville Company examined the accoustics of the Court room, and quoted the sum of $3,000, for which they guaranteed complete satisfaction. No action was taken by the Council, who probably regarded the price as too high.

Mr. J. Bradley, in explaining the cause of the echo, laid the blame on the architectural form of the room with its rounded corners, and also on the hard plaster surfaces which reflected sounds instead of absorbing them. When the Judge or any person in the Court was speaking his words would have a blurred sound because the echoes lasted from five to seven seconds, and would therefore be conflicting with other utterances spoken during those moments. In the course of a speech its general effect would be muffled and difficult to hear because of the continuous warring of echoes with newly sounded words.

The Effect of a Crowd.

Mr. Bradley gave the opinion, which has been verified by the experience of the Court, that, when the room is crowded with people, hearing is greatly improved. This condition is due to the fact that the presence and the clothing of so many persons tends to break up and absorb the sound waves. The remedy he suggested was not so much the closing of the opening of the light-well, but the lining of the panels in the ceiling, the wide window frames and other parts of the room with a patented felt material which could be painted white, leaving the room without a sign of the proposed treatment. Accoustical problems of this kind are all in a day's work for the Johns Manville Company, who, according to Mr. Bradley, have removed the sound defects from hundreds of auditoriums, including churches, theatres and Court rooms.

The square of canvas was placed across the light-well as a test, and had it proved satisfactory would have been replaced with glass. However, Warden Griffith and Reeve McIntosh will be quickly convinced that the light-well is only a slight contributory cause of the defective accoustics which are so pronounced that witnesses are often indistinctly heard at the reporters' table, only a few yards away.

The County Council will, of course, have to use their own judgment and they may be depended upon to take whatever steps are necessary to make the Court room as useful as it is well appointed. They understand the marring conditions that have to be corrected, and in their own good time will probably give a contract to the Johns Manville Company, or to some other specialists in accoustics who guarantee the success of their work.

CHILDREN'S MORTALITY ON INCREASE IN BUDABEST.

Canadian Assocaited Press.

PARIS, February 15. — A startling increase in the number of deaths of children in Budapest, in the past year, is shown by the official reports of the Budapest Health Department received here.

The figures of 1914 which showed that the number of births exceeded the deaths by 208,000, were approximately reevrsed in 1920. Forty five per cent of the deaths were of children under seven years old, while 37 per cent. were of children from hte homes of the poorest people.

"This proves," the Health Department states, "that infant mortality in Hungary is due chiefly to miserable conditions in general and particularly to underfeeding.

UNEMPLOYED DENIED USE OF CHAPEL FOR SLEEPING

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Three hundred unemployed men were denied permission to spend the night in St. Augustine's Chapel of Trinity church where they marched yesterday after attending services at St. Mark's Chapel here.

The rector consulted the newly elected Episcopal bishop, Dr. William T. Manning, who declared the Salvation Army and public lodging houses provided ample shelter and that the chapel sanctuary arrangements made it unfit for sleeping purposes. The men declined the rector's offer of free tickets entitling them to shelter at the Salvation Army hotel.

BEWARE OF BRONCHITIS

Bronchitis is generally caused by neglecting a cold, or exposure to wet and inclement weather. It begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty in breathing, and a wheezing sound comes from the lungs. There is a raising of phlegm, especially the first thing in the morning. This is at first white, but later becomes of a/ greenish or yellowish color and is occasionally streaked with blood.

On the first sign of bronchitis you should check it immediately by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, thereby prevent it becoming chronic, and perhaps developing into some more serious lung trouble.

Mrs. Brice Culham, Sheffieud, Ont., writes:—"In December, 1919, I was very sick with bronchitis, and had to stay in the house all winter. One day I saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised, so I got a small bottle which helped me very much; I then got a 60, size, and it completely relieved me. I cannot praise "Dr. Wood's" enough for what it did. Two of my neighbors are now using it for colds."

Don't accept a substitute for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup; the genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 35c. and 60c.; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The best time for a rich man to help his relatives is after he dies. Then he will be unable to hear all the mean things they say about him.

DISSENSION IN RANKS OF LABOR IN TORONTO

Independent Labor Party Described as Thinly Disguised Socialistic Organization.

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—The action of the Independent Labor Party executive in excluding former Mayor MacBride, M.P.P., of Brantford, from the party is creating considerable amusement in local Labor circles, and is regarded as additional evidence that the I. L. P. as at present constituted is nothing but a thinly disguised Socialistic organization. The moderate trade unionists who were members have withdrawn their support and will probably in the near future create a new organization in which the revolutionary element will have no place. There is a possibility of the matter being brought before the Labor Council at its next meeting as the moderates realize that the whole trade union movement is being regarded with contempt owing to the noisy tactics of the "Reds" and their cohorts.

Rumors of wage reductions in various trades continue to reach the Labor Temple, causing considerable uneasiness among the workers, and there is talk of strikes. So far nothing of a serious nature has occurred, as there are so many men unemployed that those who have work hesitate to give up their jobs. The labor leaders allege that the employers are taking advantage of the present situation to force a general reduction in wages. They declare the workers will resist this movement to the fullest possible extent.

The packing houses and furniture manufacturers are specifically mentioned as having given their employes notice of wage reductions, but no confirmation of the fact could be obtained. It was also stated the upholsterers employed by the Gold Medal Furniture Co. were out on strike as a protest against the effort to cut wages from 80 cents to 66½ cents per hour.

The striking shipbuilders announced no change in the situation at the Dominion yards, but they are hoping that some action will be taken by Parliament to compel the Government to accede to their demands for a minimum rate of 90 cents per hour.

When the matter was last considered by the Government, official participation in the scheme was not thought possible, but since then the project has been inquired into by a committee of experts.

PRYING CONSTABLES A MARK ON FREIGHTERS.

Hands Reach Out From Between Decks Where Liquor is Carried.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 16.—Hands that reach out from the semi-darkness of between docks on the Canadian Pacific freight boats landing cargoes of liquor here and relieve cargo slings of whole cases of "licker" while they swing in midair, have been causing Canadian Pacific special police considerable worry and a great deal of work. If a "special" persists in looking up the hatch while a sling is passing upward with its load, a wrench or a lump of coal or anything else that is loose may "accidentally" fall from the deck above. Constables have had to do some smart dodging.

When the cargo is finally "safe" in the sheds on the wharf, the policeman's trouble are not at an end and the lot of him who stands guard over the baggage "is not a happy one". Groups of the thirsty congregate before and behind the mountain of wet goods. While the officer prevents a concerted drive from the enemy in front some enterprising spirit leads a sudden attock from the rear and in the excitement a case or two of good liquor vanishes .This sort of thing happens regularly.

One cargo of liquor was successfully carried from the hold of a Canadian Government Merchant Marine boat to the cars without losing a bottle by the simple expedient of keeping strict silence as to the nature of the contents of the boxes being unloaded.

Not for many years has there been such difficulty experienced in guarding the cargoes of vessels arriving in this port from overseas. There is always a certain amount of petty pilfering but this year on account of the importation of enormous quantities of the best liquor of the British Isles, and the fact that liquor is difficult to procure in most of the provinces and the prices are away up at the top anywhere, the thefts have assumed very large proportions. There is keen ambition on the part of scores who frequent the docks to possess some of the wet goods—legally or otherwise.

A large army of special police was brought to the City in December when the first whiskey boat arrived, and placed on guard over the cargo. Ever since their work has been largely the protection of stocks of liquor arriving here but it is a difficult task they have undertaken and their hands are quite full.

Officials of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Service were in the City recently to lay their complaints before the civic authorities They said that the situation was becoming so serious that someone was likely to "get hurt" in a raid. There was talk of arming the "specials" with revolvers ted so far this year, one of the most to put fear into the hearts of whiskey stealers, but no such order has been issued. It was suggested that if the City of St. John could not grant the protection the business of shipping liquor required that the Canadian Pacific might find it necessary to take its trade to some other port, but no step in this direction has been taken.

I had severe pains every month, so that I was often obliged to lie in bed for two days at a time. I suffered for more than a year before my friends said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I purchased one bottle after another until I had taken ten bottles, then Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I received so much benefit from this treatment that I am now able to do my own work."—Mrs. W. D. BRITTEN, R. No. 2, Dimondale, Mich.

Another Michigan Woman says: "I was bothered for a long time with female troubles and was so nervous I felt almost afraid at times. I also had a pain in my right side and was certainly in a bad way. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved me of these nervous feelings and pains and I am much better in every way. I don't know just how many bottles I have taken, but I took it for nearly a year and it has done me a world of good."—Mrs. JESSIE GRANGER, R. No. 8, Box 51, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Good health is a woman's greatest asset. With it she may be the inspiration of her husband, a happy mother, and the life of the home. Without it she suffers agonies herself, household duties are a burden, and her family is made miserable by her condition.

Is it any wonder that these women were nervous and irritable after suffering so long from such deranged conditions? Such ailments act directly upon the nerves, and it has been said that a large percentage of nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

If women who are in this condition would only profit by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, much suffering and unhappiness would be averted, as everyone knows a nervous, irritable, ailing mother makes the home unhappy and her condition irritates both husband and children.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

IRISH PLAYS AND IRISH LAUGHTER REPLACED BY JAZZ AND A VILLAIN WHO DRESSES IN MODISH DRESS SUIT

"COME BACK TO ERIN" GIVES WAY TO "GO FEATHER YOUR NEST"—THE COLLEEN WEARS SILK STOCKINGS AND A MARCEL WAVE.

(By Jeannettte)

Won't you bring back,
The olden love days?
The golden love days of long ago
Won't you bring back
All the old-fashioned melodies
My daddy and mammy used to know?

Do you remember in the days gone by when the glorious 17th would roll around that bright night in the gloom of Lenten church-going, and you would get the paper and hunt up the prices for the play that night, and Ma would say, "Well, counting you and me, "John, there will be seven altogether,' 'and you would go down next morning and stand in a long line, and, when it came your turn, you didn't know whether to take orchestra or dress circle, because you had not been there since last 17th., and finally compromised on the second section, "so long as it isn't behind a post." And, when the great night came, and you were all in your place. Ma with her best black silk, and all the kids with clean faces and fresh wads of gum, and around you all the good old names, with lots of "O's" an a fair sprinkling of "Macs", the orchestra would play the grand old music, "Come Back to Erin," and "Killarney," and "St. Patrick's Day."

Then the play, with its tang of the old sod and the dancing at the cross, to the tune of "The Irish Washwoman", its gay fiddling and its short clay pipes an the sound of the rich old brogue And the green skirts and twinkling feet of the merry colleens, and the blackthorn stick and heavy brogues of the black-hearted villian. And, between the acts, they came out and sang "The Vale of Avoca' and "Terence's Farewell to Kathleen", and the violins throbbed in the darkened house, and everywhere was the purplish green of the lucky shamrock.

But "Ireland isn't Ireland any more." Now we have the villain with a modish dress suit, the hero with a cultured English accent, the heroine who has been educated in Paris and looks it, the colleen with silk stockings and a Marcel wave, even the "broth of a boy" has disappeared, and the "ould mother" is a Colonial dame. The automobile has superseded the jaunting-car, the phonograph has conquered the ancient fiddler, and the fireplace is replaced by steam heat. The "step" gives way to the latest jazzy weave, and the lilting melodies of the Green Isle are forgotten in the syncopated mazes of "Go Feather Your Nest" or "Dardanella." What a pity!

VALENTINE SOCIAL BY THE A.Y.P.A. NORWOOD

PETERBORO ORCHESTRA CONTRIBUTED MUSIC—HAPPY EVENING SPENT.

NORWOOD, February 16. — On Friday evening in the town hall, a very successful valentine social was given by the members of the Anglican Young Peoples' Association.

The first part of the evening was spent in games after which a programme of music was rendered. Mr. W. Thomson of Campbellford was present and accompanied the orchestra from Peterborough, consisting of Messrs. Kenneth Brown, Robins and Lang in their several selections. Piano duets were rendered by Misses Barbara Foote and Lois Cuffe, a vocal solo by Mr. K. G. Thompson and two vocal duets by Elizabeth Thomson, and Mary Roxburgh.

Tasty refreshments were served to the large number in attendance.

Considerable credit is due the members of the A. Y. P. A. who so beautifully and tastefully decorated the hall, and who did so much towards making the evening a grand success.

The proceeds amounted to $90.00.

THE CORNELL KNITTING COMPANY COMMENCE MANUFACTURING HERE

BUSINESSLIKE EFFICIENCY PERVADES THE HOME OF PETERBORO'S LATEST INDUSTRIAL ACQUISITION.

With bright and clean workrooms, and storerooms, with a capacity for employment of over 30 hands, and for turning out from thirty to forty dozen per week each of the garments which they manufacture, and with an all-pervading atmosphere of brisk, businesslike efficiency, the Cornell Knitting Company, recently located in the old Foresters' Hall, on Simcoe street, have certainly started off on the right foot.

Devotees of the "light fantastic," who of old were wont to disport themselves in these rooms, would hardly recognize them now, with their equipment of up-to-date machinery, pressing paraphernalia, rows of huge bobbins, wound with brightly colored wools, the office with its desks and files, and the storeroom's numbered bins and piles of neat gray boxes.

Better Facilities in Peterborough.

The company originally located in Toronto four years ago, where it is still represented throughout Canada by the E. Burns Co. Mr. E. B. Cornell, vice-president and general manager, had an experience extending over 28 years in the principal knitting plants of the United States and Canada. Mr. William Parker, a well-known young business man of Peterboro, is secretary treasurer of the company, and he was instrumental in bringing the factory to Peterborough, where rent and taxes are lower than in Toronto, and where labour is more plentiful, steadier and of a better class; also, the fact of the wool being spun here expedites service and eliminates freight and express charges on the raw material. The wool used, the highest grade Australian variety, spun by the Canadian Woollens, Mr. Cornell considers some of the best he has ever used in his extensive experience. The paper boxes will be purchased from a local manufacturer, and the labels also, if possible. All incidentals necessary to the business will be procured in Peterborough.

Modish Designs and Colours.

At present the company has enough orders on hand to keep them busy for several months. They turn out exclusive styles in knitted wear, the designs for which are brought from New York. There are sweaters in all shades (some in bright yellow and blue were dazzling enough) fringed woollen novelties, men's scarfs in brushed wool, neat and warm, jumpers in henna, salmon, green and blue; men's sweaters in the heather wool, the new and fetching woollen tie-backs, in drop and plain stitch, in all colors, from sombre brown to blazing pink, and in the new spring shades of henna, mauve, peacock and jade; the very latest idea in shawlette scarfs, one beauty of brushed wool in fawn with a heavy fringe and a deep stripe of peacock and brown; overblouses embroidered in two-tone silks; women's Tuxedos, bathing suits for men and women, in combinations of green and black, and green and gray, and pure Australian cream wool undergarments, light and soft and warm. All garments are electrically steamed and pressed, to give them a high-class appearance, and the work of the weaving and finishing rooms is under the direction of a forelady with years of experience in large American and Canadian plants. The Cornell Knitting Company have for years supplied the T. Eaton Company, and other leading Canadian firms.

'SUICIDE' BRIDEGROOM HELD

Prosecutor Will Investigate Death of Man Found in Park.

CAMDEN, N.J., Feb. 15.— William F. Walker, 36 years old, previously believed by the police to have committed suicide three days after he had married sixteen-year-old Dorothy McCabe, a mission worker, was arrested when he returned to his home here.

Walker married Miss McCabe, Jan 25. The girl told the police he had forced the marriage by threatening to shoot her and her mother if she refused The police concluded Walker had killed himself when a body was found in Brandywine Springs Park, Wilmington, Del., with a note nearby signed with his name. The letter asked the bride to "forgive him for committing suicide."

The body was later identified as that of Charles Smith of Wilmington. Mrs. George Rigley of Philadelphia also identified the body as that of her husband. The double identification has not been explained. Attorney General Townsend of Deleware notified the Camden police that the Delaware authorities would investigate a report that the man found dead had been murdered. The Camden police say that letters, which they believe belonged to Smith, the man, whom a Delaware Corner's jury pronounced a suicide, had been found in Walker's pockets. The handwriting in the note found near Smith's body was identified as Walker's by a brother who lives in Baltimore.

CANADA INCREASES USE OF GASOLINE.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Statistics published by the Wall Street Journal indicate that the consumption of gasoline in Canada has increased greatly since the war. In the first eleven months of 1920, 1,282,000 barrels of gasoline were sent to Canada from the United States, while in the same period of 1918 the exports of gasoline to the Dominion amounted to only 662,000 barrels. At the same time the quantity of crude oil sent to Canada from the United States increased from 4,226,000 barrels in the 1918 period to 6,040,000 barrels in 1920, or nearly 50 per cent.

Canada has been importing a large number of automobiles from the United States, in the first eleven months of 1918 taking 1,499 cars, and in the 1920 period 2,076 cars.

Exports of automobiles, gasoline, and crude oil from the United States to Canada in the first eleven months of 1920, 1919, and 1918, according to the Wall Street Journal, follow:

	No. Automobiles.	Gasoline Barrels.	Cr'de Oil Barrels.
1920	2,076	1,262,000	6,040,000
1919	1,730	725,000	4,400,000
1918	1,499	662,000	4,226,000

"SOME CITIES IN ITALY"

(By REV. HAROLD YOUNG)

Under the auspices of the Women's Art Association, in the Art Association rooms at the Conservatory of Music last night, Rev. Harold Young delivered a very interesting and educative address on "Some Cities in Italy," illustrated with lantern slides.

This was an exposition of the development of the various periods of architecture reflected in the ruins and buildings of Italy through the five civilization that have existed in that country, and was illustrated by some sixty beautifully coloured slides. The Pelasgian, which is mainly legendary, and Etruscan periods were dealt with very briefly, but the Greek, the Roman and the Italian were brought out most interestingly. The Greek in the south was typified by the Temple of Neptune at Paestum, and by many of the remains discovered in the Pompeian excavations. The Roman period was illustrated by representations of St. Paul's Gate at Rome, the Pantheon and the various remains in the Forum Romanum. he influence of the Greek modes of thought, traced through the latter Roman period, is exemplified in such things as the capitals of the pillars in the Temple of Saturn, and the re-built Temple of Castor and Pollux, also the reliefs on the various triumphal arches, particularly those of Titus, Severus and Constantine. Italian architecture, with especial reference to the Renaissance period, was illustrated by slides of the Cathedral and Baptistry of Pisa, the Campanille of Giotto and Dome of Brunelleschi at Florence and the Dome of St. Paul's at Rome. The invasion of Gothic ideas is typified in the Cathedral at Milan and the Byzantine influence traced through the Church of St. Mark at Venice.

Great Cathedrals.

Various slides, depicting details of the great cathedrals, such as the rose windows at Florence and the fine mosaic work in the delineation of "The Descent From the Cross" in St. Mark's, a view of the Faragillioni Rocks off Capri and exquisite reproductions of the lily of the valley and the Iris which grow in wild profusion in the valley of Arno, made the lecture very attractive, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker on its conclusion.

Mrs. A. Mowat occupied the chair for the meeting, and Miss Florence Scott contributed several solos in her usual excellent manner.

"BEATS ANYTHING I HAVE EVER SEEN"

LONDON MAN SAYS TANLAC WILL ALWAYS GET A GOOD BOOST FROM HIM.

Before I took Tanlac, a half-hour job would tire me out more than a whole day's work does now," said Robert J. Gow, of 446 Ridout Street, London, Ontario.

"For seven years I was a sufferer from stomach trouble. Frequently after meals I had palpitation of the heart, dizziness, and choking sensations. I never cared to eat, and had very little strength and energy.

"I was weak and nervous, never slept well, and would wake up in the morning feeling like I didn't care whether I got up or not. Honestly, I just had to force myself through my work every day, and I had a dull, played-out, no-account feeling all the time.

"But I noticed a decided change in my feelings almost as soon as I began taking Tanlac, and when I had finished the second bottle I felt like a different man altogether. My appetite is fine now, and I never suffer from indigestion. I sleep well, and don't have those tired feelings any more. Tanlac beats anything I ever heard of to give a man new strength and energy, and make him feel like something. It has done me a world of good, and will always get a good recommendation from me."

Tanlac is sold by The Warne Drug Company, Ltd. (Advt.)

CONCILIATION BOARD FOR MINERS AT COBALT.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—The Department of Labour has received a communication which indicates that application for a Board of Conciliation between the miners and mine managers at Cobalt will be made. The mine managers of the Cobalt mines propose to put in force a wage reduction as from 16th February (to-day), but the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act require that a dispute arising out of changes in wages or working hours must be referred to a Board of Conciliation before proposed change goes into effect. The Department of Labour is in communication with both parties to the dispute.

WINNERS IN THE VOTING CONTEST

THREE CAME WITHIN ONE OF THE CORRECT NUMBER.

Owing to delay in getting the official returns for election day from Returning Officer Sheriff Hall, who made the count on Monday, it was not possible to announce the result of the Examiner's estimating contest on the number of votes polled, until today. The contest was devised with the idea of getting people to notice what percentage of people, entitled to vote, neglect to use the franchise. It appeared that, with five Candidates in the field, enough enthusiasm would have been developed to bring out practically the entire available vote. The result shows how far from the total vote the actual number cast really was. Ordinarily, this would have passed unnoticed, but the Examiner's Contest drew the peoples attention to the apathy that is shown in using the franchise at every election, a rather deplorable state of affairs.

As the Examiner's contest was an estimate on the total number of votes polled, the number aimed at would correctly be 13003. This is made up of the 12921 votes allowed to the candidates and 82 which were polled for the different candidates but had been spoiled by the voter, probably quite unintentionally. However, they count in the Examiner total as the voter came and used his ballot.

Out of the large number of coupons used, it was found that three had estimated 13002, or just one less than the mark This meant a triple tie for the three prizes offered, which necessitated an equal division of the $17.50 offered in three prizes, $10, $5 and $2.50, and gives each winner $5.83 as a reward for their shrewdness in sizing up the situation so closely.

Following are the names of the successful contestants:—

B. Seabrook, Fraserville, ...13002
E. Stoneburg, 147 Lake street .13002
Vincent Hall, 138 London St., .13002

The money will be paid out on and after Saturday of this week.

A MINSTREL SHOW HELD KNOX CHURCH

THE ENTERTAINMENT WILL BE REPEATED THIS EVENING.

The A. S. K. Club of Knox church put on a very successful minstrel show in the church hall last evening, and realized a nice sum for the work of the organization. The hall was well filled, and the performance, arranged and under the direction of Mr. Art White, was a credit to him and all who took part. The orchestra, playing between acts, was exceptionally good, and was encored loudly. The color scheme was effectively carried out in black and white, in the stage decorations, the spotless white suits with black rosettes of the end men, and the white shirts and middies with black ties of the chorus. There were some good jokes, brought out well by the very able interlocutor, Fred Sheppard, the several darky songs were uproarous affairs with their chorus of black-faced comedians, and the solos, accompanied by muted violins, gave an effect of very careful study.

The end men were Messrs. Ted Jakson Art White, Jim and Bill Turnbull, Mac. McMillan and Lance Petty, and the chorus was composed of the following: Misses I. Pearson, L. Webber, M. Byers, E. Kennedy and H. McWilliams and Messrs. G. Kennedy, L. Smith, H. Hall, P. Trussler and Wm. Corner.

Pianist, Mr. Alex. Seger; violins, J. Nazimok and J. Brayette; stage carpenter and manager, Ted Jackson; business manager, Bill Turnbull.

Mr. Ted Jackson sang "Down Around the River," Miss I. Pearson, "Sing Me Love's Lullaby" and "Somehow I Can't Forget You", in very sweet voice, Bill Turnbull, Art. White, Lance Petty, Howard Hall and Lou Smith each had solos, and Mr. Alex. Seger at the piano, rendered "Gazing at the Stars" in fine style. Miss E. Kennedy's melodious voice was heard to great advantage in "Old Caroline."

In the second half, Mr. J. Nazimok thusiastically encored. The smoothness thusiastically encored. The smoothness of tone and mastery of instrument evidenced in his performance is rather remarkable in one so young, and Mr. Nazimok has evidently a promising future before him in the world of the violin.

The "Lonesome" song by Mr. Art White was very good, "Good-night, My Angeline" was effectively rendered by Messrs. Bill Turnbull and McMillan, and a monologue by Ted. Jackson, and dialogues in which Messrs. Fred Sheppard, A. White and Lance Petty took part, were well received. Fred Sheppard's song, "Dear Old Dixie Moon" and Jim Turnbull in "He Went in Like a Lion" were sung in fine style.

This entertainment will be repeated to-night, and doubtless will be better, if possible, on the occasion of a second performanle.

CUT SHOWS NERVOUS SYSTEM

WE CONSIDER A PLAIN, FRANK STATEMENT REGARDING PRESENT AND NEAR FUTURE BUYING CONDITIONS IN THE MERCANTILE TRADE IS DUE OUR PATRONS

So much has been written and spoken during the past few months regarding price reductions that a clear understanding of conditions as they exist to-day, we believe, will assist and materially help the buying public.

As far back as last May and June there were signs indicating that lower price levels would be reached, but in spite of these indications the prices for fall and winter remained firm and high.

By September 1st we were convinced that lower prices on many lines would be a certainty, so on this date our department buyers were instructed to purchase only necessities and merchandise that appeared on the market at deflated prices. Subsequent events have proven the wisdom of this decision.

On January 1st every department buyer was instructed to go into the market and purchase freely for the spring and summer trade, for our conviction was, and is, that for many lines of merchandise the markets were, and are, more favorable than they will be in two or three weeks' time, for, when the mills again get busy, prices will stiffen.

On January 31st, the end of our business year, every stock in our twenty-five departments was re-adjusted to the new price levels of to-day.

The spring stocks in our several departments will be the best this store has shown for years. They will not be stinted, and when you purchase you can feel confident that no lower price levels will be possible for this spring's trade.

We also emphasize the wisdom of early buying, on account of the scarcity there will be of some lines, at a later date, owing to the present inactivity of many mills and the consequent shortage in production.

FRENCH ABOLISH "TURNOVER TAX"

FRENCH "CREATIONS" NOW EXPORTED MINUS THE TAX OF TEN PER CENT.

By LYDIA KINGSMILL COMMANDER

(Staff Correspondent Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Ladies whose tastes incline to Parisian millinery, Paris robes and other things of true French character—and their number is legion—may be interested to know that the French "turnover tax" on these products has been abolished. This impost must not be confused with the "luxury tax" introduced by our French friends in 1917. That came to an unregretted end some time ago. Our own Government decided, possibly with great wisdom, not to imitate it. The "turnover tax" was a varying percentage imposed on a great many exportable articles in order to create new fiscal resources. In the case of articles of luxury, such as dresses, hats, laces and feathers it amounted to ten per cent.

No one who visits the shopping centres of the West End of London with open eyes, requires to be told that French millinery and other French "creations" have a tenacious hold on English taste. Conceding that not all "French models" so described have ever seen France, been conceived in French brains, or touched by French fingers, there is unmistakably such an abundance of genuine French products as plainly to prove their popularity.

This may be testified by the cold evidence of fingers. There are no means here of telling exactly what quantities of French articles of the kinds under notice we admit; Board of Trade statistics do not show. But the French official departments supply the information, and it is both interesting and informing.

In the first nine months of 1920 France exported to the United Kingdom 23 tons of silk lace, 217 tons of lingerie, 51 tons of silk and other materials for ladies' dresses, and 14,698,000 francs worth of "articles of fashion," which may be taken to have principally consisted of expensive millinery and dress "creations," also a certain amount of fancy goods or "notions." So we need no longer dispute that in the matter of ladies' dress, as well as, no doubt, in other matters, France possesses a constant admirer and friend in England.

It does not appear, judging from inquiries made in the West End, that the French "turnover tax" had an appreciable effect on the trade of France with this country. Any fluctuation there may have been is easily traceable to other and more domestic causes. Buyers who periodically visit France to make purchases state that the "turnover tax" did not seriously hamper their business, though it would not be true to say that it did not slightly affect the cost of goods; for those who pay an export tax have the very human desire to cast part of the burden upon other's shoulders.

APPRECIATE ACTION OF U.S.

Setn Silver to India During the War.

LONDON, Feb. 15.— Newspapers to-day gave considerable attention to the address of Lord Reading, viceroy of India, before the English-speaking Union on Saturday night, during which the told of the United States opening its treasury reserves to send silver to India during the war. In their editorial comments the newpapers expressed the liveliest appreciation of this action on the part of the United States, which brought considerable relief to Great Britain at a time when affairs in India appeared to be critical.

Beauty Culture Parlors Opened for Men Oversea

(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Beauty parlors for men are springing up all over the West End of London. These are not the old "hairdresser" type of place, but are complexion studies presided over by artists.

Every known aid for chasing away the lines caused by worry, scowls and frowns are coming into use for the beautification of man.

"Men are resorting more than ever to artificial aids to beauty, and the type of beauty they seek is what may be termed the 'genial face' type," said the chief artist at one of these parlors. "Not only are men bestowing more attention on their features and their hair, they are becoming much more meticulous and finicky as to what soaps and other toilet requisites they use.

"The 'beauty' movement is not confined to young men. Although these may form the bulk of our clients, we frequently have men of 'middle age—and over—come in for toilet soap, shaving soap, bath crystals, after-shaving cream, talcum powder and hair fixatives all perfumed alike.

"There is no demand, however, for the exotic perfumes favored by the Continental Beau Brummel. Eau-de-Cologne is the perfume most in demand in London, with Violet and Lavendar a bad second and third."

Electric face massage, vibro treatments and the latest invention for training rebellious hairs in the way they should go—the Violet Ray—all play their part in this new fad for men.

Finger-nails are a thing that is paid more attention now than ever before. The manicurist in these beauty parlors is more in demand than anyone else. The horribly mutilated condition of hands resulting from life in the trenches made men pay visits to the manicurist on their leave during war times. These visits have now become part of the routine life of many men.

Germany's Merchant Marine Is Reduced to a Mere Shred

(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

HAMBURG, Feb. 16.—How Germany's mercantile marine has shrunk since the Armistice is vividly shown by the appearance of the big docks here. Before the war the German mercantile fleet was of 5,250,000 register tons. Now, after the demands of the Entente have been satisfied, the tonnage has dwindled to half a million, but only 100,000 tons are seaworthy for trade with foreign countries.

Hundreds of steamers, lighters, etc., are lying in the port, but the German flag is scarcely represented, the vast majority of these boats being foreign ships trading between Hamburg and praactically every port of the globe. Sixty-seven foreign shipping companies have established themselves in Hamburg; among them England is represented by twenty-two, Holland by eleven, and even Portuguese and Cuban concerns have offices here.

The ships left to Germany are barely sufficient for the trade with Holland, Scandinavia and the Near East. Yet the German companies are not discouraged. The Hamburg-South America and the German East Africa Companies are working a number of chartered vessels, and under the arrangements with Harriman, the Hamburg-American Line, which is about to increase its capital by 100,000,000 marks, is trying to redeem its fortunes.

The port authorities are planning extensions, as lack of piers, docks and landing facilities is a hindrance to trade. The American line has leased a vast harbor area for twenty-five years for the use of the affiliated companies, and a similar arrangement has been made by the English Royal Mail Steam Packet Company.

MANITOBA ALMOST FREE FROM STRIKES DURING YEAR 1920.

Growing Sentiment in Favor of Settling Labor Disputes by Mediation and Conciliation.

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16.—Manitoba was almost free from strikes and labour difficulties during 1920, and there is a growing sentiment in favour of settlement of disputes by mediation and conciliation rather than by industrial warfare, according to the annual report of the Department of Labour, issued by Edward McGrath, secretary.

A comprehensive review of the work of the Department during the past year is set forth in the report. When the bureau was organised in 1913, 1,154 industrial inspections were carried out, and 1,220 orders were issued. In 1920, 15,011 inspections were made and 6,721 orders issued, and the revenue of the Department has increased to $18,232. The Department now has charge of the administration of eleven Acts.

A fine spirit of co-operation now exists between employers of labour and employees in regard to accident prevention, the report states. During year there were a total of 2,507 accidents, of which 11 proved fatal, 2,400 were industrial, 28 elevator, and 70 in the building trades. In an effort to eliminate accidents, the bureau has instituted safety committees amongst employees of industrial concerns.

The report shows that there are approximately 100 trade unions in the Province, 60 of which are located in the city of Winnipeg.

EXTEND SUPERANNUATION.

(Canadian Press.)

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 16.—All provincial civil servants and municipal employees, including police and firemen, in British Columbia, are to be placed under a superannuation scheme according to the terms of a Bill which the Government will introduce. Under the scheme the Government or the city as employer will contribute one-half, and the employee the other half of the yearly premiums, which will go to create and sustain the superannuation fund.

HEARTBURN LIVER TROUBLE

When the liver becomes torpid and inflamed, it cannot furnish sufficient ible to the bowels, thus causing them to become constipated.

The stomach is also affected. In the case of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach, attended by disturbed appetite, caused by great acidity. Whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and become extremely sour, vomitng often occurs; and what is thrown up, is sour and sometimes bitter.

Other liver trouble symptoms are pain under the right shoulder, yellowness of the skin and eyes, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, bad taste in the morning, foul breath, water brash, jaundice, constipation, etc.

Keep your liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles. Being purely vegetable they do not gripe, weaken or sicken like the old-fashioned purgatives generally do.

Mrs. Mary Strone, Glasnevin, Sask. writes:—"I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of heartburn and liver trouble. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine, and I can highly recommend them."

BANKS SWINDLED BY NEAT FRAUD.

Apparently Simple Individual Not Quite as Foolish as He Looked.

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.— Montreal detectives are busy trying to locate a particularly artful check-raiser who got away last week with $11,200 from two banks here.

Walking into the head office of one bank, this man "acted foolish," asking one of the tellers what should he do with a check for $4,100 which he wanted cashed. Not being known, he was told it could not be cashed there, and the teller suggested it should be certified, and went to much trouble to explain what certification meant, but finally getting exasperated with the man's foolishness said he wouldn't cash any check for him, certified or not. He then went to teller number two, who explained the procedure, and finally went away apparently satisfied.

Later he returned triumphant, not one, but with two $4,100 checks certified, and marching up to teller number one had him cash one, taking the other to teller number two. Having had long talks with him before, both tellers recognized him, and with no reason to suspect the genuineness of check or certification, each teller cashed one of the two checks. It was not discovered that anything was wrong until the checks reached the certifying bank, which found that the account never had any such sum.

On investigation it was found that this man had opened small accounts that day, and the two small checks certified; but the enquiry got no further until the checks were examined by experts, who discovered that disappearing ink had been used for the original amounts. When these faded away it was quite easy for him to fill in larger amounts, with the results already recounted.

At another bank a $3,000 check was paid in the same way, having been raised after the original writing had disappeared. The simplicity of the method is causing considerable trouble, because no clues have been left, and it has since been found that no man of the name given resides at the address he gave when opening the account.

Unless he re-commences operations it is felt that there is little chance of getting the criminal. A suggestion was made that it would be unlikely for him to visit some other city, such as Toronto, and to work the plan there.

It was remarked that there may be an immense demand on the part of the general public for such useful disappearing ink. Apparently it is not on regular sale, but it is understood that it was much used during the war by the intelligence departments of the different armies, which might still have some.

PEOPLE'S PULP MILL REGULAR GOLD MINE

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—Rumours have reached the Parliament Buildings that the pulp mill on the Bruton Township limits which the Province of Ontario acquired with the Central Ontario Hydro system, is earning $40,000 per month. This would work out to $480,000 per year, or more than the total cost of the limits and mill, which was about $400,000.

In his report, Auditor Clarkson recommended that the mill and limits should be sold.

It is understood that a Bill be presented to the Legislature at the present session, asking that the title to the Central Ontario system be put in the name of the municipalities. But with the pulp mill returning such a handsome profit, it is doubtful that any move to sell the limits will be made at this time.

MEMORIALS TO BRITISH MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT.

Hoped Monuments to Those Who Fell in War Will Soon Be Completed.

(Associated Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—During the present session of the Dominion Parliament it is hoped that memorials to members of the two Houses who fell in the Great War will have been completed. Work upon them is now in progress, and the imposing monument in stone to perpetuate the names of legislators who made the supreme sacrifice, is rapidly taking shape in St. Stephen's porch. This memorial, so placed that it will be seen by all who visit the Palace of Westminster, is to be supplemented, so far as members of the House of Commons are concerned, by another as unique form of commemoration in the debating chamber itself.

The monument, which records the losses of both Houses, is in the Gothic style, and is, therefore, in entire harmony with its surroundings. It has a central symbolical figure, flanked by two panels, on which are carved the names of the fallen—the members of the House of Lords on the left and those of the House of Commons on the right. At the foot of each appear the names of officials of the two Houses, six in all, who joined the fighting forces and gave their lives for their country. The legislators whose sacrifice is here commemorated number thirty-nine—twenty peers and nineteen members of the House of Commons. Their names are placed in the order in which they died on sea or land, and an inscription at the base of the central figure will pay fitting tribute to their heroism.

The memorial, executed in Caen stone, is erected against the arcading in St. Stephen's porch, beneath the great window, facing the steps leading down into Westminster Hall, and thus stands several feet distance from the entrance door.

At present the House of Commons itself is without a memorial of any kind, not even a painted window, and so the fact that the names of its nineteen members are to be emblazoned in the chamber marks a new departure. A series of enamelled heraldic shields, which will display the arms of the members, are being prepared, to be placed at regular intervals along the front of the gallery facing the Chair. Above each shield will be a plate bearing in gold letters the name of the fallen member, and though the public, excepting occupants of the Ladies' Gallery, will be unable to see the shields, these will always be in full view of members of the House.

SPORTING NEWS, VIEWS AND GOSSIP

INSIDE STORY OF WILDE-HERMAN FIGHT IS TOLD FOR FIRST TIME

HERMAN OVER THE STIPULATED WEIGHT, BUT WILDE FOUGHT TO AVOID DISAPPOINTING CROWD AND CAUSING RIOT.

BRITISH SPORT NOTES

By HUGH DRYDEN
(Staff Correspondent Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 16. — Since the great little Jimmy Wilde went down before Pete Herman the air has been full of explanations, insinuations and recriminations. Pete is back home and has told you all about it; but Wilde's views, and those of his backers, are worth retailing at some length. This is what a somewhat battered and chastened Jimmy said the morning after:

"It was a fine fight and I think I gave the spectators a run for their money. Herman fought in a very clean manner and I have no complaints with regard to that. He was very strong and he managed to catch me. That is all I can tell you.

"Boxers cannot always expect to be successful. I must say, however, that had Herman made 118 pounds ringside things might have been different.

"I do not intend to retire yet."

Teddy Lewis, Wilde's manager, supplements his remarks with the following:

"Our articles called for a match at ringside and I could not understand why the American should want to weigh himself at 2 o'clock in the day.

"Our end of the purse was deposited with the 'Sporting Life," and all Jimmy had to do was to weigh in, get into the ring and wait for his opponent. When it was found that Herman was over the stipulated weigh, I put the matter before the editor of that paper, who stated that he would pay me this morning even if there was no fight, as I had complied with the conditions of the match.

"I stood firm against Wilde boxing, but, under pressure from the promoters, I consented to let Jimmy decide for himself.

"Wilde was visited in his dressing-room by Mr. Pollock and other prominent people, who explained to him what the result would be if he refused to box. Royalty was present and if the crowd did not see what it had paid for the result would have been a riot, which would certainly have proved the death-knell of big boxing matches in this country.

"'Jimmy thereupon gave way, but I put it to the promoters that Wilde's purse should be increased.

"'How can I do that?' asked Mr. Welch.

"'By deducting it from the other man, who has broken the contract,' I retorted.

"'I cannot do that as he has already been paid,' was the response, so there the matter ended.

"I think we have been caught by American smartness over the weight question."

"J. M. D.," the sagacious boxing editor of the "Evening News," has this to say:

"Since he came under the arc lamps of the boxing arena in 1913, Jimmy Wilde has been performing apparently superhuman feats with an ease and aplomb which have been more than astonishing. In scarcely twelve days over seven years he has fought fifty-six serious battles in the ring—he has even conquered two men in one night—and has only been beaten twice, Thursday night's unfortunate encounter included.

"In the face of this more than remarkable record of achievement it is not to be wondered at that the unexpected defeat of Wilde by Herman cast quite a gloom over the sporting haunts of London. Even the women expressed their sympathy for the great little man who had once again attempted the apparently impossible and had failed at last.

"It is an undoubted fact that in none of the fights has Wilde ever exceeded 108 pounds in weight; on Thursday night he was only 104 pounds, and was, therefore, giving his opponent 15½ pounds at the very least.

"When in the Army, Wilde never refused to tackle anyone, no matter what his size. He has even been known to don the gloves with a man as big as Bombardier Billy Wells and to put him to shame. Superman is a word I positively detest, but if there is any reasonable meaning in it at all then Wilde is undoubtedly a superman at boxing.

"Wilde comes out of Thursday night's encounter with more honors than may be visible to the inexperienced eye. He took chances—enormous chances—like the gallant and daring little sportsman he is, and he paid the penalty of rashness. There had to be a fight if there wasn't to be a riot, so he never stopped to count the cost, but stepped into the ring as fearless and as proud as a game-cock.

"There is one thing about the match which the British boxing public cannot understand and about which some explanation is certainly needed. That is the weighing-in.

"Wilde's contract with Herman called upon the latter to do 118 pounds at the ringside. He didn't, but preferred to do it at two o'clock in the afternoon. This was said to have been for the purpose of putting himself right with the American boxing authorities, who now insist that the weighing shall be done eight hours in advance of the match.

"Wilde had no objection to the double weighing provided Herman did 118 pounds on the later occasion. Whether the American gave his word to that effect I do not know, but 118 pounds at the ringside were the terms of the contract, and having got down to the weight ten hours previously, he could have kept down to it. Why didn't he? It was not an impossible, if a trying job. In plain blunt English, Herman did not abide by the terms of his contract, although he conclusively proved at two o'clock in the afternoon that he was capable of doing so.

"Even if Herman had come to weight at the ringside I do not think Wilde would have won, but he would certainly have had a much better chance; for Herman would not have been nearly so strong or so spry. By giving way wherever he was asked, Wilde beat himself, in a sense.

'No doubt Herman on his return to his own country will claim the bantam-weight championship of the world because of his defeat of Wilde. If he does not, why did he take so much trouble to fulfil the weighing-in conditions set down for championships by the International Boxing Union and the American Boxing Commission? The views of the latter body will make interesting reading when they are available."

For the Anglo-American 6-meter yacht race next August preparations are well under way in England and ten yachts are already on the stocks. In addition to these, there are at least two or three other owners contemplating building, so that considerable interest will attach to the eliminating trial race which will precede the actual contests.

There will be two main divisions of the 6-meter class, the Clyde and the Solent, and those northern owners who decide upon entering their boats for the international races will come south in July for the trials.

No matter what the result of the races next August may be, the 1922 series of races will take place in America, and those owners who decide to compete in America will have to build boats in conformity with the American rule of rating. Thus the Americans will compete here next August under our rules and in America our men will sail under the American rule.

The general outlook for the season's racing is excellent. Some well-known pre-war racing craft, which were abroad last year, owned by foreign yachtsmen, have returned to this country, and it all which are expected to be put in commission do come out we shall have double the number of big vessels racing at our principal regattas as compared with last season.

"BOB" HICKS PUT A SIX END OVER BUCHANAN IN MANCHESTER GAME

WON BY SCORE OF 41 TO 12 IN A 21 END GAME—WAS ALSO MENTIONED BY "THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN" FOR HIS DEFEAT OF D. MARTIN, OF LEEDS, BY 14-13.

The most interesting game in the match played Manchester between the Canadian curlers and six Yorkshire rinks was that between the Leeds and Ontario rinks skipped respectively by Dr. Martin and Robert Hicks of Peterboro The game was of three hour duration says the Manchester Guardian, and at the end of the first hour only four singles had been scored, which were evenly divided. After two hours play the scors were still level at 5-5 and the Canadians won by one shot in the last end by the score of 14 to 13. The aggregate score in this match was Canadians 108 and Yorkshire 57.

The Guardian also mentions Mr. Hicks of the Peterboro club in its account of the test match between six rinks of the First English Province of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club and the Canadians which was won by the latter with the aggregate score of 151 to 101. "R. Hicks' rink registered 41 shots against F B. Buchanan of Belle Vue who scored 12. Hicks got a six at the twentieth end. When the Canadians skip was about to send his last stone Buchanan's team had one in, but Mr. Hicks played a perfect shot, put out the winner, and left his side in with the half dozen."

Royally Welcomed.

In a recent letter to a member of the Examiner's staff Mr. Hicks wrote: "The hospitality and welcome of the people here (England) and in Scotland excels everything that one could have dreamed of, and is ample proof that our Canadian contingents have blazed at trail for us to the hearts of these Scotch and English people, who are seen at their best in their home land. This had been the busiest time of my life We have been on the ice from seven to ten hours each day. As yet I have not seen much of this country but will after February 5th when the curling is over. We lost the first test match to Scotland by 19 shots and won the second one here (Manchester) by fifty shots. I lost my first game here on Monday by six shots against Buchanan who won in the international and strange to say I drew him in the test match yesterday on the same shet of ice."

GOOD CURLING ICE HERE BUT LADIES' TANKARD DELAYED.

Secreatry Pearcy Apparently Misguided By Conditions in Toronto.

Peterborough curlers take more or less sardonic sa..sfaction out of the predicament of the executive of the Ontario Curling Association, who, after postponing the Tankard and the District Cup games, have called in the Tankard group winners to play today.

At the annual meeting last year George Giroux submitted a resolution to the effect that the big league curling events be played down to the fours outside of Toronto. Too often have the group winners been forced to play on wet and slushy ice in Toronto, under conditions which militate against scientific curling. At the same time, Peterborough, Barrie, and other clubs had good ice, and could have handled the finals easily. However, Toronto not only gets the finals and the semi-finals, but even the eights and sixteens—in fact, two days' play, while the other cities of the Province have to be content with the group games.

Peterborough curlers contend that the Tankard and District Cup series should be reduced to the fours or the eights outside of Toronto, where the final games could be staged, if Toronto must have the deciding games played in their midst. There is no denying that Toronto is a central point for the clubs of the Province, but it is also held that the Tankard group winners of Eastern Ontario, for example, should have the privilege of playing off in Peterborough, Kingston, Lindsay, Oshawa, or some other city. The Northern and Western group could do likewise with the final games staged in Toronto.

On the other hand, it is believed that the interest in curling would be greatly stimulated if the Tankard games, even to the finals, could be played in different towns from year to year instead of in Toronto. This proposal will not down, and will likely be brought up again at the next annual meeting.

The Ladies 'Tankard.

G. S. Pearcy, secretary of the Ontario Curling Association, has announced through the Toronto papers that the Ladies' Tankard, which is to be played in Peterborough this year, will be called as soon as there is good ice. The clubs have been notified to be ready for a call on short notice. If Mr. Pearcy could have seen the six scheduled games under way at the Charlotte Street Rink last night, he would not only have issued immediate instructions to the Ladies' Tankard clubs, but might have been inclined to switch the men's Tankard games to the Lift Lock City.

The six clubs who will play off for the Ladies' Tankard are Kingston, Peterborough, Toronto Granites, Toronto Queen City, Collingwood, and Toronto.

Clergy and Laity Honour The Rev. Father Phelan

by the jubilarian, a slight departure from the custom in which the benediction is usually pronounced, by Bishop O'Brien. To-day, however, was Father Phelan's, and every person in the crowded cathedral, from the Bishop to the last school boy, offered their prayers in a spirit of praise and thanksgiving that this native son of Peterborough had achieved the distinction and privilege of celebrating his silver jubilee in the priesthood, and had borne a full share in the public affairs of the city.

At the conclusion of the mass and before the singing of the recessional hymn, "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," the clergy of the diocese and the congregation of the Cathedral presented Father Phelan with separate addresses, and as tangible tokens of their esteem, two offerings of money.

As further evidence of the general public's good will and good wishes for Father Phelan, the People's chimes in St. John's church were played by Mr. R. J. Devey for twenty minutes during the service.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Nicholas Roche, C.S.B., of Toronto.

The Clergy's Address.

The following address from the clergy was read bp Rev. F. J O'Sullivan, Rev. Mr. McGuire of Douro, making the presentation of a purse of gold from the priests of the diocese:

To the Reverend Charles Joseph Phelan, Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, Ontario:

Reverend and Dear Father,—Today you are returning thanks to God, as is right and proper, for the inestimable privilege of having been spared to serve Him in the holy Priesthood for a quarter of a century; and we, your brother priests of the Diocese of Peterborough, beg leave to join with you in this solemn act of thanksgiving.

Occasions such as this impress upon us the shortness of human life. To those of your confreres who were your companions in college days, back in the early nineties, it seems but yesterday since you carried off the laurels in the athletic contests on the campus, or raised your voice in praise to God in the choir of old St. Basil's. The years between have slipped quickly by; but in them, with labor and fidelity, you have cast the good seed and to-day they come back to you with joyfulness, carrying their sheaves.

Twenty-five years ago you were raised to the dignity of the Priesthood by the late Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor of holy memory in this very Cathedral wherein you were made a child of God at baptism, where you received your first communion and the sacrament of confirmation, and over which you now preside as rector. Stepping stones to your present position, to which you were appointed six years ago by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, where a year's curacy in Trout Creek, four years in Lindsay, a parish that never forgets its curates, but in the long line of which you hold a foremost place in the affections of that grateful people, and lastly, thirteen years' faithful labor as pastor of Young's Point and Lakefield.

Your life-long acquaintance with your people, and your intimate knowledge of conditions as they exist in your native city, have given you special opportunities to exercise a faithful ministry. In the pastoral office, you have been most vigilant. You can truly say, "I know mine, and mine know me." To you may well be applied the saying, "Happy is the priest the threshold of whose door is worn by the footsteps of his people." Your kind and solicitous attention to the sick, your charity to the poor, and your sympathetic interest in all who are in trouble, have made your name a household one in this city, and have given an added unction to the words that you have addressed to your congregation from the pulpit or to your penitents in the holy tribunal, to soften the heart of the sinner, to dispel the darkness and doubt of the faltering or to reanimate to the courage of the weary wayfarer in the journey of life. "Religion, pure and unspotted, with God and the Father is this," says St. James, "to visit the fatherless and the widows in their tribulation, and to keep one's self undefiled from the world." Judged by this high standard, we may truly say of you, Reverend Father, that you have stood the test.

Your curates, who have labored with you in that trying intimacy that your mutual relationship involves, all have for you a kindly regard. Your relations with your brother priests have always been most cordial; and while your retiring disposition, coupled with the onerous duties of your office, has prevented you from frequently enjoying their hospitality, yet they have always found a kindly welcome at the rectory.

In you the community of St. Joseph has always had a true and sympathetic friend, who was ever ready, even at the cost of sacrifice, to afford to the Sisters the consolations and helps of that religion, which is everything to them in their life of self-abnegation.

The bright silver rays of the noon-day sun of your priestly life give promise of a golden sunset. May your warm hand-clasp long be felt and your cheery salute long be heard to brighten the lives of your people in the darksome years through which we are passing. May the Great High Priest long spare you to hold Him aloft in sacrifice and to dispense His mysteries of mercy to the flock committed to your care.

In conclusion, we ask you, Reverend Father, to accept this purse as an earnest of these good wishes, as a slight token of our fraternal affection for you, and as a mark of the esteem in which you are held by your brother priests of the Diocese of Peterborough.

Signed on behalf of the clergy.

From the Laity.

Mr. V. J. McElderry read the address from the parishioners of St. Peter's and Mr. John Corker, senior, presented Father Phelan with a substantial cheque.

To the Reverend Charles Joseph Phelan, Rector of Saint Peter's Cathedral:

Reverend and Dear Father Phelan: It is with sentiments of pleasure and affection that your parishioners are assembled to offer you their felicitations on this your Silver Jubilee. We rejoice with you in the long period of your life entirely devoted to the service of God, and we join with the clergy and yourself in thankfulness for the blessings which have been yours during those years.

It is particularly fitting that we, your parishioners, should voice our pleasure and appreciation on this happy occasion, because the richness of grace and character with which you have been endowed has redounded to the spiritual advantage of us all. For in addition to the ministration of your sacerdotal faculties and unfailing consideration for all who come within your influence. We, therefore, desire to manifest that sense of honour and reverence which we cherish in our hearts for you who have devoted yourself so unsparingly to our eternal welfare. Indeed, your interest in all charitable and humane enterprises has earned you the respect and honor of all classes of citizens. You have been blessed with a broad and profound charity transcending the mere love of humanity and eminating from the love of God, but finding expression in those friendly offices to suffering and troubled human nature which have brightened the path of many a wayfarer and helped him to tred more surely the rough road of duty. The exercise of your priestly functions has ever been accompanied by charity, benevolence and sympathy for mankind of every description and wherever you have gone the blessings of peace and harmony prevailed.

We recall with pride that your pious boyhood and youth was spent in Peterborough and that your ordination took place in Saint Peter's Cathedral, but we do not forget that the parishes of North Bay, Lindsay and Lakefild have also received the benefit of those same sincere priestly services which St. Peter's parish has enjoyed during the past six years, and we feel that those parishes join with us today in thankfulness to you for those invaluable ministrations rendered by you without thought of thanks and in wishing you many happy years in the exercise of your sacred calling.

Signed at the City of Peterborough, in the Diocese of Peterborough, this sixteenth day of February, 1921, on behalf of the members of Saint Peter's Parish.

Father Phelan.

In his deeply grateful acknowledgment of the addresses and gifts from the priests and people Father Phelan said that he was glad to know of the good feelings that existed in Peterborough between the Catholic people and their fellow citizens of other churches. It was evidence that a feeling of charity prevailed.

Father Phelan said he appreciated the presence of so many citizens who were not Catholics. Whatever work he had accomplished was due, he said, to the co-operation of the people. "I'd be cold and ungrateful if I ever could forget the kindness of the parishioners of St. Peter's and of the citizens of Peterborough as a whole. I wish to thank you in all sincerity and I only wish that I was the ideal you have pictured in your addresses."

The Assisting Priests.

The priests who were present were: Rev. Father Cantillon, Master of Ceremonies, Dean Kelly of Trout Creek, Fathers Cline, Coughlin, C.S.S.R., Roche and McCann, of Toronto, Father Minehan of Dixie, Father Flanagan, of Uptergrove, Father Carberry, of Ottawa, Father Carson, Picton, Fathers McGuire, Power, O'Brien, Garvey, Guiry, Costello and Doyle of the city, Father Corkery of Cobourg, Father P. J. Kelly of Victoria Road, Father J. M. Fraser of the Chinese Missions, Father McAuley of Ennismore, Father Ferguson of Warkworth, Father Meagher of Lakefield, Father O'Brien of Lindsay, Father McGuire of Douro, Father Pageau, of Toronto, Father O'Sullivan, Port Hope, Father McFadden, Parry Sound, Father Galvin, Downeyville and Father Bretherton, Hastings. Father Phelan has also received over a hundred letters from the United Staes and Canada from clergymen unable to be present.

The choir rendered Wiegand's Mass very effctively, Miss M. Doherty acting as organist in her usual efficient manner. Solos were rendered by Misses Florence Leahy, G. Clancy, A. Simons, A. Gallagher and Mr. J. Minicolo, leader, K. Picard and J. Fitzpatrick.

The offertory was sung by Mr. J. Minicola and J. Picard and the Misses G. Clancy and N. Simons.

RETROSPECTION.

(Twenty-five Years in the Priesthood.)

Thy people
United in proud joyous acclaim,
To honor our Father in Heaven
For the deeds thou hast wrought in His name.

Twenty-five bright golden years in the priesthood—
Years hallowed with toil for the King—
The incense of lofty achievements
To-day to His altar you bring.

Twenty-five years in the vineyard—what marvels
Are wrought when the Lord's helping hand;
Leads His servant 'mong fountains of graces,
Ever nearing the bright Promised Land.

For the young and the old thou hast labored,
All knew of thy fatherly love—
The soul passing hence to its Maker—
The spirit just sent from above.

Twenty-five years—why 'tis simply a symbol
The passing of time to record,
For lives are not measured by years
But by deeds in the sight of the Lord.

And years may be lengthened to cycles,
Or fleeting as shadows that pass
When the Spring winds chase over the meadows
And kiss off the dew on the grass.

And we pray that this life which we honor—
This life which we knew in its prime—
May long be the joy of thy people
And tenderly dealt with by time.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. —Resumption of yesterday's selling movement in Reading shares imparted further irregularity to the stock market at the outset of to-day's trading. Reading Common lost a large fraction and First Preferred fell two points. Other backward features included American Linseed at a decline of 2 1-2 and American Car and Baldwin Locomotive which forfeited one point each. Strong features embraced American International, General Asphalt, General Electric and Wells Fargo Express.

Price movements bcame more conflicting during the morning, most of the leaders recording further declines, while obscure specialties improved. There was further selling of Baldwin, based on the annual report and Allied Chemical lost 3 1-2 points, presumably as a result of the company's proposed financing. Independent Steels, European Oils and Motor Specialties forfeited one to 2 1-2 points. Strength was shown, however, by General Asphalt preferred, Harvester, Remington Typewriter and Industrial Alcohol. Rails, especially Norfolk and Western, New Orleans, Texas and Mexico and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western were substantially higher. The money market showed no changes, call loans opening at seven per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN`

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Profit taking by holders together with lack of support led to sharp down turns to-day in the price of wheat. Moreover bears made much of advices purporting to show that as yet actual damage from green bug pest was small. The market rallied suddenly on account of a despatch from Paris, Texas, saying the Country was alive with green bugs, but the purchasing power soon gave out again. Opening prices which ranged from 1-2 to 3 1-4 lower with March 1.72 to 1.73 and May 1.62 3-4 to 1.64 1-2 were followed by a quick rally and then by a renewal of weakness.

Corn Sympathized with the wheat declines but displayed considerable resisting capacity. After opening unchanged to 1-18 lower, including May at 71 3-4 to 72 3-4, the market fluctuated mostly within the initial limits.

Oats paralleled the action of Corn starting 1-4 to 7-8 off, May 46 1-4 to 46 7-8 and holding to about that range. Provisions were easy in line with hogs and grain.

CHICAGO PRODUCE.

Canada steamships was the only really strong issue, the rally sending this stock up 1 1-4 points to 37 3-4 after its weak closing at 36 1-2 last night. Dome sold at 18.50, an advance of fifty cents share. Abitibi, Brazilian and Spanish River Comprised the weakest features of the list

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—The local Stock Exchange did nothing startling during the early trading this morning and only five of the important issues appeared at all Abitibi closed yesterdap afternoon at 49 1-2 and sold this morning at 48 7-8. "WHIP" TO BE REPEATED AT THE GRAND TO-NIGHT.

"The Whip," with its powerful gripping scenes, and tense situations, was presented yesterday afternoon and night at the Grand, and will be shown again to-night and to-morrow afternoon and evening.

The plot centres around the beautiful racehorse called "The Whip," which has been scheduled as a winner for the big handicap. Enemies of the horse's owner, a pair of crooks, and a bookmaker, make the plot interesting, with all manner of villainy in their attempts to kill the racer. Of course they are finally frustrated in the accomplishment of their fiendish designs, at the last moment the jockey is held by a police warrant, and Diana Beverley, the owner's young daughter, rides the horse to the winning post. There is a love story in the picture, which also winds up in the conventional way, as all good stories and pictures do.

The immense train wreck provides a thrill for the fans, and a fox hunting scene, a horse show and a race course, provide entertainment for animal lovers. The cast of actors is most ably portrayed, the leading characters being Diana Beverley, her lover, Hubert Brancaster, Mrs. D'Aquila, Baron Sartoris and Harry Anson, the jockey. The stage effects are also most elaborate and realistic and the entire production is well worth the expenditure of an hour or so.

NO PRISON LABOR COMPETITION NOW

PREMIER DRURY TAKES DEFINITE STAND REGARDING MATTER.

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Feb. 16.—Premier Drury to-day took a definite stand that products made by free government labor should not be placed on the market in competition with products made by private concerns. This was made clear when he received a deputation from the Canadian National Clay Products Association who protested against the Government selling bricks made by free labor at the Mimico brick yard. W. W. Dunlop, inspector of prisons, said the government could use all bricks made by free labor.

"Y" BOYS VICTORS BY SCORE OF 2-1

The Young Men's Club of the Y.M.C.A. clashed with the All Saint's hockey team last night and came out on the long end of a score of 2-1. Both teams hit a fast pace and to pick the stars would have been difficult as everyone from the goal minders out played a sterling game.

The game opened fast with both teams hitting a dizzy clip. The play was about even, end to end rushes predominating, until Hardill broke away with a long rush and scored the first goal for the "Y" aggregation. A few minutes later LeBarr evened it up and it remained that way until half-time. After a few minutes play in the second period Thorndyke pushed the "Y" ahead, scoring on a close-in shot. All Saints tried hard to even it up but Bergoine was unbeatable.

Mr. F. Le Barr handled the bell to the satisfaction of both teams The line-up was as follows:—

Young Men.

Goal, Bergoine; r. defence Hardill; l defence, Miller; r. wing, Thorndyke; l. wing, Hensley; centre, Hopkins; Subs—Warde, Sturgeon, Doughty

All Saints.

Goal, Whitlow; r. defence, LeBarr; r. defence. Murdoff; r. wing, C. Parrington, l. wing, Turner; centre, Parrington; Sub. O'Connor.

HOCKEY

The Bankers will likely use Laurence Soden in their game against the C.G.E. Tool-room to-night; otherwise the line-ups of the four teams will be as usual. De Laval had a good workout at the Rink last night in preparation for their battle with Hamilton's, and will go on the ice confident that they have an even chance to beat the Westerners, and thus boost their chances of winning the second half of the schedule.

Ice prospects for to-night's games are not the best, and this adds to the uncertainty of the outcome.

The C.G.E.-Bankers game will be called at eight o'clock, with Waghorne handling the bell.

Fans having the interest of the players in mind, will not smoke in the rink to-night.

AT THE EMPIRE

NATION'S PRETTIEST GIRLS IN PICTURE.

Winners of Nation-wide Contest Portray Leading Roles in "A Dream of Fair Women."

Five of "the most beautiful girls in America" portray the leading roles in "A Dream of Fair Women," the "fame and fortune" contest picture which opens at three days' showing at the Empire Theatre on Thursday.

At least that is the opinion of the judges who selected them from nearly 100,000 aspirants for the privilege of being given an opportunity to be starred on th e screen.

The judges, who include Mary Pickford, Mme. Petrova, Maurice Tourneur, Thomas H. Ince, James Montgomery Flagg, Howard Chandler Christy and Cecil De Mille, after much debate and considerable hard labor, selected 25 girls, who had submitted their photographs, to come to New York to be given the usual tests, to ascertain their talents, ability and value.

Following this the five girls, Blanche McGarity, Virginia Brown, Anita Booth and Anetha Getwell, were given the leading roles in "A Dream of Fair Women," which was directed by Wilfrid North in order not only to get the best picture obtainable, but to give the girls every opportunity to display their talents to the best advantage.

The young actresses impersonate various phases of human character, such as Idleness, Indulgence, Selfishness, Unhapiness and Idle Love.

To Eugene V. Brewster is due the credit for the contest, his idea being to obtain new talent for the screen. And producers realizing the demand for better stories and not greater stars are more and more getting away fom the "star" system.

SETTINGS ARE FILM FEATURES

Some of the most beautiful backgrounds and setting ever conceived for a photoplay production make "Isobel; or, The Trail's End," adapted from a famous novel by James Oliver Curwood, and directed by Edwin Carewe, one of the most talked of productions of recent months. This film drama, which opens a run at the Allen theater Thursday was taken in the Far North —in the land of perpetual ice and snow.

The exterior scenes are splendid examples of artistry by the modern cinematographer. Those in this production were chosen with an eye to charm and beauty, and the results will please the most hardened critic.

New effects in interior lighting make the interior scenes as dainty and tasteful as the exteriors. Reviewers of this masterpiece have declared its photography and lighting effects to be unsurpassed in the history of the film industry.

TRYING TO IMPEACH THE BASEBALL JUDGE.

Proceedings Started in American House by Democratic Representative of Ohio.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. — Impeachment proceedings against Kenesaw Mountain Landis, Federal Judge of Chicago, were started in the House here by Rep. Welty, Democratic, Ohio.

Landis, Welty charged, is subject to impeachment because he has neglected the duties of his judgeship to become a national arbitrator for organized baseball. The holding of the two offices by Landis tends to nullify the proceedings against members of the Chicago White Sox and of the judgment of $240,000 obtained by the defunct Federal League against organized baseball for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws, the congressman claimed.

Welty's charges were referred without debate to the judiciary committee in accordance with the constitution.

WEDDING BELLS

On Saturday, February 5, 1921, the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Nicholls, of Bobcaygeon, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, the occasion being the marriage of their only daughter, Violet to Reginald D. Windsor of Peterboro.
The ceremony was perforemd by the Rev. Mr. Whyte of Bobcaygeon.
The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father. She was charmingly attired in a gown of grey satin and georgette and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Vada Freeman of Lindsay, wearing a dress of grey taffeta and georgette, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and evergreens. Mr. George Walker of Bobcaygeon assisted the groom.
The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome vanity purse; to the bridesmaid a gold bar pin set with pearls, and to the groomsman a pair of gold cuff links.
A sumptuous repast was served to the guests, numbering about 50.
Amid showers of confetti and congratulations the happy couple left on the 2.15 train for Toronto and other points, the bride travelling in a suit of navy blue silvertone with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Windsor will reside in Haliburton.

SHALLOW MINDED VISITOR REMINDS PRESIDENT WILSON OF A BUNGALOW.
WASHINGTON, D. C. — The following "inside story" in Washington to-day is one of President Wilson's witticisms.
Recently the Pesident listened patiently to a man who impressed him as having little intellectual depth.
"That man," said the President, "is a simple bungalow. He has no upper story whatever."

GARFIELDS REMANDED FOR A WEEK TO-DAY

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF WOODSTOCK CONFECTIONER.

(Canadian Press).
WOODSTOCK, Feb. 16.—Norman and Denton Garfield, charged with the murder of Ben Johnson, a Woodstock confectioner, on the night of January 20, appeared before Magistrate Ball here to-day, and were remanded for a week, although it has been definitely decided that the preliminary trial will be held here on Friday. Oxford County Jail has had three or four prisoners escape during the past year or so, and the authorities are installing two steel cells. Extra guards will look after the Garfields.

ESSEX HIGH SCHOOL DESTROYED BY FIRE

DAMAGE, $60,000, PARTIALLY COVERED BY INSURANCE.

(Canadian Press).
WINDSOR, Feb. 16.—As a result of a fire last night, presumably caused by an overheated furnace, the High School at Essex, a six-room structure, valued at sixty thousand dollars, is in ruins. It is covered by insurance to the extent of eighteen thousand dollars. The pupils, numbering 160, will probably be accommodated in one of the town buildings, but all equipment was destroyed. Some teaching will not be resumed until next week.

G.W.V.A. RESOLUTIONS BEFORE PARLIAMENT.

All Aid to Returned Men in Past Worked Out For People's General Advantage.

(Canadian Press.)
OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—Resolutions to be placed before the Parliamentary committee on re-establishment by the Great War Veterans' Association will set forth the fact that the requests made on behalf of veterans, while they have all been to the primary advantage of returned soldiers, have all worked out in the past for the general advantage of the people in the dominion. The work which has been done in the matter of vocational training, etc., has been of general advantage in industries though the primary idea of it was to assist war veterans.

Help For Housing.
A number of resolutions to come before the committee were drafted and approved by the Dominion Executive of the G.W.V.A. which met here early in the month. A resolution on housing asks that the federal government extend direct assistance to veterans who wish to take advantage of the government's housing aid scheme. This is asked because many cities and municipalities have not taken advantage of the government's aid scheme.
Several resolutions for changes in the Pensions Act were approved. One of these asks that pensions be extended to widows of men married subsequent to contracting disability. A further pensions resolution asks that there be no pension granted to a widow unless she was living with the deceased soldier or maintained or entitled to be maintained by him at the time of his demise.

Soldiers' Insurance.
Extension of the period from two years to five years, in which application for returned soldiers insurance may be made, is asked, also that there be no reduction from the insurance money in respect of pension which may be payable to the beneficiary. A resolution along these lines asks that the benefits of insurance be extended to widows of all men who fell on active service. Under the present clause these widows are not eligible for insurance policies. The veterans also ask that ther be no discrimination against non-resident returned soldiers.

Land Settlement.
Resolutions in regard to land settlement are numerous. One of these asks that the Soldier Settlement Board be authorized to supply seed grain and feed supplies to soldier farmers in the districts which suffered from drought in 1920 until the 1921 crop is assured. Another asks that payment by soldier farmers to the Soldier Settlement Board, which are now due on October 1, be put abck to December 31 as threshing is not usually finished by the earlier date.

Equalization of Pensions.
A pension resolution asks for an equalization between the amounts paid to men resident in Canada and non-residents. The G.W.V.A. takes the attitude that men who enlisted in the United States and since discharge are resident there are being discriminated against. They lose 30 per cent of their pension through non-residence in Canada and in addition have been hard hit by the unfavorable exchange rate.
No action was taken by the executive in regard to an appeal for repatriation at the public expense of men who took their discharge in the British Isles.

Immigration Laws.
The veterans are asking that there be a stricter enforcement of the immigration laws, to prevent the entry into Canada of aliens.
The working out of a plan of unemployment insurance to obviate the sufferings which have occurred in the past is also urged by the G.W.V.A.
When the veterans go before the committee there will probably be a renewed demand for industrial loans to returned soldiers to assist them in developing business ventures of a certain nature, most of these having to do with the development of natural resources.

GOVERNMENT CAUCUS IS NEXT AND FINAL

LIBERALS AND PROGRESSIVES HAVE ALREADY DISPOSED OF THERIS.

(Canadian Press).
OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—With the first caucus of each of the Opposition groups having been disposed of before the House meets to-day, the National Progressive (Farmers) party having met this morning, interest is turning to the probable gathering of the Government's supporters to be held for the purpose of putting its policies before the members. It is not expected, however, in view of the fact that a number of Government supporters have not yet reached Ottawa, that any caucus of the party will be held this week. In the meantime there is said to be little before the members which is in the urgent class.

AGED SULTAN GIVES WAY TO ELDEST SON.

Crown Prince of Jokjokarta Trained in European Ways.

(Associated Press.)
THE HAGUE, Feb. 15.—The aged Sultan of Jokjokarta, one of the two powerful and wealthy potentates of the Dutch East Indies, has decided to abdicate in favous of his eldest son, the Crown Prince of Jokjokarta, who has been trained in European ways.
The Crown Prince has spent many months at the court of Queen Wilhelmina and Dutch officials look forward to his rule over the Mohammedan natives with much favour.
Before leaving for the Indies, a few weeks ago, the young man informed his father that he would not take the Sultan's throne unless the abdicating potentate, with his entire ocurt, removed o another town than Jokjokarta, and the father consented, rather than cause trouble.
While Bolshevik agitators in the East Indies have had much success in many sections of Java and Sumatra, they have had very little influence in Jokjokarta, and the new Sultan is expected to maintain this situation.
The Sultan of Jokjokarta is a vassal of the Dutch, and has his headquarters at Jokjokarta, on the southern side of the island of Java.
Jokjokarta has a population of about 60,000. The Sultan's water palace or citadel is described as the chief feature of the city. It covers an area of about one square mile, and is a small town by itself, with separate buildings for the occupancy of the women of the Sultan's court and for workmen.
The Sultan divides his authority to a certain extent with a quasi-independent prince, Paku Alam.

LUMBER CAMP MATERIAL STOLEN—20 ARRESTED.
OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—The lumber camp equipment at Lake Kippawa, owned by Mr. John Lumsden, Ottawa, has been stolen by some persons, and so far the authorities at Lac Ste. Marie, Que., have made 20 arrests.
The camp has been inactive for some time, and consequently afforded an opportunity for people to help themselves to sleighs, picks, shovels, axes, forges, etc. Considerable of the lost material has been recovered.
A special court will be held on 23rd February, when Magistrate Millar, of Hull, will try the cases.

SENTENCE DEFERRED.
Case of Theft Heard in the County Court To-day.
Sentence was withheld by Judge Huycke to-day in the case of James Johnston of Chandos, who was charged with breaking into the cottage of Andrew Carnegie, on Loon Lake, in the month of December.
Johnston claims to be 18 years of age. His parents say he is only 17. Eva Dewer Johnston, his alleged wife, who is charged similarly, is now 19. She was first married when 14 or 15 years of age, and last July claims to have been married to Johnston. The case of the girl was proceeding this afternoon. F. D. Kerr acted for the man and J. Wearing for the girl.
The goods alleged to have been stolen were valued at several hundred dollars and included bedding, hardware, rifles, ammunition, cooking utensils and clothing.

DANGERS OF GOLFING.
(Canadian Press.)
VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 16.—Golfing is a dangerous pastime when the high winds frolic. During the storm which recently uprooted trees and played havoc with telephone and telegraph wires, an intrepid golfer at Colwood Coutry Club drove off into the teeth of the gale, and the wind was so strong that it blew the ball back and it struck him on the nose. He holed out in one. In proof of his story, the golfer exhibited a broken nose.

BOTTLE STUCK UP THROUGH THE FOOTBRIDGE.
Finder Will Spend a Week on the Hill to Refresh His Memory.
When Crown Attorney Hatton asked Frank Dunnett, who was charged with being drunk in Central Park last night, where he got his liquor, the prisoner told him he found a bottle sticking up through the floor of the footbridge that crosses the ravine back of the Normal School.
Was it marked "Help Yourself?" askedCot nrh etwtA mmM NnurKiG asked the Crown Attorney, waxing humorous.
Dunnett got drunk on the bottle, which was about one-quarter full. He also got into trouble with the police, and as his story was not believed by the Magistrate, Crown Attorney, or Chief of Police, he was given a week's remand to forget his first version and see if he could not recall the actual source of supply.

Files Particulars in Suit Against A. J. Small's Secretary.
TORONTO, Feb. 15—Acting for Mrs. Constance Doughty, who is suing her husband, John Doughty, former secretary to Ambrose Small, missing theatrical magnate, J. A. Macintosh appeared before Chief Justice Mulock to file general particulars of the allegations made by Mrs. Doughty. G. T. Walsh, who represented Doughty, offered to file an affidavit.
In the statement of claim Mrs. Doughty sets forth she was married on June 11, 1917, living with her husband until May, 1919, when she was compelled to leave him. Mrs. Doughty charges her husband with giving to the newspapers the reason of his absence following Mr. Small's disappearance as domestic troubles, placing the responsibility upon his wife. She denies this.
Mrs. Doughty at one time was a resident of East City, where she resided with her parents.

CHARGE THE FIRM HIRED DETECTIVES

LABOR DEPUTATION ALLEGES BEAVER BOARD COMPANY IMPORTED ARMED U.S. SLEUTHS INTO THOROLD.

TO BE INVESTIGATED

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Feb. 17. — John A. Flett, Hamilton; J. F. Marsh, Niagara Falls; A. A. Woodward, Toronto, and John Noble, Toronto, formed a Labor deputation which waited upon Hon. W. E. Raney this morning, protesting that the Beaver Board Company at Thorold has been employing Americans and arming them. These men, who are hired as special constables, the deputation claimed, were secured from a firm of private detectives in Washington, and were provided with $250 each to pass the immigration authorities. The deputation complained that the men hired as special constables were not remaining on the company's property. They said they were travelling through town to the station on trucks carrying the company's goods. The deputation asked the Attorney-General to take steps to have the special constables discharged. Hon. W. E. Raney said he would secure a full report and would then know how to act.

JOHNSTON COUPLE ARE FOUND GUILTY

SENTENCE DEFERRED UNTIL SATURDAY MORNING NEXT.

In the case of the King vs. James Johnston before Judge Huycke in which Johnston was charged with housebreaking and theft from the home of Andrew Carnegie, Loon Lake. The prisoner was found guilty and sentence will be given Saturday morning by Judge Huycke

On the joint charge against James Johnston and Eva Johnston, of house breaking and theft, Johnston pleaded guilty. Reviewing the evidence, Judge Huycke in giving judgment at 11 o'clock to-day dwelt on the fact that there was no evidence against the girl other than the stolen goods and her statement or admission. After careful consideration he had concluded that the evidence was not sufficient to find her guilty of housebreaking. The evidence of theft against her was her admission which he believed was voluntarily made and justified him in accepting it as such that she was with her husband on the occasion of the robbery. Moreover, there was the fact that much of the goods were ladies apparel and considering this it would seem inconceivable that she did not have some part in the theft. In addition there was the presumption that she must have taken part in removing the goods from Carnegie's cottage, as one person, could not carry all the goods. Considering all these facts, he found the girl guilty of theft and reserved sentence till Saturday morning.

U.S. SENATE PASSES HIGH TARIFF BILL

FORDNEY EMERGENCY TARIFF BILL RECEIVES APPROVAL OF UPPER HOUSE BY VOTE OF 43 TO 30.

TAXES NECESSARIES

(Canadain Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Loaded down with a score or more amendments, the Fordney emergency tariz bill last night passed the Senate. The vote was 43 to 30. The bill was sent to conference immediately, for consideration of the amendments made since it passed the house.

Action on the bill, which was designed and rushed through the House as an "aid to the farmer of the United States," came after a long session and a hard fight, during which four Republican speakers broke away from their party alignment. Two of them, Senators Edge of New Jersey, and Moses of New Hampshire, attacked the bill bitterly. On the other hand, nine Democrats voted for the measure.

The bill has been so amended in the senate that it was believed to-night that the house would hesitate to accept it as it now stands. A committee was appointed by the Senate to meet a similar one from the house on this phase of the situation, and it is exepcted that the combined committees will start work late to-morrow.

As the measure passed the senate it carried the following important duties, among others:

COAL INDUSTRY CRISIS RUMORED

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 17. — There have been rumours in extreme Labour papers of the coming crisis in the coal trade and allegations of the plan by coal owners to lock out miners in order to bring about a reduction of wages. Whether the rumours are well founded, it it believed that when the government control is removed at the end of March there will be extensive shutting down of mines unless in the meantime export trade improves.

INTERESTING EXPOSITIONS OF SUBJECTS

"BANKING AND FINANCE" AND LABOR UNIONS ARE DISCUSSED AT EDUCATIONAL CLUB MEETING.

G. A. CAMPBELL SPOKE

The weekly meeting of the Further Educational Club of the Sacred Heart Church was held in their hall last evening. The feature of the meeting was a series of word pictures done in charcoal by Mr. H. Lush, of the Bell Telephone Company. The lightning strokes which transformed the "gob" and the "coon" (the latter drawn upside down), the transformation of the baby girl into the "vamp" and of the shamrock into the typical Irishman, and the metamorphosis of the dissipated young man, were all received with much loud applause. This is something new in the world of entertainment, and as Mr. Lush is very clever with this branch of art, and enlivened his swift picturizations with some humorous remarks, his work was rewarded with hearty appreciation.

Labour Unions.

In response to a query in the "Question Box" as to the attitude of the Church on Labour Unions, Rev. J. J. O'Brien gavea lucid explanation of this problem, laying down the ancient precepts of:

(1) The payment of a fair wage as a matter of elementary justice.
(2) The right to form unions.
(3) The maintenance of agreements between employers and employees.
() A better distribution of wealth.

Mr. J. P. Morgan was once asked if the considered $10 per week a fair wage for a longshoreman. He replied that it was, 'if it was all he could get, and took it." Father O'Brien remarked that "this mode of reasoning, to a fair-minded man, is by no means convincing."

Banking and Finance.

Mr. G. A. Campbell, manager of the Union Bank here, then gave a very short talk on "Banking Systems." Mr. Campbell must have had in mind the advice of the eminent orator who laid down three rules for public speaking. 1, Be brief. 2, Be brief. 3, Be brief, but the substance of his address was interesting and enlightening. The system of Dominion charters, which authorize the banks to take the deposits of the public and then lend them out, these charters being renewable every ten years, was explained. There were at one time quite a number of banks in Canada, but amalgamations during the last ten or fifteen years have now brought the number down to 18, and while, at the time of the Armistice, there were about 3,000 branch banks in the Dominion of Canada, now there are about 4,600, this increase being an evidence of better satisfaction and service to the public. There are between 190 and 200 branch Canadian banks outside the Dominion.

The bank has the right to demand 30 days' notice on withdrawal of savings accounts, but Mr. Campbell remarked that in his twenty years' experience in the banking business, this had never been done.

Advice to Beginners.

The bank's method is to allow a man who has sufficient money to start in business, enough to replenish his stocks from time to time and pay wages. This is liquid capital, the difference between the value of the new material and the manufactured goods, while he ships his goods and gets the money from the retailer, but the banks do not lend money for the purpose of buying a house, for instance.

Mr. Campbell's advice to young men just starting out in business was to be prompt in all dealings with their bankers and to keep their word in every way.

The chairman, Mr. Gerald Desautel, thanked all those who had contributed to the programme, and Father O'Brien also expressed his appreciation of their efforts.

VOTE ALMOST BROUGHT ON BY LIBERALS

DEBATE ON ADDRESS SAGGED BADLY AND LIBERAL TRAP WAS SPRUNG YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

GOV'T NARROW ESCAPE

Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16. — Yesterday afternoon the debate on the address sagged badly and the Liberal ambuscade which had been prepared, almost forced a division on the question of dissolution. The debate had sagged badly when E. B. Devlin, Wright, sat down, and there was apparently no one to continue the debate. Members of the Opposition, then in the majority, began to shout, "Question, question." For a moment or two there was keen excitement, and then E. W. Nesbitt, North Oxford, rose to carry on the debate, and it thence followed its predestined course. Chief Government Whip Middleboro is drumming up the members to continue the debate.

Government members have been called to caucus to-morrow morning at 11. The summons was sent out this morning and came rather unexpectedly, it having been thought that no such gathering would be called until next week. There will be general discussion on the legislation mentioned in the speech from the throne, and other legislation proposed by the government during the session. At the same time it is expected there will be considerable discussion over the Liberal attitude regarding "pairs." Members of the Government feel rather strongly on the matter, and it is probable retaliatory measures will be taken.

PRIZEWINNERS IN THE ALLEN CONTEST

HARD TO MAKE A CHOICE IN THE "DINTY" COMPETITION.

The two contests conducted by Manager Furlong of the Allen Theatre this week proved highly successful, and Mr. Furlong is contemplating further competitions of the same kind with a matinee every Friday for children.

The "Dinty" contest, in which prizes were offered for the boys who most resembled in appearance Wesley Barry, the freckle-faced hero of the picture, proved a difficult one to decide. The judges confessed their failure to make a selection between Robert Creighton and William Travers, and an appeal to the audience resulted in both boys receiving an equal share of applause. There was no other course for Manager Furlong to follow but to give each of the two a four weeks' pass to the Allen. Percy Hannah received third prize, entitling him to three weeks' free admission.

The newsboys' contest was also a close one, with two ties. Gilman, the first prize-winner, sold 140 Examiners in the time limit. Jack Krank and Roy Johnston were tied for second with 108, and Jack Dobbin and Jack Milburn tied for third with 90. All will receive prizes.

SELLING FACILITIES FOR FRUIT GROWERS.

Growers Seek Establishment of a Central Agency.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—To further the growth of co-operation amongst growers, and to eliminate the heavy losses sustained annually, due to overheating or frost on shipments of fruit made during the winter months, the establishment of a central agency to look after the sale of Ontario apples and the inauguration of a Carriers' Protective Service as now proposed in an application before the Dominion Railway Board, were favored by speakers at the annual convention of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association held at the Prince George Hotel yesterday.

Bolshevik Stroke At British Power In India Revealed

ARMED INVASION OF PARMIR ON THE THRESHOLD OF INDIA, AVOWEDLY FOR THIS PURPOSE.

BEGAN LAST OCTOBER

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Armed invasion of the Parmir region of Central Asia, on the threshold of India and China, was begun by the Russian Bolsheviki troops last October, it is indicated by a communique just issued by the India office. The communique gave the text of an "order of the day" sent out on Oct. 10 by M. Sokolinkow, chief commisar on the Turkestan front, to the Soviet division ordered into Pamir. It stated the men should make themselves at home and carry on Bolshevik propoganda with a view to influence the people of India to revolt against Britain.

"Comrades of the Pamir division," said the order, "you have been given a responsible task. The Soviet republic sends you to garrison posts on Pamir on the frontiers of the friendly countries of Afghanistan and India. The Pamir tableland divides revolutionary Russia from India, which with its three hundred million inhabitants is enslaved by a handful of Englishmen. On this tableland you signallers of revolution must hoist the red flag of the army of liberation. May the peoples of India who fight against their English oppressors soon know that friendly help is not far off. Make yourselves at home with the liberty-loving tribes of Northern India and promote by word and deed their revolutionary progress."

CARUSO'S CONDITION REMAINS UNCHANGED

(Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The condition of Enrico Caruso, world famous Grand Opera Singer, continues unsatisfactory and critical, according to a statement issued by one of the attending doctors this morning. He stated that his condition was as unsatisfactory as it was yesterday morning.

"His condition is very critical and we cannot get away from that fact." Word was received that the singer rallied from a second relapse early this morning.

CONFERENCE ON INDEMNITY MAY BE ABANDONED

PARIS NEWSPAPER BELIEVES IT WOULD BE UNNECESSARY BECAUSE OF "DERISIVE CHARACTER"

OF GERMAN OFFERS

(Canadian Press)

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Germany has been asked by Great Britain and France to communicate to them the Counter proposals of the Berlin Government before the opening of the London Conference next Monday, says the Journal. The newspaper adds, it would not be surprising if the Conference should become unnessary because of the derisive character of the German Offers. In this case, it is said, the allies will notify Germany of their decisions and give the German cabinet, a few days to make known if it accepts or refuses to execute them.

REVIVAL—CHURCH OF GOD MISSION

Last night, as previously announced, Evangelist J. Edward Campbell, at the Church of God Mission, corner Hunter and George Streets, preached on the subject, "Will a Man Rob God?"

The Evangelist applied the text, particularly to the sinner, showing that inasmuch as he belongs to God by creative right, when he withholds from the Almighty his allegiance, time, talents, influence, love and worship, that he robs Him as literally as did the Jews, to whom the words of the text were addressed.

Mr. Campbell does not cater to the sensational, but he thoroughly believes the Bible, and is not afraid to preach it.

The subject for to-night, he announces, is to be: "True Christianity."

These meetings are for the benefit of the public, and to all is extended a hearty invitation to attend.

Services commence at 7.45.

THE IONIC IN DESIGN

Among the various different designs of upright pianos, manufactured by Ye Olde Firme Heintzman Co. Limited George and Hunter streets, Peterboro, there is none that has received quite as great a degree of popularity as the Ionic design. Everywhere, where music loving people know the best that is in a piano, the Ionic has met with wide popularity. It is in a word a most satisfactory piano in every way. Giving thought of buying a new piano it would be worth your while to examine this Ionic.

Prices Continued Downward During Month of January

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—The movement in prices continued downward in January, declines appearing in almost all lines, the most important being in grain and textiles, says the report from the Labor Department today. In fuel the only decrease of importance was in furnace and foundry coke. In the retails prices of food there were decreases in nearly all of the staple lines. The index number of wholessle prices was down to 281.3 for January, as compared with 290.5 for December and 336.4 for January, 1920 In retail prices the average cost of a list of twenty-nine staple foods at the beginning of January was $14.48 as compared with $14.84 at the middle of December and $15.30 in January 1920.

Joy Reigns in Motordom As "Gas" Takes Toboggan

Joy reigneth in the motoring world, for the price of "gas" has been forced down, presumably by over-production of oil, the Imperial and Canadian Oil Companies both having reduced their prices the last two weeks.

The drop announced by their company was unexpected, said an employee of the Canadian Oil Co., today. They expected no change in price until after the first of March, when the motoring season opens, and they still anticipate lower prices then. It was a combination of forces, one of which was over-production, that brought the price down. Till two weeks ago the wholesale price of this company's "gas" was 44 cents. Last week they cut the price two cents, and the beginning of this week another two cents, so that their wholesale price to dealers is now 40 cents.

Coal oil has also crowded on the toboggan, and the wholesale price has dropped two cents, making the dealers' price 27 cents for Canadian oil and 30½ cents for the better grade of American. Lubricating oils remain steady, and no change is expected in them. The Imperial Oil Co. yesterday made a similar announcement. Within ten days this company cut its price five cents, and the price of coal oil one cent.

No further changes are anticipated by either company for several weeks.

The price of "gas" at the stations in the city to-day was 43 and 45 cents. Last week it sold at 47 and 49 cents. The 43-cent "gas" is a lower grade, according to one dealer to-day. Yesterday one of the big "gas" stations said to-day they were going to drop their price from 45 to 43 cents.

Motorists all over the city expressed satisfaction at the drop in price, and pleasure-driving, practically prohibited by the high prices last summer, should flourish as it has never before if the prices of a gallon goes any lower, they believe.

CLAIMS APSLEY MOTHER PERFORMED MARRIAGE CEREMONY FOR DAUGHTER

UNUSUAL CASE HEARD IN THE COUNTY COURT—HAD THREE HUSBANDS IN FIVE YEARS.

Being married to two men, or perhaps it would be better to say boys, and living with another one for some months, although not married to him, in five years, is the unique record of Eva Laplante, Chandos Township, forty-five miles north of this city and this alleged female bigamist is now only nineteen years of age. About five years ago she was first married to Roy Dewey, a northern youth and, it is alleged that the mother of the girl, Mrs. Joseph Laplante performed the marriage ceremony. At any rate this girl just entering her teens was married to Dewey. Dewey it is said was all right for a husband for a while but a young man of Whitney became infatuated by the fair lady's charms and a year or so ago the youthful bride, according to the story deserted Hubby No. 1 and went to live with Whitney and then after a few months James Johnston of Chandos, aged seventeen enters the stage and wins the heart of the young lady despite his apparent youth. Although her first legitimate husband was very much alive she married Johnston at Coe Hill on July 20th last, the Methodist minister at Coe Hill, performing the ceremony.

By devious ways it is claimed the marriage was carried out. The law abiding residents of Apsley were incensed at the way one of Chandos' daughters was carrying on and a license was refused them at the village However, they secured one near Coe Hill. Everything seemed perfectly legitimate to the Methodist minister and he unsuspectingly declared them "man and wife". The young couple took up residence with the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laplante where they have resided since.

Through one of the prominent and respectable citizens of Apsley the authorities were notified of the case and requests that action be taken were made. Nothing was done but a charge of bigamy may be laid against the girl before the present case against both of housebreaking was heard by Judge Huycke yesterday and another coming up before Magistrate Langley to-day involving the parents, is over.

Housebreaking Charge

Johnston is seventeen years of age according to his fathers' evidence. On May 20, next, he will be eighteen despite his own claims to being older. According to Rev. C. A G. Spence, Anglican rector at Apsley, there has not been a mark on the boy's reputation or that of his family until this illicit marriage to Mrs Dewey and the charge of housebreaking. High County Constable A. Moore was the first to give evidence yesterday morning and he told how on investigation he had found the stolen goods from the American's cottage at Laplante's house where James Johnston and the former Mrs. Dewey lived. Later on, he said, Johnston and the so-called Mrs. Johnston, in a statement admitted entering the house and taking certain goods. Reeve Scott and Constable Lane saw Johnston's statement. Reeve Scott in the box said he wrote the statement in the hotel. Witness said to Mr. F. D. Kerr that Johnston had always been of good character and his reputation was "first class". He recognized some of the piles of bedding and stuff that had been piled on the court room floor as the same he saw at Apsley. George Couch, the caretaker of the Carnegie place and a farmer, said that he was at the house the week before the supposed robbery and everything was all right. When he examined the goods on the floor he found considerable stuff amongst the piles of goods that he said did not belong to Mr Carnegie.

The Apsley constable said that Mr. Moore had warned the Johnston's that their statements might be used against them and he said he assisted Mr. Moore in the search. So far as he knew the prisoner had always had a clean reputation until this case had arisen.

Found Guilty.

Mr. Kerr, who appeared for Johnston, objected to a statement having been taken and pointed out that the youth might have been intimidated. He contended that the confessions did not amount to a confession of housebreaking but theft and he was ready to admit theft but not housebreaking. From the evidence of the caretaker that the place was locked, Crown Attorney Hatton maintained that housebreaking must have taken place and His Honour Judge Huycke concurred with the Crown Attorney in this view. He pointed out plainly that the lad was guilty of theft from his own confession and while he declared he had not broken into the house to get the goods his act of entering by any means would constitute house breaking "It is a very unpleasant conclusion to come to", he said in finding Johnston guilty. Rev. Mr. Spence and the boy's father were called to give evidence by Mr. Kerr on the youth's character. "There is no family in that part of the country more esteemed than the Johnstons", said Mr. Spence. The latter in no uncertain way scored the laws of this country that allow marriage to take place between mere infants and he blamed Johnston's marriage for the trouble he is now in. He dwelt on the inaction of the authorities on the illegal marriage and had they taken the proper steps the young man would not now be in court on this charge he said. Because of his extreme youth and his broken hearted mother, the Apsley rector asked for clemency The father of Johnston said that James, was one of twelve and went on to tell of the marriage but objection to this evidence was raised by Mr. Joseph Wearing, counsel for the girl on her charge of housebreaking and the evidence was not taken. This concluded Johnston's case. In the girl's case the High County Constable gave similar evidence. He claims that the girl is equally implicated in the housebreaking. Judgment was also reserved till today in this case.

GERMANY FLOODING NEUTRAL COUNTRIES WITH PROPAGANDA.

While Pleading Poverty is Spending Big Sums for Free Distribution of Royalist Literature.

(Associated Press.)

GENEVA, Feb. 17.—Germany has begun to flood Switzerland and other neutral countries with very expensive propaganda both in book and pamphlet form, such as the memoirs of Ludendorff, Von Hindenburg, Von Spree and other naval and military leaders in the war. The books cost between two and fifty Swiss francs each.

These, together with experiences of the former Emperor William and Crown Prince Frederick, are sent to Swiss citizens free of all cost without anything to show where they originated. All classes of persons receive them and the Swiss newspapers are asking who is behind this unwanted propaganda. The German Minister at Berne has denied any official knowledge of it.

The Journal Democrate says that while Germany is pleading poverty in order to obtain exemption from reparation payments and provisions of the Treaty of Versailles, and that while she is sending to Switzerland many children for charitable care, she is spending large sums for useless propaganda through which it is hoped to create favorable neutral pressure on the Allied premiers.

WARSAW NEWS

WARSAW, Feb. 16. — On Sunday morning Rev. G. Graham took his text from Psalm 66, 18. Some of the main points were that anything that keeps us from God is sin. The thing in itself may be all right, but if it keeps us from God it is sin. One of the great things of life is to be conscious of God. If we cherish sin we cannot pray, and thus our attempts are not prayer, and God does not listen to our demands. Another point was that if we try to defend our course, it is because we question in our own mind whether it is right. The question we should ask is not, Is it wrong? but Is it right? Mr. Graham's evening subject was "Children of God."

In the Baptist Church Rev. Vose preached on "The Holy Spirit," The Baptist Missionary Society will meet on Friday of this week at the home of Mrs. John Moore.

Vestry Meeting.

Rev. Hughes and his wife met the people of the Anglican Communion at a vestry meeting in St. Mark's Church last Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes have been in Canada only three week. The occupy the rectory at Young's Point, and on alternate Sunday afternoons Mr. Hughes will hold services at Warsaw and at Haultain.

On Wednesday evening Rev. G. Graham spoke on "The Sorrow of David Over the Death of Saul."

Saws at Work.

The circular and drag saws are started on their rounds, and are likely to be busy for some time. Those who can get their wood cut now are fortunate.

Woman's Institute.

On Thursday afternoon the Woman's Institute met in the school. Miss Barrie carried on her teaching work in one room, while the Institute conducted its meeting in the other. Mrs. Wallace Anderson was secretary pro tem. It was decided to ask the department for a speaker for the summer series meeting. The subject for the afternoon was Community Work. Never has a subject been taken up more thoughtfully.

Mrs. A. F. Choate mentioned a few things that would improve the village: 1. Try to get the council to use the lamps donated some years ago by the institute; 2. Bad as the site of our school is, it might be beautified some; 3. Try to get a cow by-law passed; 4. a victrola might be provided for the school; 5. We can assist at the unveiling of th memorial monument and keep the plot of ground well cared for.

Mrs. Wallace Anderson spoke of community laundry and canning centres.

Mrs. J. A. Crowe spoke of the teacher in the community. The right kind of teacher make his or her influence felt for good in the whole community. What the children learn and do reflects on others.

Mrs. Arthur Edwards read an article on Woman's Work. Work for work's sake is no good. Girls should learn the beauty of doing necessary things well. First things should be first. Women do well to remember that with all necessary outside things Home Making comes first. There would then be no discontent from biased comparisons. Cultivate a taste for the pure and good and beautiful—good books, good music, etc. And first, last, and always—be womanly.

Mrs. Garfield Crowe asked in a general way, How many visit the school? How many even know the teacher? If we want to build a wall, we do not just say to some builder, There are the materials, build as you like. But practically the majority say to the teacher, "There are my children; educate them as you like." Where surroundings are sordid, the tendency is to lower the standard. Moral life will be higher and the social life purer if the beautiful and good are studied.

Mrs. E. R. Hamblin had a carefully prepared outline of community work in general. A certain amount of discussion arose as she put her points on the blackboard. What is a community? A group of persons with common rights, interests, and privileges. To do community work, it is necessary to engage the attention of the community, and to awaken concern in it. Three institutions in practically every community are the Home, the School, and the Church, led by the parents, who look after first physical—second spiritual—third intellectual interests, and who have full control; the teacher whose thought is first, for intellectual; second, physical interests, she has partial control, and the minister, whose sole thought is for spiritual tings, he has no control. On the average the homes are neat, and show a certain amount of taste. Generally schools are poorly lighted, poorly ventilated, poorly decorated, poorly situated, while in churches there is a certain attempt at beauty, taste, and neatness. Co-operation among Home, School, and Church. There is a great lack of education. To overcome this consolidation of schools is necessary. Then there is practically at once an assembly hall, athletic grounds, supervised playgrounds, etc. A consolidated school means five acres of land, and neither building nor land are to be kept just for ordinary school use. The drawbacks are love of money, lack of education, lack of leaders, lack of vision. There are some things that can be done without cost, namely, visit the sick, send flowers, attend wo man's institute meetings, help the needy, boost the school fair, study—anything good, and the keynote of it all is, Help, Service.

Mrs. Henry Clements said there were still three brooms and one apron which had been ordered from the Institute for the blind, uncalled for The meeting closed shortly after 4 p.m. The school children had set the tea-table very prettily. There was a very pretty centre-piece fashioned from white tissue paper and a vase of flowers. Tea things were placed at one end, salad at the other. The granite bowls were daintly hidden in white tissue. Bread and butter sandwiches, daintly made by the school childres were there too. Miss Barrie served scalloped potatoes and salmon wholly prepared by the girls. She asked Mrs. Choate to serve the salad and the President to pour tea. The pupils waited on the ladies and did it beautifully, each had her allotted work and did it quietly an well It must mean much to busy mothers to have their children so well trained in the proper methods of doing things. The cooking was perfect as also the service The ladies thanked Miss Barrie and her pupils for the pains they had taken. She was glad the women had seen fit to come, as she wished the mothers to see what their children did. It was good for the children sometimes to have the break and it gave them a different outlook on life. She also invited the ladies to come and visit the school at any time and hope at some future time they could hold another meeting there.

Some asked the reason of holding the meeting at the school. The reasons were:

First that teacher and mothers meet.

Second, that people would see a demonstration of work done by pupils, (It was a revelation to many).

Third, that the girls might have a chance colectively to put their training to the test, (and they stood up well to that test).

As during the discussion on community work, it was asked "Could we imagine a premier coming from Dummer, it was also sadi that not many had gone from Dummer, who were outstanding figures, and what any had done it was in spite of school conditions, rather than because of them. The very best of teachers were handicapped. On the spot it was mentioned that Mrs. Graham, (nee Miss Julia Choate), was a violinist of no mean order. Since then some information has come in. The late Dr. Speir, a prominent Baptist Divine, got his start in a little stone schoolhouse over in the 9th line. The late Dr. Dewart, cousin of Messrs. James and Henry Dewart and the late John Dewart for many years editor of the "Christian Guardian", attended school in Warsaw, worked on the canal by the mill, and always had a book by him, to study in any spare moments; later he taught in Warsaw School. Senator Alexander R. Young, a cousin of Mr. John Rose's went to school on the 9th line, Dummer, later when 17 and 18 years old attended Warsaw school. The family then moved to the States, he accompanied them but his schooling days were over. His father was a litrary man. The young man turner to do carpentering and became a large contractor For many years he has been a State Senato for Colorado and at the last elections went in with a majority of over 33,000. His eldest sister, Mary, now Mrs. Ducan McKeller, Chicago, was bridesmaid for Margaret Methven (the late Mrs. Stephen Miller).

Miss Elsie Tucker and Helen Bowen have been in Port Hope for the past month, and returned home last Monday.

Mr. Robert Tedford, Norwood, was in the village on Wednesday.

Mr. Hugh Robb, Norwood, was in the village on Friday on business in connection with the monument.

Horses Ran Away.

While a load of logs was being unloaded this afternoon, Mr. Nathan Bell's team got away and ran down to the village. Fortunately they went into Mr. Percy Lloyd's yard, and were caught before any damage was done.

Illustrated Lecture.

The illustrated lecture by Mr. Colville on the Navy League, which was to have been given this evening is postponed until 28th February. The lights would not work. There would hardly have been a good audience, for it was not well advertised, and there were partie and practises.

Valentine Party.

The Social Club held a very successful Valentine party on Monday evening which was attended by about sixty young couple. The evening was spent in Valentine games and dancing which was kept up till about midnight.

W. A. Valentine Tea.

The annual Valentine tea of the W. A. of St. John's church was held on Tuesday afternoon in the school room and was so successful that it surpassed all previous records. More than eighty dollars were taken in and this did not include $12 which was received by the Juniors as the proceeds of their table. The room was prettily decorated with hearts and arrows and other insignia of the season of St. Valentine and was cowded all afternoon. One special feature of this year's function was the Valentine cake contest which attracted a great many people. A prize of $5 was offered for the best decorated Valentine cake and ten attractive cakes were entered, the prize being awarded to Mrs. E. R. Tate.

The president of the W. A. received the visitors and made every one feel at home; and so cheery and sociable was the afternoon that people left with regret.

The Home cooking table was, as usual under the capable supervision of Mesdames. Northcott, and Jackson. Mrs. J. Sanderson and Mrs. Barker were in charge of the fancy work booth and were very successful.

Mrs. Marling and Mrs. Wm. Watson presided at the candy table which was very popular. Among those assisting in the tea room were Mesdames. Trude Waldon, Mahood, S. E. White, A. Wannamaker, Dever, Stenner and Miss Hampton.

An oak foot stool was drawn for and won by Mrs Mason. Mrs. Hope sold the tickets and conducted the drawing.

The junior table was in charge of Miss Melissa Alford and assisted by a group of dear little Valentine fairies who on close inspection, proved to be the members of the junior branch.

The reputation of the Valentine tea has grown year by year until it is now a regular institution and eagerly watched for by many, especially the fair sex.

The so-called dignity of banking carries with it, to the minds of some people, an impression of reserve, which has, at times, actually prevented them from becoming depositors. As a matter of fact, a Bank is a business institution, conducted on business lines by practical, successful business men who are both approachable and considerate. It is a pleasure to do your banking at The Merchants Bank.

THE FARMERS' POSITION.

The chief interest in the political situation just now centres in the action that will be taken by the Farmer members of the House of Commons in regard to Hon. Mackenzie King's amendment. Some of the western farmers do not wish to force an election at the present time because an appeal to the country before redistribution took place would deprive the western provinces of the new eats that their increase in population entitles them to; at the same time they are dubious as to the nature of the redistribution that would be carried out by the Meighen government if the latter were in power when this important task was undertaken. For the present the Agrarian group are undecided, although the tenor of Ottawa opinion seems to be that a division will find the Farmer members solidly behind the King amendment. It will be several weeks before the voting stage is reached, so that the Agrarians have plenty of time to come to a decision before the flow of oratory at last comes to an end.

THE NEW TAXATION.

Hon. Peter Smith in looking for fresh sources of revenue to cover the expenditures the Provincial Government contemplates during the present year, has decided upon a number of new taxation proposals which will undoubtedly be closely examined by the Legislature. One method he has announced is the collection of a tax of one fourth of one per cent. on bank reserves, a somewhat dubious proposal, for only grave necessity should be allowed to dictate a policy that might hinder the banks from building up their reserves. The tax of two mills on the gross amount of real estate transfers is also likely to meet with objections, for the charges involved in such transactions are heavy enough already without being made more burdensome by the infliction of a provincial tax. The farmers have little reason to complain of Mr. Smith's new taxation, however, for it is fairly obvious that the bulk of it will be borne by the people of the cities and towns, and on that account the U.F.O. clubs are likely to regard the proposals of the Provincail treasurer as a striking example of successful financing and to overlook the fact that in the first year of the Farmer-Labour regime the expenditures of the province increased by five millions.

THE EXHIBITION.

The enthusiasm shown at the general meeting of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board, the large attendance, and the evident desire of old and new members to give their best services to the welfare of the Exhibition augur well for another red letter year. No organization in the city is animated by a more enthusiastic spirit than is the Exhibition Board, and county and city members vie with each other in their zeal on behalf of the Exhibition. The members evidently feel that to stand still is to go back, and so it is not surprising to find that this year's improvements include a new grand stand capable of seating 1,000 people and that the Exhibtion may possibly be a five day show this year, although this change has not been definitely decided upon. The decision to enlarge the capacity of the grand stand instead of building new cattle barns, as originally planned, was a wise one, for the revenue will be considerably augmented by the increased stand accommodation, making the financing of further improvements for next year a much simpler matter. The personnel of the standing commitees struck for the year show that the Exhibition is fortunate in its list of enthusiastic workers, for there is no dead wood on any of the committees, and good work can confidently be expected of all of them.

THE AMUSEMENT TAX.

The Ontario Government is not likely to pay much attention to Toronto's request that the amusement tax should be abolished. The tax, which was originally, of course, a war measure, is now so familiar to the people of Ontario that it is paid without the slightest complaint, and it form a profitable source of revenue for the province without being particularly burdensome. In principle, it is sound, for people who can afford the money for amusements, cannot logically complain when they are asked to contribute a fraction of the money so exepnded to help carry on the government of the province. It is much better that this revenue should be derived from amusements than from taxes levied on the necessities of life, and the Government will undoubtedly continue to keep the amusement tax in existence—in fact the system is being extended to include pool and billiard parlours ,and in another year other forms of amusement may possibly be added.The tax is too profitable a form of raising revenue to be disregarded at the request of the Toronto civic authorities, and there is not the last probability of the request being even momentarily considered.

SOUTH AFRICA AND DISRUPTION.

It is true that the bonds which connect Britain's self-governing colonies to the mother country are flexible and seemingly light. But readers should note carefully the result of the South African elections. At a time when, for various purposes, none of them particularly creditable, Great Britain is being rabidly baited in this country, it is important to remember that those ties are far stronger than the critics of the British Empire pretend. There are good and compelling reasons why the junior partners in the world's greatest going concern do not pull out to set up in business for themselves.

Advocates of a huge American navy, with an eye to correspondingly huge shipbuilding contracts, have magnified every cause of offense between ourselves and Great Britain, even working hand in hand with the Clan-na-Gael (which does not want to find its occupation gone with peace in Ireland) and with German sympathizers, covert but unrepentant, who do not approve of reparations. There is no solidarity, for instance, in India, nor the faintest possibility of popular government on any Dominion or home rule plan. All India knows this; but a heady, under-disciplined, over-educated, English-speaking baboo class, which is to us the only articulate class, has industriously spread a conception of disintegration which is essentially false.

A small minority in Egypt, articulate in the same way, intoxicated with western ideas, but not ballasted with the high political principle which everything that is best in Washington understands, has exaggerated a condition of unrest which is not, on the better and less advertised tests, shared by the Egyptian fellaheen, the overwhelming majority of the population. These would be slow to exchange the inveterate honesty of Bititsh rule for a sort of Coptic Tammany, holding somewhat the same views of the treasury and taxation as those held in the governments of Mexico and New York City.

South Africa is now completing an election where the plain question of cutting loose from the British Empire was the crux of the campaign. The result has been an overwhelming defeat of the secessionists. There are convincing reasons why Britain's self-governing colonies do not "cut the painter." In all relations with the great foreign powers, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, or South Africa, are in an incomparably stronger position now than they would be if they were independent. Every Canadian knows that this is true of our neighbors to the north, and Canada is by far the most favorably situated to set up in business on her own account.

Australia, with a white population of less than 5,300,000 and an area as large as the United States, much of which is unsuited by reason of climate to European but not to Asiatic settlement, would soon find itself arguing at a disadvantage with Japan. This is a chance which South Africa, excluding Asiatics, does not intend to take. British solidarity is an important matter for us to consider, in all its political, social and financial aspects. The exhilarating sport of twisting the British lion's tail has been lamentably overdone. It is well to remember that the lion is still a complete and healthy animal.—Wall Street (N.Y.) Journal.

ABOUR COUNCIL DISASSOCIATES ITSELF FROM THE INDEPENDENT LABOR PARTY

CLINED TO CONTRIBUTE TO THE ELECTION FUND OF T. J. M'MURRAY—ABIDE BY CONSTITUTION OF THE TRADES COUNCIL—ALD. CROWE SEES DANGER IN SOME PRESENT DAY AMUSEMENT.

GRAVE, BECAUSE SUBTLE

Adhering to and reasserting organ-ed Labour's traditional policy of xcluding purely political questions om its meetings, the Trades Coun-l last night, deliberately following its constitution, decided to take no action on a request from the Independent Labour Party for a grant to help defray the expenses of T. J. McMurray in the recent bye-election.

An amendment proposing that a contribution, "even if it is only five cents," be made, was defeated by a large majority. Delegates who said they had voted for Mr. McMurray, recognised that he had received his candidature from the Independent Labour Party, and not from the Trades Council. The only alternative they suggested was that individual members who wished to assist the Independent Labour Party could do so by personal subscriptions, and that the cause might be recommended to the separate unions prior to their meetings.

The resolution was submitted by the secretary, Mr. James Dodds, who read a letter written in 1919 by Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades Congress, advising the Council that a delegate should not be admitted from the Independent Labour Party. Mr. Dodds advanced other arguments, and against them the question was asked whether the aims and activities of the Independent Labour Party were only political or whether they should not be regarded as chiefly "labour."

Reduce Speed Limit.

The Council gave its approval to Police Magistrate Dumble's incipient agitation that the speed limit of automobiles within the city limits should be reduced from twenty to fifteen miles an hour.

A Musical Programme.

H. Gilbert, of the Musicians' Union, proposed that the Council devote half an hour of its meetings occasionally to a short musical programme by way of providing an entertaining diversion. His idea was heartily received, and Mr. Gilbert undertook to arrange for the first programme at the regular meeting on 2nd March.

Ald. Crowe in Serious Mood.

Ald. Crowe, who was present as a delegate from the Moulders' Union, called attention to a resolution in a communication from the Board of Trade deprecating "questionable amusements of the carnival type." As chairman of the City Council's Legislation Committee. Ald. Crowe headed the deputation to Toronto on Tuesday, and to wile away an hour or two in the evening, he went into one of the down-town picture shows. There were two thousand persons in the theatre, he said, and all of them seemed to be enjoying a performance which in its ultimate effects could not but be ruinous to society and civilisation.

"There were shootings and killings of all kinds," said Ald. Crowe. "To me it was a most tiresome experience. Five minutes of it was enough. The only good feature was the splendid orchestra of twenty pieces, playing standard music. Many of the people who could sit through that picture performance of about two hours wouldn't sit half an hour in a church listening to a sermon."

Digressing to discuss some of the vicious influences that had hastened the ruin of ancient civilisations, Ald. Crowe urged that there should be more careful attention to the amusements that were provided for the public to-day. Not a little of it was decidedly questionable.

"I'm not down on elevating amusements and clean entertainment. We need it, but some of the attractions placed before the people to-day will ruin our own civilisation. When the Board of Trade's resolution comes before the City Council I shall denounce these carnival shows there."

A Morality Committee?

The next speaker disclosed a disposition that resented any interference with the liberties of the people.

"Are we a Trades Council or a morality committee?" this delegate asked. "We pay the county police and the city police to look after things, and it's their place to regulate the summer shows. We've got a Board of Censors in Toronto, and goodness knows, they are paid enough. It is their duty to see about the pictures without everybody interfering. With all due respect to Alderman Crowe, there are many who don't go to church because you find church people want to stop our liberties. And if Mr. Crowe wants to go to the Exhibitions Grounds and get fleeced, why, it's his own fault. But that's no reason why others should be prevented from going there."

Many Shows "Rotten."

Another delegate declared that most of the "road shows," to use a theatrical phrase, were "rotten." "When we get a high-class show in this town, they are lucky to get enough box office receipts to pay their transfer bill. Managers will tell you that the good companies simply starve to death. That's why we don't get more of them."

Our Own "Main Street."

Another criticism of the public's places of amusement was levelled at the pool rooms. It was pointed out that police raids in the cities showed that these places were the resorts of a disreputable and undesirable element. "Why don't they close up some of these pool rooms instead of letting more of them open on our main street?"

"Well, that would be interfering with our liberties," Ald. Crowe replied, with a dry humour reflecting good-naturedly the comment of a previous speaker. "I want to make myself clear that I am not against clean amusements. I simply contend that we should be more careful, and not be so indifferent to the possible danger to society that lies behind some of our attractions. I thought this Council might express their attitude on this resolution the Board of Trade have presented."

"Attitudes are no good," said another delegate. "You have got to make a solid stand if you wish to accomplish anything."

cumulate was boxed and carried from Headqaurters to the police warehouse without an arrest having been made for the crime.

The investigation hinged on the wagon which was believed to have drawn the infernal contrivance to a point in front of the new United States Assay office where it exploded. Fragments of the wagon and the harness of the horse were taken to Headquarters and displayed in an improvised museum in the office of the Homicide Squad, in the hope that some one would give a clue to the origin of the vehicle. But no one did, nor were exhaustive efforts more fruitful to identify the horse through its shod hoofs, which were salvaged.

Another exhibit in the "museum" was a collection of iron slugs—pieces of common window weights—which rained death and injury about the neighborhood. The slubs and the harneighborhood. The slugs and the har the wagon parts were encased in seventeen boxes, loaded on a truck and hauled to the Worth street warehouse.

The carrying of the boxes from Headquarters drew much curious attention and served to remind for the moment a number of habitues of the building that the explosion took place and that the crime was still unsolved.

Those Nasty Little Pimples
That Come On The Face
Are Caused By Bad Blood

Many an otherwise beautiful and attractive face is sadly marred by the unsightly pimples and various other skin diseases caused wholly by bad blood.

Many a cheek and brow cast in the mould of beauty have been sadly defaced, their attractiveness lost, and the possessor of the "pimply face" rendered unhappy for years.

Their presence is a source of embarrassment to those afflicted as well as pain and regret to their friends.

There is an effectual remedy for these facial defects and that is Burdock Blood Bitters, the old reliable medicine that has been on the market for over 40 years.

It drives out all the impurities from the blood and leaves the complexion clear and healthy.

Mrs. James Williams, Waterford, Ont., writes: "My face was covered with pimples for nearly a year. I used different kinds of remedies to get rid of them and finally thought there was no relief. A friend dropped in one day and told me that I should try Burdock Blood Bitters. I did so and used three bottles and found the pimples were all disappearing from my face, and now I have a clear complexion again.'

The basement of the Presbyterian church presented a very enticing appearance on Monday evening, when hearts were in evidence everywhere, the occasion being a Valentine social under the auspices of the Presbyterian church, which was a decided success. A short programme of choruses, solos, recitations, etc., was given, also two charades were well handled by a number of boys and girls, the words used being "Cat-tail" and "Catskill," A large box of candy was awarded the side who acted the charade the best. The matching of hearts was the next item of interest, followed by a musical contest. Refreshments were served at the close. The proceeds of the evening amounted to about $22.

How to Rid the Arms of Objectionable Hairs

(Aids to Beauty).

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required: Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delatone.

TELLS TRUTH OF RUSSIAN SITUATION

SAN FRANCISCO SOCIALIST, AFTER THRILLING EXPERIENCE OF SOVIET COMMUNISM, CHANGES HIS VIEWS—DENOUNCES RED RULE.

WIFE WAS A VICTIM

(Associated Press.)

BERLIN.—(By Mail.)— Prisoners in the jails of Soviet Russia, when condemned to death, are called out to be shot by soldiers who stalk into the cells after midnight, declares M. Schwartz, of San Francisco, the Socialist who went to Moscow to attend a congress of the Third Internationale and was imprisoned there for four months.

(In a previous statement, M. Schwartz told of the death of his wife as a result of a hunger strike she began to end her imprisonment in Moscow, denounced communism in Russia, and said he was going back to America to tell the workers there the actual facts about the Russian situation.)

Reformed Bolshevist.

Tall and gaunt, his black hair and beard heavily streaked with grey, the American, who had been a Bolshevik before a visit to Russia, "saddened and enlightened" him, described in a supplemental statement, the cold fear and trembling in which Soviet prisoners wait for the visits in the dead of night.

'They always come between the hours of one and two o'clock," he said. "A Bolshevist soldier walks into the crowded cell and in the instant silence calls out the names of the men or women who must die. In the jail where I was, they marched the prisoners down a stairway and into a courtyard. We could hear the volleys of the firing squads. Many men were called out for execution from my cell during those four months. Few of them knew why they had been condemned, but generally it was understood they were 'counter-revolutionaries.' They were shot without trial."

Prisoners Cease to Care.

After a time the prisoners became inured to these visits and, in the filth and monotony of prison life, ceased to care whether their names were called or not, Mr. Schwartz said. Cheery greetings were often passed as the condemned men were marched out. The men about to die would say their good-byes, wave their cell comrades a so-long, and those remaining would cry out:

"Good-bye. See you later."

Throughout the first few nights, however, Mr. Schwartz said he trembled as with ague, and his clothes, even to his overcoat, were wet with perspiration. Other prisoners, some of whom had been in the jail for more than a year, took the mater cynically and told him with apparent relish the horrors through which they had gone.

When Summons Came.

When at last the summons came to Schwartz to leave the cell he said he was certain he was going to the place of execution. But they led him upstairs instead of down. He was taken before an official named Feldman, in whose hands was the power of life and death over all the prisoners in his charge. This man said he had reviewed Schwartz's case and the American was free to go. Then the Bolshevist said:

Speaks His Mind.

"Will you tell me what you think of the Soviet government? Will you go back to the United States and speak against us?"

There was a long pause in which thoughts of the four months in prison and the executioners thronged into the American's mind. Then he replied:

"If your government really represents the working men I am for it. All my life I have worked for the laboring classes."

Evasive though it was Schwartz said the reply appeared to satisfy the Soviet official, who affected a pleasantry and dismissed him.

"If every Bolshevist in America could spend a few weeks in a Soviet prison," he concluded, "there would be no more followers of the Red Flag at home."

YOUR APPETITE AND YOUR HEALTH

BOTH DEPEND UPON A SUPPLY OF RICH, RED BLOOD.

Loss of appetite is a sure sign of ill-health. And almost always this condition is due to weak, watery blood. In such a condition you need a reliable tonic which will build up and enrich the blood. Those who take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a tonic say that the improvement in their condition began with an improved appetite. From that time on you begin to enjoy your meals, you find your digestion improved and your general health better. Among those who have tested the tonic value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. E. Connolly, Charlottetown, P. E. I., who says: "It is only fair to let you know the benefit I have derived from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was badly run down and was almost bloodless. I also suffered from stomach trouble, and neither felt like eating, nor did what I ate do me any good. I took medicine for some years, but with no benefit. Then, as the result of an advertisement I saw I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My condition at this time was discouraging, yet before I had used the first six boxes I felt much improved. Then I got another six boxes, and by the time they were done I was feeling splendid. I can warmly recommend these pills to all who suffer from stomach troubles and a run-down condition."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

I WILL PRAISE HIM WITH A SONG.

Psalm 49:30.

So many blessings crown my days,
That gladly, gratefully, I raise,
A song of humble, heartfelt praise,
Saviour, to Thee;
Blessings, with every morn, renewed;
Life, love, health, sunshine, raiment, food,
Unnumbered gifts, precious and good,
All full, and free.

Although to Thee, immortal King,
Sweet, glorious songs Archangels sing,
Veiling, with bright, unsullied, wing,
Their downcast eyes;
And to whom, rightfully belongs,
The strains of Heaven's minstrel throngs,
My faulty, frail, but loving songs,
Will not despise.

Thou, ever since, life's dawning hour,
Hast kept me by Thy kindly power,
And blessings, manifold dost shower,
Daily on me;
Worthy Thou art, dear Friend Divine,
Of nobler, worthier song, than mine,
Yet, may it, by Thy grace benign,
Accepted be.

NEWLY ENACTED HOME RULE BILL.

Injects New Complexities in Irish Situation—Will the Nationalists Reject Measure is Main Problem.

(Associated Press.)

DUBLIN, Jan. 30.—(By Mail).—British determination to apply the newly-enacted Home Rule Bill has injected new complexities into the Irish imbroglio.

The big questions of the hour are whether conditions in Southern Ireland are to chaotic to permit the experiment of an election and whether the electors in that section will refuse to vote.

Will They Reject?

An important problem in Ulster is whether the Nationalist minority will refuse to accept the Home Rule Act and thus give full sway to Unionists, of whom Sir Edward Carson has long been leader (since succeeded by Sir James Craig).

These are the dominant issues on which the whole country is speculating.

Preparations for the application of the act in Northern Ireland are in an advanced stage. There it is to come into force at the earliest possible convenient date. The splendid Belfast City Hall will be placed at the disposal of the new Northern Parliament, eliminating any delay for erection of a Parliament House. It is assured that the Carson adherents will have a working majority. The result will depend on what extent to which the Nationalists in Northeast Ulster, dissatisfied with its severance from the rest of Ireland, go to the polls.

If they vote in proportion to their numbers, they will form somewhat less than half of the membership of the new body. The Carsonites will be given virtual carte blanche if the Nationalists boycott the election. Refusal of the Nationalists to vote will not prevent the Parliament from functioning.

Two Main Opinions.

In the South, there are two main currents of opinion in official and Unionist circles. The one which appears to predominate is in favor of letting the South make a trial of the Act at the same time as the North. The other view is that in the South the time for attempted application of the act is inopportune.

From several sources, "feelers" are being put forth in the endeavor to bring out candidates for the Southern Legislature. Men of moderate opinion are being asked to offer themselves. The letter of Lord Decies, announcing his candidature, is considered likely to stimulate willingness among moderate Home Rulers to accept office.

The Farmers' Union has announced that it does not intend to put forward any candidates. But individual farmers have repudiated its claim to speak for the general body, and contend farmers should take advantage of the opportunity offered them.

Old Irish Party.

The old Irish Parliamentary Party has made no move, and its members seem indisposed to run counter to Sinn Fein sentiment.

The Home Rule Act provides that it shall come into operation on "the appointed day," which is defined as "the first Tuesday in the eighth month after the month in which the Act is passed, or such day, not more than seven months earlier or later, as may be fixed by Order of His Majesty in Council." This leaves a wide margin, varying from about the present time to 15 months hence.

Main Principle of Act.

The main principle of the Act is the establishment of two equal Parliaments, one in Dublin for Southern Ireland and one in Belfast for the six northeastern counties, with a central connecting Council.

The Act even provides that local parliaments may, if they choose, abolish themselves altogether and turn the central council into one parliament for all Ireland. This single parliament, if it is ever constituted, would exceed in importance and functions the Home Rule Parliaments contemplated by Parnell and Redmond. Meanwhile many, if not most, of the powers they contemplated will be exercisable by each of the local parliaments in its own area.

NEW METHODS FOR DETECTING CRIME.

London, Eng., Police Make Great Progress in This Direction—Extraordinarily Clever Captures.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The year 1920 was remarkable for the great progress made by the Metropolitan Police in methods of preventing and detecting crime of eevry description. General Horwood, the commissioner, is a firm believer in the importance of motor vehicles as an aid to the police, and it is in this direction that the improvements have largely been carried out.

Uniform and detective superintendents have now their own automobiles in which they can rapidly go from one point to another of their large districts.

Motorcycle side cars are kept at various police stations for the use of officers in case of emergency, and divisional detective inspectors have their motorcycles and side-cars to drive to the scene of a crime or to visit outlying stations.

The mounted police, too, under Colonel Laurie, have been re-organized, their equipment improved, and the men mounted on some of the finest horses in the country. Under the new organization a large body of mounted police can be concentrated in any part of London within half an hour.

The effect of these improvements has been seen in the extraordinary number of clever captures that have been made of burglars, pickpockets and other criminals. The flying squads of detectives attached to New Scotland Yard, working independently under the "Big Four" detectives, have done well in rounding up housebreakers and breaking up gangs of thieves who infest tube stations, trains and omnibuses.

ADDRESS BY CITY CLERK ARMSTRONG

EXPLAINED THE DUTIES AND POWERS OF THE COUNCIL, COMMISSIONS AND OTHER CIVIC BODIES.

In an instructive, chatty talk on Peterborough's civic administration, City Clerk Armstrong held the interest of the delegates at the Trades and Labour Council's meeting last night for more than an hour while he discussed the usually dry-as-dust operations and duties of the various municipal departments and commissions. Mr. Armstrong is so conversant with this subject that he naturally eliminated the non-essentials, and presented only the main springs of the inner works of the City Hall.

The Council, Board of Education, Utilities Commission, Police Commission, City Trust, Board of Health, Public Library Board, and Central Charity Board were all included in Mr. Armstrong's review. The extent of their powers and the method of their appointment were touched upon, and Mr. Armstrong concluded his address with an explanation of how the assessment rolls are made up, and from them the ratepayers' tax bills prepared.

The delegates expressed their appreciation of the City Clerk's lucid presentation by tendering him a hearty vote of thanks after he had replied to a number of questions from his audience.

Mr. Armstrong sketched the history of the City Trust Commission and its chief duties of handling debenture interest and sinking funds and the city's property. They are the trustees of such property as the block bounded by George, Simcoe, Water, and Charlotte Streets, from which they collect the taxes of the land or buildings leased. These rentals are applied on the interest and sinking funds of debentures, and in turn reduce the amount that must be secured through the Council.

The Charity Board.

Like the City Trust, the Central Charity Board is a public institution duplicated in few cities throughout Canada. Originally it was a charity committee of the Council. Persons needing relief applied through the Councillors. It gradually evolved into its present permanent form, composed of a representative of every church congregation, also of the Children's Aid Society, and the William Hall Poor Trust. The Relief Officer is the Council's representative. Advantages of the Central Charity Board are the prevention of overlapping of charitable assistance from church societies and other beneficent associations, and also the relieving of the aldermen from the duty of administering charity and investigating appeals for help.

The Assessor.

The city's assessor, Mr. Armstrong said, was appointed by the Council, who could also dismiss him, but never direct him. The assessor takes an affidavit that he will make the assessment in accordance with the Assessment Act. Each year, after he returns the assessment roll, he takes an oath that he has performed his duties as required by the Act. It provides that land must be assessed at its actual value. There a difficulty crops up. Mr. Armstrong said he didn't think two experienced valuators would agree in their estimate of any valuation. Sometimes a lot may be assessed at its selling value, sometimes not. Buildings are assessed separately at the amount by which they increase the value of the land, not at the cost of the buildings. These two assessments for land and buildings are then added together. Mr. Armstrong outlined the business and income assessments. When the rolls are returned, the Council estimates the amount of money required for the year. In other words, the budget is prepared, and generally has to be pruned. The tax rate is determined from the assessment, and the estimated expenditure, and the final step in the process is the determining of each ratepayer's share of the taxes from the tax rate and his assessment.

Asked for his opinion about the publishing of the assessment roll, Mr. Armstrong said that it would be expensive. Some years ago the newspapers of the city published the rolls. There were no more appeals or complaints than usual that year. If any formation was desired by the Labour Council as to certain assessments, Mr. Armstrong said he would be glad to furnish it if a list of the properties was made out.

PLOT TO BLOW UP THE MAYFLOWER?

ONE ARREST IN ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO DESTROY PRESIDENTIAL YACHT.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—An enlisted man of the Navy is under arrest in connection with a possible bomb plot to blow up the Presidential yacht Mayflower, Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced.

The alleged plot is now being investigated by Captain Holmes, commanding the Mayflower, and by the Department of Justice, Daniels said. The man under arrest was a member of the crew of the Mayflower.

The man last week was said to have asked the boatswain of the Mayflower that he be given the watch at a certain hour of night, as he expected a package to be brought on board. He pleaded with the boatswain that it would be worth a large amount of money to him if the officer allowed this, Daniels said.

The boatswain suspected the man wanted to bring a bomb on board and reported the affair to Captain Holmes.

The man now imprisoned also was discovered to have made an appointment in a park with another man, apparently to secure the "package."

Navy officers went to the park but found that the other man had not appeared. They found a note, however, directing that the sailor meet him the following night.

The Department of Justice is now searching for the other man, Daniels said.

QUEER DOINGS

HONEST THIEF.

(Canadian Press.)

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Feb. 17.—F. D. Hass, railroad yard master, who was held up and robbed of $12 the other night, declares what he has discovered an honest thief. He found the following note at his office: "I'm the fellow who robbed you. I was broke and out of a job and my wife and kids were going hungry. But I got a job here and as soon as I get a little money ahead I will return what I stole from you."

Hass said if he knew who the man was he'd give him "another $12 for being so honest."

HAD NO REGRETS.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 17.—The grace of a happy death was afforded the head of a well-known and picturesque family of this region who died recently. His last words were: "I die without regrets. Whiskey was selling at $22 a quart in Lexington to-day—the first time in my life that it has been quoted at a price commensurate with its value."

WHISKEY, NOT A CORPSE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.— A hearse that made its way slowly toward the Totenville-Perth Amboy ferry recently, more heavily shrouded than hearses usually are, caught the attention of two patrolmeen, and caused them to stop the funeral procession. They insisted upon seeing the coffin. When the doors were opened, it was seen there was no coffin, but in its place stood sixty cases of what the labels said was Kentucky whiskey. Four mourners are now mourning the loss of their hearse-load of illicit hootch.

WASTED HER TIME.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—Miss Laura Heller, of Quakertown, will get $5 for each of the twenty years that Erwin Hillegas had "wasted her time." She was allowed this sum in a $10,000 breach of promise suit. Miss Heller declared that Hillegas had called upon her constantly for twenty years, and had kept other suitors away.

DISREGARD OF DRY LAWS BLAMED FOR CRIME WAVE

ENFORCE OR REPEAL PROHIBITION, ADVISES CHICAGO PSYCHOLOGIST WHO SEES THE SALOON AS IT ILLEGALLY EXISTS TO-DAY A GREATER MENACE THAN EVER.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17. — Improper enforcement of the prohibition amendment is cited as one of ten major causes of crime in a report made public by Prof. Robert S. Gault, psychologist at Northerwestern University and chairman af the Chicago Crime Commission Committee on the origon of crime. The report says:

"Either it should be recognized that the prohibition law is so unpopular that it cannot be enforced and should be repealed, or immediate steps should be taken for its enforcement."

Other principal cases of crime mentioned in report are hereditary mental defectivness, unhealthy home environment, lack of moral training, ministration of justice.

Speaking of prohibition, the report says: "One factor at the present time which is doing much to undermine respect for law generally is the failure of the prohibition amendment to operate successfully."

An enormous number of otherwise law-abiding citizens in Chicago and elsewhere are violaters of either the letter or spirit of this law, regarding it as an infringement of their constitutional rights, despite the upholding of its constitutionality in the highest courts of the land.

"A great many citizens violate it wherever and whenever opportunity presents itself. It was estimated recently by one authority that the manufacture of home brew distilled liquor and other alcoholic beverages is going on in two out of every five homes in the country.

"Vast sums, it is alleged, are spent for the bribery of public officials and for other expenses incidental to the illegal manufacture, transportation and sale of liquor. Smuggling of alcoholic beverages into the United States and Canada has become a flourishing industry, making millions of dollars in illict profits for those engaging in it, and supposedly "dry" saloons, now selling whiskey and other stimulants without even the restriction imposed upon their conduct by municipal licencing, have become worse breeders of crime than ever before.

"Either it should be recognized that this law is so unpopular that it cannot be enforced and should be repealed, or else some immediate steps should be taken for its thorough enforcement. As now adminstered it is proving one of the greatest, if not the chief factor, tending to break down the legal machinery generally and the popular respect for law and order."

SAYS ARTICLE A LIBEL ON THE NORTH COUNTRY.

Mayor of Cobalt Seeking Co-operation in Protesting to Proper Quarters.

(Canadian Press.)

COBALT, Ont., Feb. 17.—Declaring that the contents of an article, which recently appeared in The Boston Globe, and which has been brought to his attention, constitute an injury to the North Country, and are bound to create a totally erroneous impression in other parts of the continent. Mayor McEachren is taking up the item in question with the local Town Council and with the Associated Boards of Trade of Temiskaming, with a view to having protests forwarded to the proper quarters.

His Worship stated that while some of the statements in the article would create only amusement in the North, where their absurdity would be recognized, the effect, especially in the United States, would be altogether different and very misleading.

Among other statements made in the article, it is declared that of the 5,000 prospectors who made the trail into Porcupine when that camp was first discovered, "hundreds of them never returned, many being drowned while trying to cross the many lakes on thin ice." The prospectors are stated to have been compelled to make the trip to Porcupine from Cobalt on foot, 200 miles, and scores of them were "brought to Cobalt Hospital stung to blindness by the flies and mosquitties," of which there are said to be "myriads."

As a matter of record the rush into Porcupine was made from Kelso, on the main line of the T. & N. O., and 135 miles from the gold camp, while the item about "hundreds of them never returned" is an unwarranted invention.

It is further stated that "many of the little settlements of the New Ontario country have been established and settled by parties sent over from England by the Salvation Army. They have taken poor families, supplied them with some farming implements and seed, and set them down in the bush." The towns outside of the mining camps are described as "small settlements far removed from civilization."

Minor errors include "Winter descends with a vengeance in September," the real "natives," either drifted in from Klondike or South Africa, are "remittance men from England," or are "gamblers and sports from the mining camps of Alaska and the West." The Cobalt Nugget is the "farthest north" daily newspaper in Canada, and the waters of the lakes and streams are "so impregnated with arsenic from the silver as to be dangerous to drink."

DEAN JOHNSON,
Of New York University, proposes that girls substitute pipes for cigarettes, saying they are much healthier and nicer looking.

PLOTTED HUSBAND'S DEATH

19-Year-Old Philadelphia Bride is Held in $3,000 Bail.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Edna Murphy, 19-year-old bride of eight months, was held in $3,000 bail for court by a police Magistrate on a charge of plotting to have her husband killed. According to witnesses, Mrs. Murphy wanted her husband shot so she could collect $1,500 insurance money. She confided her plan to a young man who notified the police with the result that a detective posed as a thug to do the job.

According to the witnesses examined, Mrs Murphy gave the detective $10 on account and a note promising $75 more when the affair was over. It was planned, according to the detective, that he was to shoot the husband last night when the wife left him to go to a drug store to make a purchase.

The plot was carried out up to the point where the shooting was to be done. Mrs. Murphy was arrested in the drug store while her husband was being informed of the plot on the outside.

VOTE LIKELY NEXT TUESDAY

DEBATE NOT AS LONG DRAWN OUT AS EXPECTED.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 17. — Indications are that the debate on the speech from the throne will not prove to be so long drawn out as was expected. Prominent Government members are now talking of a vote about Tuesday of next week as they say there is not the same anxiety to take part as there has been in former years.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, the Minister of Justice, will speak to-day, and a further discourse on the League of Nations and its work is expected.

REPORTER MISSING WHEN COURT OPENED

Wheels of Justice Delayed for a Brief Period.

When Judge Huycke was ready to proceed with the case of the King vs. Johnston in County Court yesterday morning, he discovered that the court shorthand reporter, M. W. F. Johnston, was not in his accustomed place. His Honour asked Mr. Hatton if he knew where he was. Mr. Hatton did not, so the Deputy Sheriff was called. 'Can't we devise some method so someone will know about it?" asked His Honour of Mr. Hatton. Mr. Fred Hall appeared and declared that he had not been notified by the Crown Attorney about the case and had not notified the reporter. The court was in quandary but Judge Huycke saved the day by asking Mr. Hall to secure Mr. Sherry's stenographer. She was quickly obtained and the court proceeded after the few tense moments. His Honour reminding Mr. Hall that there was a court to-day and Mr. Johnston would be required.

BOWLING NEWS.

Last evening a very exciting and pleasant time was spent by two picked teams of the Post Office staff at the Water Street Alleys, in which the Wee Wees defeated the Fighting Five by about 200 pins. If it hadnt' been for the hard luck of the losing team and the unexpected good playing of W. E. Thompson, the score would undoubtedly been much different. But as it was, the Fighting Five had to provide for a banquet held in Hooper's Palm Room, and the Wee Wees certainly showed their appreciation by doing full justice to a free meal.

The line up for the teams was as follows: Wee Wees—G. Fallon, C. Richardson, C. Stuart, W. E. Thompson and A. Carpenter. Fighting Five—H. Ballard, H. Moscrop, H. Devey, A. White and H. White.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Edtior, Examiner:

Peterborough, Feb. 16, 1921.

Sir,—I notice in your issue of Saturday, Feb. 12th the controversy in the City Council re the Fire Department. Ald. Morrison maintains "we have as good officials in our Fire Department as you will find anywhere." I would like to ask what cities Ald. Morrison has visited and investigated, if any? I can assure you, Mr. Editor, there is not a city in Canada (except Peterborough) where the men have no training or drills in a period of two years, and such was proved to be the case in Peterborough previous to the so-called investigation held by the Fire, Water and Light committee into the specific charges laid against the Chief last fall. Ald. Morrison claims the department have some drills at present, but cannot follow any regular programme. Why not? This winter has been ideal for drill; just the kind of weather Chief Howard used to delight in for drills. Does Chief Grange pick the weather for fires to occur, as he does for drills? If it is impossible to drill men in cold weather, is it not also impossible to fight a fire in such weather? The weather excuse is ridiculous. The trouble is, the officers of the department do not know how to direct drills and prefer not to come out on the public streets and show the citizens how incapable they really are in this capacity.

Ald. Morrison says he has seen every man in the department go to the top of the fire hall on ladders. I know there is one man on the department at present who cannot possibly do this and when the Chief engaged this man he (the man) informed the Chief, in my presence, he could not climb a ladder and the Chief told him he would not require him to do so. Re the Cressman fire being an electric fire and being undesirable to put water on it. If so, why was water put on it just as soon as water was got where it could be put on? Why were chemicals not used at once? Ald. Phelan remarks he was told it took fifteen minutes to raise a ladder, but Ald. Morrison assured him it did not. I would like to say to Ald. Phelan, if he inquires further, he will find that there were really no ladders raised at all. I do not consider a ladder raised that is only put up half way and sticks there. A ladder to be raised should reach the desired object to be attained, and such was not done by either ladder at the Cressman fire. The department has a good record as to promptness and speed in the Underwriters test, but are the general public aware of how such speed is attained?

When the Inspector arrives in the city the Chief is notified. Then when he leaves the city hall to make the test the Chief is notified again, and is informed what box the test is coming from. The men are all instructed and dressed, the horses hitched, and just as one round of the box comes in, everything is ready to proceed. Will the same record of speed be made if a box is pulled for a fire in Ald. Crowe's house. I note of late they are never on the street when all four rounds of the alarm are in, unless it happens to be a telephone alarm, in which case they are all ready to go (or should be) before the box number is put on the repeater.

Ald. Crowe says the Chief told him he goes out to different places in the city and figures out how he would attack a fire if it broke out there. He may do so, but a fire never can have occurred in any of those places, or else his judgment has been very poor, judging from the way he handles his fires. I think, Mr. Editor, if your aldermen take the trouble to investigate the abilities of the officers of the fire department they will find that Lieut. Warde is the only officer qualified for the position he is filling.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your valuable paper.

—Yours,
V. E. LeBARR.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

(Canadian Press).

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Gains exceeded losses at the opening of today's stock market, but yesterday's late rally was only indifferently sustained. Issues of the same variety in the steel, motor and oil groups moved contrarily. Royal Dutch and Sumatra Tobacco were strong, while Studebaker, Chandler, Baldwin Locomotive, Mexican Petroleum and Central Leather Preferred were correspondingly heavy. United States Steel eased a small fraction, and the inquiry for rails was limted to minor shares, notably Pittsburgh and West Virginia and St. Louis South-Western. The buying of Republic Iron, Beet Sugar and American Tobacco stabilized prices within the first half hour.

Leaders of the oil, food and tobacco groups extended their gains during the morning. The foremost features including: Mexican Petroleum, California Packing, Tobacco Products and Retail Stores. Republic Iron continued to advance on its favourable annual report, gaining almost two points. Paper, chemical and leather specialities were heavy to weak. Central Leather Preferred broke six points on intimations that adverse dividend action may shortly be taken by the directors. Expectations of an easier initial money rate were not fulfilled, call loans opening at seven per cent.

Renewed selling of several Reading issues at losses of 1 3-8 to two points created general heaviness at midday. Among other reactionary stocks were General Asphalt, Virginia Carolina Chemical, Endicott Johnson and Atax Rubber at extreme declines of one to four points.

The retention of the seven per cent. call loan rate invited increased offerings in the last hour. Reading continued to decline, and oils cancelled most of their gain. Closing was heavy.

MONTREAL.

(Canadian Press).

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—Local stock exchange has experienced some dull sessions, but trading during the first half-hour this morning was the most inconspicuous for weeks. Only two of the principal issues made an appearance. These were Abitibi and Brompton. The former weakened 1½ points to 45½, while the latter sagged a half to 50.

TORONTO.

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—Prices were practically unchanged from yesterday at the closing of this morning's dull session on the Toronto Stock Exchange. The majority of the stocks trade in were steady and there was a slightly firmer undertone to general business. Brazilian was slightly higher at 34 3-4, while C.P.R. closed unchanged at 134 3-4, after reaching 135 during the session. Canada Steamships held at 37½, while Preferred issue moved up another fraction to 69. Domes was strong at 18.60. Paper issues were inclined to weakness, Abitibi containuing its decline and reaching 46. Brompton sold at 50 and Spanish River at 77½.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

(Canadian Press).

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Fresh declines in the price of wheat took place today largely owing to the lack of substantial evidence of any actual widespread crop damage yet from the green bugs. Cooler weather tended also to favour the selling side. Demand was chiefly of a scattered sort from commission houses. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to one cent higher, with March 1.71 to 1.72 and May 1.62 to 1.62½, were followed by a material set-back all around.

Some increase of rural offerings had a bearish effect on corn. After opening ¼ off to a like advance, including May at 71 to 71½, the market underwent a decided general sag.

Oats were easier with other grains, starting unchanged to ¼ lower, May 46 to 46 1-8, and later showing a moderate set-back for all deliveries.

Lower quotations for hogs and cereals bulled down provisions.

Close—Wheat, March 1.68 1-4, May $1.39. Corn, May, 69 7-8, July 71 7-8. Oas, May, 45, July 45 3-4.

Pork, May 21.15. Lard, May, 12.20, July 12.57. Ribs, May, 11.30, July 11.75.

Cash Grain Close— Wheat No. 1 red, 2.00 1-2; No. 2 red 2.00. Corn No. 3 mixed, 65 1-4; No. 3 yellow 66 1-2 to 67.

Oats—No. 2 white 42 to 46 1-2; No. 3 white 44 1-2 to 45.

Rye—No. 2 1.53. Barley 62 to 82; Timothy seed 4.50 to 5.50. Clover seed 13.00 to 18.00.

Pork, nominal. Lard 11.60. Ribs 10.75 to 11.50.

Corn Close—Sentiment was generally bearish with holders evincing disposition to take profits on all hard shots. Close was steady, 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 net lower, with May 69 7-8 to 69 7-8 and 70.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

(Canadian Press).

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Sterling exchange was weak at demand 3.80¼; Canadian dollars, 13 per cent. discount.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Feb. 17. — Cattle receipts were light; trade fair. Choice butcher steers $9 to $9.50; butcher cows, medium, $5 to $7; calves, $14 to $15; lambs, $11 to $12; hogs, fed and watered, selects, $14 to $14.25.

STORY CHANGED FROM YESTERDAY.

Frank Dunnett, while confined in the Police Station yesterday afternoon, made a statement to Detective Meagher as to the source of his liquor on Tuesday night. A certain lady friend gave him two glasses of rum before he started off to play hockey on the Armouries Rink. The statement was given to Magistrate Dumble in Police Court this morning, but he refused to believe that any woman would give a man liquor before playing Canada's national game. If this was true, the other story was false, and Dunnett was liable to a charge of perjury, he remarked, as did the Crown Attorney. The Magistrate deemed it best not to change yesterday's remand of one week.

HIGH FREIGHT RATES

Given as Cause for Stagnation in Lumber Idustry

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—That the prevailing high freight rates were responsible for the stagnation of the lumber industry and the unemployment of thousands of men, that salaries paid engineers and conductors were excessive, and that the railroads of Canada, were charges made by Mr. A. E. Eckhardt, president of the Ontario Retail Lumber Dealers' Association at their annual dinner last night.

A resolution was passed at the closing session of the convention, urging the Ontario Government to impose a surtax on manufacturers who fail to protect their circular saw with proper guards.

Cauchon. At a luncheon given at noon Sir Adam Beck and Archbishop Neil McNeil were the principal speakers.

MEDICAL MEN URGE REFORMS

DEPUTATION WAITS ON GOVERNMENT—ALSO REQUEST A GRANT.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Feb. 17. — Repesenting the Ontario Medical Association, a delegation of doctors from various cities in Ontario, waited upon Premier Drury and Hon. Walter Rollo, the Minister of Health, this morning. The deputation urged:

(1) The advisability of making a survey of the amount of unattended sickness occurring in Ontario;

(2) The advisability of transferring the present medical school and nursing inspection from the Department of Education to the Health Department;

(3) The real necessity for measures which will guarantee continuous and efficient standardization of drugs;

(4) The necessity for carrying post graduate teaching to more remote places where practitioners cannot leave their homes to attend institutions of learning.

The medical men also requested a grant of ten thousand dollars towards a fund to be established to assist the association's committee on education in connection with the post graduate schedule it had arranged.

The Premier promised that the Cabinet would give serious consideration to the reuests.

ANOTHER CASE IN COUNTY COURT

STOLEN GOODS RECOVERED IN THE NORTH COUNTRY.

Joseph Laplante and Amy Laplante, of Chandos, the parents of Eva Laplante, who was convicted by Judge Huycke on the charge of theft this morning, and whose son-in-law, James Johnston, was convicted on a charge of housebreaking and theft also, appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley in the County Police Court this morning, charged jointly with housebreaking, theft and having stolen goods in their possession. Mr. and Mrs. Laplante are of French extraction, and were defended by O. S. Laplante of this city. Crown Attorney Hatton prosecuted for the Crown.

Mr. and Mrs. Laplante are alleged to have broken into the Toronto Clubhouse on Loon Lake, about two miles from Carnegie's, and a few miles from Laplantes and Johnston's homes. Willis Johnston is caretaker of the place.

High County Constable A. Moore said in his evidence that about the end of January, when arresting the Johnston boy and his wife, he first visited Laplantes and made a search, securing the goods stolen by them from Carnegie's. On Feb. 10 he made a full search, discovering the other goods, produced in court. Laplante denied any knowledge of the goods, and his wife said, they were "Jimmy's," meaning her son-in-law. Amongst the goods were hunting boots, an alarm clock, a pair of breeches, one or two blankets, a comforter and other articles.

Willis Johnston, father of James, who looked after the place, said that there were five or six Toronto men at the club every week-end. He had found a lot of goods missing, and when he searched Laplante's with Mr. Moore, found part of the club's possessions. He identified much of the goods on exhibit, and also a stew pan and axe as belonging to Carnegie. Much of the stuff, he said, was found hid in the hay mow, for they hid it after Mr. Moore's first visit. They found crockery, knives and forks, also on exhibit, hidden under a pile of potatoes. Mr. Johnston was being cross-examined by Mr. Laplante at 12.45 o'clock.

ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Found Skull of Woman With a Hole In It.

KINGSTON, Feb. 17.—There will be nineteen witnesses for the prosecution and twelve witnesses for the defence in the case of James Young, accused of murder, commenced this morning at Napanee. Thomas Forsythe, a neighbor, has testified to the finding of the skull of the late Mrs. Young, with a hole in it.

The case of Albert Doupe, charged with arson, will be heard as soon as the murder trial is completed.

HON. E. N. RHODES,
Speaker of the House of Commons, who will be a busy man at the session, which opened Monday at the capital.

C.G.E. AND DE LAVAL TEAMS ARE CITY LEAGUE WINNERS

'WATER BARRAGE,' A NEW FEATURE OF LAST NIGHT'S LEAGUE FIXTURES, IN WHICH BANKERS AND HAMILTONS WERE ELIMINATED FROM SECOND SECTION.

The C. G. E. and De Laval teams are still in the running for the leadership of the second section of the City League race, as a result of last night's games, when the Electricians beat the Bankers 4 to 2, and the Separators won from the Wm. Hamilton team by 4 to 2. The two losing outfits have no chance to win the second section, and the honours depend upon the clash between C.G.E. and De Laval, who will meet next week. The winners of that battle will fight it out with the Hamilton outfit, champions of the first section, for the City League honours.

The ice conditions were anything but suitable last night for hockey, for in spots the water was inches deep on the rink. The result was a thorough ducking for the players and Referee Wagnorne, and the introduction of a new defence system that might be termed a "water barrage." The water was deepest at the north end of the rink, and in the first game, when the C.G.E. defended the nets at that end in the first half, Grover Halpin started the deluge by splashing every Banker that came within range. The result was that when the C.G.E. attacked that goal in the second half, the Bankers used the same tactics, and Halpin was a special target. He seemed to like the shower bath stuff, however, for he kept coming back for more. At times the splashing was so general that the players forgot all about the rubber, and the crowd had a lot of amusement.

In spite of the burlesque features, however, there was some good hockey played in both games. C.G.E. led the Bankers by 2 to 0 at the end of the first half, and increased their lead by scoring early in the second session, but the men of money came strong in the middle of the last half, and, scoring twice in quick succession, looked decidedly dangerous. C.G.E. withstood the flurry successfully, however, and finally settled the argument by netting their fourth goal.

C.G.E. had the edge in the first period, aided by the fact that the ice conditions were better at the end they were attacking. The game had not been long under way when Micky Williams slammed in a rebound after a combination rush, and the Electricians were one in front. Eight minutes later Bartley netted a rebound on a shot from Williams, putting C.G.E. two goals to the good.

Early in the second half Helson went up alone, and when the Bankers' defence met him with a splashing barrage, he shot from outside through this water screen and beat Legros.

Then the Bankers started to come, and Tudhope put them in the running by scoring on a long side shot. They came right back, and Gillespie tallied at close range on a pass from Thornton. The latter stick-handled inside several times, and was unlucky not to have counted. However, it was the C.G.E. who scored next, Bartley finding the nets after a combination rush.

The teams:

C.G.E.—Goal, G. Butcher; defence, Halpin and Helson; forwards, A. Butcher, Rose, Williams; subs., Barrie and Bartley.

Bankers—Goal, Legros; defence, Kenneally and Tudhope; forwards, Park, Thirnbeck, Thornton; subs., Thirnbeck and Soden.

Summary.

1st Half.

1—C.G.E.—Williams.
2—C.G.E.—Bartley.

2nd Half.

3—C.G.E.—Helson.
4—Bankers—Tudhope.
5—Bankers—Gillespie.
6—C.G.E.—Bartley.

THE SECOND GAME.

The hard checking De Laval outfit playing a one-man defence game, carried the battle to the Hamilton team from the start of the second game. They had much the better of the going in the early stages, keeping the winners of the first section bottled up thoroughly, and Murray had to be very good in the nets to prevent scores within the first few minutes. He held them out in good style until his namesake, Jack Murray, of the De Laval, shooting from an almost impossible angle, scooped one in from the corner. A little later Ranger got the rubber in a scrimmage, and his shot rolled over Murray's shoulder and dropped into the net, putting De Laval two goals in front. They easily held their lead until the end of the half.

Early in the last period they increased the gap when Hambly recovered a loose puck and scooped a fast one past Murray.

Three goals down, the Hamilton crew rallied, and for the next few minutes were all over the De Laval crew. Fred and James Graham combined nicely for a neat goal by the former, and few minutes later Fred Graham added another by slamming in a rebound. That left it 3 to 2, and with five minutes to go, the Hamilton outfit were decidedly dangerous. Their chances went a-glimmering soon after, however, for they lost two men through penalties, and De Laval held them safely until the final bell. It was a good exhibition, especially in the last half, and the fans enjoyed the clash.

The teams and summary:

De Laval—Goal, Bergoine; defence, Murray and Sheehan; forwards, Hambly, McMartin, Ranger; subs., Campbell and Lipsett.

Hamiltons—Goal, Murray; defence, Lebarr and Evans; forwards, G. Graham, Collins, Foley; subs., F. Graham and Kenneally.

1st Half.

1—De Laval—Murray.
2—De Laval—Ranger.

2nd Half.

3—De Laval—Hambly.
4—Hamiltons—F. Graham.
5—Hamiltons—F. Graham.

HUGH!

"That darned lawyer for the defence must think we are a lot of idiots," indignated the First Juryman, after the Jury had been sent out to decide on a verdict.

"How's that?" asked the Second Juryman.

"Why, he talked to use for four hours and then wound up by saying: 'A word to the wise is sufficient'." replied the First Juryman.

DEMPSEY TO MAKE A TOUR OF EUROPE.

WORLD'S CHAMPION WILL BOX EXHIBITION BOUTS IN ENGLAND AND FRANCE.

BOSTON, Feb. 17.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, will make a European tour next month. He will go to England and France for exhibition bouts that will extend over six weeks. Present plans provide only for his meeting sparring partners who will accompany him, as he can take part in no contest before his bout with Carpentier, which has been set for July 2 at New York.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, made this announcement during a visit here. He said he was in touch with European promoters and that dates for the champion's appearance were assured.

Dempsey himself wired him from Salt Lake City, he said, that he was ready to start training at once with the idea of sailing in two weeks. Kearns said the sailing would be from New York about March 1. The champion will stop over in New York only one day if connections can be so arranged.

Kearns said he was returning to New York to-morrow to clear up questions regarding the forfeits and arrangements for the Carpentier bout.

Meantime he was looking over the field here with a view to arranging for a bout here next Summer between Dempsey and Jess Willard or Frank Moran.

HELEN FERGUSON DENIES HERSELF "THE THREE C'S"

Cakes, Candies and Cookies Not for Heroine of "Burning Daylight."

SACRIFICE IS MADE FOR ART.

Helen Ferguson, efficient, enchanting and eighteen, is a strong exponent of the simple life for every woman and especially those who desire to pursue a cinematic career. The little star of many film productions, has outlined a sane and logical mode of living for women who work—for those who do big things in the workaday world.

Miss Ferguson is playing this week at the Empire Theatre, opposite virile Mitchell Lewis, in the screen version of Jack London's novel, "Burning Daylight." In this picture, Miss Ferguson takes the part of a sturdy Alaskan-born girl who has withstood the hardships and rigors of many Arctic winters. Her work entails much strenuous action and it is a part that would test the endurance and courage of many a more matured and experienced outdoor type.

"If one hopes to succeed in such roles," says Miss Ferguson, "they should be willing to sacrifice to a certain extent. Personally, I never pamper any of my desires, and sweets are the greatest of these. I simply love cakes, candies and cookies, but knowing that these three c's will undermine my endurance power, I leave them entirely alone. I have made a study of myself and with the assistance of a dietician have worked out a system that keeps me in excellent condition.

"Sleep is a absolute essential of success in my business and I am a strong believer in the old adage, 'early to bed.' Many times I have been sorely tempted to indulge in midnight suppers and the like but have always refrained, not because I would not enjoy them hugely, but because it would interfere with my work the following day. I naturally like life and all that it offers but long ago I made up my mind that if I went into pictures, I would go in heart and soul to succeed, and no half-way measures would attain the goal I had set for myself."

ANOTHER CHANCE TO SEE "THE WHIP"

WILL BE HELD OVER TWO MORE DAYS BY REQUEST.

"The Whip" was repeated last night at the Grand Opera House in the presence of a good sized crowd. This picture never seems to lose its appeal for the patrons of the "deaf and dumb shows," as many have seen it for the third or fourth time. It may be said to belong to that fortunate class of theatrical offerings that never grows old. There is something about the atmosphere of the race-course and its dumb heroes, whether witnessed from the grand stand or from the orchestra chair, which appeals to all classes, to young and old, to rich and poor alike, and if you have a thrilling story with a first-class love element to entertain you for an hour or so ,what more can you wish for?

Up to the last minute, the attention is held by the seemingly successful plans of the crooked element in the play, but, of course, virtue triumphs and love comes into its own. As in "Mickey," the heroine rides in the wonderful race, but, unlike that inimitable heroine, she arrives safely at the winning post.

This picture, by special request, is being held over to-day and to-morrow.

"DARDANELLA"

For successfully singing at a moment's notice the title role in "Dardanella" at a recent performance, Alice Warner, who serves as understudy for Rita Lawrence, has been rewarded by Edwin McGregor with a contract which calls for her appearance in the prima donna role of a new musical comedy next season. Miss Warner was discovered by Mr. McGregor about a year ago when he heard her sing in a Chicago cabaret. This season she is a member of the prize chorus of "Dardanella" and doubles as understudy for Miss Lawrence. She will appear here with the big show when it is staged at the Grand next Saturday. The aggregation of stage beauties in the chorus ensemble of "Dardanella" is said never to have been equalled in a touring company.

BANDITS RIFLE U.S. MAIL AND ESCAPE EASILY

ARMED MEN HELD UP TWO CLERKS IN TOLEDO POST OFFICE THIS MORNING.

(Canadian Press)

TOLEDO, Osio., Feb. 17.—Five armed bandits held up two clerks at the main postoffice on Madison avenue at two o'clock this morning, seized six sacks of registered mail and escaped in an automobile. Postmaster Lathrop this morning was unable to give an estimate of the value of the mail stolen but said he believed it would reach a large sum.

STARTS SATURDAY AND WILL CONTINUE FOR TWO WEEKS

ALL SUITS AND FURNISHINGS TO BE MARKED DOWN TO WHOLESALE PRICE, WITH ALL OVERCOATS AT HALF PRICE.

Harry Thornton starts on Saturday to sell his entire stock at wholesale prices, some far below. "I am going to forget for two whole weeks that there is such a thing as a retail price, or a profit on cost," he said. "On Saturday morning we will throw our whole $50,000 stock of Semi-Ready Suits and Overcoats on the market at factory cost.

"The overcoats we now offer at an average loss of $10 and $15, for they will be offered at exactly half the label price in the pocket.

"All shirts and cravats, all underwear and hosiery, all hats and caps—everything—will go into the sale at and below wholesale cost.

"I will play no favorites, hide nothing, subtract nothing, nor reserve a single article in the shop.

"To-morrow I publish a list of bargains in detail, which, though it will not embrace all the goods in my store will give a clear idea of my purpose.

"No man can ever come to me again—even though prices do advance a bit—and they go up and down like stocsk on the stock market—no man can say I did not give him his chance.

"From this Saturday until the first Saturday in March ,the sale continues.

"Then I open up my stock for the Spring fashions, in good time for the Easter trade." Id

NEW BICYCLES ARE IN DEMAND.

Owing to the mild weather and the increased street carfares there is an early demand for new biccyles in Peterboro. Already there are quite a number of bicycles on the road and new ones seem quite prevalent. Although the roads are as yet rather bad, if the present weather prevails it will only be a matter of days before the dust is blowing. White Bros. on Hunter street report an exceptionally early rush and are confident that this year will be a bumper year.

WIRE ENTNGLEMENTS TRIP UNWARY CITIZENS

A Visit to the Dotcor Was Necessary —Icy Sidewalks Partly Responsible.

A complaint has been made about the barbed wire entanglements which still persist in some parts of the city. Two ladies enjoying a stroll the other evening suffered from a fall on the icy sidewalk and became involved in the mazes of the wire which some enterprising individual had placed around his residence. It was bad enough to realize that the city authorities were remiss in their duties with regard to the matter of sand over the ice, further complicated by the ingenuity of the follower after German ideas in the mater of barbed wire, but when an examination revealed a number of scratches and bruises sufficient to warrant a visit to the doctor, it seemed a little too much. Those who regard barbed wire as a preventive of unwelcome visits or as a protection against night maruaders should see that their safeguards are kept in a proper condition, and that no broken ends are going to form a pitfall for unwary feet.

NEW CURWOOD FILM SHOWING HERE

"Isobel; or, The Trail's End," Has Been Called That Author's Best.

One of the interesting events for lovers of the photoplay of the season is occurring at the Allan Theatre, where James Oliver Curwood's latest story of the Northland, "Isobel, or The Trail's End," opened yesterday for a run of several days. This film drama is a product of the directorial talent of Edwin Carewe, and is presented with a cast which features House Peter and charming Jane Novak.

Of all the Curwood stories, it has been acknowledged that none has the breadth and human appeal of his famous novel, "Isobel," from which this interesting epic of a Northland romance was adapted. Those who have read this volume will find that the photoplay version adheres closely to the lines of action and character portrayal as laid down by the author. Edwin Carewe, in fact, has been said to have given photoplay fans their first real glimpse of Curwood; in other words, he has retained the full power of the author's sweeping character portrayals and his tense and exciting climaxes.

When presented for the first time at the Hotel Astor Grand Ball-Room in New York recently, reviewers declared it was the greatest story of the North-West ever filmed. It comes to this city after repeating its successful New York premiere in other large cities of the country.

HERBERT'S GREATER MINSTERLS COMING

It has been a long time since the theatre-goers of this city have had an opportunity to see an old-time minstrel show, given by genuine negroes of talent from the Sunny South, and giving the same performance that we are wont to see done by white performers in burnt cork disguise. In fact it is quite out of the ordinary in these days of make believe to have the real article brought to us, and as we understand a company of extraordinary merit embracing all the genuine negro minstrel celebreties of any note.

The name of Herbert may not mean much to you who live many miles from the home and regular territory played by this company. In the Southland the name is well known to theatre-goers as the embodyment of all that is famous, as the best singing organization that ever traced a minstrel first part setting. In addition to the sweet singing voices that make harmony such as is seldom heard, it is an accepted fact that no such dancers in all the world of minstrelsy can in any way compare with the nimble-footed artists with this company.

Herbert's Greater Minstrels will be at the Grand Opera House next Monday, Feb. 21st, and should make a strong bid for patronage among the lovers of minstrelsy.

The best dressed street parade ever offered by a minstrel show will be given at noon, and the Great Adams will be with it. Be there, both eyes open.

TALK OF WILD WOMEN¡

Gertrude Astor, who appears as Lucille, the New York society "vampire" in Jack London's "Burning Daylight," now showing at the Empire Theatre, says that, in preparation for the part, she made an extensive study of the "vampire" type through reading, observation and conversation.

"I've read everything from Havelock Ellis to E. Scott Fitzgerald," she says. "I've talked the matter over with profound college professors and college boys.

"Talk about wild women! The only thing I've heard is wild talk about women!"

RED CLASS SYSTEM RIGID IN RUSSIA.

More Exclusive Than in Even What Bolshevists Term Capitalistic Countries.

(Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—There is a class system in Russia more rigid than in what the Bolsheviki call the "capitalistic countries," and it even extends to the manner in which soap is rationed, says M. Schwartz, the San Francisco Socialist who recently was released from prison in Moscow and sent with his dying wife to the Esthonion border.

"Before I went to Russia and saw the Soviet ogvernment at close range, I believed Lenine and Trotzky were really trying to do away with the class system," said M. Schwartz in telling many interesting details of his sojourn in the land of the Soviets, supplementin gthe statement which he made immediately upon his arrival here.

"I soon found out in Petrograd and Moscow and other Russian cities and villages that the class system under the Bolshevists is more fixed than in capitalistic countries," he went on. "This system is administered with utter disregard for human rights and the teachings of modern civilization.

Enjoy Their Luxury.

"Lenine and Trotzy and their associates at the top of the scheme enjoy the geratest luxury. There is plenty of food for the commissars, but the folks further down the scale are rationed according to their attitude toward the government.

"Even the soap is graded according to the class system. The commissars have good toilet soap. Slightly less desirable soap is given to their immediate subordinates and there are third and fourth grade soaps for those further away from the Kremlin crowd. The fellow who gets the fourth grade soap must have a terrible time scrubbing up with it, for it is about like pumic stone.

Americans Hoodwinked.

"I can't see why labouring people the world over should support another kind of class government in Russia, a class government which is ruthless, brutal and unjust to a degree that would overthrow any set of rulers not supported by a gigantic army," said Mr. Schwartz. "My fellow workers in England and America have been hoodwinked, many of them, by such men as John Reed and other communists who didn't know the Russian language."

"I found the opposition to the government was universal. Men, women and children of all classes with whom I talked told me of the horror of the situation. And bear in mind that these people talked at the peril of their lives. If I had repeated what they said to any official of the government they would probably have been shot. But their misery is so great they are indifferent to their fate and they can't refrain from talking to a stranger."

Mr. Schwartz was born in Germany, but was taken to Russia by his parents when he was still an infant and grew up in Odessa and Kiev. He atended a Russian university and became an officer in the old army. When about 27 years old he went to America, where he became a citizen and has lived for 27 years here. He first worked in America as a street railway employe and then became a labor organizer.

NEGRO PROBLEM IN THE UNITED STATES AWAITS W. G. HARDING

Twelve Million Black Population Seeking Legislation to Protect Them in Their Political Rights.

(Canadian Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—When Warren G. Harding assumes office on March 4 next as President of the United States, he will have plenty of problems to face, some of them for recognition by the negro element of the country. The black population is estimated at 12,000,000. The recognition they demand is a share in political appointments. They are also asking for legislation to protect them in their political rights.

In this era of demands for "self-determination" the United States negro thinks he sees his opportunity. One element of the colored population has been holding conventions and electing a "provisional president of Africa" as well as a "leader of the African race in the United States." But the majority seem content to consolidate their position on the American continent, and secure privileges which were nominally, but never really granted them as a result of the Civil War. Negroes claim that the result of the presidential election of last November was a triumph for them.

Since the days of "Linkum" the southern negro has been a staunch Republican. But the southern white man has been a solid Democrat so that the negro vote did not bring in much in the way of results. However, last November a lot of southern white men saw fit to change their politics and the "solid Democratic South" was shaken to its foundations. Some of the states actually went Republican for the first time. Others were held by the Democrats by the narrowest majorities. Everywhere the Republican party made big gains. This gave the negro Republican a standing that he never had before, and now he is trying to make the most use of it.

When Mr. Harding assumes office in March he will find the representatives of the negro waiting on the steps of the White House. They will ask him to give the black man a chance for public office. They will remind him that a former Republican president, Theodore Roosevelt, broke the ice in this respect, and ask for a resumption of the Roosevelt policy and an extension of it. Roosevelt appointed negroes to office, but preferred to do so in the northern states where the feeling against the blacks was not as keen as it is in the South. His action in entertaining Booker T. Washington at the White House created a great deal of criticism at the time.

190 EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS IN 6 DAYS.

Official Report of Result of Volcano Eruption in Southern Chile Now to Hand.

(Associated Press)

SANTIAGO, CHILE, Feb. 17.—One hundred and ninety-two earthquake shocks were registered in six days in the zone affected by the seismic and volcanic disturbances in the mountainous region of the provinces of Valdivia and Cautin, in southern Chile, a few weeks ago, according to belated advices to the Ministry of Interior. So far as is known there was no loss of life.

The official reports now available supplementing the earlier information forwarded by cable, lay stress upon the violence of the shocks and the changes in the conformation of the country which resulted.

Volcano Eruption

The disturbance is believed to have been due to an explosive eruption of the snow-capped volcano Killarica, 9,000 feet high, which is near the town of Pucon, in Valdivia. It is thought the crater of the volcano became plugged during the periods of inactivity and that the moutain blew its head off with the accompaniment of the violent earthquakes. The volcano is said to be of the type that, as a rule, does hot emit molten lava, but ejects pumice and volcanic ash.

The shocks began shortly before midnight on December 9 and for three hours were almost continuous terrifying the population, most of which are Indians. The most violent quake lasted 20 seconds. The whole region vibrated intermittently during the next five days.

Entire Hills Razed

Entire hills were razed and many cattle were killed by falling trees. Much damage was done to small buildings in the town of Pucon, which is a port of entry from Argentina; parts of the international highway to Argentina were destroyed; two lumber mills were wrecked and a third was totally buried under a mass of earth and rock.

Lake Villarica rose five feet later subsiding while Lake Caburgua is reported to have sunk 15 feet. The Turbio river, which had its source on the side of Mount Villarica disappeared entirely and the Tancura river, which flows in the valley bearing that name, shrank to half it normal flow.

The district affected is one of the most picturesque in Chile. Latest advices said Villarica had quieted.

YOU CAN RELIEVE A COLD IN A NIGHT

HOME REMEDY IN CAPSULE FORM WHICH DOES THE WORK.

People who are accustomed to the idea that a cold must "run its course" may be surprised at the above statement, but its truth is vouched for by a selling record of many years in all parts of Canada. You need not fear a cold or its after effects if you have a box of Grip-Fix in the house.

Grip-Fix contains just the ingredients physicians use for treating a cold. It comes in capsule form and, taken at the start of the cold, rarely fails to give relief in a single night. If the case is one of grippe, the continuance of the treatment for 24 to 36 hours will be effective.

No person need be afraid to use Grip-Fix. It contains only ingredients such as are approved by physicians, and are generally used by them in such cases. These ingredients are printed on each box.

Be prepared in case colds come. Have a box of Grip-Fix in the house. All druggists have it, 35c. per box.

KANSAS GIRLS PEDOGRAPHED

Only One Perfect Pair of Feet Found in State University.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Feb. 17.—Will bridegrooms of the future demand pedographs of their wives-to-be? is the question brought up here by the revelations of "pictures" of the feet of Kansas University co-eds on file in the Department of Physical Education.

"The Pedographs," said Dr. Martha M. Bacon, who is in charge of the "feet pictures," "are somewhat of an index of character. You can tell what kind of life the owners lead."

Therein lies the reason why bridegrooms of the future may demand pedographs as character witnesses for the future wife.

The queer thing about the revelations of the little black and white pictures is that only one girl in the university approaches the standard of perfection in contour and development of the feet. She is Claire Newton of Chanute, Kan., daughter of a missionary, who was born and reared in Chicago ,the land of cramped feet.

Flat feet, calloused feet, deformed feet and feet with things on them that really do not belong to healthful feet, all were found among the university women.

REPORT MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says we must keep feet dry; avoid exposure and eat less meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kodneys to filter this acid from the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

KINGSTON'S PLAN TO ENCOURAGE BUILDING

TAX EXEMPTION ON DWELLINGS ERECTED IN 1920 AND 1921.

KINGSTON, Feb. 17.—The Kingston tax exemption by-law passed in the Ontario legislature private bills committee on Tuesday was passed in the city council on April 26th 1920, and reads as follows: "All dwelling houses erected exclusively as such in the city of Kingston during 1920 and 1921 on vacant land shall for the period of five years be exempted from all municipal taxation, except for local improvements and for school purposes on the assessed value of each of such dwelling houses up to the sum of $2,500. Dwelling houses shall not include apartment houses, tenements or hotels, or any building erected or altered for the purpose of providing two or more separate suites of rooms." It is expected that in view of the encouragement thus given there will be increased activity in building during the coming season.

LIVED IN EXHAUST PIPE, GOT FOOD ON STREETS.

MAN, 50 YEARS OLD, GOES TO WORKHOUSE WHERE BEARD WILL NOT BE SINGED.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Policeman Zipf of the Old Slip Station saw an emaciated man, poorly garbed, searching ash cans for bits of food yesterday at Whitehall and South Streets. The policeman arrested and araigned him on a charge of vagrancy in the Tombs Court. There the prisoner said he was Antonio Bolakoruf, 50 years old, without home, friends or relatives, and that he had been unable to get work or to support himself properly since he came here from Russia several years ago.
"He isn't exactly homeless, but near it," the policeman informed the Magistrate. "He lived in a pipe—"
"In a what" interrupted Magistrate Cobb. Policeman Zipf explained that Bolakoruf had slept and lived in the open end of an exhaust pipe, four feet in diameter, connected with a building at Greenwich and White Streets. Bolakoruf, he said, had shown him this retreat, where he had made a bed in the bottom curve of the pipe with pieces of matting and clothing.
"Sometimes hot air and heat sent out of the pipe forced the man from his home," commented the policeman, "and he complained to me that the only fault with it was that heat frequently singed his whiskers and hair."
"Why, he must be a real disciple of Diogenes," remarked the Magistrate. "Did he have a lantern, too?"
Bolakoruf interposed, saying he had never heard of Diogenes, but that it was the only place he could find to get out of the cold and wet at night. The Court sent him to the workhouse for thirty days.

LARGE INCIEASES FOR GERMAN RAILWAYS

Matter is Being Discussed at a Conference in Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—In view of the deplorable financial condition of the German state-owned railways, it is believed that increases which range from five and one-half times to seven times as high as pre-war rates in the different classes will be adopted. These increases, which are exclusive of additional fares on fast trains, are to-day being discussed at a conference of the Ministry of Railways and Communications. Under the new rates the German workingman of the best class can travel only about one-third as far for the same price as his American confrere of the same class can go.

GERMANS STALLING

(Associated Press.)

ROME, Jan. 31.—(By Mail.)—The German municipalities in Trentino which were taken from Austria by Italy as a result of the war, have refused to receive the laws of Italy when printed in Italian.

Copies of the laws sent to the German communities by the Italian government have been returned, in some cases with the comment written on them, "we are Germans." Others wrote, "please send us translation. We don't know what all this is about."

Newspapers of Rome urged the government to have the laws printed in German, pointing out that Switzerland publishes her laws in three languages.

CHINESE GOVT. SEEKS APOLOGY FROM JAPS.

Japanese Sunk Chinese Craft By Fire From Gunboat.

PEKING, Feb. 17.—The Chinese Government has demanded an apology and reparation from Japan for the sinking last June of a Chinese craft by fire from a Japanese gunboat in the Amur River, shortly after the Nikolaevsk massacre.

According to Chinese Naval Department reports, the Chinese boat, named by one naval officer, four marines and 44 workmen, was sent out by the Chinese gunboat lying in the Amur to cut wood for fuel. On its return at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, a Japanese gunboat was sighted. The Chinese craft dropped anchor and ran up the Chinese flag.

The Japanese gunboat opened fire and seven shots hit the hull. The boat was partially submerged in shallow water and 34 workmen were killed by gunfire or drowned in efforts to get to shore.

TO SALVAGE VALUABLE OAK TIMBER FROM BOTTOM OF DETROIT.

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 17. — Oak timber worth thousands of dollars today are believed to repose in the mud on bottom of Lower Detroit River in the vicinity of Amherstburg, and if sufficient capital can be had to finance a salvage expedition work of recovering some of the treasure trove may be started in the spring.

Much of the timber, it is said, was hauled to the vicinity of Amherstburg years ago when a saw mill operated there. Some of the logs are said to be three to four feet in diameter, which are almost priceless.

The river bottom in the vicinity of the Waterworks and the old Queen's wharf is believed to be the place where most of the sunken timber lies.

PROHIBITION FORCES FIRE OPENING GUN

DR. A. S. GRANT, CHAIRMAN OF THE PROVINCIAL REFERENDUM COMMITTEE, ADDRESSED MEETING

IN ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

At a meeting held in St. Paul's church last evening, the local prohibition forces fired their first gun in the campaign to banish King Alcohol from Ontario, by the Referendum vote on April 18th. Dr. A. S. Grant, of Toronto, the chairman of the Provincial Referendum Committee, was the chief speaker. The attendance while not large was regarded as a good beginning, and the fact that a large proportion of those present were ladies must have assured the leaders that they have a strong following of their sex.

Rev. Harold W. Young, of the George street Methodist church, was chairman. "If we can carry the Referendum we shall have gone a long way in exterminating the liquor traffic in Ontario once and for all," he said. "We intend, Dr. Grant," he said, "to go into this work in West Peterboro with all our heart and main."

"Dr. Grant's name was a household one," declared Rev. Mr. Pogue, in introducing Rev. Dr. Grant, "because of his great record in mission work. With Dr. Grant at the head of the Referendum Campaign, there could be none other than a successful issue," Mr. Pogue believed.

Liquor Flowed In.

A vigorous speaker with many years experience in missionary work to draw upon in his attacks on alcohol, Dr. Grant created a deep impression on the minds of those who heard him. He spoke with the courage of his convictions and the Referendum Committee has without doubt a strong leader in Dr. Grant. He traced without going into great detail the circumstances which have brought about the coming Referenduf, and are well known. A year ago he said the people of this province had voted against the importation of liquor but when the Order-in-Council was removed, liquor flowed into this province. What has been allowed to go on, he said, had not been carried on with the consent of the people but in direct defiance to their will. When the war was nearing its end a law was passed through the representation of the prohibition forces giving each province the right to say whether or not it wanted liquor within its borders. Four provinces have voted emphatically against liquor and in these four campaigns he has been the chief organizer of the temperance ranks. "We are expecting that Ontario will give us an overwhelming majority against the importation of liquor or of intterprovincial trade," he stated.

Making Headway.

The speaker referred to the world's temperance convention held in Washington and he said that all the delegates had come away feeling that at last the greatest of all world evils—alcohol—was being blotted off every map, and King Alcohol would die in this century. In every corner of this world headway is being made against the booze forces, and even in the supposed uncivilized regions the evils of the traffic are being recognized and fought. Alcohol is the greatest curse of the body politic, said Dr. Grant. Where alcohol is king, Christian work can not be carried on successfully.

REASSURING NEWS OF ENRICO CARUSO

(Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Reassuring reports were brought from the sick bed of Caruso early to-day. His doctors stated, however, that he has lost forty or fifty pounds in weight through the terrible ordeal.

FRANCE READY TO MARCH NOW ACROSS RHINE

IN EVENT OF NECESSITY OF COERCING GERMANY INTO PAYING INVASION WILL BE INSTITUTED.

TO CALL UP RESERVES

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Feb. 18. —Measures to be taken in event that it is necessary to coerce Germany to fulfill the Allied reparation and disarmament terms were discussed at yesterday's conference between Premier Briand, War Minister Barthou, Marshals Foch and Petain, General Weygaind and others, says the Echo de Paris.

The military experts of France already have planned down to the smallest detail the advance of French troops towards a secret destination in case of such an eventuality, it is declared. The class of 1919 will be kept with the colours and the class of 1918 will be called up and arrangements have also been made to extend the French occupation area into the Coblenz district should the Washington administration decide to recall the United States forces from Germany. The Franco-Polish military and economic convention was also under discussion and it is expected a pact will be signed before the end of the week, the newspaper asserts.

GAUTHIER IS NOW FOR THE GOVERNMENT

DESERTS LIBERALS AFTER RECENT HEAVY POUNDING BY FORMER COLLEAGUES AND ATTACKS THEM HOTLY.

WAS ARDENT LIBERAL

OTTAWA, Feb. 18. — Louis Joseph Gauthier, erstwhile stalwart of the Liberal ranks and member for St.Hyacinthe-Rouville, held the stage in the house. In the last few months Mr. Gauthier's name has been frequently mentioned as that of a Cabinet possibility, and he spoke to-day, to use his own words, from the "desert wilderness of no man's land," the dividing row of seats which lies between Liberals and the National Progressive.

Bitterly, Mr. Gauthier flung taunts and ridicule. He attacked his former Liberal colleagues with a vigor which sent laughter rippling over the government benches. He protested that he was neither a traitor, a renegade nor a Judas. He was faithful to the principles of Liberalism. Last session Mr. Gauthier electrified the House with his declaration on the "hour of Quebec." To-day he repeated the words, "The hour of Quebec has struck," he declared, "I repeat the words."

And Mr. Gauthier likened himself to John the Baptist, as forerunner of a man who will come from my province and my race, who will preach the gospel of toleration and self-respect."

Mr. Gauthier's speech was long and came in debate on the address, a debate which was continued from the previous day by A. R. McMaster, (Brome), who claimed that the Union government was elected to prosecute a war for the maintenance of democracy and the crushing of autocracy. But the present government, Mr. McMaster argued, showed by hanging on to office that it was opposed to democracy and its support of protectionist principles was support of autocracy.

W. F. Cockshutt Brantford), A. B. McCoig (Kent) and Captain Power (Quebec South) also contributed to the debate.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN END SPLENDID YEAR

EIGHTH ANNUAL MEETING HELD YESTERDAY FEATURED BY REPORTS OF A GOOD YEAR'S WORK

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

There was a good representation of the various womens' societies of the City at the eighth annual meeting of the Local Council of Women held at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday after noon.

The minutes of the lase meeting were read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. C E. Jamieson followed by a review by Mrs. Robt. Harstone the president, on the work accomplished by the local society since its organization in February, 1913, showing the splendid work which has been done in all matters pertaining to child welfare, both at home and in the schools, in social and moral reform, and in the educational and artistic fields of endeavor, by the twenty-seven societies in the city which are affiliated with the Local Council. Mrs. Harstone concluded with the remark that "it is generally recognized that women's influence is a tremendous power in the world today, and we should realize our responsibilities in this regard and rise to the occasion."

Routine Work.

The reports of the different committees were then read, showing a substantial balance in bank at the credit of both the Local Council itself and of the Baby-Welfare Clinic which has had a most successful year.

Different resolutions moved and carried were as follows:

Moved by Dr. Jessie Birnie and seconded by Mrs. S T. Medd, that our member be interviewed and asked that the amendment to Section 104 of the Public Health Act (with regar to better inspection of cattle) be endorsed.

Moved by Mrs. A. Stevenson and seconded by Dr. Birnie that, all meetings be regarded as open meetings for the coming year, holding executive meetings when necessary.

Moved by Mrs. R. J. Devey and seconded by Miss J. Archer that, all meetings be held in the Y.W.C.A.

Moved by Mrs. F. C. Neal and seconded by Mrs. Stevenson that, the same number of Year Books as ordered last year, be ordered this year, and that the fee remain the same.

Moved by Mrs. A. Mowat and seconded by Mrs. E. V. Frederick that the matter of the fee for every affiliated society and the mode of its payment be deferred until the opinion of the different societies has been ascertained

Moved by Mrs. Parker and seconded by Miss Lancaster that the selection of officials for the offices not yet filled be left to the sub-executive to report at the next meeting.

The President

There was considerable discussion over the resignation of Mrs. Robt. Harstone from the presidential chair and a great deal of persuasion was brought to bear to make her reconsider her decision but Mrs. Harstone still felt that, after three year's occupancy, a rest was required. No satisfactory conclusion being arrived at, this matter was left over to be dealt with at a future time. It was moved by Mrs. Jamieson and seconded by Mrs. Stevenson that Mrs. Harstone be placed on the sub-executive of the organization, and a hearty vote of appreciation of Mrs. Harstone's work as president, of the pleasant relations existing between the different executives, and of sincere regret at her unalterable decision was moved by Mrs. Stevenson and seconded by Mrs. J. Mills, and suitably replied to.

MUST RESTORE OUR CURRENCY TO GOLD BASIS

STEPHEN LEACOCK TELLS MONTREAL BANKERS THERE IS NO FINANCIAL SAFETY OTHERWISE.

DEPRECIATION SHOWN

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—The necessity of making every effort towards the restoration of the currency in Canada to a gold basis as soon as possible was urged by Professor Stephen Leacock, in a lecture to-day before the members of the staffs of Montreal banks. "There is no financial safety," said Dr. Leacock "except in the Gold Standard. Without it there can be no stability for our trade. No security for our progress and no reliance upon our public credit. This doctrine was regarded before the war as a truth universally accepted. It is being forgotten now. With depreciation and inflation of our currency a hundred interests have grown up that tell in favor of continued and even further depreciation."

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 18.—The preliminary hearing of Norman and Denton Garfield, charged with the murder of Ben Johnson, confectioner, on January 20, was held here to-day. Great interest centred in the case, and long before the trial opened the corridors were jammed with people from the city and surrounding country. Montalieu Nesbitt appeared for the accused, while Crown Attorney Ball prosecuted. The prisoners did not plead.

Two occupants of the store on the night of the murder described the entrance of two masked men, who ordered Johnson to thrown up his hands. They said the confectioner was shot down. Arthur Johnston, of London, was in the vicinity of the store on the night of the murder, and stated that the car he saw near the confectioner's was the same as he later found in Greer's garage, London, and which was stolen on the night of the murder.

The Garfields were committed for trial at the Spring Assizes before Mr. Justice Kelly, on March 7.

REVIVAL---CHURCH OF GOD MISSION

At the Church of God Mission last night Evangelist Campbell gave a stirring talk on Truse Christianity as distinguished from nominal Christianity.

The preacher divided his subject under two heads: (1) What it is not. (2) What it is. He emphasized the fact that it is an utter impossibility to live True Christianity, unless there is first, a vital closing with Christ, a real birth in the soul.

Mr. Campbell positively affirms that there are thousands of nominal Christians who, from a sense of duty, or obligation, participate in religious service who have never had this birth from above. Such can never exemplify True Christiaity to the world, declares Mr. Campbell.

The Evangelist announces his subject for to-night as the "Conditions of Salvation."

There will be no meeting to-morrow (Saturday night), but two services are announced for Sunday, at 2.45 p.m. and 7.45 p.m.

At corner Hunter and George streets, over Royal Bank, these services are to continue all of next week. Everybody welcome.

HAVE THE PEOPLE OF ONTARIO DEVELOPED A CLAMMY, UNSOCIAL ATMOSPHERE LACKING IN CHARM?

MONTREAL MAN COMPARES THE OBSERVANCE OF THE LITTLE DEFERENCES WHICH SMOOTH THE ROUGH EDGES AND GIVE CHARM TO EVERY-DAY LIFE HERE AND IN MONTREAL.

SAYS ONTARIO PEOPLE ARE COLDER

Have the people of Ontario developed an unsocial atmosphere lacking those little deferences which smooth the rough edges off business and general intercourse, and lend charm and grace to every day affairs?

Discussing this subject in a local store the other day a Montreal traveller for a Toronto firm cited this example: "I was coming out of a store on your main street this morning. A woman who looked like a millijon dollars was about to enter. I held the door open for her to pass, and she was going sailing by with her head in the air as if I were the porter. I don't know what prompted me to say it, but as she was going by I said, "Haven't you overlooked something, lady?"

She stopped and looked behind her, thinking I was referring to something she might have dropped.

"No I don't think so," she answered, and started to pass on into the store.

"Where I come from ladies at least say "thank you," I flung after her, but of course this lady wouldn't stoop to notice such a remark. She was dressed in furs that must have cost $500, and no doubt she thought she was the Duchess of Sutherland."

It is open for question whether this drummer could qualify as a Chesterfield in manners. In fact his remark admits a strong doubt, but it does not diminish the strength of his contention that this woman was so devoid of the spirit of courtesy that she didn't even notice not alone acknowledge the traveller's gentlemanly act.

In Montreal.

"I don't think that could happen in Montreal," he declared. "It might, but it would be exceptional. In the theatres in this province when you have to pass a long row of people to get to your seat you are greeted with scowls and usually an elbow. I know, for I am often in Toronto. It seems to me that the repressive legislation in this province has taken the sweetness out of the necessary public intercourse betwen persons who are unacquainted with one another, but who should be none the less considerate and kindly. It is not for the sake of making a good impression that good manners in public as well as at home should be exemplified. They should be instinctive. Perhaps the people of Montreal are, to a greater extent, innately courteous. I can't give a judgment on that point. I know that there is a marked contrast, but my opinion as to the cause is only my own."

This travelling saelsman with an accent that suggested either English or Boston training, declared that the new Quebec liquor legislation was expected to produce highly satisfactory results. One prospective effect would be an increased importation of French and Spanish wines. Montreal, he said, had no desire for prohibition, and whatever the outcome of Ontario's referendum the new Quebec legislation forbade export to this province after the law went into force this spring.

People Colder.

"It seems to me, observing the two provinces in my trips, that the people of Ontario are colder, less courteous and less contented than their neighbours in Quebec. As far as business goes, Montreal is expanding with the proverbial [illegible] bounds. Our one problem is housing. The province will pay on [illegible]ional debt if need be. Ten years from now will find big changes. Business is getting back to normal and we are looking for greater expansion than ever."

The Montreal man was full of his subject, an enthusiastic booster of the St. Lawrence metropolis. However, returning to his comment on manners, although you can't indict a whole people or even judge them by isolated cases, the incidents he refers to should be a reminder that if our mirrors of public demeanor become dull or are neglected, they should be regularly dusted and polished. To moralize—there is no chance of erring on the side of courtesy, friendliness and consideration of others.

RESUMPTION OF BUYING, INDUCED BY LOWER PRICES, PAVES WAY TO BETTER TIMES IN RETAIL TRADE

RETAILERS OF WOMEN'S WEAR MORE OPTIMISTIC THAN IN SOME TIME, THOUGH MEDIUM SIZED STORES ARE BETTER OFF THAN BIG DEPARTMENTAL ESTABLISHMENTS.

DEMAND SHOWS BIG INCREASE

A local travelling man, interested in the selling of a certain class of women's wear, made the recent assertion that business conditions are brighter amongst the small and medium-sized stores of the better class. The departmental stores are buying rather moderately, as they still have a certain amount of goods which they are desirous of getting rid of. As soon as the clearing sales are over, the manufacturers expect them to come into the market with large orders. The lifting of the luxury tax has helped considerably, and a feeling of optimism prevails. In his opinion, the situation would be helped considerably if the retailers were willing to clear out their old stocks at a smaller margin of profit. The retailer who bought goods last fall is holding out for a profit on the price which he paid, therefore the goods remain on the shelf. Women want the new styles, and have refrained from buying for such a length of time that they must replenish their wardrobes now.

Prices Down.

Prices are down as low as it is possible to egt them, and as the manufacturers who had big stocks on hand sacrificed them to keep going and serve their customers, there will be no further marked reduction in prices. Materials have decreased considerably in price, but labour is still high, and as long as labour demands high prices, the manufactured article can show no noticeable downward trend.

Cloth Markets.

With regard to the conditions of the various cloth markets, wool is down. An authority is quoted as saying that British worsted goods have dropped more than fifty per cent. from the top price of June, 1920. Goods that cost $6 per yard in July now sell for $3. The quick deflation of prices for British worsted goods was due, in this man's opinion, to over-production which resulted from a dilatory realization on the part of British textile manufacturers that their usual world market had been greatly curtailed when the war closed. At that time importers in Canada and the United States had visions of the coming period of depression and stopped ordering. This action, coupled with the fact that business with Russia and Germany was impossible, and that France was unable to finance large purchases, resulted in a rapid backing up of manufactured cloth. Then in addition to this, there remained in Britain two million bales of wool under government control, which amount equals a world supply of that commodity for one year.

The cotton market is terribly uncertain, and silks are again on the uphill climb. When the silk market fell to pieces last fall, the manufacturers were enabled to buy at very reduced prices, which the public benefitted by, but georgettes and crepe de chines have made a recent jump of 20 p.c., and the lighter qualities are ascending also. A Toronto merchants recently made the statement that Japanese silks which sold for $1.64 per yard last May were 81 1-2 cents in November and to-day sell for 90 cents per yard. Another line showed for the same period 78 1-2 cents, 46 cents and 54 1-2 cents. In the Swiss article one line which sold for $2.35 in February, 1920, costs $1.10 to-day.

PETERBOROUGH MAN WON $100 PRIZE.

FREEPORT, Ill., Feb. 18. — J. Kennett, of Peterborough, Ont., submitted the best of 3,089 designs entered in the name lettering contest conducted by the North Ridge Brush Company of Freeport, and was awarded the $100 prize. Honorable mention was accorded to Leonard A. Wheeler, of Westmount, P.Q., and to W. M. Ashton, of Montreal, P.Q.

Selecting the winning design occupied two weeks. The three judges, by careful elimination, first narrowed the prospective winners to 100, then 50, 25, 10 and five, and finally to three—Mr. Kennett, Miss Vera I. Flinn, of Freeport, and R. B. Sharp of Chicago. The first named won by one point.

"Mr. Kennett's design fully covers our requirements as to simplicity, distinctiveness and adaptability," J. H. Nortridge, president of the North Ridge Brush Company, said in approving the judges' recommendations. "It is attractive, quick-reading and attention-holding. It is complete in every way and comes up to our expectations.

"Winning the prize is a distinct honor for Mr. Kennett, as he was in competition with some of America's foremost letterers and designers."

WINNIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT PERSONAL LAWS

The international Reform Bureau—can you believe that it is a real thing?

It advocates the stopping of trains and of street cars on Sunday.

It demands that nobody go out for a run in the automobile on Sunday, or even for a walk, and it is hinted that if we listen to the demands of this society we'll begin to believe we must eat nothing warm on the first day of the week for fear of doing wrong by boiling the coffee or roasting the beef.

Dear me, how far the pendulum swings!

To be sure, we have gone a good ways the other way since the war.

Take the matter of public dancing, for instance! Before the war, Mary and Kate and Genevieve would no more have dreamt of going to a public dance and dancing with absolute strangers than they would have thought of smiling at a strange man in the streets and asking him to take them to dine in a strange restaurant.

But the public dancing for the soldiers and sailors broke the ice—and poor little Mary and Kate and Genevieve went through into the cold water without so much as a grasp.

Consider the Conventions.

And now, Tom, Dick or Harry sees Mary at luncheon or knows Kate by sight at the library and he doesn't think he's doing anything out of the way to step up and ask Mary or Kate to go somewhere with him and dance the whole evening. Or, to step into his automobile and take a run down the road. And every once in a while, Mary or Kate or Genevieve or some of the rest of the girls accept the invitation—and what happens? We begin to wonder what the world is coming to.

The world is coming to just exactly what it's come from—and we might as well make up our minds to that. It's all very well for young persons with bobbed hair and thumb rings to sit around in a cafe and make fun of the conventions, and call every old-fashioned idea of modesty and reserve "Mid-Victorian"—but when it comes right down to facts, the conventions are just about the only things that stand between innocent girls and good women, and hideous and dreadful disgrace and sorrow.

Tom, Dick and Harry went to the wars and did good work there. We're all proud of them as soldiers, but they're just the same men they were before they went, as far as women are concerned—and any one of them will tell you so, if he'll tell you what he really thinks.

The Sour Sunday Laws are a direct outgrowth of the downfall of the conventions.

Tick, tock, says the pendulum—tock tick—and back it swings again!

Take Personal "Stock"

If Mary and Kate and Genevieve and Tomand Dick and Harry don't like the idea of blue laws, the best thing they can do to stop the passing of them is to make a few decent, common sense laws for themselves.

Let Little Mary, who's as good as gold and not particularly sensible, stop lighting her cigarette in public just to astonish the neighbors.

Let Kate give up going to a public hall to dance on Sunday night, and let Genevieve prevail upon her friends not to make quite so much noise at the Sunday afternoon picnic—and things will gradually settle themselves. But, if none of these girls and their friends, and neither Tom, Dick nor Harry do any of these things, we're going to blame them for the blue laws, and we're going to blame them justly.

So far shall we go and no further, says the experience of centuries. And true it is and true, we'll have to admit it before these next six months are gone.

MISTAKEN FOR HUSBAND OF THE PRINCESS PATRICIA IN STATES

(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 17.—A London Presbyterian minister has returned home from America, where he was taken for the husband of a princess—much to his embarrassment. Because of his name some American newspapers jumped to the conclusion that he was the lucky man who had married the beautiful "Princess Pat," daughter of the Duke of Connaught, who is now known as Lady Patricia Ramsey, whereas her husband is a commander in the British Navy.

Dr. Ramsay said: "In New York State I was described in the Press as Princess Pat's husband. Oh, I won't say it was embarrassing; but people expressed surprise that the husband of Princess Pat was—so old!"

Dr. Ramsay was also mistaken for Sir W. M. Ramsay, the authority on Asia Minor.

"At several places I was told that I definitely resembled the late President Roosevelt. 'You are the exact image of our Teddy,' many people told me. But the illusion was gone when I began to speak—for Mr. Roosevelt did not speak with a Scotch accent!"

YALE AND OXFORD TO ENGAGE IN TELEGRAPH RIFLE MATCH

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 17.—Arrangements for the first international intercollegiate rifle match between Yale University and Oxford, England, next Friday, were made here. Each team will consist of eight men, all scores to count. Yale will use a new bolt action 22-calibre Winchester, and Oxford will use Lee-Enfield service rifles equipped with Morris inner tubes. The targets will be N. R. A. 75 feet, furnished by Yale. Position will be prone, with closed sights and slings. Officers of the United States and British Armies will act as referees. Each competitor will fire twenty shots, and 200 will be a perfect score. The meet will be shot on the range of the Yale Rifle Club in Artillery Hall and on the range of New College, Oxford.

A SUICIDAL WAVE SWEEPS OVER HUNGARY

Thirty-Two Hundred Women, 2,100 Men, Took Own Lives in 1920.

(Canadian Press.)

BUDAPEST, Feb. 17.—Thirty-two hundred women and 2,100 men committed suicide in Hungary during 1920, police reports for the year show. In addition there were more han 10,000 unsuccessful attempts at suicide.

The tremendous increase is causing much worry, inasmuch as the pre-war figures were from 50 to 60 suicides yearly. The situation is attributed to the gradual deterioration in living conditions and the fact that the war had the effect of making human life much cheaper.

Government, society and church circles, realizing the grave danger to the country, have begun a campaign against self-destruction. Sermons on the subject are being preached in all the churches and a special police force has been organized to keep strict watch and prevent suicides. In a number of cases where the police intervened in time the persons attempting suicide protested against what they termed the tyrannous oppression of the authorities.

SPRING STYLES

By MARGERY STREETE.

(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Hats like untidy hayfields are to be in the forefront this Spring. Some of these first blossoms of the new millinery fashion are already making their appearance.

The chief point about the hayfield hat is that everything about it should be as untidy as possible. Flowers are flung on criss-cross with intervening bits of straw, and an occasional ribbon. One of the prettiest hayfield hats seen at the Maison Lewis, Regent Street, was carried out in white milan, with a jumble of poppies, grasses, buttercups and daisies thrown on indiscriminately, some of them appearing to be falling off the brim and dangling down the back.

These hats defy all the conventional standards of trimming, but are distinctly becoming to the girl who can wear artistic headgear.

Hist to the Lure of the Tea-Gown!

The tea-gown is one of the most alluring of garments. It suggests mystery, grace and poetry. All sorts of attractions can lurk in its subtle folds. Wonderful fabrics, full of color and intricately woven fantasies, play their part in the construction of the season's tea-gown.

The perfect tea-gown carries no date. At its best it is a real picture, the result of much thought, and the poetic trend of the designer's brain. Yet in a curious, subtle manner the picture is influenced by prevailing modes.

I saw lately an exquisite tea-gown which shows the mediaeval tendency in fashion, curiously intermingled with the Eastern touch. The straight, sweeping line gave slimness and a youthful aspect to the figure. The fabric was new in texture, yet ancient in magnificence, black chiffon was interwoven with gorgeous gold. Medallions of gold and strands of silk were worked and woven in a marvellous manner, and the hem was dexterously weighted by a golden fringe, which further imparted slimness about the ankles. Playing an important part was a sash of chiffon very cleverly arranged to hold some folds of drapery in place, and at the same time to impart a suggestion of modern hip-flare. The head-dress was very becoming and Egyptian in effect and was composed of jet with numerous strands of beads.

* * * *

It is certain that as Spring draws nearer silk will rapidly replace the charms of velvet. The fashion authorities are talking of the revival of taffeta.

Taffeta, in all its wondrous old-world colors, at once brings before our minds a vision of the Victorian damsel in her quaint frills, flounces and pipings of this silk. Apple greens, mauve-pinks, yellow-ochre and lemon were some of the favored shades of those times. They had surely the complexions to stand them, helped no doubt by some charming fantasie, such as a softening tucker of lace, a fascinating embossed sash, or a tinsel ribbon, etc.

* * * *

Models which are characterized by an ardent craze for extreme simplicity are among the most notable of the advance creations to be seen at the smart dress ateliers. In dress, we know simplicity largely makes for sartorial success. The new line is slender and wonderfully youthful and flattering.

The longer waist, with a more definite curve, seems favored by the most advanced fashion artistes, and is shown in a very charming gown created by a famous designer. So simple, so straight, yet very subtle, is that girlish-looking drapery. A sort of apron effect is achieved by the folded tunic of black crepe de chine over a tight under-dress of black weighted with fringe and a softly draped sleeve cut in one with the side pieces. The only decoration here allowed seems to be the girdle, a belt of brown and black beads.

The very Parisian alliance of black and brown is favored by Lucile this season. A black satin hat, with brown ostrich fronds and an ermine and bronze scarf, complete an ideal toilette, such as would look quietly smart on every occasion.

* * * *

The most fashionable and fascinating form of bed-room shoes used today takes the form of colored suede kid mocassins, similar in shape to those worn by the Red Indians, many being hand-painted in fascinating designs to give them a more realistic appearance.

Lined with swansdown, these are delightfully cosy to wear, their square, upturned toes imparting a wonderful shortness to the feet.

Although mocassins are the fad of the moment, the heelless mule slippers for bed-room and boudoir use have by no means gone out of fashion. In Paris it is still an item of interest to the artist designers of footwear, one clever artist having scored a great sensation by the introduction of cloth of gold and silver kid mules made with high gold and silver heels, which impart a fairy-like effect, as well as possessing the merit of matching any colored dressing gown or boudoir wrap.

Feathered mules made of small swans' feathers, either in their original white or dyed to delicate tones of pale pink, mauve or blue, are other novelties of the hour, many of these having the front piece bordered with a rim of smaller feathers of another shade, while not a few have real butterflies set under a kind of glass sheath formink buckles.

A wonderful pair of boudoir shoes made of closely set peacocks' feathers fantastically arranged and trimmed with high gilded Louis heels have been introduced by a clever Parisian dressmaker as a finish to a peacock velvet tea-gown lined with cloth of gold.

Persian brocades, enriched with fine gold stitchery and multi-colored beads, are introduced to wear with Persian coats and boudoir wraps that are all the rage in Paris this season.

QUICK POLICE ACTION FOLLOWS AUTO KILLING

Driver Who Ran Down Patrolman Sheridan Held in Hotel After Five Hours' Hunt.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Five hours after Patrolman John G. Sheridan had been run down and killed by an automobile about 2 a.m. yesterday at Cropsey Avenue and Stryker Street, Bath Beach, detectives from his precinct knocked at a door in the Hotel Maryland in West Forty-ninth Street and arrested Paul Eckert on a charge of homicide.

Ten minutes after the accident the Bath Beach Station had news of it from George McCann of 8,828 Twenty-fourth Street, Bath Beach, and had rushed detectives to investigate. Surgeons from the Coney Island Hospital found Sheridan dead when they arrived, and without stopping the detectives hurried through Cropsey Avenue in hopes of finding the automobile.

Within an hour the police of the Fort Hamilton Station reported that they had picked up the abandoned car at Sixth Avenue and Seventy-first Street, Brooklyn. The police said the mud guards were bent, and there was blood on the car.

The machine bore a District of Columbia license plate, and the detectives found a car bearing the name o "Paul Eckert, Hotel Maryland." A the hotel Eckert explained that h had been to Coney Island. He sai he was a racing man. According t his story, he saw a man in Cropse Avenue, and thought he was in th midst of a hold-up gang, so he put o speed. He felt his car strike some thing, but did not know that it wa a policeman on a bicycle. He col lapsed when he was compelled to loo at Sheridan's body in the Bath Beac Police Station. A charge of homi cide was made against Eckert, and h was arraigned in the Adams Stree Police Court in Brooklyn, and held for further hearing on Feb. 18. H said he was no relation to Frederick C. Eckert, who was slain on Staten Island last year.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 18TH, 1921.

THE PLAYGROUNDS.

No better endorsation of the work that has been carried on during the past few summers by the Peterboro Playgrounds Association, could be found than the fact that at Wednesday's meeting of the Association, a deputation from East City urged that a supervised playground should be established across the river during the coming summer. Ashburnham parents have watched the work done at the various playgrounds and have been so impressed by the beneficial effects arising out of the activities of the Association, that they desire a similar playground for the children of the East Ward. It is to be hoped that it will be possible to grant their request for the movement has proved such a boon in the sections where playgrounds have been operated, that every part of the city should be included in the scheme. Supervised playgrounds have come to Peterboro to stay; hundreds of happy children and scores of relieved parents are enthusiastic witnesses as to the splendid results of the operations of the Playgrounds Association. And every citizen who can spare a dollar for the excellent cause should assist in the work by becoming a member of the Association.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION.

A bill is being introduced into the Legislature to permit of municipalities adopting the system of proportional representation in their election of municipal bodies, if the majority of the electors express by ballot their approval of the scheme. The measure is being brought forward by a Conservative member of the Ontario House, Mr. Hill, Ottawa, and it is not likely to be carried. There does not seem to be any keen demand for proportional representation in Ontario, and while the bill does not go further than to permit municipalities to adopt the plan, if the ratepayers want to try the experiment, there is likely to be much opposition offered in the Legislature. There has been much argument as to the merits or defects of proportional representation. Extravagant claims are made by supporters of the system as to the benefits to be derived from its operations, and critics are equally vigorous in denouncing it as a visionary, impracticable scheme. Certain it is that before any attempt is made to foist it upon the people there should be a campaign of education so that the principle of the plan should be understood. To many citizens the words "proportional representation" mean little or nothing.

REV. FATHER PHELAN.

It was not surprising to find that among those who gathered in St. Peter's Cathedral the other morning, to participate in the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the entrance into the priesthood of Rev. Father C. J. Phelan, were many citizens who were members of other religious denominations. Their presence there was a tribute not so much to Father Phelan as a priest, but as a citizen. Of the value of his services in the priesthood the addresses presented to him by his fellow clergy, and by the members of the congregation of St. Peter's, spoke in terms that were as sincere as they were enthusiastic. But the representatives of many different activities in the city's life who attended were a recognition of the great service that Rev. Father Phelan has rendered his native city, in various capacities. His splendid work as president of the Children's Aid Society, an institution to which he has always cheerfully contributed his time and energy, his interest in the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition, in which organization; although an honorary member, he has been of much assistance, his willingness to assist in every movement that had as its objective the betterment of conditions in the city, have made him, apart altogether from his duties as the Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, a most valuable citizen, and so it is that people of all denominations were eager to join with Rev. Father Phelan in celebrating his silver anniversary.

Irene Vanbrugh is to return to the London stage this month in "Miss Nelly of New Orleans," played here by Mrs. Fiske.

A HEALTH SURVEY.

The suggestion of the Ontario Medical Association to the Ontario Government that a survey should be made of the amount of unattended illness in the province, is timely. There is a tendency on the part of governments to pay more attention to the welfare of live stock than to the needs of humanity. A visitor in Peterboro from the northern part of the county the other day supplied striking testimony of the neglect that exists in his neighborhood, a condition of affairs that is doubtless duplicated in many other sections of the province. The greatest need of that part of the country, he declared, is a trained nurse to instruct the people in simple matters of health and sanitation, and to supply professional attention in cases of need. He suggests that the municipality should engage and pay such a nurse, who might be the means not only of saving many a life, but of preventing the numerous cases of chronic illness that are the direct result of neglect and lack of knowledge of the proper treatment. In many a home in the northern part of the county there are invalids who might have been spared a life of pain and suffering had a simple operation or the carrying out of the ordinary rules of health been brought to bear at the proper time. It was doubtless with a knowledge that such conditions are existent in many sections of Ontario that the eMdical Association points out the advisability of a provincial survey. There is much heard just now of the necessity of reforestation, and admittedly the subject is an important one; yet how much more vital is the problem indicated in the suggestion of the Medical Association, and in the testimony we have quoted of conditions in our own county."

THE QUEBEC LIQUOR LAW.

The Government of Quebec are making a new and very interesting experiment in the matter of the traffic in intoxicating liquors, an experiment that is all the more interesting because, with the single exception of British Columbia, all the rest of the continent of North America is committed to total Prohibition. Quebec has long been a temperate Province, but has not favoured Prohibition. While other Provinces were declaring for Prohibition, Quebec, on a referendum declared in favour of the sale of light wine and beer. An effort was made to carry out that policy, but the Government are forced to admit that the system has not worked well. In Montreal particularly, many of the people authorised to sell beer and wine have been tempted to sell strong liquors as well. Some new system is admittedly necessary. The Government in meeting the demand for a change are adopting a measure which in some respects is drastic. The Government themselves are not only to take control of the business, but are to become the exclusive importers of and wholesale dealers in strong liquors, and the retail trade is to be subject to restrictions designed to protect the public as to the quality of the liquor and the price at which it may be obtained from those lawfully authorised to sell. The bill certainly is a wide-reaching and courageous measure.

On one point the Government's bill, as reported from Quebec, seems to undertake more than can be carried out by any Provincial authority. The Government, who are to become importers of spirits, are to have a monopoly of this privilege, the importation by private parties being forbidden. But can a Provincial Legislature constitutionally prohibit importation? Importation clearly comes within the meaning of the section of the constitution which assigns matters of trade and commerce to the jurisdiction of the Parliament of the Dominion. Only an Act of the Dominion Parliament can prohibit importation. It is because of this provision in the constitution that the Provincial prohibitory laws have been found ineffective. Notwithstanding drastic Provincial enactments importation from abroad and importation into one Province from another Province were found to be lawful.

This difficulty was overcome in the session of 1919 by the passing of a Dominion Act to supplement the Provincial laws. It was virtually an enlargement of the old Scott Act. That old Act provided for local option. In the county or city which adopted its provisions by popular vote Prohibition came into operation. The Dominion Act of 1919 provided that any Province which already had a Provincial prohibitory law might by a direct vote of its electors bring into operation for the whole Province the wider power which could only be exercised by the Dominion Parliament. Under the provisions of the Dominion Act there has been a referendum in Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, and in accordance with the wishes expressed by the electors all these Provinces are not as "bone dry" as the combined Dominion and Provincial legislative authority can make them. Ontario is to have a similar referendum soon, and there is no doubt that the result will be the same. Quebec could have similar prohibition if it desired, but it does not. The Dominion's power to forbid importation is only applied to a Provincial authority in favour of prohibition, and then only when the additional power is called into operation by a request from the Legislature, followed and confirmed by a referendum.

The Quebec Legislature has not asked for a referendum, and none has taken place. The condition of the Quebec law does not bring the Province under the Dominion Act of 1919. Consequently the right to import seems to remain, so far as the Province of Quebec is concerned. The new Quebec law will not in any way touch it. Only the Dominion Parliament can destroy or restrict that right. Since the liquors cannot be sold in Quebec there will, it is true, be no inducement to anybody to import for sale. But the right of individuals to import for their own use or for any purpose except sale, will remain.—Journal of Commerce.

Thirst for poetry, is of course, one of the evidences of a higher plane of civilization, but some of this free verse would arouse suspicion as to whether a little thirst-quencing had not accompanied the inspiration.

But, then, free verse, like cubist art and parlour Bolshevism, probably satisfies the intellectual yearnings of those shallow minds who have so much free time that they needs must have "freedom" to imagine they are living with a purpose.

DISPOSAL OF OLD HUNTER STREET BRIDGE A PROBLEM FOR COUNCIL

PROMISED TO SET IT UP AGAIN AT LONDON STREET, BUT THE IRON GIRDERS UNEQUAL TO PRESENT DAY STANDARD LOADS—WORTH ONLY $200 AS OLD IRON.

Virtually condemned by H. W. Middlemist, engineer for the Ontario Municipal Board, and estimated at a value of $200 as scrap iron, the old Hunter street bridge, now lying disjointed in storage presents a problem which the Council must deal with one of these days Originally it was intended to be re-erected at London street. In fact the Quaker Oats company gave an agreement for five years to provide a right of way through their property on each side of the river for approaches to the bridge if the city would move it to the proposed crossing above the London street dam

Last night the question of disposing of the dismantled ancient structure was discussed by the Board of Works who discreetly decided to taken to action for the present.

Its Youth Was Long Ago.

City Engineer Parsons estimated the weight of the iron beams and supports at twenty tons, and Ald. Hamilton gave the opinion that the best price available for this material would be around ten dollars. The Council might consider putting the bridge to work again at London street but for two practically prohibitive reasons. One is the fact that the two spans of 120 feet each are together not long enough to bridge the river at that point; and the other is the likelihood tat the girders are not stout enough to meet the present day standard loads.

Mr. Parsons said that the average bridge should be able to carry a fifteen ton steam roller, but the city never took the chance of running its steam roller over the old Hunter street bridge.

Mr. Middlemist's letter was in part as follows:—

"The material in this bridge has been in use since 1875 and will have deteriorated considerably. Each member and pin would have to be carefully examined and tested in order to find out what it would stand. The loading use in 1875 would be very much less than the lightest called for under any existing specifications and I very much doubt if it would be worth the expense and labour to test and examine the various pieces because I do not believe the results would be satisfactory. Further more this bridge if erected at this point would not reach across river so an additional span of new material would have to be added to complete the structure.

In view of this and the great uncertainty of the material in the old bridge I would not care to advise the re-erection of this structure for any purpose whatever."

WHAT'S IN A NAME

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).

BERLIN, February 18.—The bestowal of "Millerand" as a Christian name on a litle German born in a Rhenish town now occupied by the French has caused considerable discussion. No doubt, the father desired to make himself solid with the powers that be by thus perpetuating the French President's name in his family. However the Registrar refused to enter the uncommon name.

A similar case is reported from Zurich, when a father chose the name "Lenin" for his son. The Swiss authorities objected first "because non-Christian names are contrary to public usage," and again, "because such name, referring to a hotly-contested political system might damage the child's future propects."

In France only names used in Christian Calendars or borne by historical personages of antiquity, or Bibical names, are admissible. A Frenchman may thus name his son Lycugus, Moses, Marius or Alcibiades, but not Mirabeau.

If he insists on a forbidden name he must fight for it in a court of justice. The American custom of perpetuating a family name is not favored in Europe, England excepted. In Germany the decision is left to the Registrar's discretion who as a rule objects to unusual names, though a few Hindenburgs and Lasallines managed to slip through.

Give This to a Constipated Baby

Why Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is the Favorite Constipation Remedy with so Many Mothers

YOUNG Mothers in the midst of bringing up a family of small children should consider it a duty to investigate the action of the various remedies for constipation. This is the ailment most common among children, and it often leads to serious diseases. It is important for the mother to know the right remedy to give, for they differ widely in action.

Children do not take kindly to drastic drugs, salt waters, calomel, physics, castor oil, carthartics, mercurials and such things, and they find difficulty in swallowing these harsh medicines even when disguised in sugar-coated tablets or pills. It is not only that the child doesn't like the taste, but these drugs are so violent that they wrench the little system. They should not be given to children.

Thousands of wise mothers, after having tried many things, give only a combination of simple herbs with pepsin, known to druggists as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. The formula is on the package. It is a mild, gentle remedy, free from all narcotics, that relieves constipation and its symptoms, such as headache, biliousness, colds, fever, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, and it does it without griping or weakening. A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for sixty cents and is enough to last an average family many months.

Last year over eight million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin were sold in drug stores, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, and as the preparation has been on the market over thirty years the second generation of mothers are now giving it to their babies. No careful, well-regulated home will be without a bottle for a mild, safe constipation remedy like this may be needed by someone in the family any minute. Every bottle is guaranteed to do exactly as claimed for the ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels or your money will be refunded.

TRY IT FREE!

There are heads of families who will want to prove to their own satisfaction that my Laxative Syrup Pepsin is as effective in constipation, as mild and gentle in action, as pleasant-tasting and safe, as I claim. Let such write me for a free sample. It will be sent postpaid. Simply say "Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 19 Front Street, Bridgeburg, Ont.: Send a free trial bottle of your Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to—" and give your name and address. I will see that the rest is attended to promptly.

HISTORY OF PROHIBITION

(Canadian Press).

In connection with the latest phase of the prohibition movement in Canada—the imminent proclamation by the Dominion Government prohibiting the importation of liquors from any province into the "dry" provinces of Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba—it is interesting to recount the various steps in the progress of prohibition throughout Canada, since the inception nearly one hundred years ago, in the scattered settlements of the young colony, of the movements against intemperance in the use of intoxicating liquors. In Canada, as elsewhere, it has developed from a personal idea to a social one; from advocacy of abstinence by the individual to that of prohibition of the state.

Organized temperance reform in Canada began early in the 19th century. Starting with a few individuals, it was not long before these had banded together and a "Band of Hope," "Blue Ribbon Club," or a temperance lodge was to be found in almost every village. These temperance lodges later on took more definite form as fraternal benefit organizations, and, following up the interest created by the pledge-signing crusade, advocated total prohibition as well as total abstinence. The churches, through the young people's societies, were swung into line and finally superseded the temperance societies. In 1874 the Women's Christian Temperance Union was organized in Canada, and with the fraternal societies stood for legislative action as well as moral suasion. The W.C.T.U., realizing that without the ballot women could not effectively combat the liquor traffic, pioneered the movement that, according to prohibition leaders, led to the enfranchisement of women in Canada.

Milestones of Progress.

One of the earliest anti-liquor laws in Canada was enacted in New Brunswick in 1855. This prohibited the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages. This law, because of political complications, was repealed within a year.

1864—Dunkin Act. The next stage was the passing of the Dunkin Act in 1864. This Act gave to counties, cities, towns, townships and villages of Ontario and Quebec authority to prohibit the retail sale of liquor within their respective limits.

1875—Dominion Royal Commission.

1876—Formation of Dominion Alliance. Crook's Act (Ontario License Act).

1878 — Canada Temperance Act (Scott Act).

When Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were federated with Upper and Lower Canada in 1867 there arose uncertainty as to the relative extent of Dominion and Provincial power in the enactment of prohibitory legislation. The Federal Parliament delayed action until 1878, when the Canada Temperance Act — a Dominion local option law—was passed. This Act, which not strictly in accordance with the views of the prohibitionists, was an improvement, in many particulars, on the Dunkin Act.

The Canada Temperance Act, popularly known as the "Scott Act," enabled the electors in a county or city to prohibit, by vote, the sale of intoxicating liquors within their boundaries, except for medicinal, sacramental or industrial purposes. The measure was adopted in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. In Ontario and Quebec the Act was not a success, and by 1889 it had been repealed in every one of the twenty-five counties and two cities in Ontario that had adopted it. The course in Quebec was almost similar.

1892—Royal Commission appointed. Manitoba plebiscite. Majority for prohibition 12,522.

1893—Prince Edward Island plebiscite. Majority for prohibition 7,226.

1894—Ontario plebiscite. Majority for prohibition 81,769. Nova Scotia plebiscite. Majority for prohibition 31,401.

1895—Report of Royal Commission.

1898—Dominion plebiscite. Majority for prohibition 13,925.

In 1898 the Federal Government decided to test public opinion on the question of prohibition by a plebiscite. This resulted in a majority in favour of prohibition in eight of the nine provinces. Quebec alone gave a majority of 94,524 against prohibition, compared with a total majority of 108,011 in favour of prohibition, cast by the remaining provinces. The Government declared that the results did not justify the introduction of a prohibitory measure and threw the burden back upon the provinces to go as far as they could constitutionally.

1900—Prince Edward Island adopts prohibition.

1902—Manitoba referendum. Majority against prohibition 6,857.

In 1900 the Manitoba Legislature passed a drastic measure prohibiting all liquor transactions originating and ending within the province. This law was never put into force, however, a new government disclaiming any responsibility for the Act and holding a referendum in 1902 on the question of its enforcement. As a result of this election the Act was repealed, by a majority of 6,857.

In 1902 the Ontario Government introduced an Act similar to the Manitoba Prohibitory Act. A referendum vote rejected the Act, the favouring majority of 96,201 falling short of the 213,723 requored majority.

Interest Revived.

Interest in the prohibition movement revived in Ontario and Quebec, and by the year 1916 there were 672 municipalities in Ontario under local option, adopted, in many instances notwithstanding the three-fifths majority later on demanded by the Ontario Legislature. Quebec had 1,007 municipalities out of 1,187 under "no license" in 1917.

1910 — Nova Scotia Legislature passes prohibition for province except Halifax.

1915—Saskatchewan passes partial prohibition; establishes dispensaries. Alberta votes prohibition. Majority 21,686.

1916—British Columbia votes prohibition. Majority 10,512 (not counting overseas vote). Ontario Legislature passes prohibition. Saskatchewan votes out dispensaries. Majority 71,583. Nova Scotia Legislature passes prohibition.

In 1916 Halifax became "dry," and thereby put the whole province under prohibition. In 1917 the Provincial law went into operation in New Brunswick and the electors in 1920 voted in favour of the retention of the law, and voted against the sale of light wines and beer.

In 1916 the Ontario Temperance Act was carried by unanimous vote of the members of the Legislature, and went into effect the same year. The electors of Ontario in 1919 voted on the continuance of the Act and sustained it by a majority of 407,789.

The Manitoba Legislature in 1915 passed a prohibition act, subject to ratification by the people. This was voted on, passed and went into operation in 1916. Alberta came under the "dry" banner in 1916, while the sister province of Saskatchewan followed in 1917.

1917—Union Government announces prohibition policy. British Columbia Legislature passes prohibition.

1918—Dominion Government passes prohibition Orders-in-Council. Quebec passes partial prohibition. Yukon Territory Council passes partial prohibition, established dispensaries.

1919—Quebec votes to allow beer and wine. "Yes" 178,112; "No" 48,413. Ontario referendum. Prohibition sustained. Majority 406,676.

British Columbia's Legislature in 1916 passed a prohibition bill. This was approved by popular vote and went into operation in 1917.

Quebec, the only remaining "wet" territory in Canada in 1918, passed a prohibition measure in that year. This law remained in force for only one year, a referendum vote in 1919 favouring the sale of light beer, cider and wine.

Situation During War.

During the war, when every province but one had enacted a prohibitory law, the Federal Parliament supplemented the Provincial laws by war-time Orders-in-Council. Appeal was made to Parliament by the prohibitionists, endeavouring to have the war-time measures made permanent. This resulted in an amendment to the Canada Temperance Act being passed. This amendment, known as Bill 26, provided that a vote of the electors may be taken in a province for or against prohibition of the importation and bringing in of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes into the province. A vote under the provisions of Bill No. 26 was taken in October in the provinces of Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and the Yukon Territory. Ontario is to vote on the bill in April of this year.

On October 20th, voting in British Columbia took place on the question, "Which Do You Prefer?"

(1) The present "Prohibition Act," or

(2) An Act to provide for Government control and sale in sealed packages of spirituous and malt liquors.

By a majority of 27,000 the voters decided in favour of Government control and the province was removed from the "dry" column.

On October 25th the electors in Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Alberta voted in the affirmative on the ballot: "Shall the importation or bringing of intoxicating liquors into the province be forbidden?"

The proclamation soon to be made by the Federal Government is a direct result of the voting in the four provinces.

INDIA'S IMPORTS ARE INCREASING EVERY MONTH

(Canadian Press.)

CALCUTTA, India, Feb. 17.—Exchange rates continue to play the dominant part in both the import and export trade of British India. The abandonment of the government's attempt to bolster up the rupee continues to increase the adverse balance of trade against India. Imports are increasing monthly and Indian exports are falling off to a very large extent. Credits are becoming more and more difficult to negotiate throughout India, the markets being overstocked with imported commodities and the demand extremely dull.

Indian ports are congested with shipping, as are also the railroads, on account of the heavy movement of imports and the lack of rolling stock on the railroads due to the war.

CENTRE OF POULATION MOVES 8.3 MILEST WESTWARD IN DECADE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The centre of population as disclosed by the 1920 census is located in the extreme southeast corner of Owen County, Indiana, 8.3 miles southeast of the Town of Spencer, the Census Bureau announced to-day.

During the last decade the centre of population continued to move westward, advancing 9.8 miles in that direction and about one-fifth of a miles north from Bloomington, Ind., where it was located by the census of 1910. The Bureau attributed the westward movement "principally to the increase of more than 1,000,000 in the population of the State of California.

Geographically speaking, the Bureau said, the new centre of population is located where the parallel of latitude 39 degrees 10 minutes and 21 seconds north intersects the meridian of longitude 86 degrees 43 minutes and 15 second west.

DONT PAY A BIG PRICE FOR FOOD

The most expensive food is generally the poorest in real nutriment. Considering its high nutritive value, Shredded Wheat Biscuit is without doubt the cheapest food in the world today. It contains all the rich muscle-making elements in the whole wheat grain. The price was not pushed up on account of the war so we don't have to come down. Shredded Wheat contains more real nutriment than meat or eggs, and costs much less.

Two Biscuits served with hot milk make a warm, nourishing meal for the cold days. Delicious with sliced bananas or other fruits.

PAVING OF GEORGE STREET SOUTH OF C.P.R. AGAIN PROPOSED TO COUNCIL

BOARD OF WORKS SERIOUSLY CONSIDERING THIS WORK DEFERRED FROM LAST YEAR—RECOMMEND SALE OF UNOPENED PART OF CAMBRIDGE STREET TO THE CANADIAN WOOLLENS, LIMITED.

In a preview of the year's work, the Board of Works last night practically decided to pave George street from the C.P.R. to Romaine street. This stretch was laid out for pavement last year, and on the strength of the Council's early announcement the Hydro-Electric Commission reconstructed their road on a concrete foundation. They have since complained that the motor traffic has been drawn to this smooth central strip, and that as a result the concrete margins outside the rails are breaking down and already have been considerably damaged.

The first preparatory to paving this section of George street will be the construction of a sewer from Westcott to Romaine street. Notices will be given in due time of the Council's intentions, and meanwhile City Engineer Parsons will obtain the necessary information as to the kind of pavement to be laid. He told the Board last night that cement would be the cheapest, but Mr. Parsons himself, Ald. Whitehouse and other memebrs questioned its durability. They mentioned concrete pavement in other places which had heaved with the frost and broken under traffic.

May Use Tarvia.

Asphaltic pavement was also recommended but it was pointed out by Mr. Parsons that the city hadn't an asphalt mixer, and he had been told by contractors that they would not bring their machinery into Peterborough for such a small job as that between the C.P.R. and Romaine street. The City Engineer spoke of laying a solid foundation and finishing it with crushed gravel with a Tarvia binder put on with a pressure sprayer. He thought that the Tarvia company might lend or rent the city a spraying machine. Ae was instructed to write the company, and it is expected that a reply together with complete information will be ready for the Board at its next meeting.

Apply For Sewer.

James Price and other residents of Olive avenue petitioned for a sewer. Ald. Jones moved, seconded by Ald. Morrison that this request be granted.—Carried.

Permission to erect a marquis over the entrance to the new Capitol theatre was recommended on motion of Mayor McIntyre and Ald. Jones. It will be similar to the fixtures above the entrances of the other theatres.

"Gas" Tanks Stay.

T. Q. Quartermaine's complaint that he had triped and fallen over a gasoline tank pipe at the corner of Charlotte and Park street was referred to City Engineer Parsons with power to act.

"I think that has already been attended to," Mr. Parsons said, "but do you want to me to do anything about the removal of the gas tank pipes at other stores and garages? There is a resolution on record that these pipes were to be taken up six months after the war."

Ald. Morrison —"Is the war over yet. That is a question. The government doesn't seem to think so.

The committee passed over the City Engineer's question in silence, probably under the urge of that caution that discretion is the better part of valor or "let sleeping dogs lie."

Won't Embarass Government.

A resolution from the Waterloo Council that the Legislature be asked to refund half the automobile fees to the municipalities in which they are collected was received without action on motion of Ald. Hamilton, seconded by Ald. Jones.

"The provincial government has a lot of road work under way and mapped out and we shouldn't embarass them," Ald. Hamilton suggested. "If the government didn't get from this source the money they need they would tax us in some other way. It seems to me to be as broad as it's long."

Sell Unopened Street.

The sale of the unopened part of Cambridge street north of McDonnell street and west of the Canadian Woollens factory was recommended by the Board on motion of Ald. Jones, seconded by Ald. Hamilton. The Canadian Woolens Company have offered to buy this strip of land. They own the property east and west of it. The price quoted to the company is $925.

Matter of Courtesy.

The Board of Trade's proposal to consider the numbering of the streets was not enthusiastically received.

"It's a big proposition," said Ald. Crowe.

"Toronto has got along without numbering its streets," Ald. Hay observed.

Ald. Jones— We're not big enough for that yet.

Ald. Hamilton— As a courtesy to the Board of Trade we ought to appoint some one to discuss the proposal with them,

Ald. Phelan—I was at the Board of Trade meeting and many of the members didn't think it was possible.

Ald. Hamilton moved, seconded by Ald. Crowe that the Mayor, Ald. Whitehouse and City Engineer Parsons be appointed to confer with the Board of Trade and other bodies to consider this matter.—Carried.

The committee expressed the opinion that the cost of the work would defeat the proposal.

SIMPLE PHOSPHATE REAL BUILDER OF STRENGTH AND NERVE FORCE, SAYS NEW YORK PHYSICIAN.

"Common sense as well as experience should teach those who suffer from nervousness and weakness that the most logical thing to do is to put into their systems the substance that is lacking, and that is pure organic phosphate, Bitro-Phosphate' says Dr. Joseph Harrigan. McDermid & Jury or any good druggist can supply genuine Bitro-Phosphate at reasonable cost.

QUEBEC MAN PRINCIPAL IN NEW YORK MYSTERY.

Person Wandering in Brooklyn Believed A. M. Fisher, of Kenogami.

NEW YORK Feb. 18.—A well dressed man believed to be A. M. Fisher, of Kenogami, Que., was found wandering about in a dazed condition at the entrance to Brooklyn Bridge and is now in Bellevue Hospital. Police of the Missing Persons Bureau, who are seeking to establish definitely his identity, say they are inclined to believe the man is a former Canadian soldier who was injured in the war. He has a scar on the left side of his sulting in the scar caused amnesia, sulting in the scar caused amnesia, from which he is now suffering. His right hand is partly paralyzed.

Among the man's effects, which were recovered from the Grand Central Station after a baggage check was found in his pocket, was a letter from Toronto dated Jan. 23, 1921, address to A. M. Fisher, Staff House, Kenogami, Que.

The letter, signed D. B. Fisher, spoke of taking "Beatrice" to see the recipient of the letter, as "Beatrice" would have to soon go off to school, and would not be able to see him for a while.

Asked if he knew "A. M. Fisher," the man said, "why, that's my name," adding that the "A" stood for "Aleistair." "Beatrice is my daughter," he told a detective, and then commenced weeping.

He was then asked if he remembered serving with the Canadian forces, and he said he had some vague recollection of having been in England.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE WAS WELL RECEIVED.

The A. S. K. Club of Knox Church repeated their Minstrel Show with great success last night. The hall was filled and the performance was very good, showing a certain increase in tone that might have been lacking on the occasion of the initial opening. The songs were once again received with hearty applause, and Miss I. Pearson and Miss E. Kennedy were both recipients of beautiful bouquets of roses and carnations.

Names omitted from the chorus in last night's account were: Messrs. George Cunningham, Murray Perrin and Harry Jude.

DEAD MAN'S DIARY TELLS AWFUL STORY.

He Dies of Hunger, Disease, Thirst and Cold.

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 18.—The story of an unsuccessful fight against death from scurvy by A. O. Rinehart, of Duluth, who left here in August, 1919, for a trap line on barren lands 200 miles from the nearest trading post, has just been reported to the Provincial police here. It was not until last October that two trappers discovered the body. A diary, the first entry dated November, 1919, was found in the shack. An entry made in the latter part of March, 1920, shows that he was bedridden, and had taken all his supplies to bed with him. Unable to move out of bed, his fires went out, and gradually his water supply became exhausted or frozen, and he slowly perished from disease, thirst and frost. The last entry in the diary is dated April 9, 1920.

The diary of Rinehcart shows that in order to prevent himself from taking his own life he had disrupted the mechanism of his revolvers and rifles.

SAYS THAT INDUSTRIAL CRISIS HAS BEEN PASSED.

U.S. Financial Expert Declares a Spirit of Confidence Now Prevails.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The industrial crisis has been passed and there need be no apprehension about the future, W. P. G. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, said in the Board's annual report today.

"It is generally recognized that the country has regained a more normal state of mind, which is of first importance in working back toward normal conditions; and looking to the future, a spirit of greater confidence prevails," Harding wrote.

The report also quotes wholesale price indexes to show that the cost of living is lower in the United States than in any of the other principal countries.

Harding showed that prices in December were but 71 per cent. above the monthly average for 1913 throughout the United States. In Italy, however, the increase is given at 535 per cent. For some other countries the increase was: England, 143 per cent.; France, 334 per cent.; Sweden, 109; Canada, 114; Japan, 106; and India, 80.

Price reductions of German goods helped to bring on the big price break in the United States and throughout the world, according to the report.

German goods, Harding explained, flooded France and England in the Spring and early Summer killing markets for American exports which piled back into the domestic markets of the United States helping to bring the big price break.

Harding denied that the Federal Reserve Board's policy of raising discount rates brought on the price reductions and industrial depression as has been so often charged. He submitted reports showing that bank credits declined but slightly during the year despite the increased discount rates.

He also denied charges of farmers that the Reserve Board's policy of deflation caused them to lose money on their 1920 bumper crops because they could not borrow money to hold their products for a high market.

EX-KAISER WILHELM NO LONGER FORMIDABLE.

English Paper Quiets Nerves Stirred by Recent Interview.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Feb. 18.—"This will calm the nerves of those who persist Kaiser Wilhelm still is a formidable enemy, menacing the peace of Europe," the Manchester Guardian to-day said editorially of the Heinrich Petermeyer interview.

"This voice from the dead past is familiar, yet thin and vain," the Guardian said. "It is a mere negligible whisper in a big, contemptuous world.

"We know well the tone of the little autocrat who plumes himself complacently over showing the King of Italy his big feet in 1913, as a hint against treachery, who after two years of meditation can only complain that the German people have betrayed themselves, him and God, and who finds some consolation for his wounded pride in the thought that God is now scourging the world for the wrong done him.

"How small he is! How pitiful in his obscurity."

There is a revival of the "pinked" cloth and "frayed" selvedge as trimming.

GERALD H. BRUCE IS CHARGED WITH FALSIFYING ACCOUNTS

Junior Partner in Firm of Montreal Stockbrokers May Face Embezzlement Charge at Least $150,000 —Bail Set at $20,000.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—Charged with falsifying accounts to the extent of $10,000, Gerald H. Bruce, formerly junior partner in the firm of Oswald Bros., stockbrokers, 113 St. Peter Street and whose alleged defalications resulted in that firm going into liquidation last Monday, was arraigned before Judge Cusson in chambers.

J. J. Creelman, K.C., counsel for the prosecution, stated that while the immediate charge was one of falsification to the extent of $10,000, other charges were being prepared and the prosecution expected soon to be able to bring in a charge of embezzlement to the amount of $150,000.

James Crankshaw, jr., appeared for the accused, and asked that bail be allowed. Counsel for the prosecution insisted that bail should be fixed at a heavy figure and Judge Cusson agreed to bail at $20,000. Enquete was set for Tuesday Feb. 22.

The liquidator, Frank P. Turville, of George A. Touche and Co., accountants, stated that the books of the firm were in a bad tangle, and several days would have to elapse before he could estimate the full amount the firm stood to lose.

The warrant for arrest reads as follows:

"Whereas, Gerald H. Bruce, of Montreal, has this day been charged upon oath before the undersigned Police Magistrate in and for the District of Montreal, during the months of January and February, 1921, at the City of Montreal, District of Montreal, did, being a member of a public company, to wit Oswald Bros., destroy, alter and falsify papers and writings belonging to the said company to the extent of about $10,000."

An inkling of the defence to be made by Bruce was given when James Crankshaw, jr., his counsel, informed Judge Cusson that his client had never used any of the money he was accused of being responsible for the misuse of, personally. He told the Court that a number of clients of the firm of Oswald Bros. had used the money. These clients, Mr. Crankshaw explained, had been carrying accounts with the Oswald firm. Further credits to protect the margins already put up by them, were given them by Bruce, these margins being beyond the amount already put up.

It is stated at detective headquarters that a number of clients who benefited by the credits supplied them by Bruce cannot be found. It is thought they have either left town or are in hiding.

CRUMB DANCES HAVE BEEN PROHIBITED.

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—Crumb dances, where girl partners swap bites of sandwiches and cake while performing the latest jazz steps, have been prohibited at the Arlington High School to avert a labor crisis. The building cleaners who have to clean up the mess endorsed their ultimatum against the hops by exhibiting a mound of broken food and bits of paper gathered from the floor.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash poisons and toxins from system before putting food into stomach.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons from the stomach, liver kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the alimentary canal before eating more food.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing.

LOOKS LIKE START OF BREAD WAR NOW.

Montreal Stores Selling For 9½ Cents — Public Consuming Less Bread.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—A reminder of pre-war days is the sensational offer by a chain of retail stores operating in Montreal of bread for sale at 9 1-2 cents for a 24-ounce loaf. The stores manager of the firm in question stated that they had sold considerable quantities at that price which is at least three cents cheaper than the retail rate ot the large bread manufacturers and grocers, who charge for loaves of the same size 12½ and 13½ cents.

He says that he was unable to give the name of the firm making the bread, as it had been expressly stipulated when the contract was made that who the manufacturers were should not be disclosed, lest a "bread war" should be precipitated. The bread complies with the law in all particulars, the manager claims, and is of excellent quality.

Other manufacturers in the city say that they cannot afford to make and sell bread for this price, and that there is a tendency to raise rather than lower the price at present obtaining among the large bakers.

Eat Less Bread.

"The sale of this cheaper bread has practically made no difference to our firm," said one manufacturer, "though we find that the public are now consuming very much less bread than usual." A reduction of from 15 to 20 per cent. in the usual quantity purchased at this time is general not only throughout Canada but in the United States as well, he said. He did not think that this was due to more bread being baked at home because the millers are complaining also that far less flour is being used than usual. Bakers in the United States have attributed this decrease to the abundance of cheaper vegetables, he said, and he was inclined to think that this was th ereason Montrealers were also using less.

STUDENTS DEFEND DANCES.

Carnegie Institute Paper also declares Short Skirts "Sensible."

PITTSBURGH. The short skirt as decreed by present day fashions, is approved and dances of the day are defended, in an editorial in this week's issue of the Tartan, the official student paper of the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

The short skirt gives to women and girls "plenty of freedom to move as nature intended that she should,' says The Tartan, which terms the fashion "sensible."

"We have attended several dances during the last week," The Tartan declared, "and no shocking decolletes were noticed except possibly on some matrons who should have known beter. The 'shimmy' is spoken of quite heatedly but we have never seen it carried to the extremes which others rave about, and we have attended a few parties."

TORPID LIVER

The duty of the liver is to prepare the secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

When the liver becomes laxy, slow or torpid it is not working properly, and does not supply sufficient bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste products of the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in and liver troubles follow.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills quickly remove the secretions, clear away the waste and effete matter by acting directly on the liver, and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood, and cause so many troubles.

Mrs. Alice Mehill, Napanee, Ont., writes:—"I was very badly run down, and had a torpid liver for four months. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. One day my husband brought me home a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and before I had used half of it I was much better. I only used two vials, and I am a different person to-day. I can safely recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to any one troubled with liver trouble."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Henry Ainley is to play the title role in Drinkwater's new play, "Cromwell."

I have returned from an assignment to interview William Hohenzollern, the former Emperor of Germany. After spending fourteen nights and days crawling on my hands and knees around the poultry netting which encloses his hoosegow and fully that much time leaping from pawpaw bush to pawpaw bush and dodging from beneath one potted plant to another in an effort to reach His Ex-cellency, I have returned to give my story to the world.

It was a grave task to assign to a girl like me or like I. To begin with, I had no experience getting inside the coops with kaisers. As a matter of fact this was the first emperor I ever pursued through wire netting and much heavy vegetation. This was a job for some older correspondent, some bird who had bagged many a kaiser in his day, some one who knew perfectly the habits of emperors when loose in an open forest. I was a mere girl, than which there is nothing so mere.

"Em," said the managing editor one morning in the office of the Figaro in Paris. "Jump over to Holland and see if you can get a few words outa this guy Hohenzollern."

The managing editor was always intimate like and had the darndest ideas of how far a girl could jump.

"Who, me?" I says to the M. E.

"You heard me, the first time," says the M. E. "Here's a dollar and a half for railroad expenses and meals. You won't be gone more than a month. Of course you may have to bribe some of the guards and slip the police something. Good luck and may heaven protect you!"

* * *

Fortified with this cast sum of money, the enthusiasm of youth and a good pair of heavy walking shoes, I started forth, arriving in Holland eventually, or thereabouts.

I at first applied for a permit at the office of Herr Hogge, who has charge of the booking office which arranges the Kaiser's vaudeville.

"Donner Wetter dublitz guncher Wausen off," he said, which was German for what iknd of a permit do you want?

"A hunting permit," said I.

"To hunt what?" asked Herr Hogge.

"To hunt the Kaiser," I replied.

Herr Hogge butted his head against the office safe, ruining that article completely. He was in a great temper. From what he said I gathered it was not the open season for hunting kaisers. I left hurriedly, followed immediately by two huge steins and an umbrella stand.

* * *

Can you imagine my feelings? Probably not. Here I was a young girl reporter, far from home, with only a small part of my expense money left and no nearer the Kaiser than ever. My first impulse was to wire the interview with the Chief of Police or the President of the Board of Aldermen on the crime wave or the 8-cent fare wouldn't do just as well. I knew every community had such issues before it.

Finally I decided to hunt the Kaiser or die in the attempt or both. I approached the forest. A great wire fence surrounded it. The Crown Prince must be inside, too, thought I, else why this employment of the netting usually used to keep out chickens?

I ran up and down the fence four or five miles looking for an opening. I tried to scratch a passage under as I had seen hens do at home. In desperation I tried to climb over the netting, but was intercepted by two guards who upbraided me for waking them up and warned me that if I intended to get inside I must do it quietly.

Finally I found a gate. It was open. Eighteen members of the Royal bodyguard were stretched across the road asleep. I stepped over them carefully. But success was not within sight. I had yet to find the Kaiser. I detected large footsteps, but followed them for miles without results. There was no way of telling whether they were fresh. Oh, if the city editor had been along! He would have known! He would have known!

* * *

At last I heard footsteps. Coming up the path I saw a portly figure. It was cloaked in grey. Ah, those sharp eyes, those eyebrows, those nose!

He seemed to have aged.

His hair was tinged with grey and his shoulders were stooped.

How could I attract him? I had failed to bring a book of directions. There was not time to rush to town and buy a copy of "Hoyle's Rules for Hunting Kaisers." Suddenly I had an inspiration.

"Ahem! Ahem!" I said in my sweetest tones.

The figure stopped. I heard it murmur with a twinkle, "Ahr, a lady's voice!"

His moustache shook.

His beard shimmied on his chin.

He did several steps of a buck and wing dance, turned, espied me and said sternly: "Ah there, sweet pastootie!"

"And many of them," I returned.

* * *

This broke the ice right away.

"And where are you going, my pretty maid?" he asked.

"I am going milking, sir, she said," I replied, thinking of the old nursery rhyme.

"Vass iss loose?" he remanded.

"I have spent twenty-eight days footing your dogsteps," I said. "At last I have found you. Prithee, do not turn me aside, I crave an interview."

"Shoot," he invited. "What do you wish me to talk about?"

"Do you ever think of the past?" I asked.

"The past," he replied, giving whispers a couple of extra shakes. "Ah, the past was beautiful, but now it is all a wonderful dream!"

* * *

I was so delighted words failed me. The realization that I had completed a successful newspaper interview left me speechless. There was nothing to do but stand there like a fool and wonder why his beard didn't stop shaking.

He was the first to break the silence.

"You must pardon me," he said, "but I must go—I've got to deliver this order of liverwurst at His Excellency's cottage by 8.30."

"But are you not His Excellency—are you not Wilhelm?" I demanded.

"Hellno," he returned. "I am the village delicatessen dealer."

A WOODPILE THAT COVERS 9,000 MILES.

There are forty million newspapers published every week-day in the United States and Canada, and they use a pile of pulpwood four feet high and nine thousand miles long every twelvemonth, says the current newsletter of the Canadian Forestry Association.

The making of the modern newspaper, however, is but one of a thousand services performed by the forest. Farming is dependent upon wooden houses, wooden barns, fence posts, and fuel. Fisheries cannot operate without wooden boats, boxes, and barrels. Most of the factories of Eastern Canada depend upon wood supplies in their processes to such an extent that a wood scarcity would effectually close down industrial employment.

The forests of Eastern Canada, therefore, may be regarded as a "keystone" bearing up the arch of industrial employment. This is a phase of forest conservation too often neglected. People usually associate the forests with lumbermen and the paper mill, whereas the Niagara fruit grower and the farm implement factory share the drastic handicaps that accompany forest depletion.

At the present time there is no more insidious enemy to the maintenance and development of industries in Eastern Canada than the annual plague of forest fires. Taking Canada as a whole, ten acres have been stripped of timber by fire to one that has been denuded by the axe.

THE RETURN TO CITIZENSHIP

From the Headquarters United States Army Cantonment, Camp Devens, Mass., the following bulletin has been sent out:

"In the development of the new Army as directed by the Congress and elaborated by the Secretary of War, it is proposed to make a far closer relation between the Army and the civilian than formerly. Without losing sight of the prime function of the soldier, he is now being trained for his return to citizenship as a more useful citizen than at enlistment and better fitted to cope with the problems of living. To this end the soldier's day is divided between military duties, vocational education and supervised recreation. Already men have finished courses in mechanical trades and, at their discharge, have been eagerly sought by the industries. Because of the fact that of necessity recruiting stations are located in the large cities, the young men living in the rural districts have only slightly benefited from the liberal policy of providing technical education for soldiers. In order to open the way for the young man living in the country to have an equal chance with the city boy, the War Department has established a school for teaching practical agriculture at Camp Devens. There is an abundance of arable land, equipment of animals and farm machinery of the most approved type and a faculty similar with the every-day work of the New England farm. The instruction will be of a practical nature, the student first doing the thing and learning the reason afterwards. This is the so-called laboratory method in which the eye is trained to see, the hand to do and the mind to think.

"Briefly stated, it is the purpose of the War Department to annually enlist from rural New England several hundred young men who have not had and cannot obtain a High school education; take them to Camp Devens, Mass.; furnish them with comfortable quarters, good food, well fitting clothing, suitable recreation and thirty dollars a month; teach them the essentials of military life, practical civics and practical agriculture; and at the end of their enlistment return them to their homes better equipped physically and mentally for citizenship, leadership and earning their livelihood on the farm."

TENDENCY TO UNLOAD ALL FARM SUPPLIES.

Grey County Sending Off 5 to 7 Carloads Live Stock Weekly.

The following is a summary of reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Fall wheat on the whole appears to have withstood the unusually bare condition of the fields this Winter better than was expected. Kent County, where about 11 per cent. of the crop is grown, reports that so far the crop appears to have come through unhurt. Haldimand and Huron make similar statements. Simcoe and Peel describe the crop as looking brown but alive. York fears that many fields will be in shape to withstand a bad Spring, while Welland puts the loss already sustained at 25 per cent.

The condition of clover is regarded as being on a par with that of Fall wheat.

Dufferin reports that there is now a general tendency to unload supplies of all kinds. Live stock are being marketed freely, but local farmers are buying verw few to feed. At auction sales, however, which are fairly numerous, there is comparatively keen competition and good prices for whatever is selling.

From five to seven carloads of live stock are being sent off weekly from some of the larger shipping points in the County of Grey. The U. F. O. Co-operative Co. is taking the greater part of the shipments.

Welland says that there is a keen demand for milch cows.

Leeds reports a great variation in the selling price for dairy cows at farm auctions, the figures ranging at from $40 to $170.

Elgin states that the milk supply is falling off, with a good demand for dairy produce. Some farmers there are getting from $2.35 to $2.40 a cwt. by shipping to the cities.

Lennox and Addington report milk selling at $3 a cwt. on the basis of a 3.5 per cent. butter fat test.

Leeds places the price of milk at about $56 a ton.

The Brant representative states that a by-law was recently passed by the Brantford City Council making it compulsory for all milk delivered in that city to be from tubercular-free cows, or to be handled through the pasteurizing plants.

Peel estimates the number of hogs on hand as being nearly one-third less than the average of the last three years.

Norfolk says that fewer hogs than usual are going on the market, while Brant is of the opinion that the supply of hogs for Spring delivery is light. Little pigs are selling around $14 a pair.

Napanee, however, reports that a large number of both hogs and cattle were shipped from Lennox and Addington during the week. Lanark also reports that hogs and butchers' cattle are being marketed freely.

Baled straw is selling in Welland at from $11 to $12 a ton.

Victoria reports that the ice harvest has been on for some weeks, and that cut has been of good quality, as there had been practically no "snow ice" up to the time of reporting.

Notwithstanding the open nature of the Winter, a good deal of lumbering and wood cutting has been done, although most of the cut was awaiting snow for hauling when reports were sent in.

HARDING WANTS NO EXEMPTION FROM THE INCOME TAX LEVY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—President-elect Harding informed Representative Longworth that he did not believe he should receive exemption from paying an income tax on his Presidential salary. Mr. Harding wrote in reply to a recent letter seeking his opinion as to what action the Ways and Means Committee, of which the Ohio Representative is a member, should take on a bill recently introduced to exempt the President from the income tax levy. Under the present Revenue Tax law the tax on the President's salary amounts to $18,000.

President Wilson was exempted from paying the tax under a decision of the Supreme Court, holding that as the Chief Executive and Federal Judges assumed office prior to the enactment of the present Revenue law they were not subject to the tax.

How the Trade Name Fixes Responsibility for Your Fur Purchase

¶ Furs were used by the primitive peoples of the earth, yet people to-day know less about them than almost any other commodity. Even the buyer for a great departmental store with all his special knowledge is likely to order Furs without full consideration of the services expected of them.

¶ Looking back over nearly a life-time spent in the selection, purchase and manufacturing of Furs, we can see what mistakes as well as benefits have been in evidence by the care or lack of care, exercised in purchasing a Fur garment that has certain demands to be made of it, either in wear, style, comfort or continued newness of appearance. This service we can supply to you: — The best qualities of the different species and the best Furs for a given purpose.

¶ When you buy Furs for any purpose, no matter how valuable or inexpensive, you can look at this trade mark and know that you are getting a standard article of known merit according to its representation to you. A guarantee is only valuable to the extent that it's backed up by the spirit of the institution back of it.

¶ Just now we strongly advise the purchase of your present and next season Fur needs. Our "Pre-war Sale" ends February 28th—a sale of Fur garments and Fur sets, based on the "slump prices" on Raw Fur skins five to six months ago. These have now advanced from 20 to 50 per cent. owing to scarcity of choice Raw Furs, and this compels us to advance our prices after March 1st.

BOARD OF WORKS BUDGET INCLUDES DRAIN PROJECT

TOTAL APPROPRIATION RECOMMENDED TO THE COUNCIL IS $90,300, BUT PROPOSED SURFACE DRAINAGE IS ESTIMATED AT $40,000, TO BE RAISED BY SELLING DEBENTURES IF THE RATEPAYERS GIVE THEIR APPROVAL—REGULAR ESTIMATES AMOUNT TO $45,100—MAY BUY NEW WATER AND OIL TRUCK.

In the estimates of the Board of Works, amounting to $90,300, which were passed last night and recommended to the Council, there is a bulky item of $40,000 representing the cost of surface drains to be paid for by issuing debentures with the approval of the ratepayers.

In submitting the budget, City Engineer Parsons dealt at length with the drainage project which largely comprises a 42 inch storm drain to be constructed on Sherbrooke street, from Park street to the creek. It is actually an outlet for the west end section of what is known as the Edison drain reaching from the head of Weller street and winding through Walton, St. Joseph and other streets to the corner of Sherbrooke and Park streets. From that point it originally flowed south on Park street to Rink and thence easterly to the river.

Old Drain Dilapidated.

Built of cedar logs twenty-five years ago, the old drain has broken down in many places and in others it is clogged with debris, forcing the water in the spring and other seasons well up into the street. Last year the Rink street section was rebuilt from Aylmer street to Park street, connecting with a thirty-inch tile pipe from Aylmer street east to the river. But on Park street from Rink street north to Sherbrooke, a twenty-inch tile pipe was laid some years ago under a former administration. This pipe is altogether too small, Mr. Parson said, but instead of building another drain on Park street the present plans call for an auxiliary outlet on Sherbrooke street to the creek. Thus the entire west end drainage will be carried off through the twenty-inch pipe on Park street and through the proposed drain on Sherbrooke street. A further advantage of this diversion will be a receiving main for the surface water flowing south from Charlotte street and emptying into the new Sherbrooke drain between Park street and the creek.

A Logical Plan.

Mr. Parsons emphasized the point that this work is the logical method of laying out a drainage system for the entire west end. One outlet is now complete, but its capacity is altogether inadequate. To build drains in any other sections of the west end without providing a sufficient outlet would be working from the wrong end, he contended. If the Sherbrooke section is laid this year, another link can be added next year extending directly across Bolivar, King and Charlotte streets. When Charlotte street was paved an 18-inch pipe was placed across the street in order to avoid tearing up the pavement whenever the drainage system is extended. By following this programme the old Edison drain could be completely rebuilt in probably three years up St. Joseph's street and crossing Gilmour street and Homewood avenue, and carrying on to Walton and thence up Weller street to its natural course. The system has been planned to take the water not only from the present west end of the city but also from the area across the boundary which will eventually be incorporated with Peterboorugh.

Estimated at $33,000.

The drainage outlet on Sherbrooke street from Park Place to the creek is about 2,000 feet, and the estimated cost is $33,000. Mr. Parsons said that the cost of rebuilding the Edison drain would run close to $100,000.

Ald. Crowe urged that drainage be provided at the corner of Downie and Brock streets, and Mayor McIntyre had another short section on London street for consideration. Hence the estimated cost of the drainage work proposed for this year was increased from $33,000 to $40,000. A by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers for the borrowing of this sum, and the City Engineer's programme depends upon that vote.

May Buy a New Truck.

Edward M. Dugan, representing the Beaver Motor Truck Corporation Ltd., of Hamilton, explained to the Board the advantages of a combination motor truck which can be used for oiling, watering and flushing the streets. It is equipped with two removable tanks, one with a capacity of 450 gallons of oil and the other 500 gallons of water. The liquids are forced through sprayers by a centrifugal pump driven from a sproket on the rear axle. The tanks can be exchanged in ten minutes, the operation simply being the lifting of them with a pulley arrangement, and taking off and putting on of four nuts. Mr. Dugan stated that it was a one man job. If desired, both tanks may be laid aside and the chassis fited with a rack for general trucking purposes. The Beaver combination truck, he said, would save the city $3,725. It could be used at night or in the early morning for flushing the streets and then put to oiling the roads during the rest of the day. It would take care of both the road oiling and pavement flushing and in the latter work would make the city's streets cleaner than ever with less sweeping.

Will See It First.

The committee discussed the features of the Beaver truck in detail with Mr. Dugan, but were unanimous with Mr. Parsons in withholding a decision until they had a chance of seeing one of these trucks.

Mayor McIntyre, Ald. Whitehouse and Mr. Parsons were given plenary authority to buy a Beaver truck if, after seeing one they were satisfied with it. Mr. Dugan stated that the city's order could be filled in thirty days.

TORONTO MAN ONLY WEIGHED 80 POUNDS

Turan Takes Tanlac and Now Weighs 128 Pounds—Had to Quit Work Two Months at a Time, Now on Job Every Day.

"My troubles had pulled me down from one hundred and forty to only eighty pounds in weight, but it's a fact. Tanlac has built me up to where I now balance the scales at one hundred and twenty-eight pounds, and I am feeling great," was the remarkable statement made by Walter J. Turan, a well-known contracting plasterer, living at 142 Hallam Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

"Yes, sir, before I got Tanlac I was in mighty bad shape. I had no appetite, and my food nauseated me so I could scarcely retain a thing I ate. Gas formed in such quantities that the pressure against my heart made breathing very difficult for me, and when I would lie down at night it just looked like I was going to smother to death. I suffered constantly with constipation, had dizzy spells quite often, and had awful aches and pains all around my stomach and through my back. I was almost a living skeleton; sometimes I had to lay off from my work for two months at a time, and came very near giving up and going to a hospital.

"I heard so much about Tanlac that I decided to give it a trial, and my appetite begin to pick up from the very first, and it wasn't long until I was eating like a bear. The medicine has relieved me of all my troubles. My stomach never bothers me any more, and I never have an ache or pain. My breathing is free and easy. I sleep good and sound every night, and am back on the job every day feeling just fine. Tanlac is the only thing that ever helped me, and I believe it's the best medicine ever put in a bottle."

Tanlac is sold by The Warne Drug Company, Ltd. (Advt.)

POLICE LEARNING SCIENCE OF CRIME DETECTION.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Feb. 17—The French police are to go to school to learn the scientific detection of crime. Already at Lyons Prof. Locard is in charge of a municipal police laboratory specially designed to teach the detective force of that city the proper use of all modern methods of reconstruction and identification in criminal cases.

M. Steeg, former Minister of the Interior, has asked Prof. Locard to admit ten picked assistants to his school to undergo a special course of instruction. These students would afterwards go to similar laboratories in Paris and the chief cities of France. They would be crime specialists and skilled chemists able to conduct a delicate analysis quickly.

KILLS OWN SON IN MISTAKE FOR ROBBER.

CHEBOYGAN, Mich., Feb. 18. — Mrs. Ernest Cornell, mother of five children, heard a noise downstairs during the night. Arming herself with a revolver, she descended to the dining-room. There she saw a man bending over the silverware drawer.

"Hands up," she cried. The burglar darted for the door. Mrs. Cornell fired. The burglar ran as far as the barn and dropped.

Mrs. Cornell took a lantern and hurried to the spot. She had killed her son, Everett, 26 years old.

SMALL TOWN HOCKEY.

Port Hope Guide:—When towns like Picton, Trenton, Cobourg and Port Hope express their willingness to take chances against towns of a population of eight thousand they show the real sporting spirit, and should be encouraged. Under present O. H. A. arrangements, the teams of the smaller towns win their district, only to be eliminated by a city aggregation. The players and supporters become discouraged, and the result will be that hockey will be kicked in the smaller towns. Secretary Hewitt might consider this question and see if something along the line suggested could not be carried out at the next annual meeting.

LAPLANTE CASE WAS CONCLUDED

JUDGMENT WILL BE GIVEN TOMORROW MORNING—THE EVIDENCE.

The Laplante case heard before County Police Magistrate O. A. Langley was concluded late yesterday afternoon. Judgment will be given on Saturday morning at eleven o'clock. Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton conducted the prosecution and Mr. Ozias de La Plante appeared for the defence.

The Laplantes are residents of Chandos Township. They are charged with having goods in their possession, alleged to have been stolen from summer cottages located at Loon Lake. The goods include bedding, clothing, and cooking utensils. They were recovered by High County Constable A. Moore, following a search made of the Laplante home.

The Evidence.

George Couch, caretaker of the Carnegie Cottage, was the first witness called. He assisted High County Constable Moore in the initial search that was made on January 30th. He identified a red comforter and a number of other articles found in the Laplante home.

Under the cross-examination of the counsel for the defence, Couch could not positively confirm the identification of the comforters found at the Laplante home.

Identified Goods as Laplante's.

James Johnston gave evidence next. He identified most of the goods as belonging to "the house," meaning Laplante's. He did not know where they came from. Some of the goods belonged to him, he said. He identified a pair of black boots and a long pair of hunting boots as his. He bought the latter from a man by the name of "Tom" from Bancroft. The pink sweater which his father said came from the Carnegie cottage, witness said he bought in Coe Hill for his wife. Most of the goods belonged to Laplante, and were there when he went there. The "red" comforter was there, and also a grey suit produced in court. The defendant's counsel went over every article with Johnston, who identified practically all the articles as Laplante's. Asked by Mr. La Plante, he said he was married on July 12, 1920, at Coe Hill. He married Eva Dewey, he said. The same day they went to live with her parenets.

Quarrel With Father.

He had had a quarrel with his father, he said, before the marriage, but he had always been on good terms with Laplantes. After their marriage his father sent all his belongings to him. Mr. Laplante was not home on Mr. Moore's initial visit, but was on the latter occasion. The Laplantes were honest people, witness said. He denied that any goods were ever hidden in the potatoes or in the hay mow.

Hat Was Too Large.

Johnston said he was eighteen years of age now, and would be nineteen on May 29. The green fedora hat in the pile of goods with the letters "R. R. H." in the band, he said, he bought in Coe Hill. He never noticed they were initials, but thought they were "to let the air in." He told Mr. Hatton he wore a 6⅞. The hat was 7¼, and was too large for him when he tried it on in the box.

Evidence of Accused.

Mrs. Joseph Laplante was next called. Mr. Moore had frequently to pour cold water down her throat and bathe her forehead. She said she was weak and ill. She spoke a broken French.

Witness had lived in Chandos for one year. She denied the goods were stolen and brought to her place. She identified practically everything as her's or "Jimmy's," meaning her son-in-law. She hid nothing about the house, she said.

Took Everything.

She did not remember whether the goods in the court-room were taken by Mr. Moore on his initial visit or not. She said Mr. Moore took everything, no matter who owned it. The High County Constable didn't leave a towel in the house. Much of the goods were given her by "Johnny Ruttan," a deer hunter.

The husband, Joseph Laplante, next examined, denied stealing any of the goods, and he said he could not recognize any of them as he didn't bother with household matters.

U.S. OPPOSED TO HONORING AN UNKNOWN SOLDIER.

PARIS, Feb. 18. — The United States graves registration service expressed itself as opposed to the selection, at present, of the body of an unidentified soldier from the United States war dead in France for removal and burial with honors in the United States, should Congress enact legislation to this end. The reason is the constant reduction in the number of unidentified and the hope of the eventual identification of almost all of them through teeth charts which are being sent to Washington and compared with the records.

EXTENSIVE RAIDS IN DUBLIN.

(Canadian Press.)

DUBLIN, Feb. 18.—The most extensive series of raids as yet carried out in the city of Dublin began early this morning. One thousand troops participated, being equipped with motor lorries, machine guns and armored cars. The district around Mount Joy Square and the approaches to that section of the city were barricaded and machine gun posts were established. A close search for arms was instituted, and the extent of the preparations made for the raid indicated that there was no expectation on the part of the authorities of finishing it quickly.

Four civilians were killed in a skirmish with an Essex regiment patrol near Kilbrittain, County Cork, Wednesday night, it is said in a despatch received here.

Keep This Ready.

Peach Fritters.

Mix together a cup of flour, a tablespoon of making powder, one beaten egg, and a quarter of a cup of milk. Then add six halves of peaches, either cooked dried ones, or canned, cut in pieces, and a little salt. Drop by spoonfuls into deep, boiling, hot fat, and fry.

Outwitted the Judge.

The juryman ran breathlessly into the court.

"Oh, my lord," he exclaimed, "if you can excuse me, pray do. I don't know which will die first—my wife or my daughter."

"Dear me, that's sad,' said the innocent judge. "Certainly, you are excused."

The next day the juryman was met by one of his fellow-jurors, who in a sympathetic voice asked:

"How's your wife?"

"She's all right. Why do you ask?"

'And your daughter?"

"She's all right, too. Why do you ask?"

"Why, yesterday you told the judge that you did not know which would die first."

"Nor do I. That is a problem that time alone can solve.

HOW TO MAKE BATH WATERS

The bath is one of the most valuable aids to beauty. Long, long ago its virtues were extolled by famous beauties, while in these strenuous days its efficacy is acknowledged by every woman.

There are, of course, many different kinds of baths, and delightful waters are frequently added to them to increase their soothing or refreshing qualities. If you are very weary you will find an infusion of the following added to your bath water, will prove exceptionally soothing:

A Fragrant Bath Water.

Violets	2 handfuls
Dried primroses	2 handfuls
Elder blossoms	2 handfuls
Rose leaves	2 handfuls
Lavender	2 handfuls
Rosemary	2 handfuls

Put these in a bag made of muslin or cheese cloth and soak them for half an hour in boiling water. Add enough cold water to make the bath lukewarm.

Another excellent formula for a bath may be compounded as follows:

For a Refreshing Bath.

Barley	½ pound
Oatmeal	¼ pound
Fine bran	½ pound
Rice	½ pound
Pulverized lupine seeds	½ pound
Bicarbonate soda	2 ounces
Borax	2 ounces
Lavender flowers, dried	¼ pound
Thyme	¼ pound
Bay leaves	¼ pound

Boil these in a sufficient quantity of water—preferably rain water—for one hour. Strain very carefully. When your bath is ready, mix two quarts of this with the water, and you will find it most refreshing.

To keep your skin in good condition it is essential that you bathe frequently. Of course, the kinds of baths best suited to the individual must be decided by herself. Some people find the cold plunge is too much of a shock. If so, the an all-over sponge bath should be substituted.

As the skin is really a huge respiratory organ the daily bath is essential. Through the myriad pores of the skin all impurities are exuded and removed when you bathe. However, unless you are very full-blooded, hot baths should not be taken more than twice a week. It is advisable to take a tepid bath every day. This is best done in the evening, and in the morning you should take a cold shower, plunge or quick sponge with cold water. A brisk rubbing with a rough towel after the bath is an excellent aid to the circulation.

To keep your skin in the best of condition you should take a soapy bath at least once a week. You will get good results if you fill your bathtub with soapy water. Let it be about forty-eight deg. Fahrenheit. Before you step into this rub your body and limbs well with a lather made of pure soap. You can apply this easily with a sponge or even with your hands. Remain in the bath five minutes.

Now empty the tub and fill it once more with warm water. Rinse yourself thoroughly in this and gradually add more water until it is almost cold. You will be greatly refreshed if just before you rub yourself dry, you give your body a gentle sponge with tepid water to which you have added a little aromatic vinegar.

A good proportion is to use one teaspoonful of the mixture to one and a half or two pints of water. The water should be scarcely warm when you apply this after your bath. If, however, you wish to bathe your face at any time during the day you may mix this with cold water.

Aromatic Vinegar.

Tincture of benzoin	10 grains
Acetic acid crystallized	50 grains
Cologne water	940 grams

Never use the vinegar with soap as this combination may cause a formation of acid fat which will be very irritating to your skin. However, when you have rinsed all the soap from your body and apply this as suggested, you will find it quite stimulating.

TO-DAY'S FASHION

Chinese Embroidery Adorns Little Sister's Navy Blue Frock.

Always practical is the navy blue serge frock. However, the smallest child is always responsive to the pretty touch of color that enlivens the plainest dress.

This charming frock is fashioned from a finely-woven navy blue serge. The style is exceedingly simple, as two apron panels make the back and the front of the dress. A little fulness is set in the sides, so the child has plenty of room for the most strenuous exercise. Bands of beautiful Chinese embroidery—in which shades of blue and gold predominate—make an effective decoration that will please the most exacting little maiden.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D. Commissioner of Health, N.Y. City.

It is not an easy task to determine the exact cause of every human ailment. Many old-time mysteries, however, are now explained by the theory of focal infection.

It is believed that at some central point, or focus, there is pus formation or germ growth. From this focus radiate lines of attack against every part of the body.

Perhaps the most common example of focal infection is the trouble in distant organs due to an abscessed tooth. The trouble with the tooth may be so slight as not to be noticed by the patient. Trifling as such a condition seems, it is believed that a focus of this sort may seriously and even fatally affect the victim.

Sometimes theories of this kind are "overworked." The history of medicine is marked by the transient popularity of various fads. It may be possible that the present enthusiasm over dental infection as a cause of human ailments will be laughed at in the future. But, in the light of present knowledge, it seems abundantly proved that any focus of disease may affect the entire body.

Some of the diseases traced to focal infection are heart disease, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries; neuralgia, neuritis, headache, rheumatism, certain eye diseases, ulcer of the stomach, disease of the gall bladder, appendicitis, diabetes and even disease of the brain.

This is a long list, but it must be understood that focal infection is one of many causes for these diseases. Furthermore, it must be understood there may simultaneously exist one of these diseases and a local infection without there being the slightest relation between the two conditions.

A famous doctor studied the problem for two years and carefully examined each patient entering a great hospital fromconditions due to infection in the mouth.

The importance of focal infection cannot be overlooked. Every obscure ailment and symptom should be thought of as due to such a cause. You will help your doctor a great deal if you give some study to this possibility before consulting him about some uncommon condition for which there is no well-defined reason.

Let us be reasonable, however. There is no excuse for pulling every tooth, and taking out every tonsil, or operating on every nose, just because a focal infection is sometimes located in one of these organs. There are means of finding out, after your suspicion has been aroused. Never sacrifice a useful organ unless there is abundant reason for doing so. But sometimes the relief of pain is little short of miraculous when the focus of infection has been removed. You may be made a new person by such treatment.

HOME MAKING HELPS

Have You a Dutch Shelf to Ponder Over?

To have or not to have a Dutch shelf in the modern house dining room—that is the question under discussion today. Its decorative value hangs in the balance. In its native land the shelf had a meaning; it topped a settle, filled in an odd wall space, ran from top to top of doorways, and it held rare old stems, shining copper and brass measures, plates and candlesticks which were the envy of all beholders.

Here, in America, the poor little shelf chases itself all around a room, from eighteen inches to a yard below the ceiling, and just dares you to put anything upon it that won't bear close inspection in other places—and most people take the dare. No wonder, as we go from house to house and from apartment to apartment looking shelfward, that its fate hangs in the balance. We think, then go home and look critically at our own shelf—for few of us renters escape its possession. Finally, on the steps of the kitchen ladder we rise to a decision.

The Japanese claim that it calls for a prodigious amount of appreciation to enjoy the constant sight of even a masterpiece, while a limitless capacity for artistic feeling must exist in order to live in the midst of the color and confusion of things with which the people of the western world surround themselves. Better the abode of vacancy than that of constant confusion. What must they think of our Dutch shelves?

They avoid in all things repetition—for instance, if there are living flowers in the room don't hang a picture of flowers on the wall. If you are using a round kettle on the tea tray let a pitcher of angular shape bear it company, and under no conditions should a teacup of black glaze associate with a tea caddy of black lacquer, no matter if it is relieved by a decoration of good or silver." If a handsome bronze is placed on a mantelpiece, don't put it in the exact centre flagrantly to divide the space into two distinct halves.

One more abomination to people of the Orient is to try to converse with a man, sanely and sensibly, whose full-length portrait hangs just behind him, staring fixedly until the wonder grows as to which is real and which the fraud. They also are at a loss as to why pictured victims of chase and sport, and elaborate carvings of fish and fruits adorn our dining rooms, while the shelves hold a display of family plates that remind them of those who have dined and died.

Sitting on the top of the stepladder and conning this wise philosophy of decoration, we look at the shelf again, and are surprised at the subtle Japanese understanding. Then we begin to look coldly, critically at the occupants of the shelf, and begin to weed them out. Our first thought is "Ugh! how dusty and unsanitary this shelf is!" Then we marvel at the amount of things there is on it. Then everything comes down. The laundress takes her pick, the trash barrel gets its quota, the shelf is washed, and perhaps a dozen picked treasures go back upon it in state—at prescribed angles on its length.

Is it or is it not decorative? In most instances it is not. In artistic homes, where, perhaps, just the right things are purchased for the shelf, it does not offend good taste, and is decidedly decorative, but in other places, where ugly-shaped things, often too wide and bulging over the edge, things that are too tall, cracked pitchers, mended plates, and other modern antiques are used, the shelf becomes an eyesore. We, who live with an ugly shelf, get used to its enormity, and don't look up at it except on cleaning days, but to the artistic visitor who looks at it for the first time, and is, perhaps, waiting while the hostess puts a finishing touch to her toilette, thus having time to realize its awfulness, it must be an astonishing achievement.

Decorators say the shelf cuts off the top of the room, lowering the ceiling while it heightens the window frames in effect, so that it is very hard to make the effect of the whole harmonious. A broken line is much easier to work up to, and is much richer in suggestion. When a pink room is planned, the ceiling shading from the shelf to a pink cream, and some one comes along and sets a vase of lobster hue on the shelf where the light falls full upon it, away goes the harmony, and discord reigns. It looks as though the cause was lost and the shelf would have to go. But don't be discouraged about yours, for there may be extenuating circumstances, as it may still be saved.

THE HOME KITCHEN

Five Ways to Economize in Using Lamb.

In buying a leg of lamb it is wise to select a short, thick one, weighing from six to seven and a fraction pounds. Let the butcher cut out the bone to the first joint, fold over and skewer back to the flap, then crack the bones for the soup pot, remembering they are purchases at the same price the meat costs. Do not allow the butcher to trim off any fat after the meat has been weighed, as it is valuable to the purchaser, and should not go to enrich the butcher's scrap barrel.

Many people have the leg boned and rolled. Thus, it is easier to carve, but it seems to lack flavor after cooking and not to go as far. Besides, most of the fat is sacrificed in this way. Only the skin side of the meat should be washed off before preparing it for cooking. After washing, the skin should be scored, dusted with pepper and salt, placed in the rack of the dripping pan, while underneath a half-inch of water should be put into the pan. Into the water slice an onion, a pepper and a stalk of celery, with four cloves, a bay leaf and a little parsley. Cover the meat and cook evenly one hour, then uncover, baste frequently, and cook until done. Keep the water in the pan at about the same height, and when the meat is done, and lifted, strain and thicken this dish gravy, adding to it six seeded raisin and half a thinly sliced lemonwith the seeds removed.

The second day warm the meat in a double roasting pan, but do not cook it any more. Warm the gravy to serve with it.

For the third service strip every atom of meat from the bones, warm the meat in the remains of the gravy, make a fresh sauce, or fix it in any of the following ways—the bones going into the stock pot.

Lamb Fries.

Line small individual pie plates or large ramekin dishes with plain pie crust. Cut the meat fine, add a grated onion, two finely diced potatoes, a dozen seeded raisins, a tablespoonful of pine nuts, pepper, salt, a tablespoonful of dry crumbs and the meat of one large or two sausages, taken from the case. Fill the pies, add a little lump of butter and two tablespoonfuls of rich stock. Cut vents in the wee top crusts, and bake until the crusts are done, about twenty minutes.

Lamb in Casserole.

Butter a small casserole dish and heap the lamb in the centre, dust with pepper and salt, sprinkle over it three tablespoonfuls of well-washed rice, fill the dish with pared small potatoes and white onions, dot with good-sized lumps of butter, dust with pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, and pour over all a half-pint of tomato stock. Cook in an oven an hour to an hour and a quarter.

Lamb Salad.

Free the lamb from all fat and skin, chop as for chicken salad, add a finely minced onion, and marinate in French dressing one hour. Drain the meat and add a cupful of chopped celery to two cupfuls of the meat and onion, a finely chopped cucumber pickle and a half red pepper, freed from seeds. Wash and cut up a little chicory salad, and toss all in mayonnaise made with mustard—about a half-cupful. Serve in large pepper rings on green lettuce leaves. Garnish with stuffed olives.

Lamb and Liver Hash.

Boil two slices of calf's liver until tender, then chop it fine. Add the liver to the coarsely chopped lamb, two cupfuls, with a piece of butter the size of an egg, salt, pepper, a teaspoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of onion juice, and half a gill of cream. Heat hot, but do not cook, and turn on to slices of fresh buttered toast. Garnish around the dish with teaspoonfuls of currant jelly. If desired, a carefully poached egg may be placed on each portion, just at serving time.

Lamb Stewed with Tripe.

Cut a half-pound of tripe—after washing and drying—into small pieces and add it to two cupfuls of diced lamb. Add pepper and salt, a grated onion, a teaspoonful of chopped pepper, a dozen well-washed capers, and enough milk and water, in equal parts, to cover. Stew gently for ten minutes, then add a lump of butter and continue the stewing for ten minutes more. Add a cupful of rich milk in which two heaping teaspoonfuls of cornstarch have been dissolved. Stir thoroughly, bring to boiling point, and when thickened serve on toast. If the milk boils away too fast add a little.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of 19, and have been going with the boys for three years. There are two boys that I go with now. One, who is only 19, is desperately in love with me and wants me to marry him, and I only like him as a friend.

And the other boy is 22. Both of them have been going with me for nearly a year. I think more of the boy that is 22, but he doesn't seem to think as much of me as the other boy does, although he has proposed to me. I think he has another girl friend whom he likes as well or better than he does me.

BLUE EYES.

BLUE EYES: It seems to me rather ridiculous that a boy should propose to you and care for another girl just as much as he does for you. Aren't you needlessly suspicious? The only answer lies in your own heart, however. Which one do you love? That is the one you should marry.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am very miserable, and I need your advice. I am very much in love with the older brother of my chum, though he is not much older than I am, and goes in a different set. He thinks of me (if he thinks of me at all) as a perfect child. I try to forget him, but find it utterly impossible. LOVESICK.

LOVESICK: You have not told me your age, my dear, so all I can say is that perhaps, soon, you will be grown-up enough for your chum's brother to look upon you as more than a child.

[Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, in care of this office.]

TAKING NAMES FOR THE CITY DIRECTOR

Enumerators are busy taking names from house to house for the next annual issue of the city directory. The publishers greatly appreciate the ready manner in which the necessary information is given. A few names, however, were missed in the last edition, and in order to obviate this in the next issue, would the householder please make sure they have given every name to our canvassers? By doing Peterborough will have the most complete and accurate directory the city has yet had.

Secretaries of friendly societies and any other organizations may have their information inserted in the directory without any charge, by mailing to Donald Grant, Supt. City Directory, 116 Dublin street.

General Strickland Says Reports Are Exaggerated

(Special to the Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).

CORK, Feb. 17.—A very frank statement of the British reprisal campaign against the Sinn Fein, which shows it less cruel than pictured by the Irish sympathisers, but still so drastic as to shock the civilized world is given by General Strickland, military Governor of the martial law area of Southern Ireland. He says:—

"The distriuction of premises or property of people is a thing that nobody likes, but what has to be done when you see your people ambushed and killed in circumstances that the people whose houses are destroyed could prevent?

"The politics of the country are not my business. The work we have to do in Ireland is disliked by every soldier engaged in it.

"But we do not destroy the homes of people because they refuse to give us information, as many seem to think. We do not even destroy houses because an ambush has taken place from them. Often the conditions are such that the householder could give us no warning. It is only where a resident, who refuses to give us no warning. It is only where a resident, who refuses to give information on the ground of Republican sympathy, is known to be of Republican affiliations that we perform such an unpleasant duty."

The General says that the Republican army is being broken up and that its system of communication is now so cut that its efficiency is greatly lowered. He confesses, however, that Republican bands may be able to wage fairly effective guerilla warfare for years.

RAW SUGAR AT NEW YORK DECLINES ¼ CENT.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A decline of one quarter of a cent is the feature of raw sugar here, 50,000 bags of Cubas for February shipment selling at 4¼c, cost and freight, to the American Sugar Refining Company. It was estimated that between 300,000 and 400,000 bags of Cubas, Porto Rico and full duty sugars had also been sold to various refiners on the basis of 4.75 c.i.f. for Cubas, 4.50 c.i.f. for full duties, and 5.77 for Porto Ricos.

According to advices received by sugar interests, President Menocal, of Cuba, has signed a decree which became effective Monday, which provides for the appointment of a committee of five, which will fix a minimum price of 5c and a maximum of 7c for raw sugar. The committee is seeking the co-operation of all Cuban planters and expects that the necessary 75 per cent. needed to make the plan successful will lend their co-operation.

The understanding in Cuba, as reported by cable ,was that all sugars loading or in position for early shipment were not subject to regulations the selling committee may make with reference to export permits or a minimum price, and this probably released more sugar for immediate sale than might otherwise have come on the market.

MILLIONAIRE SOUGHT A REST FROM EATING.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—"I just want to rest from eating."

This was the explanation of Grainger Smith, 71 years old, Waukegan millionaire, who disappeared here several days ago, and for whom a search has been made.

"I was tired of having that nurse tag me around, and with eating because my family thought I needed food," said the elderly millionaire.

He jumped out of his automobile while his chauffeur was busy and disappeared. He said he had been giving his stomach "a rest" ever since in a cheap rooming house.

JAILER WON'T ACCEPT CRIPPLED PRISONER.

Lawrence Crawford, Sentenced For Bootlegging, Would Need An Attendant.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 18.—The sentencing of Lawrence Crawford, of Port Burwell, to prison for six months for bootlegging has opened up an embarrassing question. The trouble is that Crawford is a cripple, having lost the use of his arms and legs, and needs an attendant day and night. Sheriff Elliott is at a loss to know what to do, and, Jail Governor Luton has refused to accept the responsibility of keeping the convicted man. The Sheriff has wired to the Attorney-General for instructions, while License Inspector Ross has wired to Inspector Lannin, at Windsor to come to St. Thomas to investigate the refusal of the Jail Governor to accept Crawford.

PANGS OF HUNGER BREAKS ANIMAL STRIKE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Howling revolution, which broke out several days' ago at Central Park Zoological Garden when horse-flesh was substituted for beef, ended to-day.

Led by a squad of lions and half a platoon of tigers and pumas, the park captives let loose in a vehement chorus of jungle invective when the first piece of horse-meat was poked through cage bars. They fasted, but their hunger strike was short lived.

Convinced that their keepers really want to economize, they ate what may have been the remains of a cab nag, and whined for more.

TWIN CITIES ARE SEEKING SEVEN-CENT CAR FARE

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 18.—Hon. Hardy Mills, Minister of Mines, has been asked by the Cities of Port Arthur and Fort William to sponser a bill empowering the cities to charge a seven-cent fare on the street railway. The Fort William Trades and Labor Council have passed a resolution advising Mr. Mills against such action.

The resolution of the Fort William branch of the Independent Labor Party read as follows:

"That the Hon. S. Mills be instructed not to assist in any way in the introduction of any Bill to raise street railway fares, but to be entirely governed by our resolution of January 20."

This previous resolution called on him to oppose the bill.

Marquis of Cambridge Enters Governor-Generalship Contest

(By W. Orten Tewson, Staff Correspondent of Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).

LONDON, Feb. 18. — Another starter in the race to succeed the Duke of Devonshire as Governor-General of Canada, appears in to-day's betting in London clubs, in the son of the Marquis of Cambridge, brother to Queen Mary. Never before has so great an interest been taken in the Canadian Vice-Regal race, which goes to prove the prominent position Canada holds to-day in the British Empire.

The favourite is still Lord Desborough, although Lord Burnham has many supporters, but the odds against Lord Burnham were lengthened considerably since Lord Northcliffe's practical joke against his formidable Fleet Street contemporary, which seems to have been taken a little too seriously. As a matter of fact, Lord Burnham would be making an almost impossible sacrifice, from the Daily Telegraph point of view, if he accepted the Governorship, provided the Canadians asked him as to his personality and ability, especially in these lean and competitive Fleet Street days, would mean much to his paper. Since Lord Burnham's return, he seems to be obsessed by Canada's future, while Lady Burnham is equally enthusiastic. But one thing is regarded as sure, and that is that Canada will ask whom she pleases and she has a fine picking.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

CABBIES VANISHING.

KINGSTON, Feb. 17. — At the present time there are only three horse-drawn cabs on the cab stands in Kingston. The three cabbies, who are still on the job, are Charles Diamond and the Gallagher brothers. Years ago there were about 50 cabmen.

DOING NICELY AFTER HIS OWN OPERATION.

Dr. Kane Says He Will Make Statement of Interest Later.

KANE, Pa., Feb. 18.—Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane, the sixty-year-old surgeon of this place, who removed his own appendix in one of the most remarkable surgical operations on record, spent a comparatively easy night and sent word from his bed-side today that he is further on the road to recovery than is usual the day following an operation for the removal of the appendix.

"Just say that I am getting along all right," said the doctor through his nurse. "Maybe, a little later on, I will have a statement that will be of interest."

It was stated that Dr. Kane since the operation has dictated a number of letters and given directions regarding the conduct of his personal affairs and practice.

EMMA GOLDMAN DARED THE SOVIET GOVT.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—In his account of the funeral at Moscow of Prince Peterofskin, Russian author and revolutionary leader, the London Moscow correspondent says that some of the speakers used the occasion to criticize the Russian Bolshevik Government. Particularly bitter, he adds, were the Anarchists, but the Social revolutionaries also spoke freely.

Emma Goldman was among the funeral orators.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

CREATE GAS, SOURNESS AND PAIN ---HOW TO TREAT

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids, and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas, or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take, and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people, who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

HAPPY EVENING WITH NASSAU ORANGEMEN

BASKET SOCIAL ATTRACTED LARGE NUMBER OF VISITORS FROM CITY.

One hundred and fifty or more took in the basket social at Nassau Orange Hall last night, and all report a real happy and jolly time. The event was under the auspices of L.O.L. 457, and visitors from this city were given a free ride to and from the hall of entertainment. Many attractively decorated baskets, full of tempting and dainty delicacies, were contributed by the ladies. These baskets were auctioned off by Bro. F. Sanderson, who succeeded in running some bid up to very respectable figures indeed. Mr. Bart. Lockington won the prize for making the highest bid on a basket. Adjutant Buntin of the Salvation Army, with his capable chairmanship and exceedingly fitting address and humor, contributed in no small measure to the pleasure of the evening.

Musical Programme.

The following numbers comprised a very acceptable concert entertainment:

Vocal solo, Miss Beavis; saxaphone quartette, Salvation Army officers; Scotch recitation, Wm. Grieves; vocal solo, Miss Donnelly; violin solo, Miss Calder; vocal solo, Miss Wade; piano solo, Master Norman Sargenson; cornet solo, Frank Robinson; comic vocal, Miss Donnelly; saxopohne quartette, Salvation Army officers.

The happy evening concluded by singing the National Anthem.

"The greatest evil to the Church of God is King Alcohol. Not only is it the enemy to the progress of the Church of God but it is the enemy to all aggressive civilization." He dwelt on the findings of medical men that alsohol was not a food; it was a poison. They agree that it is no remedy to disease. The liquor question he termed the most vital and most responsible social question in a democracy, and especially a young democracy like Canada. He emphasized the need for an active participation in the campaign by every believer in temperance. If necessary, he said, business men should give up their business to work in the cause.

Alcohol a Poison.

Alcohol is a poison, he said. It destroys the body cells, lowers vitality and disease finds easy victims among the liquor adicts. Bartenders, saloonkeepers, liquor manufacturers are all the creation of our civilization, and having established them, the task, he said, was now to disestablish this class, with which personally he had no quarrel. Murder and suicide are the results in most instances of alcohol and ruined homes follow in the wake of the liquor traffic. "Let us treat the disease, rather, than the symptoms, for an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," he said. The speaker assured them that the beer and wines do as much harm as the stronger drinks, this fact being illustrated by the breaking down of the old world empires when the "juice of the grape" was the only known drink. Summing up everything—Brutality, criminality, immorality and mortality were caused by liquor.

Dr. Grant denied that prohibition did not prohibit if the law was applied properly. Prohibition, he said, without fear of contradiction, had been a success. Personal liberties will have to be sacrificed, as they have been before, for social betterment of the world. Now is the time to wrestle successfully with the liquor monster, and he urged every person to put forth a stupendous effort to carry the Referendum overwhelmingly.

ONE OF THE WORLD'S NOBLEST HYMNS

The hymn that gives to those who most need at the time they most need it, the assurance of help and comfort from a higher power, will surely rank among the world's noblest hymns. This is the type of hymn in "Come Ye Disconsolate." Miss Garrison is singing with such perfect and unconscious art this month, and is represented in the Victrola records that may be had from Ye Olde Firme Heintzman and Co., Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterboro.

JAPS SAY CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS HAD BEEN USED AS SINK-HOLES OF INIQUITY.

Regret That Some Innocent Koreans Had Been Shot Without Trial, But Not Possible to Tell Insurgents From Others.

(Canadian Press)

TOKIO, (By Mail)—The text of a letter written to Canadian missionaries in Chientao, China by Colonel Mizumachi, chief of a Japanese military mission, which was sent to Chientao to investigate "diabolical deeds in indiscriminately shooting the Korean Christians in that district and burning their schools, churches and homes, has been received here.

It says that Colonel Mizumachi not only warned the Canadians against giving any assistance to the independence movement or anti-Japanese sentiment in Korea as has already been cabled, but that he informed them "that such malicious acts would be detrimental to friendly relations between Great Britain and Japan who are now allied by treaty."

Draws Comparisons.

The Japanese investigator called the attention of the Canadian missionaries to what he described as "an undeniable fact that there are numerous different peoples in your own dominions who frequently plot rebellion against your government, such as the recent non1-cooperation movement in India." He declared that Great Britain and Japan were in similar positions in having racial troubles and that therefore "it is advantageous to us both that we should co-operate from our heart of hearts, strictly refraining from any words or action which may cause harm to either country."

In warning the Canadians against giving assistance to the Korean independence movement, Colonel Mizumachi said that if they did not refrain from doing so, "the Buddhists in Japan would be able to find a legal reason for giving anti-British assistance to those behind the non-cooperation movement in India. The same thing may be applied to the Irish problem," he added.

Jap Was Insolent.

The Japanese colonel adopted an insolent tone in his note, saying in one part of it that "the utmost care has been taken since the commencement of operations (in Chientao) that innocent citizens should not be killed, such as General Dyer did last year at Amritsar, India.'

The Japanese Foreign Office has since disavowed responsibility for the sentiments expressed by the Colonel, declaring that it had no knowledge of the latter and that it was the work of one man.

Colonel Mizumachi endeavored to persuade the missionaries that it would be advisable for them to support the attitude of Japan toward Korea. He told them in the letter that if they refrained from interfering with any political matters, devoted themselves strictly to religious work and to efforts in cooperation with the Japanese authorities to educate the Koreans to be loyal subjects of Japan, he would assure them of the aid of the Japanese government and people.

Co-operate or Not.

"Thise rise and fall of your work in and out of Korea depends solely upon whether you will cooperate with the Japanese government or not," he wrote.

The Japanese investigator expressed regret that churches and schools had been burned but declared they had been used as "sinks of iniquity" by the Korean malcontents.

Replying to the missionaries' charges that innocent men had been shot without trial by the Japanese troops, Colonel Mizumachi wrote. "We regret that there may have been some innocent ones among those shot but under the circumstances, it has been hardly possible to tell insurgent from innocent. It is unavoidable, that some innocent men might have been executed by mistake. This, however, of course, is against the real will of the Japanese army." Such slow measures as appealing to the established courts or to courts martial were impracticable, the Colonel declared, as many of the accused would escape.

Therefore, he added, the Japanese troops, "executed those insurgents on the spot after a simple trial and after undeniable evidence had been secured, backed by the statements of villagers.'

FRIEND OF LINCOLN DIED SHORTLY AFTER HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Nineteen days after her one hundredth birthday, Mrs. Susan Woodworth, a friend of Abraham Lincoln in the early days, died at the residence of her daughter here. Mrs. Woodworth lived in New Salem, Ill., in 1831, Lincoln had arrived there the year before to run a flatboat for Denton Offut, the village Croesus.

Mrs. Woodworth used to tell of Lincoln's famous wrestling match with Jack Armstrong, and how, as postmaster, he carried the postage stamps under his hat. She was a close friend of Ann Rutledge, Lincoln's first sweetheart.

INQUISITIVE TOMMY.

"Papa," said Tommy Treadway, "Now Tommy," replied Mr. Treadway, "I shall only answer one more question to-day. So be careful what you ask."

"Yes, pop."

"Well, go on."

"Why don't they bury the Dead Sea?"

TAKE CARE OF THAT COUGH

Some people get a nasty cough and don't pay much attention to it, saying, "Oh, it will wear away in a short time," but while it may wear off, serious injury may have been done to the lungs and respiratory organs by the prolonged, harsh, racking coughing.

On the first sign of a cough or cold get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It will stop that nasty, troublesome cough, ease the tightness across the chest, and loosen the phlegm.

Mrs. Wm. Earnshaw, Apsley, Ont., writes:—"Last winter I caught a bad cold, had a sore throat and a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I tried quite a few remedies, but they did not do me much good until I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I feel that "Dr. Wood's" has no equal."

When you get Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, you are not experimenting with new and untried remedy, but one that has a reputation extending over thirty years.

Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 35c and 60c. a bottle, manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WELL-KNOWN SCOTS WRITER'S ADVICE TO THE EMIGRANT.

Regrets That Scotland is Being Deprived of the Very People Most Needed — Canada Wants the Farmer, Not the Mechanic — Emigrants Must Become Good Citizens — Open Door is Past.

Mr. Robertson, the well-known Scot's writer of historical and political articles throughout the British Empire, gives a splendid acount of the conditions relatives to the emigrant entering Canada and United States in the Ayrshire Post, Scotland, as follows:

Best of Scotsmen for Canada.

"I have no doubt that there are many folks in Scotland who are meditating over the possibility of crossing over to Canada or to the United States with the advance of the season. I am not surprised at it. I don't blame them, although as a stay-at-home man, who loves his country and who looks forward hopefully to dying in it, I am sorry to see it being deprived of the very class of people, the strong, the energetic, the enterprising, that it can least afford to lose. But we must take things as they are, and the fact has to be recognized that the outlook in the Motherland is very far from bright. It has not been made a land fit for heroes to live in, as it was promised that it should be. Not many weeks ago I was at a meeting at which a letter was read from an official of the Board of Agriculture, in which it was said that there were many applicants—I am afraid to say how many—for every available holding that there is. Under existing circumstances less than five per cent. of them are ever likely to have their legitimate ambition gratified, so that for the vast majority the prospect of becoming small-holders is very far remote indeed. It is no wonder that so many of them set their faces westward. But while that is so, it is none the less just as well that they should know some of the difficulties that may lie in the way of their emigration. It is not as it was in the olden times when the gates of Canada stood wide open for all and sundry, and when the United States was revelling in the prospect of cosmopolitanizing itself and forming itself into a nation of all kindreds, races, peoples and tongues.

Canada the Same as the Old Country.

"Take the case of Canada first. Just at present it is like the Old Country in this respect, that it is suffering from the curse of unemployment. Many of the newcomers are walking the streets idle; there is no work for them to do. It does not want artisans, industrialists, or casualists; it will take just as much good agricultural labour as it can get, and the agricultural labourer can walk in free and be welcome; but as for the others, read this: 'All mechanics, artisans, and labourers, other than farm labourers, who wish to enter Canada, must possess 250 dollars each in his own right and have transportation money to his destination within the Dominion. Before the new regulation only 50 dollars was required for the immigrant, and now, if he is accompanied by his family, he must possess in addition to the 250 dollars, another 125 dollars for each member of his family of 18 years or more, and 50 dollars for each member between the ages of 5 and 18.' That of itself is a pretty considerable handicap. Before a man with a wife and three or four children can pay his passage to Canada, and from the coast to his destination, and then show the necessary entry money, he will require to have a fair good stock of capital, and if he has managed to accumulate that in this country, there is at least some prima facie reason for concluding that he has done so well at home that he may not be supremely anxious to cross the Western Ocean. On the other hand, it may occur to others that there is a better field for the investment of the capital in the Dominion. These are the very kind of emigrants that Canada may well welcome. They are the very sort also that Scotland can least afford to lose. If they are well worth getting, they are equally worth keeping.

Dominion Selects Her Own Citizens.

"But the Canadian barriers are not all financial by any means. The Government claims the right—and nobody can deny the right to it—to select what sort of citizens it will have, and what sort it will refuse to have. It must have been good, or it will not have them at all. Its doors are closed against criminals, diseased persons, persons guilty of moral turpitude, those opposed to established government, alien enemies who have been interned, persons guilty of espionage or treason during the war, and illiterates more than fifteen years old. Canada will not have men or women who are not willing to become good Canadians. They must be of the proper sort, and if they are not wanted they will not be taken. Before he leaves Europe the immigrant is subjected to cross-examination. 'He is treated as a decent human being should be, but no dilettante theorists brimming over with 100 per cent. sentiment are permitted to interfere with the Dominion's method of selecting her own citizens,' because while 'she wants immigration, it must not be, and will not be allowed to be at the expense of the destruction or threatened destruction of Canadian ideals and governmental fabric.' The immigrant, in other words, must be guaranteed good beforehand, he must be sound in wind and limb, his moral character must be up to the mark, and his record must stand examination. And obviously, no Bolshevists or professional agitators need apply.

The United States' Attitude.

"So far the United States has done nothing legislatively to stay the threatened spate of broken European continentals, and it is unlikely that she will do anything in that direction till the new Legislature meets in March. But Congress is not losing sight of the matter, and the country is obviously determined to have something effective done. The reasons adduced are various. Unemployment is desperately bad, there are more than two millions of industrialists going idle—why make it worse? That is one of them. Labour is afraid that a rush of Europeans would inevitably reduce wages. There is a shortage of 2,000,000 houses for the people already in the States—why accentuate the congestion Medical science is afraid of typhus, of plague, of cholera. And a strong body of public opinion voices the belief that there are more than plenty Bolshevists and agitators in the country already, and that it would be folly and a danger to the State to open the doors to a rush of people easily led into extreme courses. There are various plans, too, for dealing with the danger, and for drastically cutting down the volume of the threatened rush. One is to limit the number of immigrants to 5 per cent. of the number of people from every given country, of the number from the same country already settled in America. Another is to close the ports altogether till the nation has recovered itself.

Open Door is Past.

"Another is to have the immigrants selected in Europe, and only the desirables approved. And the resolve to make the cutting down process universally applicable is enormously strengthened by the consideration that it would get quit of the main cause of the trouble with Japan by arresting the progress of the incoming of the yellow man of whom there are many thousands living in communities in California. While no particular scheme has found universal approval what the intending emigrant will have to lay his account with is that the day of the open door is past, and that he will have to be approved before he can gain admission, and that in much restricted numbers."

Ethel Barrymore will appear next with her brother, John, in "Claire de Lune," written by the latter's wife, whose pen name is Michael Strange.

RICH SILVER-BEARING MINERALS NEAR DAWSON.

Birth of a New Yukon Widely Heralded Within the Past Few Months.

(Canadian Press.)

DAWSON, Y. T. — Discoveries heralding the birth of a new Yukon have been made within the last few months in the Mayo area, adjacent to Mayo City, lying in the upper Stewart River country, 150 miles from the great gold centre of Dawson, according to reports reaching here.

These new discoveries are in silver-bearing minerals, breaking in rare richness and extend from the barren hills forming a spur of the Rocky Mountains. Geologists and mining experts who have visited the region lately say that a zone having every formation favorable to extensive silver lead deposits, runs athwart the Mayo area for at least 25miles in length, by ten miles in width. In this belt there is no question, according to the common conclusions, to the existence of galena in exceptional quantities. Outside of that belt futher discoveries of a similar nature may be made which will extend the silver area of the Yukon definitely, but for the present the zone is considered of sufficient extent to class the Mayo area among the richest and most promising silver regions of the continent.

Lying within the enchanted silver strip which nature has flung across the Mayo area are located to-day no fewer than eight hills or localities in which the previous white ore has been found in unusual quantities, it is stated, and about which extensive staking of claims has taken place. Nearly a thousand mineral claims have been staked on thees properties, the greater number within the past 18 months.

TOO MANY WHOLESALERS.

Wholesale Grocers' Association Being Investigated.

TORONTO, Feb. 17.— That there are too many wholesale firms in Canada at present, and he objected to new firms being organized, also that if a wholesaler cut the price he was reminded that a cut by a competitor and consequent diminution of his profits would follow, were statements made by Vice-President Joseph Ruddy, of the Canada Starch Company, in the trial against the Wholesale Grocers' Association. Jas. Jolly, a salesman for Kellogg's, mentioned firms in Hamilton whom he was permitted to take orders from and others that he had been instructed to ignore.

A Man is just as Young and Strong as his Blood

No man can fight the battles of life and hold his own if his blood is not pure, for rich, red blood is what strength is based upon. When you see a strong, vigorous man, who never knows when he is licked, you may wager that such a man has coursing through his veins rich, red blood. Many people have thin, pale blood. They are weak, tire easily, become discouraged quickly, and sometimes feel like giving up the struggle. Such folks need Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is sold by druggists in liquid or tablet form.

Send 10 cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of the tablets.

BEARD OF THE BOLSHEVIST

By C. K. CHESTERTON

(Copyright by Cross-Atlantic Service)

Perhaps the deepest and wisest word of social criticism uttered in the nineteenth century was uttered by Artemus Ward: It ran something like this: "It ain't so much people's ignorance that does the harm; it's their knowing so many things that ain't so." This can obviously be applied to a thousand things in science, politics, journalism or theology; but the application of it to Bolshevism is the first result of reading again in book form, Mr. H. G. Wells' pointed and picturesque sketches from Russia. Ever since the culture of Christendom was broken up we have suffered from a succession of intellectual bullies. They all of them knew for certain; and they all of them knew wrong. From the Calvinist to the Bolshevist, through the Utilitarian and the Fabian, they were all marked by the double feature that they were put to people with an air of ruthless science akin to brute force; that they were all in theory final and all in fact fugitive. But it is when we apply this to Bolshevism that the fine detachment of Mr. Wells' mind can best be felt. The Marxian may have many fine qualities; but he is the latest of these intellectual bullies. But Mr. Wells is not bullied by Bolshevism; not even bullied into being against us. I fancy this fine shade has been lost by those who think he lets the Bolshevist off too easily. There is a great deal of contempt in his clemency; more contempt than there really was in the humanitarian horror of Mrs. Snowden or the icy disappointment of Mrs. Bertrand Russell. He is more full of the wisdom of Artemus Ward. Indeed, Wells among the Bolshevists reminds me of Ward among the Shakers. I quote again from memory; "You air honest, you air sincere; for all this I give you credit. But—" Mr. Wells is amongst the shakers; but it is not he who is shaken. And any humorist, American or other, might be proud of the delightful passage about Karl Marx and his monotonous beard. This is the true implication of his concession to the Bolshevists of sincerity and a single eye. I suppose Polyphemus may be said to have had a single eye. But he was a one-eyed ogre and the other is a one-eyed monomaniac. And this false simplicity is the very opposite of the full simplicity of the peasant. The greatest of all Mr. Wells' concessions is the one of which he is possibly not conscious. He admits that the peasant is practically untouched by the change. Now the peasant mind has its faults, but it is simple in the real sense. Real simplicity accepts complexity. A child is glad that there are a great many strange animals in the world. A peasant marries, but he does not say everything is sex, like a psycho-analyst. He saves money; but he does not say everything is economic, like a Marxian. Mr. Wells does not deal with this universal simplicity in the peasant which explains his hold on the earth; but he does make vivid the narrow simplicity of the Marxian; and it is perhaps the strongest point in his book.

Mr. Wells Weakens.

Occasionally, I think, Mr. Wells weakens his criticism with an old nominalistic notion of his, that of the denial of generalization; or in other words not seeing the wood for the hollow trees. To vary the metaphor; it is doubtless well to undeceive an old lady who has only seen the sea at Brighton, and imagines that a hard, high-embanked parade, with lamp-posts and band-stands, runs all round Great Britain in one continuous sea-wall. It is well to color and excite the mind of the old lady with visions of quick-sands, of archipelagoes of semi-sunken rock, of sad, salt fens, or hills of silver sand and sea-holly, or every other variety of British foreshore calculated to enrich and enlarge her aged mind. But it would be better for her to believe that the whole coast was like Brighton parade than to lose her sense that the sea in bulk is something quite different from the land. She would but suffer from her enlightenment if she were found next day walking over the edge of Brighton cliff and happily entrusting herself, in a rapture of relativeity, to the waste of waters below; or even devoting her aged activities to the attempt to swim or sail boats on land. The relativist always narrows his mind by looking at the narrow sea-shore, and forgetting the overwhelming proportion of pure salt water, the breadth and supremacy of the sea. In short, oddly enough, the one thing the relativist always misses is relativity. He is so much caught with the fancy that the bearded woman is a link between woman and man, that he tends to forget how very few bearded women there are to link all our lives together. Twice I feel a touch of this old heresy in the new volume; and yet in each case it is in connection with something about which Mr. Wells is entirely and even admirably right. Curiously enough, both connect themselves with the beautiful passage about Karl Marx, the majestic bore with the majestic beard. Nothing could be sounder than Mr. Wells' satire against the mechanical Marxian classifications of bourgeois and proletarian; as if a bourgeois were nothing else except a bourgeois and employed and exploited in his dreams; or as if a proletarian were nothing else but a proletarian and could not be a paterfamilias or a patriot. But even here I feel the shadow of the disproportionate relativity; I feel that Mr. Wells' readers, if not Mr. Wells himself, might read into this too irresponsible a denial of the reality of our economic divisions. Capitalism does exist and the proletariat does exist, as the sea does exist and the land does exist. No wet sands or wavering tidal marks, no complexities in particular economic relations, alter the fact that we are cursed with capitalism, and therefore with proletarianism. Where the Marxian is wrong is that he proves that these things exist by proving that nothing else exists. Whereas we prove that these things exist by pointing to other places where they do not exist, and giving them a geographical outline and a historical origin. It is worthy of remark, in passing, that Mr. Wells tells us that the Bolshevists are in one respect a little bewildered at their own success in Russia. For, according to the Marxian program they ought to have had their first success in an agricultural country like Russia, but in an industrial country like America. This seems to me very interesting; and suggests something about the psychology of industrialism, which some will find reassuring and some depressing. Anyhow, it is true to say that, in spite of all we hear about industrial unrest, there has never yet been such a thing as industrial revolution. There have been hundreds and hundreds of agricultural revolutions ever since the beginning of the world.

Touch of the Unreal.

The only other place where I feel this touch of an unreal relativity concerns the Jewish element in Bolshevism. Mr. Wells admits that returned exiles from Russia worked the revolt, and it was so far Jewish, as he puts it, because most of the Russian exiles are Jews; or, as I should put it, because there are next to no real Russian exiles. But he hastens to add that there are some who are not Jews; that Lenin is not a Jew; indeed I always thought he had, like Tolstoi, all the marks of the mad Russian gentleman. But to talk like this is again to lose the common sense of things in bulk, and of the size of sea and land. It is not necessary to have every man a Jew to make a thing a Jewish movement; it is at least clear that there are quite enough Jews to prevent it from being a Russian movement. But the best test is to take a type in a less ambiguous position. Suppose he found as many Japs as he found Jews, would he not have felt that the Japanese influence was rather unduly extended? Suppose he came on exactly the same number of Young Turks working for Sinn Fein in the town of Cork, would he not be rather surprised? Suppose every German exile in America was invariably found, on closer examination, to be a Chinaman; and all these hordes of yellow men returned to Germany to wreck the German Government; would it be less a Chinese movement because some German faddists might be converted to the philosophy of Confucious? And indeed the question brings us back, with a sigh of satisfaction, to the big, bushy beard of Karl Marx; who is the Confucious of the Russian Yellow Peril. Mr. Wells complains, very justly, that the book of Marx is proclaimed everywhere as a Bible when it is neither more nor less than a bore. Not only is it a piece of thin and third-rate philosophy; but there have been numbers of far finer books explaining the same philosophy. The French Socialists were in the field before him, and made it much more of a battlefield. If Mr. Wells wants to know why Marx has been allowed to parade his beard and his book all over the world, as if he had invented Socialism, the very simple explanation is in that very half-conscious conspiracy which he hesitates or refuses to credit. It is simply because Marx was a Jew and the Jews are in every nation, to advertise him as an international prophet. In short, the ubiquity of the Jews and their temptation to unrest is a big broad fact like the book or beard; and is no more affected by the fact that Lenin has a Kalmuck face than the bulk of Das Capital would be affected if Mr. Wells lovingly made a spill out of the title-page; or than the bulk of that prophetic beard would be abolished merely because Mr. Wells took away and tenderly treasured a lock of the hair.

SHORTY VENO IS IN LIMELIGHT ONCE AGAIN

FREDERICTON, NB., Feb. 18. — There is still another chapter to the eventful career this season of Stanley (Shorty) Veno, the much-discussed Chatham hockey player, who has more than his share of the limelight this winter.

The latest development is that "Shorty" is to figure on the Shoe Trades Association team of Boston, in the United States Hockey eLague. He left Chatham yesterday en route to Boston, and during the past twenty-four hours the wires have been kept busy between New Brunswick and Boston, with demand for information as to the amateur standing of the player and replies to the telegrams. The first hint that Veno was to change the scene of his hockey activities came when Thomas J. Kanaly, representative of the American Amateur Athletic Union wired to J. D. Black, former president of the New Brunswick Hockey League and asked: "Do you consider Stanley Veno an amateur? Wire full particulars."

The reply which went back was to the effect that Veno was an amateur in good standing and had been awarded to the Moncton Club of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League.

DRANK CARBOLIC ACID; NOW DANGEROUSLY ILL

OSHAWA, Feb. 18.—As a result of drinking carbolic acid from a two ounce bottle, Mr. John McBrien, 275 Jarvis street, is to-day lying in the Oshawa Hospital in a serious condition from its effects. Mr. McBrien had been working all day, and in apparently his usual good health. He returned home at 5 o'clock and while supper was being prepared it is thought that when in a depressed state of mind, due to worry, he drank the poison, which caused a drastic result. Dr. Rundle was summoned and he was taken to the hospital. His condition was considered very serious and on information received yesterday he is not improved.

Mr. McBrien has lived in Oshawa for the last five years, coming here from Toronto after the death of his wife six years ago. He has seven children, one girl and one boy in Toronto and three girls and two boys in Oshawa.

Later.—At the hospital yesterday evening the condition of Mr. McBrien was reported much improved.

SOLOMON OUTDONE IN WESTERN COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—Medical jurisprudence has outdone Solomon's renowned test to establish the parentage of a child.

Recently Mrs. Rose Vittori brought an action to compel her former husband, Paul Vittori, to pay for the maintenance of her child. Vittori denied his paternity. Counsel agreed in court to subject the disputed matter to science in the form of a blood test of Vittori and of the child, and Judge Thomas F. Graham announced he would abide by the decision.

Dr. Albert Abram yesterday announced his investigation determined absolutely Vittori was the father of the child.

"I consider that one of the biggest things established by medical science in years," Judge Graham said, and added that the case constituted an important legal precedent.

Chicago Woman Buried Relative Secretly Because Could Not Afford Funeral

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—The body of Mrs. Nancy M. Chamberlain, 91 years old, whose mysterious disappearance from the home of her daughter and grand-daughter in an artist's colony, has been under investigation by the police, was found buried in the back yard of the apartment on Fifty-seventh Street, where the family lived.

Two days of questioning by police brought from Mrs. Ruth Townsend, the aged woman's daughter, and Miss Marion Townsend, her grand-daughter, only cryptic answers, such as "mother is happy in love."

Later Miss Townsend confessed that the aged woman died of natural causes last June, and had been buried by the two women in a flower bed in their backyard in which the aged woman had carefully tended geranium plants.

Dire poverty caused the two women to bury the body secretly. Miss Townsend confessed to Police Matron Mary Dolan.

Dainty refreshments were served during the afternoon and evening, and there was a good musical programme. Miss Thelma Darling and Miss Vida Middleton gave pianoforte selections, and some good phonograph selections were enjoyed by the ladies present.

HOW PROF. MICHELSON MEASURED GIANT STAR.

Greatest Feat Known in Astronomy Achieved by Clever Invention.

How Professor Michelson, of Chicago University, obtained the diameter of the giant star Betelgeuse, by the adaptation of his invention, the interferometer to the telescope, a feat which has been acknowledged as the greatest achievement of modern astronomy, was explained by Mr. C. C. Smith, B.A., D.L.S., astronomer at the Dominion Observatory, in an interesting and informative address on "the size of stars," delivered before the Ottawa branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada in the Public Library.

Mr. Smith described how Prof. Michelson measured the star, which is of enormous size, and 1,300,000,000,000,000 miles away from the earth. The feat was accomplished by applying an invention of his to the Mount Wilson telescope, the largest telescope in the world, which increased the power of the telescope three-fold. Stated simply, the measurement of the star was similar to the measurement of a cent piece placed 400 miles away, with some one shaking the coin.

Seek to Measure Stars.

For years astonomers have endeavored to find some way of measuring the size of stars and a considerable number of sizes had been obtained in indirect ways, based on assumptions as to mass, etc.

Measurements based on suppositions were not very satisfactory, and last summer, Prof. Eddington, president of the Royal Astronomical Society stated that the greatest need of astronomy was for some one to devise a means of directly measuring the diameters of some of the stars.

After describing what had previously been learned of the size of stars referring to the failure of a telescope to distinguish small objects too far away, Mr. Smith stated Prof. Michelson solved the problem by applying the principle of interference, to the telescope.

Describing the application of this principle, Mr. Smith said:

"If we cover up the object glass so that no light can get through excepting through two narrow slits, there will appear a system of bright bands, if the slits are close together. Any one point which sends light to the telescope will enter by the two slits and will give a series of alternately bright and dark bands instead of the image of the object ordinarily seen. The dark bands appear because here the waves of light are out of step and neutralize each other. Now any other point of light gives another series of bright and dark bands. If the bright bands of the two points fall together and the dark bands together the bands will be twice as plain to the observer. If the distance between the two slits be increased, then the bands will continue bright until the slits are a definite distance apart when the bands or fringes will disappear. At this point the distance between the slits divided into the length of a wave of light gives the angular spread between the two lights.

The Methods Used.

"In operation the sides of the star can be substituted for the two points of light and the observer increases the distance between the slits until he sees the fringes disappear, then measuring the distance between the slits he finds the angular measure of the width of the star. Instead of having slits as described, two mirrors mounted on a beam can be used and the light reflected from these into the telescope. Thus, the mirrors can be placed at least 20 feet apart and have the same power as a telescope with a 20 foot object glass.

"This was the plan that Prof. Michelson used in the application of his interferometer to the Mt. Wilson telescope. It seems odd that the measurement of such an extremely small angle should reveal the dimensions of the largest object so far revealed to man. Our sun is itself a star 863,000 miles in diameter. The diameter of Betelgeuse is 350 times that of our sun. But since the mass of Betelgeuse is likely not greater than 20 times our sun, then this giant star must be a fiery globe of gas 1,000 times thinner than our air.

"Prof. Michelson's invention is of very great value, not only in that it reveals the size of the stars directly and accurately, but also in that it affords a check on modern theories of the evolution of stars, of their temperatures their densities and masses."

Dr. Ralph DeLury presided at the meeting which was well attended. Mr. Smith was accorded a hearty vote of thanks. The next meeting will be held two weeks hence when Dr. Henroteau will deliver an address on the size of the universe.

CAN'T BREAK INTO EACH OTHER'S FAIR DATES

Stock Exhibitors not Allowed to Exhibit at Peterboro and Enter at Lindsay on Second Day.

LINDSAY, Feb. 18.—In regard to the question of fair dates for this year, Mr. B. Begg, president of the Ontario Fall Fair Circuit is cited as follows:

"The circuit includes Oshawa, Lindsay, Beaverton Sutton Newmarket and Markham; also Peterboro, providing the latter city holds a three day fair, and not a four-day event. If Peterboro decides to hold a four-day fair the same week as Lindsay, they will have the opening dates in the week, while Lindsay will close with their last two days. The matter of dates, however, was not decided on Stock exhibitors will not be allowed to attend Peterboro Fair, and break into the Lindsay Fair on the second day, instead of the first day. They must either show at Peterboro or Lindsay, or Peterboro will have to continue their fair on to three days.

"Peterboro, Mr. Begg said, knew Lindsay's stand in the matter as he had explained it to Mr. Grandy, who was their representative at Toronto meeting."

THE WEATHER

It was one degree below zero this morning, the first time this month, and one of the few occasions it has gone below zero this winter. A year ago to-night it was fourteen below. There was then over two feet of snow on the ground and some heavy drifts in places.—W. P.

POLICE WANT MUCH LARGER BLACK MARIA

Constable recommended the purchase of a more powerful motor car by the Department, and the appointment of four new men.

Magistrate Dumble opposed both recommendations.

Mayor A. A. McIntyre and Judge Huycke were favourable to the appointment of three men, but Mr. Dumble remained firm, and would only agree to appointing two.

Finally it was decided to appoint two men. The Chief pointed out that the two men were essential to the efficient policing of this city, and that at present parts of the city practically have no protection.

With regard to the car, the police now have, the Chief of Police stated that it was not powerful enough to cope with the requirements of a police force in a city the size of Peterborough. In Toronto they had found that crime—and there is no crime of any account in which motor vehicles are not connected—could not be combatted unless the police department is completely and powerfully motorised. Robberies, holdups, murders are all committed to-day with the aid of the motor car, and the car the force is now equipped with would not stand up under the work a police car is called upon to do. The car required is a powerful, highly efficient, dependable one, and with such a car Chief Newhall believed he could give more efficient police protection although he was only given the two extra men.

In his report he dwelt at considerable length on the need for such a car. Magistrate Dumble opposed the purchase of a new car, and it took a considerable time for the Chief to convince him that a powerful car was needed here, and would greatly help to lessen crime.

The other members of the Board concede that a higher powered automobile was required, and in the estimates that will come before the Council will be an allowance of $1,000 and the exchange on the car for the purchase of a highly efficient motor car fod the Department.

Chief Newhall and Mayor McIntyre were authorised to make an investigation of the exact requirements, and will report to the Commissioners on the car best suited to the needs of by Magistrate Dumble, and seconded the work.

The following resolution was moved by Mayor McIntyre at the meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon, and was adopted:

Lower Speed Limit.

The Board of Police Commissioners of the city of Peterborough believes that a great number of the accidents on the public streets of late years are the direct result of fast and reckless driving of automobiles.

The automobile is very heavy, it is noiseless, and it is fascinating. There are statutory directions for regulating the driving so as to prevent accidents, but they are not observed, hence the collisions and direful results.

Horse-driven vehicles are comparatively light, they are iron-tired, the clattering feet of the horses, and the vehicles give warning.

The automobile is weight, speed, momentum under control of a driver not always fit, but, on the contrary, too often unfit to drive such a Juggernaut.

The speed of the automobile, as limited by statute, was always too great, but, under the last amending Act, is excessive, unreasonable, and dangerous, and under it the number of accidents has greatly increased.

The amending Act (Ontario Statutes 9, Geo. V., ch. 57, section 3) allows within a city, town, or village, a speed "not greater than 20 miles an hour." Unthinking drivers construe the Act as a license to go 20 miles an hour.

In construing a statute, there is always an unwritten term which should ever be held in mind, and that term is common sense, prudence, and a care for the rights of others, the Golden Rule, too often overlooked.

Horses cannot ordinarily be driven beyond 10 miles an hour, and anyone who attempts it will quickly be arrested for furious driving.

Why should the more deadly automobile be permitted to go on a city, town, or village street at 20 miles an hour?

This Board respectfully submits that amendments be made to Section 11 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 2 Geo. V., ch. 48, 1920, that will limit all motor vehicles' movements in cities, towns, and villages to a speed not exceeding ten or twelve miles an hour, with heavy penalties in case of violations.

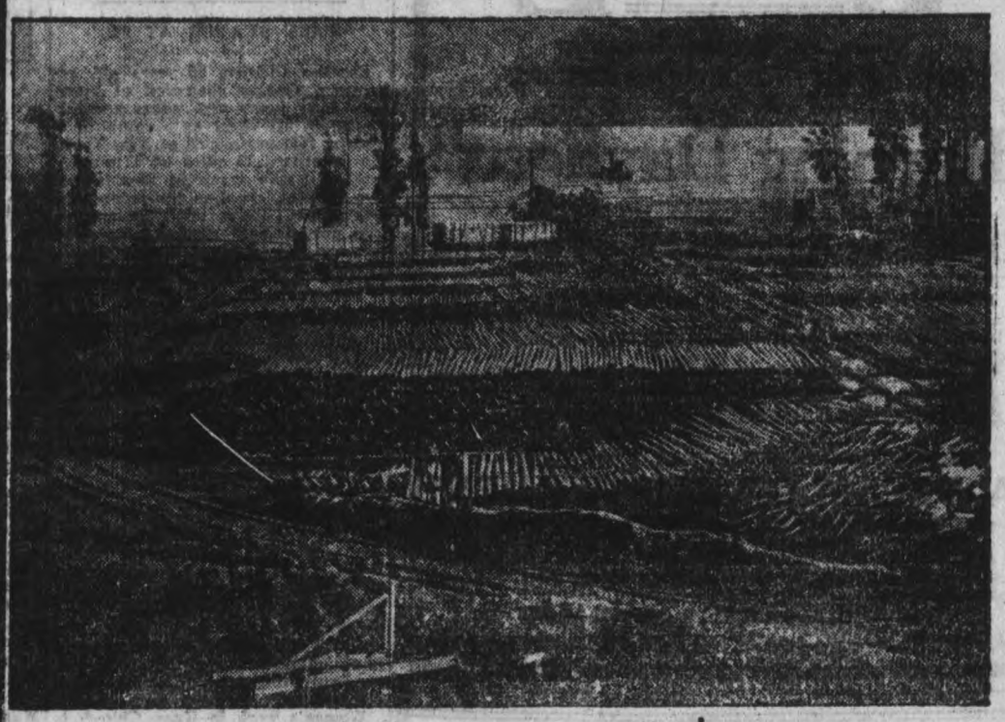
British Columbia's Pulp and Paper



Pulpwood Ready for the Mills in British Columbia.

The birth and development of the pulp and paper industry in British Columbia has been phenomenal. A decade ago not a single ton of pulpwood, mechanical or chemical, was manufactured in the Pacific coast province; in 1919 the total value of the products of this industry amounted to $12,554,257. To-day British Columbia stands third among the provinces of the Dominion in the amount of capital invested in the industry. The surprising rate at which this has grown in the last few years and is continuing to grow, is indicated in the jump effected between 1917 and 1920. It was $22,584,652 in 1917 and $50,000,000 in 1920.

This is a remarkable history of development of what will doubtless become one of the most important industries of the Pacific coast, but it is more than probable that the next decade will exhibit still more rapid expansion. Great Britain and the United States are drawing the greater part of their paper supplies from Canada, and eyes are turned on British Columbia possessing as it does the largest remaining stands of timber in the world suitable for the production of pulp and paper. The province's annual export to Australia already amounts to more than 20,000 tons whilst the demand for pulp from the far east exceeds the present available supply.

Of the 370,370,000 cords of pulpwood estimated to exist in Western Canada, British Columbia is credited with 285,370,000 cords, consisting of spruce, western hemlock, and balsam, whilst for the coarser grades of pulp a certain amount of Douglas fir is used. It should also be observed here that British Columbia is highest among the provinces of the Dominion in the average production of pulp per cord of wood the mechanical process giving an average of 2485 pounds.

To-day there are only seven plants in British Columbia producing pulp — groundwood and chemical — and newsprint. No other industry offers such boundless opportunities of development. In addition to the enormous areas of suitable timber are the tremendous unharnessed water powers awaiting utilization, which are estimated at 3,000,000 horsepower. The temperate climate of the Pacific Coast gives assurance of open harbors the year round, whilst apart from the demand in the United States there is an unlimited market for the product of the mills immediately across the ocean.

This may be instanced from the fact that the entire pulp product of one of the largest mills on the coast goes to Japan for manufacture there into newsprint. Up to the present time the provincial government has placed no embargo on the export of the raw product.

British Columbia is producing sufficient newsprint to supply the whole of Canada, taking the most recent estimates of the annual consumption of 120,000 tons. Figures of the province's output of pulp and paper of all kinds for 1919 were as follows: Sulphite, 80,047 tons; sulphate, 9,473 tons; ground wood, 93,769; paper: newsprint, 123,607 tons; wrapping 7,202 tons. In newsprint production British Columbia stands third among the Canadian provinces.

From the standpoint of timber resources, water powers, climate, shipping, a bright future awaits British Columbia in the pulp and paper industry and the coming decade will see it placed high among the paper producing sections of the American continent.

ANNUAL MEETING CENTRAL LEAGUE

WILL LIKELY BE HELD ON MARCH 8TH THIS YEAR INSTEAD OF IN APRIL.

It is likely that the annual meeting of the Central Ontario Baseball League will be held on the second Tuesday in March instead of on the second Tuesday in April as originally scheduled Secretary Nott of the Central League has written the various clubs proposing the change in the date in order that the League shall be ready for the annual meeting of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association. The Central League meets this year in Belleville.

ASK ENGLAND'S BOXERS TO MEET STATES' BEST

An international tournament, which will bring together the recognized amateur boxing champions of the United States and Great Britain, is being planned for New York early in May.

It is proposed to have the winners of the British Amateur Athletic Association and the American Amateur Athletic Union championhip contests, which are scheduled to be held almost simultaneously in London and Boston, compete for international honors while their titular laurels are still fresh.

An invitation from the officers of the A.A.U., headed by Secretary Frederick W. Rubien, has been despatched to the officials of the British A.A.A. cordially requesting them to designate the winner as the British standard-bearers for a series of bouts against the United States amateur champions, following the national tournment to be held in Boston April 11th and 12th.

RUGBY PLAYERS ARE WORKING OUT

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—The McGill Rugby team will start practices within the next few weeks in preparation for the games next fall. The first meeting of the candidates for the team is being held at the McGill University to-day and they will get to work as soon as possible. The main object of the work-outs will be to give promising candidates a chance to learn the game.

The men who are especially requested to turn out are the huskies weighing 160 pounds and over. There are plenty of such men but they do not have time to learn the game in the short period of training in the fall months. It is quite apparent that Coach Shaughnessy will not allow his ambitions to be a baseball magnate interfere with his Rugby work, and intends to put a heavy line-up of men on the gridiron when the season opens next year.

DRAFT PRIVILEGES DENIED MAJORS

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION ADOPTS SCHEDULE AND INCREASES WAIVER PRICE AND PLAYER LIMIT.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—The American Association has adopted a 168-game schedule for the coming season, reaching a decision on the first roll call for the first time in the history of the organization.

The season will open April 13, the same as the major leagues, and close October 2. Opening dates will be as follows: St. Paul at Milwaukee, Minneapolis at Kansas City, Columbus at Indianapolis, Toledo at Louisville.

Holiday dates were awarded as follows: July 4, Milwaukee at Kansas City, Indianapolis at Louisville, Toledo at Columbus and Minneapolis and St. Paul alternating morning and afternoon. Labor day and Decoration day, Kansas City at Milwaukee, Columbus at Toledo, Louisville at Indianapolis and Minneapolis and St. Paul alternating morning and afternoon.

The meeting will consider a proposition that players be compelled to ride to and from the ball park in busses. Manager Johnny Evers, ofthe Chicago National League Club, recently expressed the opinion that a return to the old-time bus would bring congeniality, better spirit, and more efficient team work among the players.

Several association club owners today said they thought it would be a good plan to make the bus ride compulsory.

The club owners voted six to two against giving the major leagues the privilege of drafting players from the organization.

The association also increased its waiver price from $750 to $2,500, and declared against any recalls. The player limit was raised to twenty from eighteen.

The 1920 pennant was formally awarded to St. Paul. It wis decided to repeat last year's plan of giving a cup to the city which drew the largest opening crowd. The prize went to Toledo last year.

He negotiated 13 miles on a twenty-lap-to-the-mile track in 58 minutes, two minutes less than the record that was sought. NOTABLE TRIBUTES.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—When J. R. L. Starr, K.C., was being tendered recently a farewell testimonial evening on his retirement after more than thirty years service as teacher and superintendent at Bathurst Street Methodist Sunday School in this city, one of the features of the program was the reading of a big package of telegrams of appreciation from former teachers and scholars of the school, now scattered across the Continent from Newfoundland to Vancouver. Two or three preachers, two university professors, the Mayor of one town in the West, a Magistrate and numerous other men and women who have attained distinction, prominence and high honor, wired to the meeting their tributes to the splendid influence of the retiring Bible School teacher on their respective successes in life. Mr. Starr was presented with a handsome address in recognition of his long service.

NEW FAR NORTH FILM AT ALLEN

"Isobel, or The Trail's End," Com- Monday.

One of the most successful film dramas of the day, "Isobel, or the Trail's End," is to be the feature offering at the Allen Theatre to-day. Directed by Edwin Carewe, adapted from a famous story by James Oliver Curwood, and presented by a cast including House Peters and Jane Novak, this rugged romance of the Far North has been the recipient of much praise by critics.

It is an epic of the North, being an artistic narration of the romance between an honorable member of the Royal North-west Mounted Police and the faithful wife of the accused murderer he had sought for nearly two years. His love and the development of this affair is the fascinating high light of the story.

The photoplay is filled with exciting action, combats and suspense. The plot oddly twists but the denouement a logical and convincing.

WINNIPEG KIDDIES

To play five engagements in one theatre in one year is considered a phenomenal theatrical stunt — but it has been done by The Original Winnipeg Kiddies, who are bringing their sensational new revue to the Grand Opera House on Wednesday.

After their fifth engagement in the one city, the leading newspaper said: "Another record has gone to smash—but breaking records is a mere detail in the history of this unique aggregation."

"DARDANELLA"

Local theatregoers, lovers of modern jazz, riotous musical comedy, startling stage pictures, and admirers of beautiful women, should not delay in making seat reservations for the McGregor Company's international success, "Dardanella," which is announced as the attraction at the Grand Opera House to-morrow. The success of the big show has never been equalled in the annals of the stage. Theatres are packed to their utmost capacity nightly. Seats are now on sale.

A MINSTREL SHOW MAKES YOU YOUNG AGAIN

"Lookie! Lookie! Oh boy, won't that be great! I sure want to see that show!"

This conversation was overheard while two boys were looking at the advertising of Herbert's Greater Minstrels that come to the Grand next Monday. What memories that conversation brought back! We were all boys and girls once and have not forgotten the first minstrel parade or show that we ever witnessed and remember what a thrill it was and how at the show we enjoyed the jokes of the end men, the singing, the dancing, the beautiful costumes, the novelty acts and with what precision it all went, and the pep that was put in the performance. It all came back to me a picture of youthful pleasure.

And it is the same to-day only grander and better, and you will agree with me that there is nothing that will give as much relaxation, recreation and amusement as a good, clean minstrel show. Even now when you hear the band play and the parade is coming down the street the spirit of youth is uppermost in you, and you want to be in on seeing all there is to be seen, and once again you are in your childhood days.

The Herbert Minstrels is the largest genuine negro minstrel company touring the contry to-day, and you will enjoy a real treat in music, singing, dancing, novelties and good, clean, wholesome comedy, all dressed lavishly and properly and backed by beautiful stage settings, makes a picture for the eye as welcome as Springtime.

The show that will take you away from your every-day cares and worries and put you down in the Sunny South, driving your blues away with the sweet melodies of the genuine Southern negro. Surely this diversion would please you.

Big free street parade at noon, and the Great Adams will be with it. A surprise for you, so be sure to see it.

Peevish, at Least.

OLD TIME SKATING CARNIVAL WILL BE HELD AT BROCK ST.

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE PETER ROBINSON I.O.D.E. WILL BE A GRAND EVENT.

It is so many years back that a real old time Fancy Skating Carnival has been held in the Brock Street Rink, that many of the present day skaters will look upon the event now as quite a novelty. However the young ladies of the Peter Robinson Chapter I. O. D. E. will put one on in the Brock street rink on Friday evening, Feb. 25th, with all the old time vigor of former years, when one of the best nights of all the winter was the participation in the Carnival as either a Fancy or Comic Skater, with hundreds of spectators in attendance.

A grand list of events, for which prizes will be offered, will be announced in a day or two.

BASEBALL NOTES

New York, Feb. 18.—Larry Doyle, new manager of the Toronto International League team, announced here that his team would train this spring at Columbus, Ga. Doyle said he would play second base on the team, discrediting the report that he would be a "bench" manager.

LOCALS HAVE A GREAT TEAM

FOR O.A.B.A. GAME WITH FAST BELLEVILLE QUINTET ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

Belleville and Peterborough basketball teams will come together in an O.A.B.A. fixture at the Y.M.C.A. gym on Saturday night at eight o'clock, and followers of the game will be treated to a lively contest. The Quinte town quintette carry a squad of clever players, who handle the ball fast, with nice combination. They will use W. Winkle, R. Morden, J. Marshall, J. Alexander and Asa Yeomans as regulars, and will have strong subs.

The local team will take a lot of beating. On the line-up will appear the star performers of the Senior City League teams, including as it will the following well known players: Seeley, Nicholls, Stuart, R. Pogue, T. Pogue, Sutherland, Darling, Brownscombe and Tobbitt. Here is a team worth following. It has speed, combination and shooting ability, and it is the strongest team developed here for some years.

Belleville, Queen's of Kingston, and Peterborough, make up the eastern section of the Intermediate series. Belleville beat Queen's in Kingston. The locals will play Belleville and Queen's next week and the Collegians will come here a week later.

SIXTEEN YEARS' POST-CARD BOMBARDMENT

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

COLOGNE, Germany, February 18—An eldery spinster who alleges that a Cologne solicitor defrauded her of 63 marks in 1904, has written 28,900 post cards to the Chief of Police, between 1904 and the end of 1920—about five post-cards per day.

The persistent claimant numbered the cards consecutively. If the 63 marks were returned to her, it would not repay her expenditure in postage.

JAMES YOUNG IS ACQUITTED WIFE MURDER, KALADAR

JURY OUT FOR FOUR HOURS AND A HALF—LACK OF EVIDENCE.

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 18.—James Young, who has been on trial at Napanee for the murder of his wife, whose remains were found in the ruins of their home at Kaladar, which was destroyed by fire on November 3rd last, was found not guilty by the jury last evening after four and a half hours' deliberation. Young, who is an elderly man, was not joyfuly affected by the news of his acquittal. He looked around in a sort of dazed and helpless manner. There was nothing in the evidence to show that Mrs. Young had been murdered.

The medical evidence for the Crown was to the effect that the hole in the skull was there before the body was burned, but the doctors would not say whether it was made before or after death. Nor was there any identification of the bones found in the ruins. The doctors for the defence would not swear that they were human bones, while the medical interests for the Crown thought the bones were human, but could not swear positively whether they were male or female.

Young was defended by J. M. Simpson, of Napanee.

In the case of arson against Albert Doupe of Centreville, a verdict of not guilty was also entered.

Court to Determine If Some Are Manufacturers.

TORONTO, Feb. 18.— Assurance has been given the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada that the test case instituted in the Exchequer Court to decide the standing of retailers who have been classed as manufacturers in the meaning of the Sales Tax Act will be taken up shortly.

In the event of the retailers being declared not to come within the scope of the manufacturers' classification it is probable that the Government will introduce an amendment to the act to place them in the category of manufacturers. In this case the Retail Merchants' Association will oppose the tax being made retroactive.

The Government has promised to take no action against retailers affected until the hearing of the case. In the event of a decision unfavorable to the retailers an appeal will be entered before the Supreme Court.

A BLESSING IN DISGUISE

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

BRUSSELS, February 18. — The destruction of Belgian property by the Germans during the war has proved a blessing in disguise to many shareholders of Belgian industrial companies.

Many concerns whose property was partly destroyed received compensation to double or three fold the amount of their capital; others, on the verge of bankruptcy in 1914, are now in a state of affluence.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.— Canada is ahead of the United States in having laws to govern aerial navigation, declares the New York Tribune in an article which calls attention to the fact that every leading country in the world with the exception of the United States, has ratified the aerial convention in which is embodied the international code of laws governing aerial navigation which was devised by a conference of the world's aeronautical experts two years ago. This convention was signed by the United States ambassador in Paris, 'with reservations," which meant that it would not be ratified by the United States until the United States' Senate had passed upon it. And the Senate has not yet taken any action upon it.

"The landing of the three naval balloonists in Northern Canada has again brought this important fact forcibly before the public," the Tribune continues. "Canada, having ratified the convention, consequently had the machinery at hand necessary to meet the technical situation that followed when representatives of the armed forces of a foreign power landed within prescribed regions of her territory. Fortunately, the feeling of the surprised host was friendly.

"The laws that must govern aerial navigation are of necessity based upon admiralty laws. They must perforce cover movements of traffic in three dimensions. Moreover, they must meet new customs situations, with attendant smuggling possibilities.

"But it is not merely to regulate flying in any form that aerial laws are needed. The present situation in the United States is highly prejudicial to the natural development of our aeronautical industry, a key industry in national defence. Until such laws are enacted by Congress none of the proposed commercial ventures in the air can well be undertaken."

HOT REFRESHMENTS AT MAY'S SCHOOL DAILY.

The teachers of May's School wish to express their appreciation of the assistance given them, whereby it has been possible to install the euipment for serving hot drinks to the chlidren who stay for lunch. As the number of these is more than one hundred, the problem seemed in the beginning a difficult one to solve. All obstacles have been overcome, and now those who desire it are given a cup of hot soup or cocoa daily in the noon hour.

A grant from the Board of Trustees has opened the way for the teaching of domestic science. This fact will be kindly noted by parents who have wished for the teaching of this subject in school.

BEAVERBOARD NOT BRINGING IN DETECTIVES

OFFICIAL DENIES CHARGES—NOT PATROLLING HIGHWAYS.

(Canadian Press.)

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 18.—"There is no truth in the statement made by Mr. Marsh to Attorney General Raney yesterday that the company had seized the police authority of the municipality and was patrolling the highway with its armed guards," declared Production Manager Pennewell of the Beaverboard Company this morning. "We are not patrolling the highway but merely our own property," he stated, and also denied that any of the comuany's special constables were brought in from the United States. "Every one of our special constables came from Toronto," he said.

REDUCTION OF WAGES IS NOW INEVITABLE.

Decreases in British Isles Already Recorded—Cost of Living on Toboggan.

(Associated Press).

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Labour correspondents of various London newspapers assert the cost of living has declined in Great Britain and that a reduction of wages is inevitable. They report decreases in wages already have occurred in cases where sliding scales of pay were based on the selling prices of the gouds produced.

These wage cuts, however, are mostly in trades which are poorly organized. There is a good deal of speculation among the labor writers as to the attitude of workers in highly organized trades when they are called upon to accept a lower wage, in accordance with previously arranged plans based upon the cost of living.

The Ministry of Labor official figures on the cost of living for working class families show that at the end of December the percentage was 169 higher than in 1914, against the November figure of 176, while for January it was expected to reach 165.

This, while alleviating the lot of the worker to some extent and assisting employers, will not solve the present acute unemployment situation, and many agreements have been come to during the past week or two, whereby workers have decided to go on short time or accept less money in order to avoid a total closing down of works.

The Furness iron masters and representatives of the men's union have met, and the latter decided to accept a reduction of wages from 22 shillings and eight pence to 19 and seven pence a day, so that work may be resumed in the iron mines.

The number of unemployed in Great Britain is given on Labor Exchange books as 859,000, while other authorities place the total of people without work at 1,500,000.

Short time is soon to go into force in the Government dockyards and other Government establishments.

THE DEFLECTION OF MR. J. GAUTHIER

Commenting to-day on Mr. Joseph Gauthier's deflection from the Liberal ranks, Mr. J. H. Burnham drew attention to the following speech made by Mr. Gauthier in the House on March 2nd, 1920. The quotation is taken from Hansard:

"Speaking in my own name," said Mr. Gauthier, "and for my province, I will quote the words of one of our public men who says that the Province of Quebec is not in a state of mind to enter into any conference; it has been misjudged; it has been badly treated; it has been slandered; it is waiting for its hour and after that it will confer but not before."

Mr. Burnham's Reply.

To this statement Mr. Burnham replied in the following terms:

I have been somewhat disturbed by the speech of Mr. Gauthier. As I understood him, by saying—and he asserted that the spoke for himself and his province — that Quebec would not confer until her hour had come and then she would be prepared to confer. If that is what Mr. Gauthier said and if that is what he meant, I would ask him if he intended that as a threat.

To which Mr. Guthier replied—"It is not a threat; it is a declaration."

Mr. Burnham—"The difference between a threat and a declaration, especially a declaration of that kind, is that the man who makes the declaration is afraid to back it up."

Mr. Gauthier—"The hon. gentleman has no right to insinuate that I am a coward."

Mr. Speaker—"It would not be in order for any hon. gentleman to impute cowardice to another. It is a question of construction as to whether that is what Mr. Burnham meant in the present instance, and I can hardly go so far as to place that interpretation upon his words."

Mr. Burnham—"Mr. Speaker, I of course bow to your ruling instantly. I might explain that I was not attributing physical cowardice to Mr. Gauthier; I was attributing to him moral cowardice, something that he himself—

Mr. Speaker—Order. The hon. member has now clearly brought himself within the rule of the order, and his latter remark ought to be withdrawn.

Mr. Burnham—I certainly withdraw the remark, Mr. Speaker. Proceeding then upon a declaration which is not a threat, but which is a full, plain, and explicit declaration by a man who is speaking for himself and his province, as he said, I must say that I am unable to distinguish between his remarks and something of a very warlike threatening character. I do not understand such talk as that. I am an admirer of the French. I like the French— the French of Canada as well as the French of old France. But in these days when we in Ontario have had to stand the Nationalists, when we have had to endure from Quebec every insult under heaven, why should we be subjected to a statement of the most mysterious character, a statement that they would only confer when their hour had come. That means when their hour has struck. Well, if it means that, I can only say, with most infinite regret, that I do not care a brass farthing whether they threaten or whether they do not, for I am confident that we will be able to hold our own with equanimity.

Mr. Gauthier—I may say that we will never confer with the hon. gentleman, for if we did he would not understand.

Mr. Speaker—Order.

NOW WILL YOU BE GOOD?

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, in an address to the National Women's Party Congress here, remarked that it was no business of Congress to supervise the activities of speech of those they represent. This was in answer to Representative Woods' denunciation of the community centres as "hotbeds of Socialism."

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

(Canadian Press).

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Trading on the Stock Exchange at the opening of to-day's session was fairly active but very irregular. Standard rails and industrials were steady to firm, but secondary steels, as well as shippers, motor accessories and oils, were subjected to further pressure. Atlantic Gulf was especially heavy, declining almost two points in the first few transactions. Specialties whose dividend prospects are under discussion, extended their recent losses.

The strength of the leaders in the steel, equipment and railroad divisions constituted the only noteworthy features of the morning. This was in striking contrast to the heaviness of the various specialties, particularly shipping, rubber and food issues. Atlantic Gulf lost almost seven points, Ajax Rubber four, Goodrich two. Gas shares were strong, Brooklyn Union gaining 5½. Oils moved irregularly, but became weak before noon on the drive against Mexican Petroleum. Call loans opened and renewed into next week at 7 per cent. and the rate of exchange on London continued to decline.

Increased selling of shippings, motors and oils; also miscellaneous specialties, forced prices to lower levels during the mid session. Atlantic Gulf extended its loss to almost ten points. There was a partial recovery, however, when call money eased to six per cent. Recoveries averaged a point among the popular issues while Reading rebounded almost two points.

Obscure specialties were bid up in later dealings but the list fell back again when Atlantic Gulf extended its decline to over ten points. The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 550,000 shares to-day.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Sterling exchange heavy; demand 3.87. Canadian dollars 13 1-2 per cent. discount.

MONTREAL.

(Canadian Press).

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—The local Stock Exchange was active this morning, and in an exceptionally weak state. Abitibi opened at its last night's closing figure, 42, weakened a quarter point, and then rose to 43. Atlantic Sugar was weak, selling at 30½ this morning, after closing at 31 yesterday. Brazilian was also weaker, dropping from 34 to 33 3-4. Brompton dropped two points from its closing figure to 47, while Laurentide went down a half to 87. National Breweries was fractionally weaker at 52, and Riordon sagged a point to 135.

TORONTO.

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—Rallies this morning improved the position of a number of stocks which sustained reverses in yesterday's trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange, but in the majority of cases the recoveries were small. Extremely weak at the opening of the market, Abitibi made a good rally, closing at 44, a gain over last night's close of 1¼. Spanish River was slightly firmer at 77½, and Brompton was traded in at 47½. Dome sustained a loss of a dollar a share, all shares this morning being made at $17.50. Canada Steamships was one point lower at 36, and Steel Corporation lower by a similar amount at 47.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

(Canadian Press).

CHICAGO, Feb. 18. — Rain and snow in the southwest states had a bearish effect in the wheat market. Many traders, however, showed a disposition to take to the buying side on declines. Much attention continued to be given to the possibility of serious crop damage resulting from the green bug pest. Opening prices which ranged from 1-4 to 2 1-4 lower with March 1.67 to 1.68 and May 1.57 to 1.58, were followed by a slight further set back, and then by a rally to about yesterday's fiish.

Corn paralleled the action of wheat —after opening lower the market sagged a little further and then fully recovered. Oats were swayed by the course of other cereals, starting unchanged to 1-4 off, May 44 7-8 to 45, and later going lower, but then scoring something of an advance. Downturns in the price of hogs, weakened provisions.

Close—Wheat, March 1.67 1-2, May 1.57 1-2. Corn, May 69 58, July 71 5-8. Oats, May 45 1-8, July 45 3-4.

Pork, May 21.15. Lard, May 12.15, July 12.60. Ribs May 11.30, July 11.65.

Wheat No. 1 red, $2; No. 2 red, $2; corn No. 3 mixed, 67; No. 3 yellow 66 3-4 to 67 1-2; oats No. 2 white 45 3-4 to 46 1-2; No. 3 white 44 3-4 to 45; rye 2 none; barley 62 to 78; Timothy seed $4.50 to $5.75; clover seed $13.00 to $17.00. Pork nominal, lard 11.55; ribs 10.75 to 11.50.

BUILDING TRADES STRIKE; HUNDRED OUT IN TORONTO

STRIKE CALLED IN SUPPORT OF PAINTERS' STRIKE.

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—Following upon the general policy laid down at a special meeting yesterday, the Building Trades Council this morning, in support of the painters now on strike in this city, called all building tradesmen off jobs on buildings under construction in the city. Workmen to the number of a hundred, including plumbers, steam-fitters, carpenters, engineers, sheet metal workers, iron workers and electrical workers are affected. This is the first time since the present industrial depression that men of the building trades have taken united action.

SOME RENTS ARE ON THE TOBOGGAN

MODIFICATIONS IN TERMS NOW BEING ANNOUFCED IN MONTREAL CITY—TENANTS REFUSE TO SIGN LEASES AT OLD RATES.

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—That many landlords in their desire to get "all the traffic would bear" over-reached themselves on February first is being proved by the reports of instances, daily growing in number, where proprietors have been obliged to modify their terms in order to have their houses rented early. Among this number are those controlling the Linton Agartments, according to the story of one of their tenants and confirmed by others. It is said that when it became apparent that none of the old occupants would sign the new leases which required them to agree to take their flats for five years, which the landlords could ask them to leave with only twenty days' notice, they were allowed to sign the old contract, though at double the former rental.

The Bercovitch Bill.

It is also claimed that an attempt was made to counter-act the effect of the Bercovitch Bill, should it become law, by asking those signing the new leases to make a written statement that they would not take advantage of the passage of that Bill to ask for a rebate on the rent paid. To induce apartment-dwellers to do this, it is said, they were told that if they would make ths agreement, they would be granted a lease for one, two, or three years as they preferred. "Needless to say the tenants were not enthusiastic about this offer," said The Star's informant, and three years leases are now being granted as of yore if the tenant so wishes.

Many other instances are reported of rent reductions, because house-hunters will not pay the old high prices, and these are daily growing.

"DINNA YE HEAR IT!"

'TIS THE SLOGAN OF THE UNIQUE BLUE PENCIL SALE AT THORNTON'S CLOTHING STORE.

Men who appreciate quality clothes will be alert to the Semi-Ready Blue Pencil Sale to come off at Thornton Bros.' store, and which opens to-morrow morning. The interesting story of this sale is told in a page advertisement which apepars in to-day's issue. For startling offerings and varied assortments this event looks like a winner. Thousands of dollars worth of winter goods are offered for sacrifice during the next two weeks. No question of price can stand in the way of this. In the items quoted, there is an opportunity for men to save many dollars. The reductions are the heaviest the firm has ever made. To put off your visit on the opening day of this sale will be a mistake.

NO MORE FREE "FUN" WITH "PAY" TELEPHONES.

TORONTO, Feb. 18. — The Bell Telephone Co. has taken a definite step to protect itself from being preyed upon by human cunning, resource, ingenuity, strategy, artifice, duplicity and divers other sharp practices.

Once it was possible to get the better of the company by using a pay station to telephone an enemy. When central made the connection you could ring off and have a good laugh at the joke; you could boast of getting ahead of a large corporate interest; you could carry on a war of attrition against vested rights. But the new "pay" telephones which the company has been installing during the last few days don't give you even a chance to get Central's ear until you "deposit the coin in the slot."

BANKERS BACK RURAL CREDITS

C. A. BOGART, REPRESENTING CANADIAN BANKERS' ASSOCIATION TELLS LEGISLATURE COMMITTEE SO.

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—Speaking before the Agricultural Committee of the Ontario Legislature this morning, General Manager C. A. Bogart, of the Dominion Bank, representing the Canadian Bankers' Association, gave his opinion on the matter of rural credits. He said there was no class of people in Canadian community who were more anxious to serve the Ontario farmers than the bankers. If the Government thought fit to establish rural credit societies, the bankers would be willing to co-operate and work out the details. He claimed that no country in the work was as excellently served by banks as Ontario.

Mr. Bogart said that in 1918 the banks advanced in Manitoba to rural credit societies the sum of $89,000, and of this $20,000 is still outstanding. In 1919 he said $841,000 was advanced, and $205,000 is still outstanding. He said the banks had lost huge sums by loans to farmers in the prairie provinces.

"Are conditions more favourable here for the successful operation of such a scheme?" asked Premier Drury.

"Yes, conditions are more stabilized here," said Mr. Bogart.

MRS. WILLIAM UDY GUEST AT BANQUET

BRIDGENORTH RESIDENT HONORED BY A HOST OF FRIENDS.

Mrs. Wiliam Udy, a citizen of Bridgenorth for the last fifty years, was yesterday tendered a complimentary banquet on the occasion of the celebration of her 85th birthday, by the villagers of Bridgenorth and the societies of the Methodist church.

The banquet was held in the basement of the church in the village, and was a complete surprise to the lady herself, who had been kept in complete ignorance of all preparations. The menu, printed in a handsome booklet, was a very comprehensive affair, including two sorts of soup, two of fish, turkey, goose, roast beef, seven different sorts of vegetables, and a variety of desserts, the piece de resistance of which was a three-storey birthday cake, embossed with the figure 85. The banquet wound up with a number of toasts proposed by Mr. T. N. D. Kelly, chairman and toastmaster, and responded to with appropriate sentiments by Messrs. J. N. and Clayton J. Telford, Fred Jopling, Garbutt D. Mann, James G. Jopling, J. W. Kelly and P. T. Udy. The George street Methodist church of Peterborough was represented by Mr. R. C. Heard, greetings from the Memorial church were presented by Mr. G. W. Mann, from the Ladies' Aid by Mrs. G. D. Mann, from the W.M.S. by Mrs. T. N. D. Kelly, from the villagers by Mr. J. A. Jobe, from the Epworth League by Mr. Harry McKee, from the Sunday school by Miss Jean Kelly and an address was read by the Rev. Mr. Huffman. A beautiful bouquet in a fancy basket was given by the Ladies' Aid and presented by Dorothy and Doris Kelly, accompanying the address of Mrs. G. D. Mann.

The musical part of the programme comprised a solo by Mrs. Clayton Telford, a chorus of the young men of the village, followed by one from the young ladies, and a piano solo by Miss Frieda Jobe.

Mr. Percy T. Udy, on behalf of his family, heartily thanked all who had contributed to the successful occasion, which was brought to a close by the song, "The End of a Perfect Day," rendered by Mrs. Clayton, accompanied by Miss Emerita Black.

A number of telegrams from the United States and Canada were received from friends who were unable to be present.

BENEFIT OF ADVERTISING.

An advertiser expiains in this way his confidence in newspaper advertising: "If I could stand 10,000 men in a row and talk to each in turn, I could make sales to a large proportion. When I advertise in a newspaper of large circulation I address many more than 10,000 by simply telling my story once. I get better results than if I should talk to each of the 10,000." And yet some people say it does not pay to advertise.

REORGANIZATION OF THE BABIES' CLINIC

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE YEAR —FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

A meeting of the committee of the Well Babies' Clinic was held on 12th February for the purpose of re-organising. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Jas. Kendry; vice-president, Mrs. Robt. Harstone; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. F. C. Neal; Board of Management, Mrs. A. Sanderson, Regent of the Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E.; Mrs. Clegg, Regent of the 57th Chapter, I.O.D.E.; Miss G. Stevenson, Regent of the Peter Robinson Chapter; Mrs. R. H. Parsons, president of the Ashburnham Patriotic Society; Miss Elliott, President of the Teachers' Guild; Miss Hamilton, President of the Business Girls' Club; Mrs. J. C. Davidson, president of the Red Cross Society; Mrs. A. Stevenson and Mrs. Galbraith. Dr. Jessie Birnie was appointed as secretary for the Clinic, and Mrs. George S. McCartney as nurse.

Financial Statement.

A financial statement of the affairs of the organisation from its inauguration until 17th February, 1921, was read by Mrs. Neal, showing receipts totalling $715.73, and expenditures of $277.55, leaving a balance in the bank on that date of $438.18. Exclusive of this was a donation from the Red Cross Society, which took the form of supplies, to the value of $100.00.

Doctors in Attendance.

The medical staff of the Clinic is as follows: President, Dr. McPherson; secretary, Dr. Eastwood; members: Doctors Morgan, Hammond, Neal, Mann, Harvey, Hayes, Scott, King, McCulloch Birnie, Ray Scott, Yelland, Wood, Sutton.

At the open meeting of the Clinic to be held next Tuesday, 22nd February, Dr. M. Yelland will give an address on how to prevent colds in babies and children, and the nurse in attendance, Miss Morrison, will demonstrate the proper method of preparing plasters, poultices, and compresses for children. The King's Daughters will serve tea.

These lectures are attracting much favourable comment, and the Babies' Clinic seems to be in a very prosperour condition at present. As the lectures are free, are conducted by men and women who are really experts in these lines, and are crammed with valuable information from start to finish, they should be of interest to all mothers of children who are mindful of the physical welfare of their children, and of that future moral and mental well-being which depends to a great extent on a healthy childhood.

FARRELL TOO DAZED TO RECALL MUCH.

Says He Thinks He "Heard Swearing" Just Before the Mattice Altercation.

ROCKAWAY, N.Y., Feb. 18.—Lieut. Stephen A. Farrell, who came to blows with Lieut. Walter Hinton at Mattice, Ont., after their balloon adventure into Canada, testified here before the naval board investigating the incident, that he could not remember clearly what had taken place owing to his physical condition at the time.

He admitted that just before the altercation he "heard swearing," but could remember nothing beyond that. Hinton, he stated, had given him no cause for striking the blow. After Hinton visited him in the house of the Hudson Bay employee, Farrell explained that he fell asleep and that when he awoke Lieut. Kloor asked him to "get together" with Hinton. He told Kloor, he testified, that if he had done anything wrong, he was sorry, and later apologized to Hinton.

Farrell's attorney tried to show that Hinton could not state positively that Farrell had struck the blow. He asked Hinton whether Farrell's position after the clash might not have been that of defence from a blow struck by someone else. Hinton replied he "supposed that might be so."

Belgian School Teacher Belonged to Nursing Organization Headed by Edith Cavell.

PARIS, Feb. 18.— Louise Telliez, who during the war belonged to the nursing organization headed by Edith Cavell, the English nurse executed by the Germans, committed suicide here, she having been called to appear before a magistrate to face charges of espionage and treason. It is alleged that she denounced several of her coworkers to the Germans in the day of the war.

Some of the Paris newspapers reported that it was Mlle. Louise Thulier, a Belgian school teacher, who had been awarded several decorations, and who also served under Edith Cavell, that committed suicde. According to despatches to the Havas Agency, Mlle. Thulier, who lives in Lille, was greatly affected to-day by the false report.

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS GERMANY MUST PAY

REPLIES TO HORATIO BOTTOMLEY'S ARRAIGNMENT OF GOVERNMENT'S POLICY.

(Canadian Press).

LONDON, Feb. 18. — Mr. Lloyd George declared in the House of Commons to-day that he stood by his pledge that Germany must pay to the limit of her capacity. The Prime Minister was discussing the German reparations question in answering Horatio Bottomley's arraignment of the Government's policy of alleged ineptitude with regard to forcing Germany to comply with the reparations demands, provision for the trial of war criminals and other portions of the peace treaty.

"There was a great difference, continued the Prime Minister, between Germany paying for the whole cost of the war and paying to the limit of her capacity. "The whole point is as to the limit of Germany's capacity to pay," he said.

END COMES AT LAST TO HARD LUCK SCHOONER.

BOSTON, Feb. 18. — The Boston four-masted schooner Horace E. Munroe, bound in ballast from Lisbon, Portugal, to Jacksonville, Fla., was abandoned as sen in a sinking condition last Tuesday, advices received here announced. Captain John O. Hall and the vessel's crew of 13 men were rescued and landed safely at Gibraltar by the British steamer Palma, which had been in collision with her.

The Horace E. Munroe, built at Brewer, Maine, in 1919, and valued at $200,000, partly insured, had hard luck since she left Norfolk last November, her owners said. Leaving port with a cargo of coal for Portugal, she ran into a gale, during which the second mate was swept overboard. She put into Faval for repairs, and while there was fouled by a German barque, torn from her moorings in a storm and further damaged.

WEDDING BELLS

MASON—JEWISON.

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Tuesday, Feb. 15th, at the home of the bride's mother, 27 Bloomfield Avenue, Toronto, when Mable, daughter of Mrs. and the late John Jewison, of Bailieboro, was united in marriage to Mr. R. Mercer Mason, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Mason, of Mona Mills. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Charles M. Jewison, wore a white charmeuse gown with French sequins. Her veil of tulle was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Bessie Barnard, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and Master Rennie Charles, a nephew of the groom, acted as page. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, among them being a dinner and tea set of Limoges china and a new design of English silver fruit and bon-bon dish, the gift of the employees of the Wm. Davies Co., with whom Miss Jewison has been associated for the past three years as industrial nurse. Also a beakfast set of Wedgewood china, the gift of the Doctor. The groom's gift was a cabinet of silver. After the buffet luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Mason left for a short trip, and on their return they will reside in Toronto.

OBITUARY

JOHN R. CRAFT.
(Contributed.)

It is with sincere regret that we have to record the death of Mr. John R. Craft, which took place at his late residence, lot 32, concession 17, Smith Township, on January 14th, at the advanced age of 94 years and 2 days.

The late Mr. Craft was born in the little town of Alton, Hants County, England, on January 12th, 1826.

About the year 47 or 48 he was married, and for several years lived in the same place. Then with his wife and family he moved to Rotherbide, London, where for several years he was a member of the Wesleyan Church.

In the year 1869, with his wife and family, sailed for Canada, arriving at Selwyn on June 5th, where he again united with the Methodist Church, known then as McKee's Appointment.

Then in March of 1875 he moved to his late home, where he continued to reside up to the time of his death. During all those years he was a respected and honored member of Wesley Methodist Church. His place was seldom ever vacant, until about four years ago.

He occupied the positions of Exhorter, Superintendent of the Sunday School for a number of years and Recording Steward up to 1898, when he resigned.

The late Mr. Craft was an ardent Bible student and made the same his daily companion. Possessed with a good memory he could tell many events that was both interesting and profitable. The writer of this obituary has often been refreshed and strengthened while in conversation with him.

The funeral, which took place on January 16th, was very largely attended. The body was taken to the Wesley Church, where an appropriate and able sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. A. Gladstone Finney, from the words, "For me to live is Christ, but to die is gain."

He leaves behind to mourn his loss a host of friends and neighbours. Also four sons, Robert, of Douro; John, of Regina; Richard, of Alberta, and George at home. Three sons and one daughter Mrs. John Milligan, of Coboconk, predeceased him a number of years hence, also his wife about twenty-five years ago.

Mr. Craft was possessed with a strong and vigorous constitution, due largely to the fact that he did not know the taste of whiskey or tobacco. The doctor never was called to visit him until about two weeks before his death.

The pall-bearers were Andrew Montgomery, A. B. Northey, John Pearson and Stephen Harrison.

"Truly blessed are they who die in the Lord, for they rest from their labours and their works do not follow them."

BIRTH.

HILLMAN.—To Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hillman, 61 Smith street, February 17th, 1921, a daughter.

TWO GIRLS HELD UP.

STRATFORD, Feb. 18. — Three farmers and two girls, from whom the net haul was merely $16.75, were held up separately and robbed here one night recently between 9:15 and 10 o'clock. Neither of the girls had any money.

GOVERNMENT PARTY CAUCUS WAS HELD

INDIGNANT OVER "PAIRS" MATTER BUT NO RETALIATORY MEASURES YET.

(Canadian Press).

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—At the close of this morning's caucus of Government supporters, presided over by J. E. Armstrong, of Lambton East, Premier Meighen stated that there had been complete unanimity regarding general matters on the policy discussed. Asked if the situation regarding pairs had been discussed, Premier Meighen stated that there had been a great deal of indignation expressed by different members over the action of the Liberals, but nothing in the way of retaliatory measures had been seriously taken up. The question of Saturday sittings in the near future was not decided, Mr. Meighen declared. During the caucus a straight warning was given members that in regard to the pairs situation, they must remain in and about the chamber so that they would be within call.

GUARDS BROUGHT IN.

Charges Made to the Attorney-General Yesterday.

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—That armed guards had been brought in from the United States, in spite of immigration regulations, and sworn in by the local magistrate, contrary to law, to defeat the Thorold strikers of the Beaverboard Company, and that such methods frequently ended in bloodshed and serious disorders, were charges made to Attorney-General Raney yesterday by James Marsh, general organizer for the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

MARRIAGE.

MASON—JEWISON.— At Toronto, on Tuesday, February 15th, Mabel, daughter of Mrs. John Jewison, Bailieboro, to Mr. R. Mercer Mason, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Mason, of Mona Mills, Ont.

VOL. XLIX. NO 42 — PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1921 — PRICE THREE CENTS

GOVERNMENT VINDICATED IN BRITAIN

LLOYD GEORGE MINISTRY GIVEN VOTE OF CONFIDENCE OF 180 TO 40 ON ITS POLICY.

AS TO PEACE TREATY

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The House of Commons yesterday defeated the amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the Throne, proposed by Horatio Bottomley, censuring the government's policy with regard to the Treaty of Versailles. The vote was 181 to 40.

The vote came on a motion to amend the King's address, implying criticism of the Premier's post-war policies.

Action to compel Germany to meet the Allied demands will be taken if necessary, the Premier told the House of Commons.

Before pressure is applied, he said, the Allied Governments, their parliaments and people must be convinced that Germany failed to disarm and pay the required reparation, in a deliberate atempt to defy them.

LADIES' AUXILIARY TEA WAS SUCCESS

Sale of Work by the Soldier Patients of Kingston Hospital.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the G. W.V.A. held a most enjoyable and successful tea in the Auxiliary rooms of the G.W.V.A. Hall yesterday afternoon and evening. A large crowd atended the tea, and a considerable sum was realized from the silver collection. The exhibit and sale of work by the soldier patients at Kingston Hospital was well patronized, nearly all of the articles being disposed of, and a great many orders procured for duplicates of the smaller pieces.

During the afternoon and evening a good musical programme was presented. Mrs. G. H. McDonald and Mrs. B. Singleton sang, Miss H. Davidson recited in the afternoon and in the evening, Miss M. Allan and Mrs. Singleton sang, Mrs. Hyde played, Mrs. B. Hoyland gave a violin solo, and Mrs. Hoyland, with Mr. and Mrs. Massey-Cooke, rendered a trio of piano, violin and voice. The accompanists for the songs were Mrs. George Evans and Mrs. Massey-Cooke. Mrs. E. V. Frederick had charge of the tea-room, and Mrs. J. Mills poured tea, assisted by the ladies of the executive.

EGGS STRUCK NEW LOW PRICE LEVEL

BUTTER AND CHICKENS ARE STILL HIGH IN PRICE.

So far as eggs are concerned, to-day's local market was a buyers' market. Butter and fowl still remain high, but eggs have loosened their grip on the ring of high prices, and have sagged to a level never contemplated by poultry owners.

Eggs opened at 50 cents to-day, but it was not long till they were selling at 48 cents, and it looked as if by eleven o'clock the price would be down to 35c.

In the stores eggs are selling at 50 cents. In the smaller towns and villages the price has registered a decline eclipsing the cities. In Hastings they are selling at 35 cents a dozen.

Butter was 60 cents to-day, and chickens, which were not very plentiful, sold at 35 and 40 cents pound.

Outside Market.

In the outside market the farmers asked $1.25 for potatoes, but buyers were far from enthusiastic over the price. The other vegetables remain unchanged.

Tempting Spy apples were in one waggon to-day, but the price—$1.00 a peck! Russets sold at 50 cents a peck. Peewaukies at 60 cents.

Pork was 25 to 27 cents, beef 14 to 16, and mutton 30 cents.

SKATING PARTY AT BROCK STREET.

The Y.M.C.A. skating night held last evening at Brock Street Rink was a big success in every way. There were about five hundred lovers of this sport present, and a substantial sum was realized for the Senior Class of the Y.M.C.A. The ice was in fine condition, and the music supplied by the band exceptionally good.

CARUSO'S BATTLE FOR LIFE IS WON, DOCTORS BELIEVE

NEW YORK, February 19. — Caruso's struggle for life apparently has been won, Dr. Antonio Stella, his personal doctor, said to-day. There is still danger of another relapse, he added, but asserted that he was satisfied with the singer's condition.

The tension in Caruso's apartments in the Vanderbilt was noticeably lessened.

Dr. Murray remained at the tenor's beside through the night. Mrs. Caruso, for the first time since the singer's collapse, retired for an uninterrupted rest. Bruno Zirato, Caruso's Italian secretary, also left the apartments for the first time.

He appeared among the newspaper men with a broad smile, handing about a typewritten statement which read:

"Dear Boys: Here I am again. This time with a smile. Mr. Caruso is resting comfortably. He has had some liquid nourishment and enjoyed it very much each time. Dr. Stella is satisfied with his general condition and asures me that Mr. Caruso's chances to pull through are greater than ever.

"'He must not die,' is the message I received through the thousands of wires and letters. Everybody in the whole world is praying for my master's recovery. It is wonderful to have so many friends and I thank them with all my heart."

"Good night boys, and God bless you for informing the whole world of the condition of one of its most beloved human beings."

"BRUNO ZIRATO."

TWO EXCELLENT PAPERS GIVEN

WOMEN'S LITERARY EVENING FEATURED BY PAPERS ON TENNYSON AND MARY, QUEEN OF SCOTS.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME

The Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's Church held a literary evening in St. Alphonsus Lyceum last night, at which two verp good papers were read, and a fine musical programme presented.

Miss Nellie Doherty, of East City, reviewed the life of "Mary, Queen of Scots", a clear and interesting recital of the adventures, woes and loves of this unfortunate beauty, who was at twenty-five years twice a widow, betrayed by her people and without a friend in the world, and of whom, as the speaker declarer, "statements had been made without authority by some writer and accepted without question by future generations."

Tennyson's Life Reviewed

A paper on Tennyson, was read by Miss Marion Hayes a fine, poetic description in beautiful language of the life and works of this beloved writer, whose first verses were composed when only a small child, and whose last were written on his deathbed, at the age of 84. He was an indefatigable composer, but the best known of his works were probably the "Idylls of the King", those imaginative creations of the old knights, "The Princess", that forecast of the modern woman and her influence, "Locksley Hall" with its sonorous cadences, "Maud" with its melancholy lover, and "In Memoriam," that wonderful comemoration of his undying friendship for Arthur Hallam. The great characteristic of this poet laureate was his simplicity. He chose simple subjects, and wrote of the aspirations and joys common to all ages and all classes, and it was truly said that "he who writes of Tennyson has so vast a field to travel that he can do little more than visit it."

Musical Programme

The songs chosen were very appropriate for a Tennyson evening. "Blow, Bugle, Blow", was rendered as a part song by the Misses B. Giroux, E. McCabe, M. Galvin, K. Conroy and E. McManus, accompanied by Miss Florence Giroux, and Miss Ernestine McManus gave a fine rendition of "The Brook". An instrumental duet by the Misses Marion Hayes and Florence Giroux was well received.

Mrs. James O'Brien, president of the Society, who occupied the chair, thanked the speakers and Rev. Father Phelan and Father Costello also expressed their appreciation of the entertainment provided by the Literary Society.

NORRIS GOV'T IS SUSTAINED

FIRST DIVISION IN MANITOBA HOUSE SUSTAINS LIBERAL GOVERNMENT.

HAS SLIM MAJORITY

(Canadian Press.)

WINNIPEG, Feb. 19.—In the First Division of the Provincial session yesterday, the Norris Government was successful, the Labourites' resolution for unconditional release of the strike leaders—three of whom are members of the Legislature—being defeated by 26 votes to 22.

The vote resolved itself into practically a straight fight between the Liberals and Conservatives on the one hand and the Labourites and Independent Farmers on the other.

As a result of the division, the House went on record as urging the release of the strike leaders on condition that they ask for parole.

Paints Picture of Utter Chaos Under the Soviets

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—A description of apparently serious conditions in Russia under the Bolshevik administration as taken from Soviet newspapers and other documents, is given in a statement issued by A. J. Sack, Director of the Russian Information Bureau in the United States.

The official Bolshevik Izvestia of Dec. 28 last contains the text of a speech by Trotzky before the eighth congress of Soviets in which he declared:

"At present about 14,000 versts (36,000 miles) of Russian railroads are destroyed, so that only the central part, about 15,000 versts, remains intact. Three thousand bridge and 16,000 telephone and telegraph lines have also been destroyed and we have about 61 per cent. of sick locomotives."

The Economi Cheskaia Zhizn (Economic Life) says that, "news is already beginning to reach us from the central provinces of famine raging set in among the people and about the whole-sale extermination of cattle for lack of fodder." The newspaper concludes by saying that, "the foundation of our agriculture, its very thews and sinews, is perishing."

A Bolshevik commissary, Bogus-lavsky, writing in the official Pravda, says:

"The workingmen are without footwear, rubbers and even without so much as a needle. Truly, they are living much worse than they did before. We are bound to admit that the Soviet power has failed to do for them the most indispensable things."

PROVINCIAL MODEL TOWN BILL IS UP

PREMIER DRURY INTRODUCES BILL TO INCORPORATE TOWN OF KAPUSKASING IN NORT.H

PROVIDES FOR LOANS

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Feb. 19.— Premier Drury in the Legislature yesterday introduced his promised Bill incorporating the town of Kapuskasing, near the former soldiers' settlement colony. The first council is named as follows: Mayor, W. K. Kolb; Councillors, W. G. McNaughton, J. A. Stewart, E. W. Hardman, Douglas Stewart, W. W. Mills and C. F. A. Lair. Provision is made for the expenditure of $400,000 on land and houses and for $100,000 for sewers, waterworks and other improvements. The government as security for loans to the new town will take its municipal bonds to be issued by the new council.

Another Bill introduced by Hon. F. C. Biggs amends the Highways Improvement Act by providing, among other things, for the construction of provincial highways through cities, towns or villages. The measure provides also that municipal councils may pass by-laws and issue debentures to pay the costs of the improvements, where the road is designated as a provincial highway.

The Attorney General said that accounting to $69,519.32 from the Riddell Latchford timber inquiry. They were not being audited. Crown counsel R. T. Harding had so far received $2,000 on account of counsel fees. The Atorney-General gave this information in answer to a question by Hon. G. H. Ferguson.

Replying to Mr. Buckland, the Attorney-General said that no arrangement had been made for fixing the per diem rate to Commissioners Riddell and Latchford, both of whom had up to date received on account of salaries $2,000. The members of the Ontario Public Service Commission had cost to date $15,037.33, Hon. Mr. Raney told Mr. Calder.

ROWELL SAYS LEAGUE IS A BIG SUCCESS

DEFENDS LEAGUE OF NATIONS IN HOUSE AND EXHAUSTIVELY REVIEWS ITS ACTIVITIES.

LEADING HUMANITY UP

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—International affairs again claimed the attention of the House of Commons for a time yesterday, Hon. N. W. Rowell, former President of the Privy Council, was the speaker. Mr. Rowell was one of the Canadian delegates to the first League of Nations Assembly and gave the House a resume of the Assembly's work. Necessarily Mr. Rowell touched on ground covered by Sir George Foster on Wednesday but with certain phases of the League's activities, Mr. Rowell dealt more exhaustively.

He defended the Canadian opposition to International control of raw material and was cheered by the Opposition members. He expressed the view that the less outside interference there was with Russia the sooner would normal conditions in that country be restored. He thought that the force of public opinion would bring the United States into the League, and in closing was emphatic that the League had proved itself a success. "Humanity is on the march from the low lands to the uplands of a new and better social order and a better day," he said.

A slack House and half empty galleries indicated the lessened interest in the continned debate on the address. Other speakers were Dr. Edwards, Frontenac; Fornan Rinfret, St. James, Montreal; J. E. Danjou, Rimouski; F. B. Stacey, Westminster, B.C., and O. Turgeon, Gloucester, N.B. also spoke.

SIX MONTHS IN THE REFORMATORY

In the County Police Court this morning, Mrs. Joseph Laplante was sentenced to six months in the Mercer Reformatory on a charge of receiving stolen goods. The husband of Mrs. Laplante was acquitted of a similar charge. County Police Magistrate O. A. Langley presided. The accused was charged with breaking into a summer cottage near Loon Lake and stealing a quantity of goods.

Eva Laplante and James Johnston will appear before His Honour Judge Huycke in the County Court to-day for sentence on a similar charge. His Honour intimated that the girl would be sent to the Mercer for a term rather than permit her to return to the immoral conditions under which she is alleged to have been living at her home in Chandos. Johnston will likely be sent to the Industrial School, Toronto. Both were convicted of theft.

WOMEN'S CLUB TO COMBAT CRIMINALS

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 19.—The women of four Pittsburg suburbs have organized a "pistol club" for the purpose of protecting themselves and their homes against robbers. For several months robbers have been active in these districts, and several women have been attacked.

In order to cope with the situation more than a score of women residents of the suburbs purchased pistols, met yesterday and organized the club. An instructor gave them their first lesson in the use of firearms.

SOVIETS HAVE TAKEN TIFLIS

WILL PROBABLY USE IT AS A BASIS FOR OPERATIONS THROUGH PERSIA, BELIEVED.

(Canadian Press).

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 19. — Soviet troops have occupied Tiflis, the capital of the Georgian Republic, lying on the southern slopes of the Caucusus Mountains. Advices received here indicate that three Russian divisions marched on the city from the flat, desolate plains of Armenia, while the other Bolshevik forces crossed the eastern shoulder of the mountain range and invaded Georgia from that quarter. The relief is expressed here that the Soviet Government desires to hold Tiflis as a base from which it can direct the advance of its troops through Persia.

Advices received here state that members of the Georgian Government, Allied representatives and workers with the Near East Relief Fund have arrived at Batum. The Georgian Government was not composed of men with fighting temperament, it is said, and mobilized its troops in an inefficient manner. When the Soviet forces advanced the Government fled, abandoning Tiflis to the Bolshevik elements. A subsequent despatch confirms the foregoing with the exception of the actual taking of Tiflis. Georgian-Soviet elements are known to have taken possession of the capital after the Government's departure.

GOOD DEBATE HELD AT TRINITY

Four Local Ministers Took Part in Missionary Discussion.

The missionary problem was the subject for a debate by four prominent ministers last night in Trinity Reid Street Hall. The hall was packed to hear the interesting and scholarly exposition of the resolution: "That the work of the Church in foreign lands should have first place in the thought of all Christian people." The affirmative was taken by Rev. R. Pogue and Rev. F. E. Malott, and the negative side of the argument by Rev. J. R. Webb and Rev. Harold Young. The judges were Messrs. A. J. Madill, A. Mowat and J. E. Middleton. The decision was the subject of some consideration, as the judges were not agreed, but it was finally awarded to the affirmative on a majority vote.

Search For "Master Mind" In Million Dollar Theft

TOLEDO, Ohio, February 19. — Government officials now believe the value of the currency and registered mail stolen here on Friday morning at one of the entrances of the main Post Office, is between $400,000 and $1,000,000.

Six registered pouches which Post office inspectors estimate held between $300,000 and $400,000 in currency from the Federal Reserve Bank at Cleveland, and three first class mail sacks from Cleveland, Detroit and Northern Michigan, were taken.

Automobiles containing Post Office Inspectors, police and Deputy Sheriffs, have been scouring the city and its environs for hours, but so far no definite clue to the identity of the bandits has been uncovered.

Three suspicious persons have been arrested so far, but all have been released. The automobile, in which th bandits made their escape was found near Flower hospital, and identified by W. H. Milroy, one of the mail clerks held up by the robbers. In the car was found a box of shotgun shells and a slouch hat bearing the label of a Detroit department store. The car had been stolen in the hold up of a garage by three men early on Wednesday.

Federal officers express the belief that a "master mind" is directing the operations of bandits in this part of the country.

They point to the American Express robbery here soon after Christmas, in which five armed men held up the express guards and made off with more than $15,000 in a small safe without leaving a trace as to their identity.

Last week a three ton safe containing $10,800 in currency and Liberty bonds, was taken from a bank at Temperance, Michigan. On the same night a safe containing several hundred dollars was taken from the Sinclair Refining Company's offices here. In both instances the safes were taken in automobiles and not the slightest clue was left.

PROVISIONS OF NEW B.C. LIQUOR ACT

CONTROL WILL BE VESTED IN A COMMISSION AND THE MUNICIPALITIES, SAYS PREMIER OLIVER.

MAKE EASY TO OBTAIN

(Canadian Press.)

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 19.—Further light was shed upon the coming liquor control bill in the Legislature yesterday when Premier Oliver discussed in committee some of the salient features of the government's proposal. The Premier said that the municipalities will have to enforce the Act and failing this the commissioners would have power to enforce the laws, that in his opinion fifty per cent. of the revenue to municipalities would be a fair division; that a commission of one or three subject to removal for cause, would be appointed with full control of operations in the liquor department.

A uniform price for liquor sold by the government will prevail all over the province, but he did not state how many government stores there would be. It will be made as easy as posible, however, for anyone to take advantage of the provisions of the Act, the Premier said. Every town will not necessarily have a liquor vendor, but the price of government liquor will be the same to all, with express charges paid by the commission where necesasry. Special regulations will be made governing the use of liquor by doctors, dentists, veterinaries and manufacturers.

RECIPES.

Baked Eggs.

Separate as many eggs as required, saving the yolks whole. To the whites of three eggs add half a teaspoon of baking powder and beat well. Butter gem pans, divide the white mixture and fill the moulds, then drop in yolk. Dot with butter, sprinkle with pepper and salt and bake.

Cheese Fondu.

Cut in small pieces or thin slices half a pound of cheese. Add half a cup of milk, a teaspoon of A-1 sauce and season. Place over a slow fire and stir until the cheese is melted, then add a beaten egg and serve on toasted muffins. Eggs may be omitted and a teaspoon of dissolved flour used.

Artichokes.

Scrape and slice if too large Jerusalem artichokes. Cover with cold water and simmer tender. Drain, add a cup of milk, a large piece of butter and thicken, when the milk is boiling, with a little dissolved flour.

Eggless Cottage Pudding.

Mix a cup of sugar, a tablespoon of butter, half a cup of milk, two cups and a half of flour, a little salt and two and a half teaspoons of baking powder. Bake in a round tin and serve with the following sauce: Cream together two tablespoons of flour with a tablespoon of butter. Add slowly a cup and a half of boiling water, a cup of sugar and a teaspoon of flavoring. Bring to a boil and serve.

Spider Cornbread.

Cream two eggs with two tablespoons of sugar. Add two cups of milk, a cup and a half of cornmeal, and a quarter of a cup of flour. Turn into a shallow pan and bake half an hour. Don't stir when making any more than possible. When done it should be like custard on top.

Stuffed Apple Salad.

Pare and core four apples, cut in thick slices around the apples. Fill the centres with chopped dates and nuts. Serve on lettuce with a mayonnaise.

Snow Pudding.

Mix a tablespoon of starch with milk to make a smooth paste. Cook with enough more milk to make two cups when thick, let cool and then stir in the stiffy beaten whites of two eggs. Add a quarter of a cup of sugar and the flavoring. Turn into small moulds that have been wet in cold water. Make a custard of the yolks and two cups of milk boiled thick and cooled.

Horse Radish Sandwiches.

Cut thin slices of graham or rye bread and spread with a mixture of horse radish butter, made by mixing two tablespoons of grated horse radish with lemon juice, three tablespoons of butter and the seasoning. Blend together well.

U.S. INTERESTS ARE AFTER CHINA TRADE

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF ANTI-JAPANESE FEELING IN CHINA.

(Special to The Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—British merchants are watching American activities in China closely. Reports here indicate that the Americans are taking advantage of the anti-Japanese feeling in China, especially in Shantung. A series of boycotts against Japanese goods there has almost paralyzed Japanese trade in the peninsula, and the Americans have been quick to seize the oppotrunity. The Shantung Daily News, a Chinese anti-Japanese newspaper in Taninan, which was suspended some time ago for lack of funds, has been revived by a combination of American and Chinese interests, and is expected to push the American movement.

The feeling there is so strong against the Japanese that a Chinese cloth merchant was sentenced to pay a fine of a hundred and twenty dollars for buying Japanese cotton, and then his store taken from him by the owner of the building.

Other merchants had their stocks, laminaria, or Japanese sea-weed seized and a thousand pounds of it was burned in the yard of the Chinese Chambers of Commerce in Tsaipon. All of the leading merchants are members of the anti-Japanese League.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Batton

"EVERYTHING ABOUT THE HOUSE HELP MAKES THE HOME"

Solving Some Lighting Problems in Simple Ways.

Interior Decorators have at last turned their attention to the important consideration of lighting the dark places. There is hardly a city house or apartment that escapes some dark corners, and it is always a problem how to light them effectively, sufficiently and economically. North windows can be brightened into a seeming sunlight by placing gold gauze over the sash un derneath the sash curtains; it reflects all lights and gives a pleasing yet an elusive yellow glint by day and a bright effect at night.

Where a narrow window or a French window faced the dead wall of another building, with only a few feet of space between, one decorator solved the lighting by having the dead wall painted yellow, then placed a light with a reflector on either side of the window, which gave a sunny effect on the wall, which in its turn lighted like sunlight the stained-glass window. This worked all right in the winter. In the summer, the window being open, a lattice was placed against the dead wall and covered with tin ivy. The tin ivy is quite a wonderful invention, it looks so natural at a distance, and is, of course, weather-proof. This arrangement made a charming effect the year around at small expense, as the outer lights were only needed a few hours a day, being dimmed at twilight.

A very dark stairway, always dangerous to life and limb, is another problem, the result of poor outside lighting. In one instance it was solved by an electric bar, shaded softly, placed on the wall at the head of the stairs so that it lighted their entire distance. In another house where there was no electric light, the same end was reached by two hooded lamps placed on the head of the banister at one side, and on the wall at the other. The hoods threw the light below so that it did not flare into the eyes of the person coming up or going down, yet gave the glow where it was needed.

A dark kitchen was successfully brightened by four wall-bracket lamps so arranged that two flooded the ceiling and upper part of the room while the other lighted the lower part and the floor spaces.

For cooking at night in a lamp-lighted kitchen, a hooded lamp with the light directed on the stove is a great comfort.

In courts that have windows opening on them, whitewash is a splendid first aid. It must be done over often enough to keep it white and shining so it catches and throws off every ray of light possible. If need be, two hooded reflectors or blue-flame lights on the walls will be found excellent and not seriously expensive.

Most people think when they have whitewashed the cellar walls it will do very well, but that does not help the lighting unless the ceiling, even the rafters of the floor above, are treated, and the cement or broad floor gone over as well. Many think the coal bins and even the furnace are easier to find when they are white and glistening. Certain it is that a white surface does reflect, and makes even a candle light brighter.

The electric candle or the hand-lights are safe and efficient for use in penetrating the depths of large closets where flaming lights are dangerous. Where electric lights are not used these portable dry battery affairs are invaluable.

Dark sheds and chicken houses, well whitewashed, then lighted with a bracket lamp, are light as day to work in when it is necessary to do so. A dark bathroom which was lighted only by a skylight, was made lighter by putting a framework shaped like a Greek cross a foot below the skylight. A cross bar of electric light shone through the yellow leads, which shed a soft glow of sunny light in every corner below—and still it did not interfere with the purpose of the skylight.

Utility lamps with reflectors are very handy. If there is electricity in a house they may be attached to a plug and focused on any dark corner. They must be concealed behind a screen or other piece of furniture for the best effect.

Some New Color Combinations for Evening Are Discussed

This winter I have been leading a rather quiet life, for I have devoted several evenings each week to improving my drawing. However, one night recently Marie Casson invited me to go with her to a dance, the proceeds of which were being given to a fund for crippled children.

I'm afraid I was not particularly anxious to go. However, to oblige Marie I decided to accompany her. When we arrived at our destination I was more than surprised to note the many strikingly gowned women who were evidently going to the affair. So my spirit revived, and I said to Marie:

"I see some gorgeously gowned women. Surely, it's going to be quite a grand affair."

"I think you'll see some of the Four Hundred," Marie replied, "for, of course, they have to have something to occupy their attention, and charity affairs are quite to the liking of certain generous souls. Anyway," continued Marie, "I hope for your sake that we see some nice clothes."

Later in the evening as Marie was resting between dances, I said to her.

"What do you think of this?", and I pulled a tiny piece of paper from my glove.

"Ah, you've been busy. Where did you see that stunning gown?" for she was was looking at my rough sketch of the accompanying illustration.

"I noticed it on the older women. She was not dancing, but she's evidently well known, for nearly every one seemed to recognize her."

"It's a regal-looking gown. What was it made of?" asked Marie.

"A very sumptuous dark velvet, almost a midnight blue, I should say," was my reply.

"The lines are stunning," she declared, as she noted the soft draping of the skirt and the crossover bodice. "What color was used for the embroidery?"

"A rich magenta, and the little spaces between were filled with dainty stitchery in threads of gold." I answered.

"'That's the sort of gown I should like,' replied Marie.

"Oh, but I haven't told you the most striking feature of it, for the long, sweeping train was lined with a rich magenta-colored satin," said.

"That must have been beautiful," commented Marie.

"Yes, the magenta and dark blue looked most effective. There were some other fascinating color combinations," I continued.

"What, for instance?" questioned Marie.

"Well, a very striking white velvet with touches of jet trimming," I replied.

"Black and white are always good it seems to me," said Marie, "but I'm more interested in gay colors."

"Then you'd like another gown I saw—a shimmering gold satin with trains of coral and flame, veiled with smoke-colored tulle."

"Yes, I think there are most fascinating shades being used just now. Once upon a time I should have shuddered if you'd suggested that gold and flame and rose would ever be happily combined," said Marie.

"Well," I acknowledged, "it seems to have been a tradition that certain colors should never be combined. Only I think most creators nowadays ignore those antiquated ideas."

"Judging by the color combinations one sees, especially in the evening, it's evident that nothing is too daring to be tried out," said Marie.

"But I quite agree with them," I reponded warmly. "For instance, I would never have believed how effective some of the flame and rose shades could be until I watched some leaves burning, and all the wonderful shades of flame and smoke—blue and gray—against a rose-colored silky."

"Then perhaps that's where our creators get their color ideas," said Marie, as she looked once more at my sketch.

"Very likely," I responded, "for the midnight blue velvet might well have been suggested by a winter sky, and the magenta inspired by some deep red rose. In any case it's a gorgeous gown."

FAMOUS WITS OF HISTORY

The Clever Way Daniel O'Connell Won A Will Case.

One of the stories that Daniel O'Connell, the Irish patriot, delighted to tell grew out of his law practice, in which he was very successful when a young man.

When he began the practice of law O'Connell happened to be the lawyer for a cow-stealer, who was convicted of the crime. He was sentenced to transportation for 14 years. At the end of his sentence the cow-stealer returned to his old home and happened to meet O'Connell. They began to talk about the trial. O'Connell asked him how it was that he happened always to steal fat cows, never thin ones.

"Well, then, I'll tell your honor the whole secret of it, sir. Whenever your honor goes to steal a cow, always go on the worst night you can, for if the weather is very bad the chances are that nobody will be up to see your honor. The way you'll always know the fat cattle in the dark is by this token—that the fat cows always stand out in the more exposed places, but the lean ones always go into a ditch for shelter."

"So," O'Connell used to end with a laugh, "I got that lesson in cow-stealing gratis from my client."

One case in which O'Connell was interested depended for its success upon proving that one witness was not sober on the occasion, but was drunk. During his examination of this witness, O'Connel discovered the man's character. He was a man who was described as "half foolish with roguery."

"Well, Darby," O'Connell asked, "you told the truth to this gentleman?"

"Yes, your honor, Counsellor O'Connell."

"How do you know my name?"

"Ah, sure, every one knows our own patriot."

"Well, you are a good-humored, honest fellow. Now, Darby, tell me, did you take a drop of anything that day?"

"Why, your honor, I took my share of a pint of spirits."

"Your share of it! Now, by virtue of your oath, was not your share of it all but the pewter?"

"Why, then, dear knows, that's true for you, sir."

The court was convulsed with laughter by both question and answer. Step by step O'Connell brought out the truth that the man was drunk that day and, therefore, was not a competent witness. Thus O'Connell won his case for his client.

A somewhat similar instance of O'Connell's keenness was demonstrated in a case in which the question was whether a will had been signed by a conscious testator, or whether, as was suspected, the pen had been put into the dead man's hand to trace the signature. O'Connell observed that the principal witness, under severe and repeated cross-examination, always returned the same phrase:

"There was life in him."

"By virtue of your oath," O'Connell demanded, "did you not put a fly in the dead man's mouth in order that you might swear there was life in him?"

O'Connell had guessed right. Pale with terror, the witness confessed his crime and O'Connell won his case.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, N.Y. City.

You may go to bed some night, apparently as well as ever in your life. Twinges and stitches of pain may awaken you. One eye will feel as if it would burst. The pain will increase to almost unendurable agony. You may even retch and vomit because of it. Within a few hours the affected eye may become totally and hopelessly blind.

This describes an attack of "glaucoma fulminans," lightning-like glaucoma.

Fortunately, such an unheralded and ruthless attack is rarely met. Usually the disease produces premonitory symptoms long before the real attack occurs.

I have told you many times how important it is to consult the doctor when you have long-continued symptoms of any sort which you cannot explain. Many of us are loath to believe our own particular symptoms of ill-health are serious. The rest of mankind are over-sensitive, almost neurotic indeed, regarding their little ailments.

If I were to choose between the rash and the over-cautious, I should take the side of the over-cautious. It is better to go to the doctor once too often than to go once too late.

Glaucoma is one of the overlooked diseases. It causes certain symptoms however, which are unmistakable. When they are present you need medical help.

Hardening of Eyeball.

Glaucoma is the name given a certain group of symptoms, chief of which is hardness of the eyeball.

The shape of the eyeball is preserved by the presence inside the globule of certain fluids. These fluids are furnished in given amounts and they escape from the eyeball in like quantities. So long as the inflow and escape are alike, the tension of the eyeball is uniform.

Sometimes, for obscure and disputed reasons, there may be too great a supply of the liquids. Then the drainage system is not capable of handling the surplus. Or there may be obstruction to the outlet and a damming up of the fluids within the eyeball.

In either case the eyeball becomes harder and harder, as the fluid accumulates within the globe. In an extreme case the ball of the eye becomes almost stony hard.

As I have said, the extreme symptoms are rarely met until a long time after the appearance of certain early signs of trouble. One of the first of these is called "halo vision." When the patient looks at the moon or at an electric light, or at a lamp, he will notice a rainbow-like halo around the light. The luminous body seems entirely surrounded by a halo of colors.

The pupil of the affected eye may be larger than its fellow. This dilation of the pupil is quite characteristic.

From time to time there will be brief periods of blurred or lost vision.

Methods of Aid.

As the disease progresses these occasions of lost vision will coincide with attacks of redness and pain in the eye. As the disease grows worse, the attacks of pain and inflammation are more pronounced.

In another form the vision may gradually grow worse over a period of years and finally, without pain or notable discomfort, be entirely lost.

No matter what may be the manner of attack, glaucoma is always a serious disease. It demands prompt and skilful treatment.

Treatment is both medical and surgical. The thing sought in the medical treatment is to improve drainage by contracting the pupil. To this end a drug like pilocarpine or like eserine, in watery solution, is dropped into the eye often enough to keep the pupil contracted. When this is accomplished the acute symptoms are apt to disappear.

When medical measures fail to give prompt relief, surgical procedure is indicated. The purpose of surgery is to promote drainage by artificial means. A section of the curtain or the eye, the iris—The colored part of the eye—is removed, or, by drilling a tiny hole through the outer envelope, drainage is restored.

Never neglect such symptoms as have been described. Early attention will preserve the eye and its vision. Years of periodical suffering will be spared by proper treatment in the beginning.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

MRS. HAPPY SPIDER GIVES WHIPPY WASP A GOOD RECIPE.

"Well, of all things!" buzzed Whippy Wasp, as she settled on the edge of Lilypad Island, "How in the world did you ever happen to choose such an outlandish place to build your home? Why don't you come over in the meadow and build among the flowers? The very idea of one being so stupid as to build a house right out in the centre of a lake!"

"But you see, Mrs. Whippy Wasp," buzzed Mrs. Happy Spider, sweetly, "I built my home here on Lilypad Island because I love it. Why, there's nothing quite so soothing for one's nerves as the gentle lapping of the waves as they ripple past me! Some way, it quiets the cares of the day and lulls me to sleep with its music."

"Pooh!" exclaimed Mrs. Whippy Wasp, shaking her little brown head, "I've often heard it said one has queer notions when one lives alone too long. But, my goodness, I must say I never knew you understood music!"

Mrs. Happy Spider laughed merrily and went busily on with her weaving.

"I should think," snapped Mrs. Whippy Wasp, "you'd get dreadfully lonesome here all alone."

"But I'm not all alone," laughed the happy spider "Why, there isn't an hour in the day I don't have some one stop for a chat! You see, I'm so very, very busy I never have time to be lonesome!"

"Oh, that's funny!" laughed Mrs. Whippy Wasp. "You'd talk about being busy if you had to build the way I do. I think it's an outrage we can't just sit in one spot and spin our houses. Why, I get so tired of carrying mud with which to plaster up my house sometimes that I feel like living under a stone. Then, too, I have to be so careful to pick out a good location—for if I don't, the winds pull it down."

"Well, I suppose that's so," said Mrs. Happy Spider, sweetly. "But, my dear, what would this world be like if everything went along smoothly? If we didn't have the shadows with the sunshine we'd never appreciate the pleasant days."

"Oh, yes!" buzzed Mrs. Whippy Wasp. "You folks that never have to do anything but build, then sit down and eat and sleep, can very well talk that way. But"

"Don't you fool yourself, my friend," laughed Mrs. Happy Spider. "We all have our ups and downs." Just then a swish of wings overhead made Mrs. Happy Spider dart under a curled-up edge of the lilypad and pull her friend with her. After the bird had flown away and they came out from their hiding place once more, Mrs. Happy Spider's home was torn almost to shreds.

"Well!" exclaimed Mrs. Whippy Wasp, angrily, "What a shame! Your house is all apoiled!"

"Never you mind," laughed Mrs. Happy Spider, fighting bravely to keep back the tears, "It won't take long to build it over—and, after all, I probably can improve on it this time." Brave Mrs. Happy Spider began to weave with doubled energy.

Mrs. Whippy Wasp watched her in silence. She couldn't understand how her friend could buzz and hum after such a calamity, and shaking her head sadly she spread her wings and sailed away.

But, funny to say, the next time Mrs. Whippy Wasp visited Lilypad Island she had changed completely. She was no longer the grumbling, cross little wasp, but a happy, cheery one, just filled with the goodness of things and Mrs. Happy Spider was so glad to see her she invited her in to tea.

HEAVY PUNISHMENT METED OUT TO GERMAN OFFICIAL

(Special to The Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

BERLIN, Feb. 19.— Heavy punishment for disobedience has been inflicted by the British authorties on the German head of administration district of Neuse in the Rhenish occupation zone. He had been requested by the British commander to supply a list of automobiles, but failed to comply on the specified date. He was sentenced to a fine of ten thousand marks and to serve a prison term of six months.

"THIS is my recommendation, Sir"

"NOT so very long ago I was in the same ill health as yourself. Long and busy hours, the responsibility of filling drug prescriptions and other duties of the day's work proved a strain. I took a couple of boxes of Milburn's Heart & Nerve Pills and can honestly thank them for my present splendid condition.

This little incident from everyday life fits your case in one way or another. In these days of strenuous living it is only natural for the heart to get below normal, thus affecting the nervous system.

Many people ignore the symptoms of heart and nerve trouble. Every day people drop dead, simply because of ignoring them. You cannot afford to do this. Ask yourself, "Have I any of the following complaints?"

Dizziness, Headaches, Palpitation, Breath Shortness, Brain Fag, Loss of Flesh, Depression, Sleeplessness, Anaemia, Tobacco Heart, Loss of Appetite

These are some of the sensations which are experienced. They are a warning of vital importance. If you would be well and strong, just ask your druggist to-day for a box of Milburn's Heart & Nerve Pills.

YOU WILL BE SIMPLY ASTONISHED at the fast recovery you will make on taking them. Remember, they have been on the market for over 25 years, and you are using a preparation recommended by prominent people the country over.

All busy druggists sell Milburn's Heart & Nerve Pills at 50c. a box, or they will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ontario.

THE PRINCIPLE OF PROMOTION.

It is pleasing to find that the Police Commissioners have followed up the appointment of Detective Newhall to the position of Chief of Police by promoting other members of the force. The recognition of the principle of promotion will tend to increase the efficiency of the Police Department and to encourage all members of the force by the hope it gives them of working further up the ladder. Detective William Meagher, after serving a long apprenticeship as junior detective, now holds the position vacated by Chief Newhall. Detective George Cookman, who was a member of the force when he enlisted for overseas service, and who since his return from France has been acting detective, is now a full-fledged detective; while Acting Sergeant William Wigg is made a sergeant.

These promotions and the choosing of Detective Newhall as Chief, should prove a most valuable stimulus to the Police Force, who will feel that there is omething to work forward to should they remain in the service of the city. Had an outsider received the appointment as Chief of the Department, none of these promotions would have been possible, and the Police Force would not have been animated by the same keenness and interest in the work that distinguish it at the present time.

THE SPEED LIMIT.

The resolution passed by the local Board of Police Commissioners, fathered by Police Magistrate Dumble, and calling attention to the necessity of lowering the legal speed limit for motor vehicles in cities, towns, and villages will be supported by a large measure of public opinion. The resolution, which declares the belief of the Commissioners that a great number of accidents on the public streets are the direct result of the fast and reckless driving of automobiles, further pronounces the present legal speed of 20 miles an hour as "excessive, unreasonable, and dangerous," and calls for an amendment to the Motor Vehicles Act, changing the limit to 10 or 12 miles an hour. Even among motorists, there is a strong opinion that twenty miles an hour is an excessive speed for city streets, and careful drivers do not take advantage of the Act. Unfortunately, however, there are too many motorists who regard the 20-mile limit as an invitation to drive at that speed regardless of traffic conditions, their own safety, or that of their fellow-citizens. It is because of their recklessness and lack of care that Magistrate Dumble prepared his resolution which, it is hoped, will be endorsed by Police Commissioners and other public bodies throughout the Province, so that the Provincial Government may be convinced of the necessity of amending the Act.

THE GROUP SYSTEM.

There must be moments when Secretary J. J. Morrison of the U.F.O., Ontario's most consistent and enthusiastic admirer of the group system, stops to ponder over the manner in which his favourite theory is dveloping. The trouble with the group system is that it never knows when to stop. No sooner are there three or four groups established when another one looms in sight. The Labour Party is an example. Labour is allied with the United Farmers to form the present Ontario Government. And yet here in West Peterborough the two allies not only could not agree upon a candidate, but went so far as to each place one in the field for the Dominion bye-election. In Brantford the Labour Party endorses the stand of M. M. MacBride, who deserted his colleagues and was read out by the Independent Labour Party of Ontario. In other sections of the Province the alliance between Labour and Farmers still holds good. But where is it all going to end? If these disagreements continue and each is followed by a severing of ties between one group and another or between two factions of one group, the time will soon come when the present groups will be only a handful in a multiplicity of groups. Is that the goal that Secretary Morrison would like to see reached? Does he desire so many different factions competing for office that it would be quite possible for the winner in a political contest to receive only a tenth of the votes polled, and still be elected. Or would he be satisfied to have just enough groups so that the Farmers comprising the strongest faction numerically would be certain of election?

POLICE PROTECTION.

Some citizens, whose chief argument is that "they remember the time when Peterorough had only four men on the Police Force," are objecting to the addition of two new policemen to the local Department. They seem to ignore the fact that conditions have greatly changed since the days when Peterborough's finest consisted of a quartette of officers. The city has not been standing still in the years that have elapsed. The population has grown, new factors have arisen to alter the situation. The advent of the motor car has made a tremendous difference in the character of police work. Not only does the automobile enter into most crimes, such as burglary and hold-ups, but the growth in motor traffic has rendered necessary a duty that was not even thought of a few years ago, namely, the supervision of the traffic on the main streets.

During the summer months it is imperative that the traffic at the corner of Charlotte and George Streets should be under the control of a policeman, and similar protection at the corner of Hunter and George Streets during the busy hours is equally desirable. To provide the men for this work, and at the same time to give all sections of the city as much protection as possible, a farily large force is required.

No one in Peterborough should be better qualified to speak with authority on this point than Chief of Police Newhall. His intimate knowledge of local conditions, coupled with his many years' experience as a member of the Peterborough Police Department, give weight to his recommendations, and the majority of the citizens will undoubtedly accept his opinion as to what is required.

Chief Newhall, in his report, advocated the appointment of four men —the Commissioners have given him only half the number asked for, so that it would appear that if any one has reason to complain about the action of the Police Commissioners, it would be the Chief himself.

THE BONUS QUESTION.

Attorney-General Raney expressed the opinion that the principle of bonusing industries in order to entice them from one city to another was vicious; in this most people will agree, and we believe that they also consider the whole bonus system vicious. But so long as the system is in vogue by certain cities, so long will all the other cities be forced to use it in competition. The idea is strongly held that if a business or industry is good enough to be established, it is good enough for capitalists and others to put their own money into, and not ask for assistance from cities in any form. The truth of this we believe would be amply proved if a comprehensive examination were made of the results of the system. So far as Kingston is concerned, the statement could be made that taken as a whole the system has not produced results which have been advantageous to the city.

There would also appear to be an element of unfairness in the system, in that established industries do not seem to be regarded as worthy of being helped by being granted bonuses to carry on or extend their work. There are, of course, exceptions to this; but this fact seems answerable for the "vicious" system referred to by the Attorney-General of enticing industries from one city to another by means of bonuses.

No doubt the apparent advantages of bonusing industries consist mainly in the idea of increasing the population by the number of people employed, thus making the demand for houses greater, obtaining more taxes for the city, and expanding trade, and there is much to be said for it. But spread over a series of years, those advantages would probably be found more apparent than real. However, until this is absolutely proved as the result of universal experience, and is acknowledged, the system will no doubt go on, and the best must be made of it. —Kingston Standard.

Wonder whether the unsocial atmosphere of Ontario mentioned by a Montreal man in an interview published yesterday explains the frequent visits some people make to the Dominion metropolis.

No doubt there is a different atmosphere in Montreal, but whether it is more social or convivial is an open question. Dampness is one of its features, also strength. In some parts of the city one could hang one's coat and hat on the atmosphere.

Conditions Under Which Grand Prix of France

HARRY LAUDER IS BACK IN LONDON

AFTER TOURING WORLD FOR YEARS FAMOUS SCOTCH COMEDIAN RETURNS TO THE ENGLISH STAGE.

(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Sir Harry Lauder, after years of touring the world, lecturing as much as singing, is back here to re-appear on the London vaudeville stage, to which he has been a stranger since the war.

"Yes, boys!" he said to the reporters, "I've travelled right round the globe, and believe me, the British Empire is a great institution. But, lads, let me tell you," the comedian went on, "ah've gotten a bonny farm up in Scotland, ye ken. Forteen thoosand acres with aboot ten thoosand sheep on it forbye. Nae sae bad, is it? But mind ye, for a' that I'd sell it to-morrow to Mr. Lloyd George—at the marrrket value, no less.

"To get back to London, believe me, it's like coming hame. Why, when I got to Euston Station the other day the first person to greet me was a porrrter. He knew me at once. . . . Mebbe I'd given him too little some time or other. Or mebbe too much. They remember ye whichever ye do, o it's all richt!

"And the next perrrson was a sonsie leddy who rushed across the Strand to shake hands wi' me. What's more, she called me an actor! Av she did so! And ah was agreeably surrrprised.

"Yes, ah had a fine time on my tour. It's four years noo since ah was in London, and ah've been everywhere and seen some wonderful things.

"Marvellous things ah've seen. Why, d'ye know, laddie, they charged me twenty-five dollars for a bottle o' Johnny Dewar in America. They did so! Five poonds! Ye know, ye can hardly enjoy a drink at that price. It takes away half the pleasure. Five poonds! Eh, but it's verra dear! Verra dear! Still, the great thing is that ye can get it. Spit of Pussyfoot, ye can get it if ye've got the money. . . . But five poonds! Let's talk aboot something else."

Sir Harry was shown the leaflet which is being distributed to advertise his reappearance in London. There are three pictures on it showing Sir Harry, Sir Walter Scott and Robert Burns.

"You're in good company here," it was suggested.

"Av!" said the comedian. "None sae bad! But o' course the ither twa's dead, ye ken, and ah'm no!"

SEEK RELIEF FROM COST OF PROVINCIAL HIGHWAYS.

The Council of Northumberland and Durham has passed a resolution, requesting the Legislature to relieve municipalities from further financial assistance toward Provincial highways. Council contends that as the Federal Government is assisting the provinces in road construction, municipalities should no longer be assessed for a proportion of costs.

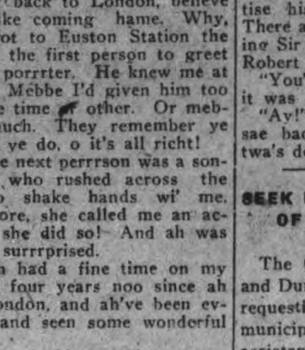
The Key To Prosperity

An Advertisement to Young Men



Carnegie, Hill, Rockefeller—financiers who have succeeded in a marked degree—say that the key to prosperity is the ability to save in youth.

The first few thousands of capital are the most difficult to secure. But to get them is worth the hardest effort and most patient sacrifice.

John Wanamaker laid the foundation of his colossal fortune with the proceeds of his endowment insurance policies.

No other method of saving has been found superior to the endowment policy. It involves almost compulsory saving, yet if taken out in The Mutual Life with the splendid annual dividends applied to reduce the premiums, the policy is not difficult to carry. Certainly not too difficult for a young man who is determined to succeed.

At the end of the term of the policy—say 10 years, 15 years, or 20 years—the principal is available for re-investment. It becomes a partner to toil night and day for you and to help you to success.

FOUR-SIDED STAND WILL SEAT 10,000.

Much Needed Improvement at Big Germantown Cricket Grounds.

(Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19. — Plans have already been made for the erection of a four-sided grand stand to seat more than 10,000 persons at the Germantown Cricket Club grounds where the national lawn tennis singles championship will be staged next Septmber. In addition there will be seats on the Loggia of the main club house. Work of preparing the grounds for the matches will start as soon as weather permits.

The courts for the tournament will be laid out on the cricket field in front of the main club house. The turf was made in 1890 and it is considered as fine a piece of greensward as is to be found anywhere in the country. With careful grooming, the courts will be as good if not better than those at Forest Hills, where the turf, although very fine, is not yet ten years old.

MAIL CARRIERS ON HIGHWAYS

The question of the privileges and rights of mail carriers on the highways in rural districts has been much mooted by car owners. The following communication, received by Mr. W. G. Robertson, Secretary of the Ontario Motor League, from their solicitor, Mr. T. N. Phelan, will therefore be of interest to motorists:

At the request of your Board of Directors you have submitted the following questions for my opinion:

(1) Are carriers of his Majesty's mail subject to the provisions of the Highways Travel Act?

(2) Are such carriers liable for negligent operation of a vehicle, which negligence causes damage to other users of the highway.

No special right or immunity is conferred by statute on mail carriers on the highway, except in so far as the Postoffice Act declares the obstruction or wilful delay of the mail to be an indictable offense. We have therefore to look to the Common Law for a definition of the right and liabilities of such mail carriers.

In considering their rights and duties on the highway, the distinction between the carrier himself and the Crown whom he represents must be kept clearly in mind. The Crown is neither subject to the Highway Travel Act nor liable in damages for the negligence of any of its servants. In my opinion, the servant himself may be subject to the statutory provisions and may be liable for any act of negligence causing damage, though acting in the capacity of a servant of the Crown.

Recently Reviewed.

This subject was recently considered by the Appellate Division in a case of Bigras vs. Tasse. There the defendant was the foreman of a gang of workmen engaged in building a road for the Crown. A fire was lighted by one of the gang of men under this foreman, and for whose act the foreman was responsible, and the fire spreading, destroyed the property of the plaintiff. The defendant foreman's contention was that the alleged wrongful acts or omissions were not his acts but the acts or omissions of the Crown, and therefore, in contemplation of law, not wrongful. Mr. Justice Lennox, who reviewed the authorities and delivered the judgment of the court, rejects this contention of the defendant and concludes:

"I am clearly of the opinion that the defendant's claim of immunity by reason of being a servant of the Crown fails."

I think the proper inference to be drawn from this judgment is:

(a) That carriers of his Majesty's mail are subject to the provisions of the Highways Travel Act.

(b) That such carriers enjoy no immunity from consequences of the negligent operation of a vehicle on the highway when such negligence causes damage to other users of the highway.

It is perhaps unnecessary to add that any municipal by-law which purports to confer upon mail carriers any special rights upon the highway is entirely invalid if the provisions of such by-law conflict with the express provisions of the Provincial statute regulating travel on the highway.

PETERBORO MEN AT THE CONVENTION.

Local Electrical Concern Will Stock New Designs.

After spending Tuesday, Wednesday and part of Thursday at the convention of the American Electrical Fixture Association to which they were invited along with other Canadian electrical men, Mr. Charles Thorpe and Mr. R. Grant, of the electrical firm of Grant and Thorpe, have returned to this city. It was a profitable experience that will result in the display by this firm in the near future of the latest designs in electrical fixtures.

The convention which was held in the massive Music Hall, Buffalo, was attended by hundreds of exhibitors of the latest fixtures and everything from a boudoir lamp to the powerful commercial units was shown. Papers were given at the convention on efficient home lighting, harmonious colours in shades and innumerable other subjects of like interest. Mr. Thorpe stated yesterday that contrary to general opinion indirect lighting units are not out-of-date and were extensively shown. Chandeliers are particularly popular, especially in gun metal, bronze and beaten brass. Piano lamps in the new design with bracket arm attracted much attention and have been received overnight by the Americans as the most useful design in piano lamps yet brought out. At a date not far distant this Peterborough firm hope to have some of these handsome lamps in stock. Messrs. Grant and Thorpe were the only representatives of any Ontario firm between Toronto and Montreal at the convention.

HOW TO SAFEGUARD YOUR DIGESTION

The Blood Should Constantly be Kept Rich and Pure.

If you suffer from any form of indigestion your diet should be carefully chosen. Over-eating is always harmful, but at the same time one must take enough food to supply the needs of the blood. It must be remembered that the blood has to carry nourishment to every part of the body, find fuel for its energy and defences against disease, as well as the requisite juice for digestion. Hence when the blood becomes weak and fails to do its work, indigestion arises also when indigestion begins the blood still further suffers. Therefore, to safeguard your digestion, the blood should be kept rich and free from impurities. For more than a third of a century Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a favorite tonic for enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves. If, therefore, you find yourself troubled with indigestion, or other ailments due to weak, watery blood, you will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills both safe and effective. The value of this medicine in cases of stomach trouble is shown by the experience of Mrs. J. Lewis, Lake George, N. S., who says: "I suffered very severely with indigestion. I had severe pains in the stomach after every meal. I had a loathing for food, my rest at night was very much disturbed, and my general health was declining. I was under a doctor's care, but did not find any improvement. Reading of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done in a similar case, I decided to try them, with the result that after giving them a fair trial, my general health was improved, and all symptoms of the indigestion that had afflicted me disappeared. I feel very grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for saving me from so much misery."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Nervous Trouble

Nervous troubles are, without a doubt, the most discouraging form of sickness to the sufferer. You are tired and ill but cannot say what is wrong, no pain except frequent headaches, you are fretful, cross and irritable without a cause, no ambition or desire to continue your daily routine, you feel a picking or itching of the limbs or body and feel that some terrible calamity is about to overcome you, cannot enter into your former pleasures and prefer solitude to the company of your friends. In such cases the whole nervous system is deranged and requires the most careful attention. Take one of Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets every night or every second night and if there is any tendency to Stomach trouble take one Special Stomach Tablet three times a day before meals.

RELIGION AND FUN

One of the most curious and interesting aspects of Japanese life to the stranger is the street fairs, especially the Tokio Ennichi, which may be found in full swing on the nights of periodically recurring temple and other festivals.

Although these periodic events are supposed to be in celebration of something religious, they are occasions of great fun for youths and maidens, who meet and mingle in the evening's jollification, not, of course, after the Occidental manner, but with due distance and reserve.

The Japanese see a great deal more amusement in religion than the people of the West, for they believe the gods can and do laugh.

The streets are gayly decorated for the Ennichi fairs, and the hum of human conversation and the rollick of human laughter go on to the accompaniment of strange insect music that leaves a weird impression on the ear. Not many westerners would be disposed to take a night out to hear insects sing and play. To the Japanese this is part of life and art; he does not see why the insect should be left to waste its music on the desert air.

In Japan, however religious festivals are not all fun and all show; they have about them more of an economic bent than any other motive, to enrich the sacred coffers and to bring profits to the motley throng of dealers that ply their trade.

Cages of Singing Insects.

On either side of the midway plaisance innumerable stalls are arranged, selling and making to sell every conceivable sort of what-not, mostly to decorate the human person or to eat.

There are cages and cages of insects, locusts, crickets, beetles, etc., all singing to beat the band, as though each of the hundreds was vying with all the others in competing for a first place among songsters.

Some of these shrine or temple fairs occur two or three times a month. All the people in the district must come and pay their respects to the deity of the neighborhood, or suffer his displeasure, with attendant bad luck; and of course they must make a contribution to the expenses of the temple, and they are sure to spend still more in buying at the fair.

All the itinerant peddlers of the neighborhood are sure to be represented among the dealers in cakes, sweetmeats, toys and hair ornaments, most of them being made while you wait, a great attraction to the young children, gazing in rapture at the operation and begging their parents for still another penny.

All about are standing boys and girls, men and women, high and low, rich and poor, eating, for Japanese cannot meet except they eat—udon, a kind of spaghetti; soba, a sort of macaroni; ame, a delicious sweet known only in Japan, English toffee being the only thing resembling it, but inferior in comparison. Yes, and a hundred other appetizing confections besides.

Where Fair Maidens Congregate.

The most alluring stalls are those where the fair maidens of Japan congregate, and behind the rows of pretty girls, all infatuated by the fascinating hair ornaments, one may see rows of young men studying the tastes of womankind. The colored lights of the illuminations, electric lights in variously tinted bulbs or paper lanterns, give the peach-bloom cheeks of the girls a yet more rich complexion and all is quite like fairyland.

Even yet more space would it require to speak of all these fairs in their individual attractions, but those at the big shint shrine at Suitengu, in Nihonbashi draw the largest crowds, as they make a specialty of selling charms which they can make a fellow throw up blood if he is not telling the truth and other charms that guarantee security from shipwreck.

Time would fail to tell of ordinary street fairs, and of fairs for special occasions and seasons, the latter being particularly beautiful, as the booths are decorated with the colors of the season.

The month of September has more festivals and fairs than any other in the year, no less than thirty seven taking place in the thirty days. The whole business indicates how very cleverly the Japanese utilize religion and beauty to bring in a penny for their temples and themselves, since at all fairs are sold many things useful in daily life.

LOOSE AUTO SPRING ATTACHMENTS—THE FIRST CAUSE OF RATTLE

Wear takes place in the spring mountings because the parts are too small for their work and because there is no proper means for lubricating them. The movement on a spring bolt is almost continuous, but it rocks to and from over a very small arc. Hence when either grease or oil is forced in it very soon rubs off the heavily loaded side of the bolt, and, there being insufficient movement to smear it back again, the parts which are really doing all the work may be quite dry even when there is plenty of lubricant on the other side of the bolt, where it does no good.

To cure this there are two possibilities. One is to use grease but make the parts much larger, so that they are better able to support the load and so that the pressure will not so rapidly drive out the lubricant; the other and better way is to arrange for a constant small supply of oil from reservoir or magazine that will only need refilling once or twice a year. A system of this sort is being used on a number of commercial trucks today. Incorporated with each spring bracket is a little box holding a few ounces of oil, and from this box wicks lead the oil through the bolts directly to the points where it is needed. When the car is standing still no oil flows, but directly the bolt begins to rub dry the oil oozing up the wick is wiped off and keeps things lubricated. With careful design this system costs hardly anything more than the conventional "one-hoss shay" type of spring mounting which the public now puts up with because it knows no better. The man who has owned cars for a year or two knows what an improvement of this sort would mean and it is up to him to ask for it.—Motor.

CHINA HAS INCOME TAX FOR FIRST TIME.

PEKING, Feb. 19.—China has fallen in line with other nations, and for the first time in her history has imposed an income tax, dating from January 1. The Ministry of Finance has posted notices about Peking announcing the fact.

Merchants with capital invested amounting to $20,000 or more must contribute one per cent. of their net profit at the end of each year. It is specified that the proceeds can be used only for educational and industrial purposes.

If your grocer were greedy for profits he would not be content to sell and recommend Red Rose Tea at a less profit than he makes on other teas.

But it is a fact that he does make less on Red Rose than on other teas, and he recommends it because he knows its quality is the best.

SILK INDUSTRY

New York, Feb. 15.—The silk industry is convinced that silk will be the favorite fabric for women in 1921—in short that this will be a silk year. Following the collar and gingham years during the war period, the industry believes silk is to return to the place it once held, but never lost, in hearts of women. Following the International Silk Exposition at the Grand Central Palace, National Silk Week will get under way throughout the country, and manufacturers are preparing for a big demand to follow with new designs and color for the women who love silk.

Manufacturers study the style whims and inclinations of women a great deal more closely than most people realize, and the production in this country last year of more than $750,000,000 in silks seems to pretty clearly indicate that they are convinced that women want silk more than they wany any other fabric. This means that women have decided upon silk and that the manufacturers have sensed that decision and produced accordingly and the decision of the women of the country is final on any matter of style or fabric.

The silk industry of the United States centres in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the New England states, with Paterson, N. J., leading every other community. Of the 2,024 silk manufacturing plants in the United States representing all branches of the silk business 701 are in the New Jersey City. Including Paterson's mills New Jersey has 850 silk manufacturing plants, while Pennsylvania, the next important state, has 490 establishments. Allentown is the most important silk centre of Pennsylvania.

Absolutely no raw silk is produced in the United States for commercial purposes, although some experiments in silk worm culture have been started recently in California. Japanese exports of silk to the United States during 1919 were 33,726,581 pounds, from all sources a total of 44,816,918 pounds were received. China sends the United States about 9,000,000 pounds and European countrie send in the neighborhood of 2,500,000 pounds.

Imports of raw silk from all sources were valued at $329,338,872 in 1919, of which amount Japan shipped $256,113,971. For 1920, there were imports of raw silks, estimated at $320,000,000, of which Japan shipped $240,000,000.

CARE WITH TIRES

Evenly Applied Casing Will Prevent Strain That Hurts Tube.

Why valve stems pull out of inner tubes, even when the tire has not been run flat, has caused considerable argument among car owners. The solution is a simple one, and lies in evenly mounting the tire on the rim.

In placing a tire on a rim, the tube valve stem is inserted in the hole in the rim provided for it. Then the casing is, ordinarily, worked on the rim by successively prying it over the edges. This stretches that part of the tube where the prying is started, and works an accumulation or surplus of tube at the end on the other side of the valve stem.

When the tube in this condition or inflated it can not adjust itself, being stretched beyond a normal tension on one side of the valve stem and loose on the other side. When the latter side strikes the ground first the overstretched side exerts a heavy pull on the valve stem. This results in a blowout from a pulled valve patch or a torn tube.

If the tire is run the other way so that the strained part of the tube hits the ground first, there is a slight tendency to relieve the excess strain. In such a case, the tube will probably last for a considerable distance.

Many motorists have noticed this condition in an excessive wrinkling in some part of the tube. The one and only reasonable preventive is to apply the tire on the rim evenly, working from both sides of the valve stem. In this way, there will be no more stretch and pull on one side than on the other.

Without automobiles city congestion would be double and present business less.

We can see considerable unemployment looming up in Montreal if Ontario goes "bone dry." But they'll probably all get jobs in the new Quebec Government saloons. Any government can employ innumerable hordes without giving any of them much to do.

GROCERY MARKETS AT A GLANCE

A movement is on foot to control the balance of this season's Cuban sugar crop formulated by American and Cuban sugar interests, and which, it is asserted, has the assent of the Cuban Government. The plan contemplates the placing of the entire crop for marketing in the hands of four sugar men and three bankers, to which proposition 75 per cent. of the producers, it is understood, have agreed. Any such attempt as this to control the crop will have a tendency to artificially raise prices, as it interferes with the law of supply and demand. In the meantime this rumor has stimulated heavy buying of raws and several large transactions have gone through at advanced prices. The United States refined is also higher and three of the largest refiners have withdrawn from the market. This condition is reflected on the Canadian market and refiners are now showing a firmer attitude and it looks as though the price cutting has run its course.

Generally speaking, there is a steadier tone to grocery commodities and business continues fairly active. Collections, too, are satisfactory, although some merchants report a slowing up which is attributed to unemployment.

Corn syrups are reduced in price during the week, also molasses in bulk. Starches declined slightly.

Jams are moving more freely since the decline in quotations and canned vegetables have somewhat strengthened under an active inquiry.

The tea market continues with a firm tone under a strong demand, especially for the medium and finer grades. The finer grades are scarce and buyers are finding it difficult to procure their requirements.

Cereals and flour are steady under a fair demand for domestic consumption. As most wholesalers have now cleared up their supplies of prunes bought at opening prices, quotations are reduced on the latter shipments which were purchased at the lower level.

The hog market is weak and quotations both in Toronto and Montreal are lower. Lard and shortening are reduced in price. Butter has an easier tone, while cheese is in a strong position.—Canadian Grocer.

CUTTER USED BY SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD

Sold By Auction in Cavan —A Little Bit of History.

At Dawson's Auction Sale in Cavan near Millbrook, on Wednesday last, among a number of articles that were offered for sale and disposed of, was a cutter that has a little bit of Canadian History attached to it. The cutter, which is over 70 years of age, was used by Sir John A McDonald on one occasion many years ago, when he was in the district campaigning, to drive him from the village of Millbrook to the place where he was billed to speak. It is probably on account of the sentiment attached to the cutter through the reason of Sir John having used it on that occasion, that it has been allowed to remain in commission ever since. However, as the saying goes "There is an end to all things", and the cutter was eventually disposed of for the sum of $8.00.

CLARA ZETKIN TELLS OF RECENT ESCAPADE

WHEN SHE PASSED THE BORDER POLICE TO ADDRESS SOCIALISTS.

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Clara Zetkin, the octogenarian and almost blind German Socialist agitator who succeeded in reaching Tours, France, where she addressed a Socialist meeting, and returning to Berlin without interference by the frontier police, has addressed the following letter to the Paris Socialist paper, "Humanite":

"Dear Comrades: The Bourgeois Press is racking its brains to find out how Clara Zetkin crossed the frontier. It is no business of mine to facilitate the task of the police, but I beg to state that I was neither disguised nor did I make use of false documents. The papers I carried established my full identity. My adversaries are at liberty to weave a romance round my trip to France. I am satisfied with the achievement of facts."

Frau Zetkin's exploit led to an animated discussion in the French Chamber.

NOTHING TO EQUAL BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. Georges Lefebvre, St. Zenon, Que., writes: "I do not think there is any other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets for little ones. I have used them for my baby and would use nothing else." What Mrs. Lefebvre says thousands of other mothers say. They have found by trial that the Tablets always do just what is claimed for them. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus banish indigestion, constipation, colds, colic, etc. They are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GERMANY CLAIMS TO HAVE REDUCED ARMY TO 100,000

OFFICIAL STATEMENT CLAIMS FORTRESSES DESTROYED AND CONSCRIPTION ABOLISHED.

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—"The formation of an army reduced to 100,000 men was completed on 31st December, 1920," says an official statement. "From and after 1st January, our army numbers about 96,000 enlisted men, against 800,000 pre-war peace strength. Forty thousand officers have left the service, and only 4,000 remain. We possess neither heavy artillery, nor airplane nor airship formation.

"Conscription is abolished. All officers for the registration of men liable to militar yservice have been closed. All officers and men of the reserve and Landswehr have been released from military duties.

"Our fortresses on the western frontier are destroyed; all forts, shelters, iron-clad towers, etc., have been blown up. Cable communications and military railways are being demolished. Only the fortresses on the Eastern frontier are being kept up. The modern concrete constructions of the Western fortresses have been destroyed.

"Our upplies of arms correspond with the strength of our army, as fixed by the Treaty of Peace and the Spa Conference—50,000 guns, 5,000,000 rifles and revolvers, and 60,000 machine guns have been destroyed. All works which produced arms and munitions have been transferred to peace industries, including the monster Government works and the firms of Krupp and Ehrhardt.

"Our dirigibles, 14,000 aeroplanes, and 26,000 aircraft motors have been given up or destroyed. Hundreds of hangars have been or are being demolished."

This is the German official statement. As to the truth?

HISTORIC PRISON OF SAINT LAZARE TO BE DEMOLISHED AT LAST

IN USE FOR CENTURIES AND FIRST USED AS LEPER HOSPITAL.

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).

PARIS, Feb. 19. — The historic Saint Lazare prison is to be demolished, after many centuries of varied usefulness. It was originally a hospital for lepers. So prevalent was leprosy in those days that the bakers of Paris had a standing arrangement with the hospital, whereby they supplied it gratuitously with bread on condition that they should be treated gratuitously when invalided.

Next the building became a convent; and it was there that Saint Vincent de Paul established the famous order of the Lazarists. When it became a prison it was first used as a house of detention for young persons whose parents wanted them out of the way and were influential enough to obtain "lettres de cashet." It appears in this character in "Manon Lescaut," where we are told that the Chevalier des Grieux was locked up there, to be kept out of the way of the temptress. Beaumarchais was taken there, shortly after the first night of "Figaro," but Paris made such an indignant uproar that he was released after only three days' confinement.

"In my sketch," says Harry, 'some of the silliest questions will be asked of the purser in, of course, an exaggerated form. It may wind up with a fire drill; and by the time the purser has assured all anxious inquirers of the safety of the ship, the vessel will have reached New York!"

U.S. RED CROSS LEAVES LONDON; WORK EFFECTED

OTHER SERVICES, TO LOOK AFTER U.S. CITIZENS IN DISTRESS.

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The American Red Cross band of workers in London has vacated Lady Harcourt's house in Berkeley Square and taken over premises in Gower Street.

There is still plenty of work for the staff among needy Americans in London and among American seamen who are on leave in the city. By arrangement with the London hospitals, any serious case of illness is treated at one or another of these institutions but for slight accidents and cases of illnes there is a visiting doctor each day and staff nurses in attendance at Gower Street.

The chief work at present, however, is (1) Financial help of distressed Americans in London, and (2) Assistance towards repatriation of "doughboys" who have lingered too long in London.

This work is done by the "Home Service" Department, of which Miss Dorothy E. Wilson is honorary secretary. Miss Wilson, who is an American, gave some particulars:

"During last year we gave assistance to 2,500 American families stranded in London. These cases included relatives of American soldiers who came to England immediately after hostilities; deserted wives and ex-soldiers who have not 'struck lucky' in England. So you see we shall not be winding up just yet."

MINDEN, Feb. 19.—A near-by resident was charged before Police Magistrate Jordan with selling liquor. His Worship imposed a fine of $365.

TORONTO AGAIN CREATES SPEED RECORD

LARGE PAINTING JOB COMPLETED IN FIVE DAYS.

A noteworthy addition to Toronto's stores is the new Gay Store, 185 Yonge Street, recently taken over from the Woolworth Company by the Gay Stores, Limited, of Montreal. The building has bee nentirely re-decorated uder the supervision of the well-known architect, D. J. Spence, of Montreal. It is 196 feet long, 36 feet wide, with a ceiling 13½ feet high, as well as a large gallery in the rear. The architect gave the order for this re-decoration to a Toronto firm, Fred. G. Roberts & Co., Limited, painters and decorators, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 8th, and on the following morning at 8 o'clock their staff of painters invaded the place and had the work completed by Tuesday noon, Feb. 15th; in all, a total of five days, or 40 working hours. They painted both inside and outside with three coats of paints as well as decorating artistically with stencil and lines.

The management of the firm and Mr. Fred. G. Roberts, President and Manager, who is a former Peterborough boy, when complimented on their high standard of efficiency with speed, were very modest, seemingly regarding it as part of their usual routine so that it would appear that the usual delays in painting, decorating and paper-hanging are not found with this concern. This company is apparently prepared at all times to give such service to any contract in Ontario, no matter how large or small.

CAUSE OF PLEURISY AND PNEUMONIA

MANY CASES DEVELOPE THROUG NEGLECT OF COMMON COLDS.

"He started with just a little cold" is a very common statement when people allude to friends who are down with pleurisy or pneumonia. Every reader should bear this in mind and start treating even the commonest cold as soon as it appears.

The placing of Grip-Fix on the market has given every reader the means of conquering even a bad cold in a single night. This saves all the trouble and inconvenience entailed by the cold, as well as guards against the acute diseases which might follow.

Guard your health. Keep a box of Grip-Fix in the house. It is a safe and reliable remedy. In its capsule form it is convenient for taking, and acts more promptly. The ingredients (full list printed on each box) are just what physicians generally use for colds.

On sale by all druggists, 35c. per box.

PRICE CHANGES IN HARDWARE MARKET

READY MIXED PAINTS LOWER—IMPROVEMENT IN BUYING.

With fewer price changes recorded, the chief item of interest in the hardware trade is the reduction made this week in the price of ready-mixed paints. The reduction applies to interior and exterior house paints and also to floor and porch paints. Other declines include a reduction in gasoline prices, the second within two weeks, and also on coal oil, made possible by lower crude oil prices, says Hardware and Metal.

Lower quotations are made on the smaller styles of pumps, such as force, cistern, and cottage pumps. Reductions have been made on some makes of wrenches, levels and braces, and lead pipe and waste are lower. Solder is showing a further decline in price, and glass fruit or jam jars for next season are quoted at a lower level. Some lines of wall board are reduced in price. Canada plates are available again in better quantities and at lower prices. Ingot metals are still quiet and prices show practically no change from last week. Bar iron and steel, black and galvanized sheets, wrought pipe and fittings are holding unchanged and are quiet.

Iron and steel prices continue nomially unchanged in outside markets, but quotations below the Industrial Board level are reported from Pittsburgh on the part of some of the independent mills, but without any increase in activity or heavy bookings. Sales are also reported on foundry pig iron at prices under the former market quotations and the outlook for reduction in ore prices is stated to be very promising.

A slight improvement in buying is reported by wholesalers, but while the volume of orders for shelf hardware is showing an improvement, heavy hardware is backward. Booked orders for Spring and Summer goods are beginning to move out, ad though in many cases they are smaller than last year, they are regarded as satisfactory.

HYDRO CARS WILL CARRY THE BLIND FREE.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—Upon the sugegstion of Sir Adam Beck, the Hydro Commission yestedday passed a resolution which will permit all blind persons to travel free of charge upon civic Hydro railways in Ontario.

There are three such Hydro lines, one each at Windsor, Peterborough, and Guelph. The sugestion was also passed on to the Toronto Transportation Commission, that it would be a graceful act to extend the same privilege on the Toronto system when it is taken over.

The idea originated, it is said in the mind of Sir Adam Beck, who, while in Paris, was touched by the numbers of sightless French war veterans whom he saw on the streets. In Paris and other large French communities they made a practise of carrying blinded persons free.

NEW CATTLE BUILDING AT FAIR GROUNDS COULD SERVE CURLERS

MR. R. DENNE, PRESIDENT OF THE EXHIBITIOT BOARD, PROPOSES A SCHEME THAT IS APPROVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE PETERBORO CURLING CLUB—WOULD STIMULATE GAME AND PROVIDE REVENUE FOR EXHIBITION.

The hope of many curlers and of the Peterborough Exhibition Board may be fulfilled at one stroke if the proposed cattle building is erected on the Fair Grounds this summer. Mr. Ronald Denne, president of the Agricultural Exhibition, has the whole scheme planned to the last detail, and in sounding citizens who might be interested in the winter uses of this building, he has met with the most encouraging opinions and predictions.

For five years or more the directors of the Exhibition have concentrated their efforts on the construction of permanent buildings for the benefit of exhibitors. The horse barn, poultry buildings, the manufacturers' building and the renovation of the other exhibits pavilion are striking evidences of the success of the directorate's enterprise and untiring energies. But it has been increasingly realized that, if the cattle display is to develop apace with the other departments of the Fair, there must be some adequate provision for the housing of valuable prize stock.

This is the starting point of Mr. Denne's idea. Economy suggests that such a building should have a longer service than three or four days, or at best, a week in September. So, looking around for a possible use of the proposed cattle barn, Mr. Dennie suggests that a new curling club could be formed without injuring the Peterborough Club, and that it could use the cattle building at the Fair Grounds.

Need Another Rink.

It is generally known that the accommodation of the Charlotte Street Rink is now overtaxed. Practically no attempt is made to secure new members. You never hear of the curlers putting on a membership campaign. Their difficulty is largely the curtailing of their waiting list. Not that the curlers are exclusive. They simply haven't the room. Those who are interested in the game declare that there should be another club in this city. A year ago there were persistent rumours that the Brock Street Rink was to be bought for another curling club. However, that scheme fell through. But the discussion showed emphatically that there was a deep sentiment in favour of a second rink.

Mr. Dennie is Hopeful.

The next question is whether the Exhibition Board will go ahead with their project. To that Mr. Dennie answered yesterday afternoon: "Well, the directors have taken the chance before and we feel we ought to keep progressing. We have assumed other financial obligations, but there is still much to be done. We need a new grandstand. Personally, I don't think that should give us much worry, for a grandstand soon pays for itself. Regarding the new cattle barn, we certainly need that most of all. If the County and City Councils will help us that would be an encouraging start. The manufacturers, merchants and other citizens have generously co-operated with us. We could lay out the cattle building so that it could be converted into a curling rink without any difficulty. If we hadn't room for a skating rink, and we might manage that too, we could build an outdoor rink for skating. It would be a big help to the entire south-end of the city, and in fact to the city as a whole. The street railway management might help us. I certainly think they should consider it. We create special traffic and revenue for them during the summer, and in winter by putting up toboggan slides and furnishing accommodation for curling and skating, we could concentrate on winter sports at the Exhibition Grounds. There is nothing like outdoor exercise for old and young. I can remember when there used to be toboggan slides on the property south of Charlotte Street and west of Park Street. In those days the whole city used to turn out there."

Leave it to Rollie Denne to inject optimism and well-defined plans for any scheme he suggests. For example, when asked whether stables would be needed in the cattle building, he replied that compartments for the cattle were not necessary. Troughs would have to be installed along the walls, "and in winter we could cover them with boards and make seats out of them."

Curlers Advocate It.

Members of the Curling Club are encouraging the president of the Exhibition Board in his scheme. Several of them stated to the Examiner that they were confident a club of one hundred members could be formed for next winter. The new building would be erected near the corner of Lock and Lansdowne Streets. For members who might live at some distance the street cars would give them a good service, and many of them would be within walking distance. The membership fee at the Charlotte Street Club is twelve dollars a year. Thus one hundred members would provide a revenue of $1,200. The cost of operating the rink should not exceed $600, according to the curlers who were interviewed, leaving $600 which would be a net revenue for the Exhibition Board. This is the proposal in its general outline, and every aspect of it indicates a successful issue.

With two curling clubs and a copious infusion of new blood, the game would become more strongly established than ever. Friendly rivalry between the two clubs would be created, and every man and woman too who desired to curl could be accommodated. Facilities for bonspiels would be almost perfect, and there is no doubt that many citizens who have been inclined to the game would jump into it with the formation of a new club.

Mr. Denne is considering not only curling but associated winter sports, and with the continuance of the encouragement that has been given the Exhibition Board in recent years there is every reason to expect that Mr. Denne's scheme will be accomplished next winter.

TO BE DYSPEPTIC IS TO BE MISERABLE

The poor dyspeptic suffers untold agony after every meal, and any one who has dyspepsia knows what joy it would give to eat three square meals a day and not be punished for it after. Nearly everything that enters the weak stomach acts as an irritant, and even the little that is eaten causes such torture and is digested so imperfectly that it does little good.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach into such a condition that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For over forty years Burdock Blood Bitters has been toning up and restoring weak stomachs to a normal healthy condition so that the food no longer causes distress, but is thoroughly digested and assimilated, and enables one to partake of all the wholesome food required without fear of any unpleasant after effects.

Mrs. Alice Becknorth, Fesserton, Ont., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia for several years. I could not eat anything without almost dying from the pain in the pit of my stomach. Seeing Burdock Blood Bitters highly recommended I tried a bottle, and can gladly say it relieved me. I can eat anything now, and am in perfect health."

NEW YORK CROWDS IN PERIL BULLETS.

Negro in Pistol Fight With Five Policemen in 125th Street.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Pistol shots imperilled the lives of pedestrians and bystanders in two sections of New York yesterday and last night.

Five policemen exchanged more than forty shots in a battle with a crazed negro in 125th Street, near Seventh Avenue, at noon. Two policemen were slightly wounded and a bystander sent to the hospital in a critical condition with a bullet in his breast. Panic reigned in the crowded street while the battle lasted.

Hundreds were scattered at Times Square last night and a traffic jam followed when a detective in the U. S. Naval Intelligence Department, fired three shots at a fleeing man in sailor's uniform.

Harlem's principal business thoroughfare was congested, and men, women and children were in the crossfire of bullets in the battle with the negro.

Several store proprietors and employes who had armed themselves against hold-up men at the height of the crime wave are said to have fired upon the negro. Others, pistol in hand, guarded the entrance to their stores.

Aaron O. Ingbar, manager of the Madshall Stillman Gymnasium at 162 West 125th Street, was shot in the right breast. He was taken to Herlem Hospital by Willie Jackson, contender for the lightweight boxing championship, who is training at the Stillman Gymnasium for his forthcoming bout with Johnny Dundee. His condition is serious.

Patrolman Robert S. McVeigh, of Traffic C, living at 455 West 138th Street, was wounded in a finger of his right hand, and Patrolman Clarence Austin of the West 123rd Street Police Station, who lives at 425 West 137th Street, was seared on the left side when a bullet passed through his coat.

James Barnes, 22 years old, who said he was an elevator operator at the Bretton Hall apartments, Broadway and Eighty-sixth Street, and that he lived at 234 West 124th Street, was locked up in the West 123rd Street Station, charged with felonious assault and with violating the Sullivan law.

The battle arose over a dispute about a revolver. Jesse Lawrence, driver, and John Wade, helper, on a coal truck were leaving their home when Barnes appeared and demanded payment for a revolver he sold to Wade two months ago. Wade offered an explanation. Barnes interrupted him. He said he had two revolvers and intended to compel an immediate settlement. The truck driver and his helper fled, and Barnes opened fire.

Patrolman Dennis Rogers of the West 125th Street Station, walking down Morningside Avenue at 126th Street, heard the shots. He saw Barnes chasing the other two negroes, and, commandeering an automobile, he gave chase. Patrolman Austin, a son of Police Captain Benjamin Austin of the Elizabeth Street Station, took up the pursuit, from Eighth Avenue, firing several shots at the armed negro.

The chase continued to Seventh Avenue, punctuated by shots from Barnes at the two fleeing negroes and from the policemen who tried to stop Barnes.

Meanwhile the rapid discharge of weapons had spread alarm throughout the neighborhood. Hundreds of faces were trust against window panes, and scores of heads appeared through opened windows. Armed men came out of their stores to watch the right and flight. At Seventh Avenue, Lawrence and Wade disappeared in a traffic jam, and Barnes for the first time seemed to realize the police were pursuing him.

This armed negro dived into a maze of vehicles waiting for a signal from Traffic Policeman McVeigh. The other two patrolmen began to close in on him. The negro opened fire on them and also upon Patrolman McVeigh.

The shots attracted Police Sergeant Abraham Cohen and Patrolman Thomas Burke of the West 123rd Street Station. As Cohen approached the negro opened fire on him, then dodged behind first one, then another automobile. The Sergeant emptied his revolver at the negro and then darted to the sidewalk, taking shelter in a doorway as the negro rushed at him, firing two more shots.

By this time Patrolman Rogers had got within two or three feet of Barnes, who suddenly turned and started to shoot at the patrolman. Rogers, however, was too quick for him. He dealt him a blow on the head before the negro had time to pull a trigger. Barnes fell to the sidewalk as Cohen, Austin, Burke and McVeigh rushed up.

Sergeant Cohen thrust his revolver into the negro's face. Barnes knocked the weapon into the gutter. He had lost one of his revolvers when felled by Patrolman Rogers, but he leveled the other at the Sergeant's and pulled the trigger.

The weapon was empty.

Then the five policeman, after a severe struggle, returned and arrested the negro.

A Clergyman's Wife Wants Women to Know the Advantages of Internal Bathing.

If women could only see the thousands of letters Dr. Tyrrell has received from grateful women in all parts of the world thanking him for his wonderful invention for Internal Bathing they would soon discard the medicine bottle and look to the real cause of their trouble. 95 per cent. of all human ills are due to accumulated waste in the Colon, or large lower intestine. Warm water, properly used with the J. B. L. Cascade, will relieve the cause of your troubles, and perfect health will follow.

A Winnipeg clergyman writes: "My wife is naturally sensitive having her name appear in public print, yet is anxious that others should know what the J. B. L. Cascade has done for her. It has really given her a new lease of life. For years she had been doctoring for Constipation, which became worse each year. Since using the J. B. L. Cascade, first about four years ago, she has not been sick a day, and has become robust and strong again. Should any person wish this letter confirmed, you are at liberty to give my name in private."

The J. B. L. Cascade is shown and explained at the Warne Drugg Co., Limited, Druggists, Peterborough, Ont. The J. B. L. Cascade is an invention perfected by Dr. Chas. A. Tayrrell of New York, and has done more during the past few years to restore health and lessen disease than all other means combined. Ask for booklet explaining all about Internal Bathing and what it has done for others. It is free, or write to Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College Street, Toronto.

OLDEST BUSINESS HOUSE IN THE CITY.

Robert Fair & Co. Still Doing Business at the Same Old Stand.

Just as if forty years and more had not passed, the firm of Robert Fair & Co. is "still doing business at the same old stand" in the same old way.

Mr. Fair was seen to-day behind his desk looking after business details as usual and with the same pleasing expression as ever, ready to rehearse the latest amusing "yarn" or to give his experience on the state of trade. In answer to a question, Mr. Fair remarked that "it is somewhat early yet for any definite manifestations of reviving business, but there are unmistakable indications of a steady but sure return to normality. At the present moment there is a noticeable movement in merchandise, and, undoubtedly, with the "sales" that have been in progress for the past month and a half and the clearing up that has been taking place in connection with stock-takings, there must be an early demand for staple goods that will be accentuated with the near approach of Spring. I believe that before two months are over we will have passed into a new era of business and will have very largely forgotten the trying experiences of the past six months."

"Speaking of "sales" Mr. Fair, it has been noticed that your firm has not put on any "special sale" this season, so far."

"No, sir. Special sales are all right, — advertising is a good thing, and artistic window displays help, too, but the first rule in the book is to have the goods. The next rule is to have the goods in the right time, and to sell them at the right time. It doesn't take a very long head to know when Spring is coming, or when Easter goods are going to be in demand. Every dog has his day, you know, and the man who finds himself loaded up with a big stock of Irish Setters when Bull Terriers are all the rage, can't help having "special sales."

Apparently there was force in this one reason why Robert Fair & Co. did not indulge in a special sale this season. It was learned, however, that the stock had been re-marked to accord with present ruling prices.

The high standard of Robert Fair & Co. values, unvarying throughout the numerous departments, have placed this reputable and long-established firm in the first rank of sound business concerns. "It's Fair's Way."

"APRIL FOLLY" IS LATEST SCREEN HIT FOR MARION DAVIES

Cosmopolitan Story Gives Pretty Star Excellent Chance to Show Her Ability.

MARION DAVIES' latest Cosmopolitan Production, "April Folly," which is being released by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and will be shown at the Regent Theatre next week, was adapted from Cynthia Stockley's story of the same name. As a magazine serial, it attracted unusual attention. The theme is a most novel one, relating how April Poole, played by Miss Davies, in search of material for a new novel, impulsively offered to exchange places with the daughter of an earl who was on her way to South Africa with a famous diamond. Private detectives and a pair of international jewelry thieves are trailing the gem. April has several thrilling encounters on shipboard and a pretty affair of the heart. The climax is startling, but entirely satisfatcory. Conway Tearle is the leading man, and the picture was under the direction of Robert Z. Leonard. It is a Paramount Artcraft picture.

GUAGE TO INDICATE FLUID IN AUTO TANK

The simplest form of gauge for indicating the level of fluids in a tank consists of a cork float to which is attached a brass strip slotted for the guides and also for the twisted propeller strip. The whole is secured to the filler cap of the tank. The action is: when the tank is empty the float is at the bottom of the guides. The indicating pointer is at the empty position on the outside of the cap, and as the float rises the propeller strip is rotated, causing the pointer to move around to the full position. The friction should be reduced to a minimum and a glass bead is fitted as a bottom bearing to assist in overcoming this.—Motor Boating.

BREACH ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT HEADS THE POLICE COURT DOCKET

LIST OF CHARGES DEALT WITH BY POLICE DEPARTMENT DURING PAST YEAR.

The annual report of Chief Constable Samuel Newhall, submitted to the Board of Police Commissioners at their recent meeting, and which will be presented to the Council at the March meeting, contains some interesting material. The figures indicate that crime is on the decrease, and to The Examiner yesterday Chief Newhall attributed this satisfactory state of affairs to the maintenance on the local force of three detectives. "The endeavour of the department is to prevent crime rather than prosecute it," he said. The work of Peterborough's detectives is partly responsible for the fortunate absence of crime in this city but they are not resting on their laurels, and their activity is respected by all crooks all over the country, with the result that Peterborough has been blacklisted by the criminals of the Dominion.

When the new detective's office in the station, recommended and passed by the commissioners, is fitted up, Sergt. Detective W. Meagher and his staff will have facilities provided that will greatly further the scope of their work.

In his report, besides recommending the purchase of more powerful automobile for the department, he recommends further purchases, such as arms, handcuffs, whistles, batons, and two new bicycles, so that there will be a total of five.

The Estimates.

The estimated salaries of the police force for 1921 are as follows:

Chief Constable	$2,436.50

Ages of Offenders.

The figures of the Chief Constable in his annual report covering his year's work show that most of the persons arrested or summoned during the year were between 21 to 30 years of age. Out of 448 records, 124 were in this class, 102 were between 31 and 40 and 97 between 16 to 20 years of age. Only 64 were between 41 and 50 years.

Between 16 and 30 years of age crime finds young men and women easier victims than between 31 and 50 years of age. Few offences are committed under 16 years of age, but these youngsters break the law more than their grandparents' over 60. There were 23 persons in court last year under 16 years of age and only 16 over 60 years of age.

From the Chief's figures the cases in the juvenile court were the result of cycling on the sidewalk, breaches of the Children's Protection Act, receiving stolen goods, shop-breaking and theft.

The Illiterate.

Out of the 448 persons arrested or summoned only five persons could not read or write. This would not indicate that illiteracy is on the increase. Obviously most of those figuring in police court cases are males. Out of 448 persons only 16 were females, nine of these were married and seven single. Married life must have a soothing influence on man's law-breaking tendencies, for there were exactly twice as many bachelors in the court last year as benedicts.

There were better than four residents to one non-resident dealt with by Magistrate Dumble during the year, the figures being 363 to 83.

The Nationality.

The nationality of the offenders follows:

Canada	377
England	26
Greece	5
Ireland	4
Italy	4
Russia	10
Scotland	2
Sweden	2
United States	7

Religion of Offenders.

Baptist	37
Episcopalian	88
Hebrew	14
Methodist	113
None	1
Orthodox	4
Presbyterian	51
Roman Catholics	131
Salvation Army	7

Trade or Profession.

Most of those who committed offences during the year were classed in occupation as laborers, but surprising as it may seem, school boys came next, and after the students, farmers. The three figures are, respectfully, 190, 19 and 17. Other occupations which were represented in police court by ten or more followers were chauffeurs 10, machinists 12, and mechanics 12. The other trades number only one or two. There were no ministers in court during the year. There were 2 physicians, one veterinary srugeon, one banker, one bank clerk, one druggist, one editor, one engineer, one musician, four hotelkeepers and just nine housewives found themselves in the precincts of the court. Eight men who were in court had no occupation. They did not even call themselves laborers.

Property Recovered.

In 1920 property reported lost totalled $3,462.09. Of this $3,185.59 was recovered. Value of property unrecovered was $276.50.

The value of property reported stolen was $9,684.99, the value of property recovered and returned to owner $8,334.39, and the value of the property unrecovered $350.60.

256 doors and windows of shops and offices were found insecure by the police on night duty last year and reported upon.

Peterborough's dog population must be on the decrease, for in 1920 the revenue from dog licenses was $522.00, $85 less than in 1919.

Accidents.

During the year the police investigated and made official reports on 64 accidents.

Telephone Calls.

7,550 telephone calls were responded to by the police during 1920.

Fires.

During 1920 the police department attended 22 fires.

Unoccupied Dwelling Houses.

Twice every night during the year 48 unoccupied dwelling houses were visited by the officers and none were entered or tampered with while having such protection.

There were more persons arrested or summoned in May, 1920 than in any other month of the year, May had 60, February coming second with 53 and September, ranking third with 47.

Total estimates of expenditure of the police department for 1921 are $25,636.50, of which total salaries represent four-fifths.

KAISER BRONCHITIS IN EXILE

Thousands Liberated

What! have you not heard the joyful tidings? Bronchitis has been exiled—kicked right out of society—and 100,000 Canadians liberated from the bondage of this disease. Every trace of bronchial trouble is blown to atoms by the world's most effective disease-destroyer, Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. No wonder people are rejoicing! No longer do they dread the effects of coughs, colds, asthma, etc., and so anxious are they that others should benefit also, hundreds of letters have been written proclaiming the merits of this wonderful miraculous remedy. Here is one letter:—To Whom it may Concern: "This is to certify that I had been suffering for over three weeks with bronchitis and was advised to try Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. I purchased a bottle and after the third dose I received relief, and before the bottle was finished, I was perfectly well. In making the above assertion I have no hesitation in saying it is the best remedy I ever came in contact with for heavy colds and bronchitis."—(Signed), Mrs. M. Harding, c/o Dustless Brush Co., Toronto. The original of this testimonial may be seen at W. K. Buckley, Limited, 142 Mutual St., Toronto. This mixture, proven in thousands of Canadian households, will give you sure relief. It cannot fail. Seventy-five cents is the price that stands between you and the road to health. LINDSAY CARRYING PEAK LOAD OF DEBT.

LINDSAY, Feb. 19.—President R. Kylie, in an address to the Board of Trade here, said Lindsay cannot afford to stand still. He pointed out that the town is carrying the peak load of public debt, taxes are as high as the people can stand, and that school maintenance costs $30,000 a year, not counting capital invested in grounds and buildings. Hence the aim should be to keep the natural increase of population at home.

SAYS THEY ARE THE BEST ON THE MARKET

STEPHEN McLEAN'S TRIBUTE TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Nova Scotian Who Has Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and Found Them Good Recommends Them to All Who Suffer From Kidney Ills.

Whitney Pier, Sydney, N.S., Feb. 18.—(Special).—"Indeed I did find Dodd's Kidney Pills beneficial, so I recommend them as the best on the market."

This whole-hearted tribute comes from the lips of Mr. Stephen McLean, who resides at 1424 Victoria Road, this city. He is just one more of the thousands of Canadians who have tried Dodd's Kidney Pills for their kidney ills and found them good.

"Any sufferers who want to recuperate their original health I would recommend them to use Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mr. McLean states further.

There is no disease so common in Canada as kidney disease. The kidneys are the scavengers of the body. Their work is to strain all the impurities out of the blood. It is easy to see how neglecting them may be the cause of serious illness. Rheumatism, dropsy, urinary troubles, diabetes and heart disease are some of the penalties that follow neglecting the call of sick kidneys.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy sick kidneys are crying for.

GETTING READY FOR FAMOUS BOAT RACE.

Oxford and Cambridge Will Clash on March 30.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—Already Cambridge University is commencing preliminary training for the historic 'Varsity Boat race which is annually rowed on the Thames in London. This year Oxford and Cambridge crews for the first time in many years will meet after Easter, the date being set for March 30th. Cambridge's training starts as usual in homewaters at Cambridge, but later in the month the light blues will go to Ely. Later they will put in a week probably at Marlow on the Upper Thames.

The Dark Blues (Oxford) will start their training a week later than Cambridge. The weeks between now and the date of the Classic race will be a time of keen interest for English sportsmen all over the country who will follow closely the work of each individual member of both crews, until the great struggle comes.

As far as is known at present no Americans are likely to be included in the 'Varsity crews, but the season is young and promising material is to be found in the American colonies at both the English universities.

The personnel of the respective crews is of course not yet settled. However, at Cambridge it is likely that at least five "old blues" from last year's victorious boat will be included. The president, H. H. S. Hartley, will stroke the boat again. Other men quite likely to represent Cambridge are J. A. Campbell, (Jesus College), who rowed at "6" last year, and H. O. C. Boret, also of last year's boat.

Horses should always be watered before they are fed, as there is some danger of working the oats into the gut if the process is reversed.

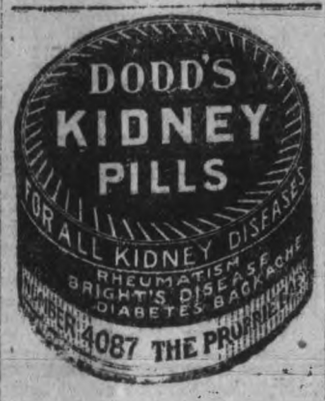
NOTABLE LECTURE ON HORTICULTURE

By Dr. F. E. Bennett Next Tuesday Evening.

On the report of Dr. J. E. Middleton, President of the Horticultural Society, acting as delegate to the Annual Meeting of the Horticultural Association held in Toronto last week, confirmation is given that the local Society is particularly fortunate in securing Dr. F. E. Bennett, President of the St. Thomas Society, to give his notable illustrated lecture on horticulture next Tuesday evening, February 22nd, at 8 p.m., in the Board of Trade rooms.

Dr. Bennett has given his lecture to numerous societies in Ontario and the United States, and has performed a great service in the development of horticulture.

The results attained by the St. Thomas Society reflect directly upon the interest and energy which our visitor next Tuesday has taken in beautifying that city.



New Drug Is Only Drug Known That Acts on Liver

Will be a Revelation to Suffering Humanity.

Cleans Liver in a few minutes.

Symptoms of Liver Trouble are: Sallow Complexion, Bad Taste in Mouth on Rising, Tired, Out of Sorts, etc.

This new drug is called Tanatex Calomel. It acts only on the Liver, which immediately relieves many troubles, as: Rheumatism, Constipation, Boils, Kidney Pains, etc. No Salts, Seidlitz, are necessary after taking, because it is self-eliminating. It does not have a nauseating, sickening feeling the next day, like so many similar drugs. You no doubt have been taking all sorts of laxatives, salts, castor oil, etc., with only temporary results. The reason is that none of these drugs act upon the Liver; they merely draw liquid from the blood and tissues, causing a great flush. What you need is something like Tanated Calomel, which causes the Bile to be excreted from the Liver into the Bowel, causing a natural elimination of the waste. You know waste allowed to remain in the system causes a multitude of troubles. I can venture to say that 90 per cent. of all sickness is due directly to this very thing. What is generally the first thing your doctor does when you are sick? He gets your Bowels operating so as to eliminate wastes in your Bowels, which is poisoning your system. Now, in order to be happy, healthy, vigorous, vivacious, bright, alert, keen to observe and understand, you must first keep your Liver clean, or you are coaxing all sorts of trouble upon yourself. Doctors recommend that you take a tablet before eating and one at bedtime. Just get some of these, and I feel assured that you will feel as if you had a new lease of life.

These Tanated Calomel Tablets are for sale by F. C. Wood, Druggist.

THE MINSTREL SHOW OF TO-DAY

A well known writer said: "Minstrelsy is not dead," and if you care to delve into the matter for your own satisfaction, it would be well for you to atend the performance of Herbert's Minstrels at the Grand on Monday.

The tremendous success of minstrelsy is due to the fact that it savors of all that is lovable to the average theatre-goer. Sweet singing, clever dancing, funny comedians, unique novelties, lavish wardrobe, beautiful scenic effects, and embracing some parts of all the arts of the stage. This splendid organization has a wealth of admirable features, so distinct, so novel as to make it the greatest one of its kind to-day, the grandest, most sumptuous of any company bearing the name of minstrels.

Herbert's Minstrels have never used the cheap trappings and wardrobe, so often seen with shows of this character, but on the other hand, have always taken pride in having the best dressed minstrel show on the road, both on the street and stage, that master costumers could produce. Always presenting a clean, snappy performance of unusual merit, that moves with the precision of machinery, embracing all that is best in minstrelsy.

At noon on the principal streets will be given a parade that is a diversion ,and the Great Adams will be with it. Miss it and you miss a treat.

STANFIELD'S, TRURO, FIFTY YEARS IN BUSINESS.

Half a Century Making Woollens for Canadians.

TRURO, N. S., February 19. — With the banquet tendered by the Mayor and Town Council last night there came to the close a five days' convention of Stanfield's Limited at which were gathered their chief executives in the manufacturing plant and their sales representatives from one end of Canada to the other.

Stanfield's Limited is an outstanding illustration that training, ability and stirling integrity win out.

It is just a little over fifty years since the late C. E. Stanfield who served his apprenticeship in his uncle's woollen mills in Bradford, England, came to Canada and established a mill in Prince Edward Island, a few years later moving to Truro, where his sons John and Frank, were brought up in the business. The senior, John Stanfield, spending five years in different United States' plants in order to supplement the practical knowledge gained in the home mills. After returning to Canada, he in 1896, in partnership with his brother, bought out their father's mills and the business started on the basis of honest value and has grown steadily from year to year. In fact, for the quarter century there has not been a single unprofitable year, 1920 being the record with a total turnover of three million dollars.

John Stanfield has been President and Frank Stanfield Vice-President of Stanfield's Limited for twenty-five year. During this whole period there has not been a serious accident or fire and on account of the close connection of the executive with operatives there has never been any labor troubles.

Stanfield's early appreiated(the value of publicity in building up a business, realizing that making good goods was only half the battle and the public must be told about them. They have backed their judgment by making the best goods they knew how and telling the public about them through the press.

A very pleasing close of the week's convention was the receipt of the news of John Stanfield's appointment as Senator from Nova Scotia.

HIGHER TAX RATE IN SPITE OF ASSESSMENT INCREASE IS FORECAST

CITY TREASURER ADAMS ENUMERATES SOME OF THE APPROPRIATIONS WHICH EXCEED THOSE OF LAST YEAR, AND ALSO THE NEW DEMANDS WHICH THE COUNCIL MUST PROVIDE FOR—SUBURBAN ROADS AND MOTHERS' ALLOWANCES INCLUDED FOR FIRST TIME.

In spite of the rather heavy increases in Peterboro's assessment, this year's tax rate bids fair to exceed last year's levy of 35 1-2 mills, according to the forecast of City Treasurer Adams, who has already made as close a survey of the situation as possible from the incomplete information available.

The Council this week began the preparation of its budget when the Board of Works laid out a programme calling for an appropriation of $50,300, together with the $40,000 surface drainage scheme to be paid for by issuing debentures.

Ald. Whitehouse's committee estimated their expenditure for 1920 at $44,350, but they actually spent practically as much as they are now asking for this year. Hence the Board of Works' appropriation, if it stands as listed on Thursday night, runs up an increase of $6,000 in round numbers.

Mayor Urges Speed.

Mayor McIntyre has been stepping on the heels of the chairmen of his committees urging them to bring down their estimates as soon as possible. Next week will find Ald.Morrison's Fire, Water and Light Committee in action, and the other departments are expected to submit their requisitions at once. And nowhere is there a sign of reductions from last year's tax level. Already there have been intimations that the pruning hook, that favorite instrument of the specialists in economy will be whetted and put to use, but from the first glance at the 1921 demands, the only weapon that might have any effect in depressing the tax rate would be a bootjack or a blunt piece of lead pipe.

New Expenditures.

The budget will have to make room for four new items of expenditure. Of these the largest is the sum of $14,000 for the re-building and repairing of roads within the designated suburban area. Ratepayers of the city are probably aware that when the County adopted the provincial Good Roads scheme, the local Farmers' Government automatically involved the city, without its consent, but according to the provisions of the Highways Act. The work was begun by the newly established Suburban Area Commission last year and $6,000 was spent before the frost put an end to the operations. No provision was made for meeting this expenditure because the Commission in its inceptive stage had no specific plans and besides it did not begin work until after the 1920 rates were struck.

So the first Suburban Road Bill is now before the council, and pinned to it is another for $8000 to cover this year's work on the township roads radiating from the city. The Hon. Mr. Biggs, Minister of Highways, declared this week that good roads lead to prosperity. That optimistic dictum should afford some consolation to those citizens who being unable to qualify for membership in the Automobile Club must take it for granted that their money is being usefully spent on these de luxe roads, which they will probably never see. Besides they should take some reflex pleasure from the knowledge that their more fortunate neighbors are sharing with the farmers the enjoyment of speeding through the Spring and Summer on these bright highways of prosperity. That $14,000 is one new item.

For Fire Protection.

Another is an increase of $12,000 for hydrant rentals which the Utilities Commission are asking this year. This is where the cost of the filtration plant filters through to the pocket book of every ratepayer. Faced with the heavy expenditure of $300,000 or thereabouts, if the work is undertaken this year, the Utilities Commission figured out that the public was getting off too easily on its contributions for fire protection. Although the presence of colon bacilli does not diminish the extinguishing quality of the water pumped raw from the river, when the filtration plant is completed the firemen will draw off a lot of the purified water at fires, and in their frequent practices. And as this is a public service naturally the ratepayers should assume a share of the cost of the filtration plant because it becomes a major unit in the city's fire protection system. Hence debit the Council with $12,000 a year.

For Mothers' Allowances.

Then there is another new appropriation of $10,000, which is the estimated demand from the Provincial Government for Peterboro's contribution to the Mothers' Allowance Commission.

This department of State aid to widows is only completing its first year of existence, and so far there has been no definite notification of the amount this city will be called upon to pay. The $10,000 estimate was furnished by Mr. Frank Dobbin, chairman of the local Mothers' Allowance Board.

Unemployment Relief.

The fourth extraordinary item of expenditure is the appropriation of $2,000 for unemployment relief. This is the sum passed by the council in January to be dispensed to those citizens who are out of work and in need of charity. The Provincial and Federal governments each contribute $2,000 if that entire amount is distributed before normal conditions of employment are restored. Otherwise they each pay one-third of the sum disbursed.

These four special items make a total of $38,000,equivalent to approximately $15,000.

The Regular Departments.

Going back to the regular spending departments, including the Board of Works, which has been previously mentioned. The Public Library Board have increased their estimate from $5600 last year to $8,000. This will probably be regarded as a moderate and acceptable appropriation.

The Board of Education in its requirement for the year have increased their estimates for public school purposes by $29,000, an for the Collegiate Institute $4,000, a total increase of $33,400.

The Police Commission last year asked for $23,991.50, and Chief Newhall's first budget calls for $25,636.50. It has been approved by the Commission, but under a legislative amendment the Council this year has the power to refuse payment if they think the Police Department is too expensive. Some of the aldermen are anticipating their peculiar pleasure of pruning the Police Departments' estimates. There is a rather pronounced sentiment that Peterboro does not need the staff of constables and detectives that was handed over to Chief Newhall, or at least that the force should not be increased. Other members of the council who say that they are anxious not to hamper the Chief Constable in his administration, may be willing to pass the appropriation for the full amount estimated.

The Nicholls Hospital Board have applied for an increased grant, and probably it was the prospect of these new problems that prompted Ald. Turner to remark in January that the customary special grants might have to be cut off the list this year. However, from the present outlook City Treasurer Adams predicts a higher tax rate for the new year. The Council's budget will soon be compiled and the exact figures will then be available.

A comparison of this year's assessment with that of 1920 is shown in the following table. The general city rates providing for the general expenses of the city are applied on the assessment of 115,330,375. Public school and separate school rates are levied on their separate assessments:

SCHANG HOLDS OUT ON YANKEES' TERMS.

Catcher Obtained in Big Trade With Boston Refuses to Sign Contract.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—Wally Schang, the speedy and hard-hitting catcher of the Yanks, has not departed for Hot Springs, Ark., to boil out before going to Shreveport, La., the training camp. Schang is not satisfied with the contract offered him by Owners Ruppert and Huston and he declined to leave with the advance squad Tuesday, although he was ostensibly to be in charge of the squad.

When asked about his failure to leave for Hot Springs, Schang said: "I did not go with the others to Hot Springs because I want an increase in salary. My living expenses in New York will be far greater than in Philadelphia and I think that I am entitled to more money.

"I haven't anything against the Yanks or their owners. I am glad to be with them and hope my contract can be adjusted so that I will be able to go to Shreveport with the main squad on March 1."

Miller Huggins, who arrived in New York from his home in Cincinnati, declared that Schang had written to the local office in regard to some changes in his contract, declaring that his expenses would be considerably increased as a resident of New York. The Yankee manager was not inclined to regard the case as that of a stubborn hold-out, he declared. It is probable that he will confer with Schang within the next few days.

Schang, who came to the Yankees with Hoyt, Harper and McNally in the deal for Pratt, Ruel, Thormahlen and Vick, was under contract to the Red Sox for the season of 1921, having signed for two years when he joined the Red Sox last Spring. As is customary in baseball transfers the New York club assumed the Boston contract. According to Huggins, the letter which Schang sent to New York made no positive demands, but was more in the line of suggesting certain changes. For this reason the player had not been regarded as a holdout, and some surprise was expressed over the statements which the player made in Philadelphia.

A year ago Schang refused to join the Red Sox, demanding a contract of $12,500 for the season. Owner Harry Prazee declined to meet this figure and Schang declared he would devote his time to passenger aeroplane flights at a park near Philadelphia. He remained home throughout the training season and when the Red Sox came to New York for their first series in the Spring a conference was arranged between Frazee and Schang. The player signed for two years, but the figures were not announced. Report had it that he would receive $10,000 per year.

Huggins admitted that some of his veterans were slow in signing the papers, but he added that most of his players were in line for the season. One reason for the failure was the fact that the Yankee contracts were not sent out until the last week in January, at which time all other clubs had several players under contract. The correspondence which always develops between players looking for better contracts and the club officials has been going on for the past ten days, and Huggins is confident that all his players will be in line for the opening of the training rampaign at Shreveport.

SPORT COCKTAILS.

Clark Griffith says the American League will prove a surprise to some of the more optimistic managers this season. The Washington owner comes forth with the remark that Cleveland won't repeat and the White Sox have no chance. He adds there are four or five clubs who have a chance to win.

—o—

Ty Cobb's Tigers are going to receive a lot of attention when they get down to San Antonio for Spring training. An entire floor of the Travellers' Hotel will be occupied by the athletes and a special lounging and writing room is being fixed up.

—o—

Tris Speaker is casting about for another backstop. He is weak in reserve power should O'Neil get injured. Thomas has developed a bad arm and Nunamaker never was more than an ordinary backstop aside from his ability to "bust them" in the pinches.

—o—

Regardless of the numerous deals put through by Miller Huggins this Winter only two changes will be noticeable when the Kilties take the field for the opening battle in April. Bobby Roth will be in centre field in place of Ping Bodie, and "Chick" Fewster will succeed Pratt at second.

—o—

Manager Robinson of the Dodgers is still on the hunt for a promising back-stop. His latest acquisition is Frank Mills, who did the catching for the Atlanta club of the Southern Association in 1920.

Miss Eva Outram and Miss Thelma Paxman Starred For Teams.

Many interested spectators of both teams watched a very fast game last night from five to six o'clock, when the Y.W.C.A. girls clashed with the Lady Bankers in a hockey game. The puck was chased from one end of the ice to the other, with many thrills, including back and body checking. Miss Eva Outram on the Bankers' team, made some fast lone rushes, and Miss Thelma Paxman of the Y. W.C.A. aggregation, stopped some hard shots. The line-up was as follows:

Bankers — Misses Eva Outram, Helen Bulmer, Z. Mills, Martha Kirn and Alberta Curtiss.

Y.W.C.A.— Miss Madge Evans, Alice Ebbs, M. Stuart, Thelma Paxman and Mailia Connor.

Mr. F. Bradburn coached the young ladies and refereed the game.

AIMS LEGAL THREAT AT SIX-DAY RACES.

Alderman McCourt Sponsors Measure to Limit Number of Hours Cyclists May Ride.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The international six-day race, scheduled for Madison Square Garden the week of March 7-12, will be conducted under different conditions from any previous race or entirely abandoned, if an ordinance introduced at yesterday's session of the Board of Aldermen is passed and signed by Mayor John F. Hylan. Alderman F. McCourt is sponsor for the measure, which is aimed to regulate the hours of bicycle riding and limit the amount of time during a single day a rider will be permitted to spend on his steel mount. The proposed ordinance is now before the Commitee on General Welfare of the Board of Aldermen.

If passed and signed by Mayor Hylan, the ordinance will prohibit continuous riding of teams through the twenty-four hours of every day, limiting the hours of competition to the period between 7 o'clock in the morning and 11 o'clock at night, and allowing the cyclists to ride but six hours at a time. The proprietor, occupant or lessee of the place where such race is conducted, who allows any violation of the proposed ordinance, will be subject to a fine of $100 for each offense, on the establishment of guilt, and, in default o payment of the fine, a sentence o not less than thirty days in the City Prison is provided.

Wally Schang's demand for more money was a big jolt to Miller Huggins. The former Bostonian asked for $12,500 a year ago, although it was never made public whether or not he was given the price. Schang is counted on by Huggins to do practically all the backstopping for the Kilties this Summer.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

THE WEEK IN WALL STREET.

(Canadian Press).

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Trading in stocks and bonds this week was attended by a series of irregular selling movements and enforced liquidation, the re-action keeping pace with further unsettled conditions in the financial, industrial and commercial markets. The losses were most severe in shipping, oil and motor issues, but gradually extended to steels and railway equipments, as well as numerous shares of no definite character. The declines were accompanied by rumours of further dividend reductions or suspensions, notably in the case of Atlantic Gulf and West Indies. Rails, especially coalers and Pacifics, held their ground, although earnings for the most part offered additional proof of curtailed industrial production and diminished tonnage. The Reading dissolution plan met with little favour, judged from the heavy selling of those shares and the organization of a protective committee.

Call money was again offered as low as six per cent. on exchange and a fraction under that quotation in the open market, but time funds held firm and the attitude of the Federal Reserve Board gave little hope of any immediate relaxation for such accommodations.

International credits, as expressed in terms of foreign exchange, were extremely unsettled. A temporary improvement was off-set by advices from London and Paris, which indicated that the German indemnity plan is likely to undergo considerable revision.

WALL STREET.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The selling of oils and shippings in very large volume was resumed at the opening of to-day's short stock market session. Within the first few minutes losses of from one to five points were registered by Royal Dutch, General Asphalt, Mexican Petrolemum, Pan-American Petroleum and Atlantic Gulf and West Indies. The latter at 49 3-4 established a new low quotation for the current movement. Motors and their subsidiaries were lower as well as Leathers and Railway Equipments. Rails reflected support, especially coalers and trans-continentals. Exchange on London was unchanged from yesterday's late set back.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL Feb. 19.—Although the local Stock Exchange was fairly active during the early trading this morning, nothing of much importance transpired, the leaders for the most part remaining unchanged around their yesterday's closing levels. This was the case with Abitibi, Atlantic Sugar and Brazilian which were unchanged at 44, 30 and 34 respectively. Bromptonweakened half a point during the first half hour to 47. Laurentide was unchanged at 87 1-2 while National breweries was fractionally weaker at 52.

REVIVAL---CHURCH OF GOD MISSION

There will be no meeting to-night at the Mission, but to-morrow there are to be two services—one in the afternoon at 2.45, the other at night at 7 o'clock.

A mistake was made in yesterday's notice in announcing that the evening meeting for Sunday would be at 7.45.

Next week there will be services every night, except Saturday at the usual hour, 7.45 o'clock.

An increasing interest is being manifested in these meetings, and the Evangelist is looking for a larger attendance next week.

To-morrow afternoon the subject is to be "The Favour of God," and in the evening, "Must We Sin?"

Do not forget that Sunday's evening service will be at 7 o'clock instead of 7.45, as previously announced.

At the corner of Hunter and George Streets, over Royal Bank. We have a commodious, comfortable Hall, which will accommodate a goodly number of people. Everybody welcome. 1d

WILL ADDRESS THE PETERBORO BRANCH ENGINEERS INSTITUTE

Next Thursday evening, February 24th, at the regular meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, the speaker will be Alex. J. Grant, M.E. I.C., at present of St. Catharines, but formerly of this city.

Mr. Grant will give an address on the new Welland ship canal, and describe this mighty work, second only to the Panama canal in size.

Mr. Grand was for many years, as chief engineer of the Trent Canal, a resident of Peterborough, and his many friends will be glad to have this oportunity of hearing about his new work. All citizens will be welcome.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

Rev. James Rollins will commence on Sunday evening in St. Andrew's Church an important series of sermons on big questions connected with life and religion. The first two sermons will have to do with the Christian Church. There is not a voice heard to-day saying a word against Christ. There are, however, people who do not go to church—some who go further and try to injure the Church. Is religion the only thing in the world that should not be organised? Every member of St. Andrew's Church should be present. People who wish to leave the world better than they found it, and are hesitating as to whether they can do their best by playing a lone hand or by identifying themselves with organised religion, should hear what the minister of St. Andrew's Church has to say on this great question.

S. A. NOTICE

Very special services will be conducted at the Temple this week end when Envoys Burditt and Alward will have charge. This will be the first visit of Envoy Burditt to this city, and without doubt will be a red letter day in the local Corps as the Envoy is one of the Army's cleverest officers in Canada. He has had many years' experience and is one of the Army's most valued special officers at this date. He is a very fluent and magnetic speaker and always holds his audience. Envoy Alward is not unknown in Peterboro, having visited here twice before and his many friends will appreciate his coming back again. The Envoy's searching talks on Holiness and his singing will never fail to attract large audiences. If you want a spiritual feast do not fail to come to the Temple to-night and all day to-morrow to hear these two men of God.

Seats free and all welcome.

ARCHBISHOP CLUNE DEFENDS THE SINN FEIN MOVEMENT.

(Canadian Press).

LONDON, Feb. 19. — Great Britain's campaign against the Irish Republican movement was denounced yesterday by Right Rev. Patrick Joseph Clune, Archbishop of Perth, Australia, upon his return to that city from Europe, says a despatch to the London Times. While visiting in Ireland, Archbishop Clune took part in the unofficial negotiations looking to the restoration of peace between the British Government and leaders of the Sinn Fein. After declaring that he subscribes to every word of the recent statement issued by De Valera, in which extravagant charges were made against the British Government, and declaring that the British policy has embittered moderate Irishmen, the Archbishop acknowledged that he had been shown great kindness from the leaders of both sides, and declared that many upholders of Great Britain's policy had felt Lloyd George was anxious for a peaceful solution of the Irish problem.

"Interested persons have found a way, however, to frustrate such schemes by working in high places," he added.

20,000 CHINESE DIED IN A FIELD.

Waited For Food Which Never Arrived, Then Slowly Passed Away.

NEW YORK, Feby. 19.—Thirty thousand Chinese gathered on a great bare field outside Tientsin, China, waited patiently for food which never arrived and then slowly died there, E. S. Glines, American engineer, reported upon his arrival here after passing six months in the famine stricken areas of North China.

A Pitiful Sight.

The condition of the starving hordes was so pitiful, Mr. Glines said, that he "did not have the heart to take photographs of such misery." He said that the crowd at Tientsin had gathered because they believed food would reach them there more quickly than in the country. Along a roadside near the field, he told of seeing the bodies of a whole family—father, mother, and five children—each a few yards apart, where they had dropped and died.

Five Provinces Affected.

"The crop failures have been almost complete in the five great provinces that make up the "northern part of China proper—Chihli, Shantung, Shansi, Shensi and Honan," said Mr. Glines. "This is the part of the country around Peking, south of Mongolia and Manchuria."

Explaining why the sections of China not stricken by famine were unable to relieve the starvation districts, Mr. Glines said: "China is largely an agricultural nation. Ninety per cent. of the population lives on the tiny farms into which the country is divided. The Chinese work their land to the limit but they cannot raise more than enough o feed themselves. Each district can raise barely enough food to support its own people. That is why the 'prosperous' provinces have been able to do so little for the famine-stricken ones. They have not the food to send.

Only Scraps of Food.

"The crops in North China have failed since 1919. The people have been unable to get more than scraps of food from other parts of China. They have been unable to get much from outside because food has been high-priced all over the world. They have tried to move to better districts where they could raise crops but such districts are so far and they have had such poor resources that they have died like flies on he way.

Ten Million Starve.

"There is no question that more than 10,000,000 Chinese will starve to death this winter and spring unless food is rushed to them." He declared that millions will die despite aid, that the population of 45,000,000 in the famine districts is in such dire straits that it will be a physical impossibility to rush enough food to them to save all.

Great irrigation projects, control of flood producing streams, and improvement of transportation were cited by Mr. Glines as the only salvation of the agricultural and economic life of China.

"These things will be done in time," he said, "for China is awake, America will probably have a big part in this future of China, but we must lay aside these things for the present and devote every effort to getting food to the starving millions."

KEEP KEEN WATCH ON DISTRIBUTOR.

Remember Self-Starter is Not Supposed to Crank Engine Indefinitely.

Keep careful watch on your distributor. In case of a leak in the high-tension wires, a spark will jump and you can see it. But the spark may be jumping sinde and you do not know anything about it. So remove the cover occasionally and wipe out the dust. By this means trouble is avoided long before it can occur.

Starting and electric lighting systems require efficient batteries. For this reason the battery should receive careful attention. It should be inspected frequently and the plates of the cells kept covered with electrolyte. A little distilled water added at frequent intervals may obviate the necessity of a new battery.

If your car is equipped with the battery ignition system, always remember that the distributor points need cleaning frequently. Carefully follow the maker's instructions and you will enjoy a smooth-running engine.

Most self-starting systems have a fuse-box installed at an accessible point. The purchaser of a new car should acquaint himself with this as quickly as possible. Very often considerable trouble can be eliminated by the installation of a new fuse. This is a simple matter, but if not known may cause a lot of trouble and unnecessary expense.

When the self-starting device fails to start, the engine after reasonable trial, the trouble should be located without delay. One cannot expect too much from a small battery. The self-starter is not supposed to crank the engine indefinitely. Bear this in mind and you will prolong the life of your battery.

TO MAKE CRANBERRY SAUCE JUST RIGHT.

How many cooks know how to make cranberry sauce just right? There are many wrong ways to make it, but there is one right way. Allow half a cupful of cranberries for each person and measure out half as much sugar as cranberries and half as much water as sugar. Boil the cranberries and the water together in a saucepan without a cover. All bright-colored vegetables or fruit, if cooked in a dish without a cover, are clearer and prettier than when they are kept closely covered during the cooking.

When the berries are soft mash them with a spoon, remove from the fire, add the sugar and stir it in well. The result will be a thick sauce that will jelly when it is quite cold, and the skins of the berries will be of a bright, clear red, and so tender that there will be no need of straining the sauce.

The reason that berries cooked in this way are better is a very simple one. All vegetable cellulose is toughened by being boiled with sugar, but is made tender and soft by being boiled with acids. That is why a sour apple cooks more quickly than a sweet apple. When you wish pears, peaches and apples to keep their shape you cook them in sugar syrup. If cooked in water alone, they would "cook to pieces" because of the acid in them.

Acids have a similar effect on the tough connective tissue of meat. A stew made of the particularly tough but well flavored pieces of beef from the lower part of the shank will be tender in a shorter time if a dash of vinegar is added to the stew pot. A well known practice of the chefs at the hotels or clubs is to marinate a steak that is likely to be tough by rubbing it with a mixture of vinegar and a little oil—one part of oil to three or more parts of the vinegar. Some cooks immerse such a steak in a bath of oil and vinegar and leave it there two hours or longer; then they wipe dry and broil it. The result is a steak that is tender and of delicious flavor.

CONFERENCE ON EASTERN PROBLEM ON

REPORTED IN LONDON AGREEMENT FOR ALTERNATIONS OF SEVRES TREATY FAVORABLE TO TURKS LIKELY.

PREMIERS MEET FIRST

(Canadian Associated Press.)

London, February 21. — An agreement between Great Britain, France and Italy for alterations of the treaty of Sevres favorable to the Turks, seemed probable to-day, it was currently reported.

Lloyd George called early this morning on Premier Briand of France. They had a long conversation before proceeding to Downing Street for the conference with Foreign Minister Sforza of Italy. The latter formally presented to Lloyd George Italy's reasons for desiring a modification of the Sevres Treaty. It is known that the British Cabinet supports the changes in the treaty, which would favor the Turks.

The conference of the British Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George, Premier Briand of France and Foreign Minister Sforza of Italy, with representatives of Greece and Turkey, which opened in London to-day has for its object the settlement of important Near Eastern questions growing out of the Treaty of Sevres. In point of world interest and perplexity it is expected to rank with the now historic conferences of Hythe, Brussels and San Remo.

To Meet the Greeks.

One of the most interesting features of the gathering will be the meeting face to face of the delegates representing the new Greek government under King Constantine with the former Greek Premier Venizelos for the first time since Venizelos withdrew from Geece after the defeat of his ministry in the elections and the recall of the King.

This overturn in Greek affairs was an important factor in influencing the allies to call this conference.

A Difficult Issue.

One of the most difficult issues confronting the delegates will be the disposition of the port of Smyrna, and the semi-circle of adjacent territory on the Aegean Sea, 100 kilometers long and 100 kilometres broad, which under the terms of the treaty, were placed under the sovereignty of Greece.

Since the signing of the treaty of Seyvres, however, Turkey has demanded the abrogation of Greek rights in Smyrna as well as autonomy for Thrace. Thrace was given outright to Greece. The demand for autonomy in Thrace is made by the Turks despite the renuciation by the Ottoman Government of its sovereignty over Turkey in Europe outside of Constantinople, as well as its control over eight or more Islands in the Aegean Sea.

Turkish Sovereignty.

Maintenance of Turkish sovereignty over the territory awarded to Armenia is another demand of the Ottoman government, which is to come up for settlement. In the treaty, it was provided that Armenia was recognized as a free and independent state. Turkey accepted the proposal that the President of the United States should be the arbitrator as to the frontier in the provinces of Ezerum, Trebizond, Van and Bitlis, and to the access of Armenia to the sea.

Some Modifications.

Modifications of "the economic clauses of the treaty which infringe upon Turkish sovereignty and independence," will aso be sought. The treaty of Sevres provides that the Turkish government can contract no loan, internal or external, without the consent of a permanent English-French-Italian commission, whose duties include the supervision of all Ottoman Financial laws and the reformation of the country's monetary system. This commission is also to determine the amount of the annual sums to be paid by Turkey for the cost of occupation of her territory by allied troops.

Turkey's Army.

Turkey's desire to maintain a "defensive army" will also be considered by the delegates. The military clauses of the treaty forbade Turkey to have a fleet of military airplanes, and provided that all the fortifications along the Dardanelles were to be destroyed. The work of demolition is reported to be nearly complete. France, England and Italy were obligated to maintain an army of occupation. Turkey was allowed for police purposes a force of 35,000 men, with 15,000 special gendarmes to reinforce them in case of trouble and a bodygard of 700 for the Sultan.

Premier Lloyd George is expected

WARSAW ARSON CASE HEARING THIS MORNING

MRS. ROSE LARUSH, OF LAKEFIELD, ON TRIAL IN COUNTY COURT, CHARGED WITH BURNING HER HOUSE.

EVIDENCE CONCLUDED

On a charge of arson alleged to have been committed in the village of Warsaw on the night of November 16th, 1920, Mrs. Rose Larush, of Lakefield, was tried before Judge Huycke, in the County Court this morning. The evidence showed that she had been in her vacant house in Warsaw a short time befoe it was discovered to be in flames.

Crown Attorney Hatton conducted the prosecution and C. R. Widdifield defended Mrs. Larush.

Started into Smth.

Laura Sloan, the first witness called by Mr. Hatton, said that she lived in Millbrook. On November 16th, 1920, she was boarding with Mrs. Larush in Lakefield.

"On the night of Novemebr 16th I went for a drive with Mrs. Larush. She hired a horse at a livery stable in Lakefield. It was after 6 o'clock when we left. I was driving but Mrs. Larush told me which way to go. We drove in Smith township and then went to Mrs. Larush's house in the village of Warsaw. Mrs Larush went into the house and I drove on up the road because the horse would not stand. She stayed in the house about 15 minutes. Mrs. Larush had told me that she was going to Warsaw to get some jars and sealers."

Mr. Hatton—Did she bring them away with her?

Witness—No; she told me she had brought them downstairs and left them inside the door. She said she intended to return later in the week and get them.

Cross-examined by Mr. Widdifield—Why didn't you keep the horse in front of the house.

Miss Sloan—Because it would not stand still.

When she decided to go to Warsaw did you drive back through Lakefield?—Yes.

To Mr. Hatton, witness said Mrs. Larush used to go to Warsaw about once a week and was always accom-

COUNCIL OF THE LEAGUE IS MEETING

QUESTION OF GREAT IMPORTANCE TO ALLIES AND FORMER ENEMY NATIONS WILL BE CONSIDERED.

CANADA'S AMENDMENT

(Canadian Associated Press.)

PARIS, Feb. 21.— Questions of great importance to the Allied and former enemy nations were brought before the Council of the League of Nations when it met here to-day. These problems included the Allied attitude towards Danzig and Armenia, the proposed plebiscite in Lithunia and plans for Armenian relief.

A commission to study amendments to the covenant of the League which were proposed at Geneva, was to be named. Three of these amendments were especially important, one by Hon. C. J. Doherty, Canada, and a Dominion delegate, proposed that Article X, about which storms of opposition have raged, should be eliminated from the covenant. Two other were sponsored by Honorio Pueyrredon, Argenine. One would proclaim as members of the League all nations which have not announced their desire to remain outside and others would provide that all members of the League Council should be elected by the Assembly.

BABY BROUGHT TO LIFE BY USING A PULMOTOR TO-DAY

BORN APPARENTLY LIFELESS WAS SAVED BY KITCHENER LUNG MOTOR.

(Canadian Press.)

KITCHENER, Feb. 21.—Another life was saved last night by the use of the civic lung motor. Twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. A. Turskot, a boy and girl. The former was apparently lifeless and the attending physician, Dr. J. E. Hett, used artificial respiration without results. He finally called Fire Chief Guerin to bring the lung motor, and after twelve minutes, the first spark of life manifested itself. Additional application brought the young child back to life and this morning it was doing as well as his sister. No less than six lives have been saved by the use of the lung motor during the past year.

Believe Disappearance of Editor An Anti-Ford Plot

DETROIT, Feb. 21.—Detroit and Dearborn police are puzzled over the actions and disappearance of Henry Potter, of Philadelphia, editor of Facts, which in three issues has violently attacked Henry Ford, and who came here about a week ago to learn why his publication had been suppressed by Prosecuting Attorney Voorhies. Dearborn police profess to believe that a plot is on foot to annoy Henry Ford by working up a bogus "mysterious disappearance with fears of death by foul play," with Potter as the central figure.

Their suspicion is based on the appearance in the Dearborn police station of a man giving his name as H. A. Hamill, who said he was Henry Ford's chauffeur. He requested the police to search the River Rouge as he believed Potter, missing since Sunday, might have fallen into the river in an effort to see Mr. Ford. He said that Potter had been chased from the Ford estate on Sunday by guards and had said that he would see Mr. Ford despite guards. The ice on the river was in a treacherous condition.

William Ford, brother of the manufacturer, told the police later that there was no man named Hamill in Ford's employ.

Says He Had Interview.

Dearborn police received a telegram purporting to come from the Philadelphia publishers of Facts, asserting that Potter had seen Mr. Ford on Monday and had sent them an article based on the interview.

Additional evidence to support the theory of an anti-Ford plot, the police say, was given by Daisy Manning, a girl attendant at the Hotel Kendt in Dearborn, where Potter registered and spent Sunday. She is one of the last persons known to have seen the man. She said Potter had told her he had come to Dearborn to see Henry Ford, despite the fact that he had been warned if he came to Dearborn harm would befall him. Potter told her, she said, that a woman had called him by telephone at the Statler Hotel in Detroit and threatened him if he tried to see Ford, and that if he pursued "indignation" further he would regret it.

Miss Manning declared Potter spent most of Sunday talking to her. She said, it is declared, that he told her he had been followed by a detective from the moment he got off the train in Detroit, was being shadowed even then, but could not be scared. He had come down to Dearborn, he said, to learn something of the real life of the automobile magnate.

CONFLICTING DESPATCHES

(Canadian Associated Press.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 21.— Tiflis, the capital of the Georgian Republic, apparently is in the hands of the Bolsheviki, but reports reaching here state that fighting is still going on there.

Other despatches state the Soviet troops are pouring in on all railroads and highways towards Tiflis.

Georgia made an appeal to the Turkish Nationalist Assembly at Angora, asking for help, but the Assembly has voted to remain neutral. Greek warships have hastened to Batum to pick up Greek merchants and other refugees.

110 ARRESTED AT A COCK FIGHT IN TORONTO SUNDAY

POLICE MADE BIG HAUL, INCLUDING ONE LINDSAY MAN.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—Toronto experienced a revival of the long-eschewed art of cock-fighting during the nocturnal hours of Saturday night and Sunday morning, but the police cut short the entertainment when they descended in force upon the old Dominion Radiator Company building, corner of Dufferin Street and Melbourne Avenue about one a.m. on Sunday morning, and took into custody Robert Stewart, Queen Street West; John Maunder, Lindsay, Ont., and Richard Thompson, Hamilton, Ont., on charges of aiding and abetting a cock-fight, and 107 others on charges of frequenting the place. Twenty-three live roosters and two hens, and three dead roosters and two dead hens, the spoil of battle; the steel spurs used by the feathered fighters, and the cock-pit and the bleachers surrounding, were all confiscated by the police, and stored in Cowan Avenue Police Station for the time being. There being inadequate accommodation for the prisoners in Cowan Avenue Station, they were removed to Claremont Street, pending bail.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—One hundred and eight defendants in police court this morning pleaded guilty to aiding and abetting cock-fitting on Sunday morning at cocking game staged in an industrial plant in the west end of the city. No person was charged with actually conducting the fight. Over four thousand dollars was added to the city treasury as a result of the police raid and the trial of cases this morning.

All fighting fowl, value at several thousand dollars, have been impounded by the police who have not yet decides as to the final disposition.

CHOSEN FRIENDS ATTENTION.

THE REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING WILL NOT TAKE PLACE ON WEDNESDAY, FEB. 23, BUT ON TUESDAY, MARCH 22. AND ALSO ON THE 4TH TUESDAY IN EACH MONTH.

OPPOSED TO CONCERT ON SUNDAY EVE

MINISTERS ADOPT RESOLUTION OPPOSING PROPOSED CHARITY BENEFIT CONCERTS.

CHURCHES ENDORSE IT

Inasmuch as proposals have been made for the inauguration of a series of Sunday evening concerts in the Grand Opera House, we, the members of the Ministerial Association of this city, hereby declare that we are unalterably opposed to the holding of such concerts.

We recognize the claims of the charities, in the interests of which these concerts are ostensibly being promoted, and pledge ourselves to stand behind the charitable requirements of the city to an extent quite equal to any assistance that would come from the present proposal; but we fear that the Sunday evening concert is but a step toward the further secularization of the Lord's Day, a thing which, we believe, must, in the long run, prove detrimental to the best interests of the community of the individuals who compose it.

Signed—R. C. Blagrave, St. John's Anglican Church; J. F. Chapman, St. James' Methodist; W. R. Courage, St. George's Anglican; A. G. Doner, Bethany Tabernacle; M. Fraser, Gilmour Memorial Baptist; R. B. Grobb, All Saints' Anglican; F. E. Malott, Trinity Methodist; J. A. MacKenzie, Knox Presbyterian; W. E. Morrow, Park Street Baptist; R. Pogue, St, Paul's Presbyterian; J. Rollins, St. Andrew's Presbyterian; G. E. Ross, Mark Street Methodist; J. R. Webb, Murray Street Baptist; W. H. Young, George Street Methodist; S. Crookshanks, B. Greatrix, H. M. Manning, H. P. Neville.

The following Official Boards have endorsed the action of the Ministerial Association:—Wardens of St. John's Church, Official Board of St. James' Church; Wardens of St. George's Church; Deacons of Murray Street Baptist Church, Session and Managers of St. Andrew's Church, Session and Managers of St. Paul's Church, Deacons of Park Street Church, Session and Managers of Knox Church, Quarterly and Trustee Board of George Street Church, Wardens and Executive of All Saints' Church, Trustee Board of Mark Street Church, Quarterly Board of Trinity Church, Congregation of Bethany Tabernacle.

St. Luke's Church not having a rector to represent them in the Ministerial Association, the motion has not yet been submitted to them.

The above resolution was adopted by the Ministerial Association on Saturday morning, and read in the several churches yesterday morning.

It had been proposed by the local manager of the Grand Opera House that a series of Sunday evening concerts be held at which a silver collection would be taken in the interests of worthy local charities.

The above resolution was submitted to the official bodies of the various churches at special meetings held yesterday, and the action of the Ministerial Association was in every case heartily and unanimously approved without a single dissenting voice. The names of the bodies which took this action are as follow:

$300,000 LOSS FROM FIRE IN LEVIS, QUEBEC

SHEDS AND EIGHT CARS OF THE LEVIS COUNTY RAILWAY COMPANY DESTROYED THIS MORNING.

FIRE BRIGADE'S MISTAKE

(Canadian Press.)

QUEBEC, Feb. 21.—Damage estimated at three hundred thousand dollars was caused in Levis by fire which broke out this morning in the Levis county railway car sheds on Frazure street, destroying eight new cars recently bought by the company as well as sweepers and buildings which had been remodelled last year.

The fire originated in one of the new cars and communicated itself to the wooden walls of the building. The Levis fire brigade was summoned a few minutes after the blaze had broken out, but due to some misunderstanding, instead of proceeding to the scene of the fire, went to the Canadian National Railway station and lost much valuable time. Firemen and local residents prevented the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings. A number of horses belonging to the company were saved. The loss of the cars will mean unemployment for several days for the employees of the company.

LADIES' AID GAVE AN AMATEUR PLAY

On Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Willing Workers Mission Band of St. Andrew's Church, the Ladies' Aid gave an amateur play for the entertainment of the children of the congregation and their mothers. About fifty children were present and spent a most delightful time. The play was directed by Mrs. J. John and Mrs. W. J. Henry and a good musical program was presented also, as follows:

Instrumental selection — Miss Helen McFarlane.

Recitation—Miss Eleanor Wilgar.

Vocal Solo, Miss Dorothy Clarke

Recitation—Miss "Pat" Clarke.

A dainty tea was served for the children, and a collection taken up for the Willing Workers Mission Band.

Wall Street Explosion Is Still An Unsolved Mystery

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. — After 5 months of investigation of the Wall street explosion, the September Grand Jury made a presentment on Saturday, finding that the explosion was not an accident, but "a dastardly crime."

The presentiment confesses mystification, however, as to the identity of the criminals, as to the motive for the crime, as to most of the details of its execution and even as to the kind of explosion of which the bomb was made.

The Grand Jury especially deplores the lack of observation and inaccuracy of observation on the part both of citizens and police witnesses. The presentment, which was signed by William Harris Douglas, foreman of the Grand Jury, was handed up to Judge Mulqueen in the Court of General Sessions.

The city is urged to offer a standing reward of $50,000 to bring about the apprehension and the punishment of the guilty. A number of regulations are advocated for the purpose of shutting off supplies of explosives from such criminals.

As a substitute for dynamite and similar exlosives the grand Jury recommends the investigation of "liquid oxygen." This is a substance resembling "liquid air," which is condensed from the air and is said to be developed into usefulness for practi- purposes. Its alleged superioity to dynamite and TNT, it is agued, lies in the fact that it would be unworkable in the hands of assassins, because it must be manufactured a few minutes before it is used or its explosive power is dissipated.

WATER MAIN BURSTS, TWO ARE KILLED

TWENTY-EIGHT OTHERS ARE INJURED AND $100,000 DAMAGE DONE BY DEFECTIVE PIPING IN MONTREAL.

13 FAMILIES HOMELESS

Canadian Press.

MONTREAL, Feb. 21.— Two boys were drowned, damage estimated at over $100,000 done, 13 families were rendered homeless, and 28 persons were taken to the Montreal general hospital as the result of the bursting of a high water main feeding the east end of the city, which occurred at the corner of St. Urbain and Dorchester streets early on Sunday morning. Of the 28 taken to the hospital only two were seriously enough injured to be admitted to wards. The water worked its way into the houses after filling the cellars and rising to the next floor, and spouted upwards with such force that the tenements collapsed under the pressure.

S. Fortin, assistant director of public works, said that the water pipe which burst was a bad piece of piping, which had broken frequently during the last three or four years. It carried a ressure of between 80 and 90 lbs. to the square inch. The dead are:

Isaac Schachter, 8, of 215 Urbain street.

Abel Schachter, 2, of the same address.

CONFERENCE ON EASTERN PROBLEM ON

to preside at the conference and A. J. Balfour, who was to have attended the League of Nations Council meeting in Geneva, Switzerland, which opens on the same day, will participate. In addition to representatives of England, France and Italy, Belgium may also send an official delegation.

Plans were complicated.

Plans for holding the conference were complicated by disputes which arose both in Turkey and Greece as to the delegations to represent those countries. The Rhallis ministry in Greece fell and a new Premier, M. Kalogeropoulous, was chosen. He is expected to head the Greek Commission.

Eleutherios Venizelos, former premier of Greece, now in London, is expected to be an unofficial envoy to the conference, as it was while he was premier that Thrace and Smyrna were given to the Greeks. He is on friendly relations with the Allies, while the attitude of the Allies toward the new Greek Premier has not been defined.

The Ottoman Position.

Venizelos has declared that "the possibility of restoring in any degree whatever the biasing rule of the Turk by any revision of the treaty is incredible."

Turkey's representation at the conference was complicated by the fact that the Ottoman government, headed by the Sultan, controls only a small territory in the vicinity of Constantinople, the Bosphorus and the Sea of Marmora, while Anatolia, the greater part of Turkey in Asia, is controlled by Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the leader of the Nationalist revolt which followed the Treaty of Sevres.

Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish Grand Vizier, heads the delegation that will represent the Ottoman government of Constantinople. Kemal Pasha, who at first declared he would not do so unless the Allies withdrew from Turkey, and waived their indemnity claims, also consented later to send representatives to the meeting.

(Canadian Associated Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 21.— The opening of a new offensive by the Turkish Nationalists against the Greegs on the Symrna front is expected, says a Constantinople despatch to the Evening News to-day. The Nationalists are concentrating in great strength all along the front, the despatch adds.

(Canadian Associated Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Revision of the Sevres treaty so as to give Turkey additional territory in Thrace, now occupied by the Greeks, was decided upon to-day by Premiers Lloyd George and Briand in the consultations preceding the Near East Conference here. The decision, however, requires the approval of the Allied colleagues of the Premiers.

ARE YOUR BEDROOM WALLS RESTFUL?

What to Avoid in Redecorating Next Spring.

The walls of a bedroom are most restful when perfectly plain, although a narrow stripe or even a small-figured, all-over pattern printed in delicate tints tints upon a white, ivory, or pale background may sometimes be permissible. "Spotty" figures which insist on being counted, up, down, and diagonally—and particularly those of intricate design in which it is easy to perceive grotesque faces or animal forms—should be rigorously avoided.

In the principal rooms of the house the greatest effect of restfulness, as well as spaciousness, is produced by using the same wall color throughout, preferably choosing either ivory or a soft, neutral tone of gray or tan. The rhythmic spacing of paneled walls confers an atmosphere of eled walls confers an atmosphere of dignity and calm upon a room, whether the paneling is of choice woods, carefully toned and waxed, or is inexpensively produced by outlining the panels on a tinted or painted wall and with narrow wood molding finished to match.

It is of course quite possible for a patterned wall-paper to be restful, if rightly chosen and hung. There are available many delightful reproductions of small patterned Colonial wall-papers, as well as many quiet tapestry effects of modern design. A gray or tan figured paper may be used in the hall, and plain gray or tan in the adjoining rooms, without destroying the restful feeling produced by an unbroken vista of uniformly decorated walls.—Good Housekeeping.

BRITISH WEST INDIES NOT FOR BARTER OR SALE.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 21.—The foreign office announced that the attitude of the government with regard to suggestions that Great Britain turn over the British West Indies to the United States in return for cancellation of war debts had not changed from that of a year ago, at which time the prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George, declared Great Britain had not the slightest intention of bartering or selling any part of the West Indies.

This statement was made in commenting on the resolution introduced in the United States' Senate yesterday by Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, concerning possible negotiations for such an exchange of the British West Indies for the wiping out of Briain's debt to the United States.

PRESENTATION FOR MR. STUART DARLING.

In interesting item of the proceedings at the oyster supper given by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McGregor, at their home on the 4th line of Smith Township, last week, was a presentation to Mr. Stuart Darling by the Young Men's Bible Class of Gilmour Memorial Church. Mr. Alex. Edmison presented Mr. Darling with a handsome gentleman's companion, while Mr. Harold Archer read the following address.

Mr. Stuart Darling,
Smith Township:

Dear Stuart: The members of the Young Men's Bible Class of the Gilmour Memorial Church realize with regret that our removal to South Monaghan will sever your connection with our class.

The hapiest relations have always existed amongst us as boys together and during all the years of our Sunday school attendance, from the Primary to the present, we have known you only to admire your quiet humour and your kindly ways.

We ask you to accept this companion as a token of our esteem and as a reminder of your many old friends of the Young Men's Class.

Enactment of Eight-Hour Day, Contain Deportation Repeal, Etc.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.—Legislative requests submitted to a committee of the cabinet, included enactment of legislation to bring about the eight-hour day; repeal of that section of the criminal deportation of British subjects; unemployment insurance; less expenditure for naval and military measures and development, and the reduction of unemployment by the inauguration of a shorter working day by factories before those factories close down, thus throwing their workers out of employment.

U.S. FLEET PRETTY POOR, THIS ADMIRAL THINKS.

Is Unorganized and Unprepared for War, Declares Rear-Admiral.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.— The present United States fleet is "unorganized and unprepared for war even as a one-plane fleet," Rear-Admiral Fullam, retired former superintendent of the naval academy, said before the senate naval committee.

'It was reprehensible to divide a strong force, but to divide a weak force is worse," the admiral said. "It is not an exaggeration to state that if there is danger of war, the division of the fleet is a peril to the nation.

"If we are to have war in the Pacific in five years, we ought to prepare for it now. The new base as Alameda will not be completed then."

"MONS CAPTURED BY AMERICANS."

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—No longer can there be any discussion as to who won the war. The whole question has been settled definitely and forever. On what was the Grand Trunk Railway, but now is the Canadian National, the newsies are selling a diary, which, after asserting that this "chronology is compiled from official and authentic reports," makes the modest entry, "Nov. 11—— Armistice signed and hostilities cease as Mons is captured by Americans."

It will be useless for any Canadians, who were in the neighborhood of that city on Nov. 11, to query the accuracy of that statement for it is based on "official and authentic reports." It is only fair, however, to add that the diary was printed in Duluth, Minnesota, the home of the illustrious Paul Bunyan, of Munchausen-like imagination.

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Peasey Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered with irregular menstruation, was weak and run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains, so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy and I seemed to be smothering. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of medicines and had been treated by physicians but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if these facts will help some poor woman use them as you please."—Mrs. J. F. PEASEY, 387 King St., Toronto, Ontario.

If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Peasey did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health.

After the "Flu"

Four Children Had Whooping Cough

Whooping cough, although specially a disease of childhood, is by no means confined to that period, but may occur at any time of life. It is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than male children.

Whooping cough starts with sneezing, watering of the eyes, irritation of the throat, feverishness and cough.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the clogged-up air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way bring on the "whoop," which brings the so-much-sought for relief and heals and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. J. M. Rouse, Imperial, Sask., writes:—"After the 'flu,' last fall, my four children took whooping cought and one of them developed bronchitis. After using two or three botles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup they were greatly relieved of their nasty coughs. It is an especially good remedy for children, and is so nice they take it readily, and ask for more."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c. and 60c. a bottle at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DOCTOR SAYS FLESH EATING BREEDS DISEASE.

Strongly Advocates Fruitarian Diet — Food and Fertility Go Hand in Hand.

(Associated Press).

LONDON. — Dr. Josiah Oldfield, English physician and author, who believes that flesh-eating is a prolific source of disease and one of the worst enemies of the human race, is of the opinion that the wastage of life caused by the war might be speedily repaired by right feeding.

Dr. Oldfield is a strong advocate of the fruitarian diet and has been senior physician of the Lady Margaret Fruitarian Hospital at Bromley. Writing from Jamaica, he says:

"My observations here confirm my views that food and fertility go hand in hand. The commission dealing with the grave problem of the steadily falling birth-rate in Europe has failed to grasp the fundamental truth which applies to vegetable and animal and human life alike—that a right dietary means increased fertility and wrong feeding leads to increasing sterility.

"If a gardener wants much foliage he feeds the plant with one food; if he wants fruit or seed he feeds it quite differently. So does the stock-feeder and breeder. It is a difference in food only which transforms similar eggs, one into a drone and another into a queen bee.

"Whereas before the war in every European country the birth-rate showed a steady fall, yet in Serbia, Bulgaria and Roumania, where the hardy peasants still lived on rye bread, dried fruits, vegetables, cheese, oil and sour milk, there was a continuous high birth-rate and no decrease.

"Here in the West Indies, where the dark races live on yams, sweet potatoes, cassava, Indian corn, sugar, milk, cocoanuts, bananas and oranges, with some salt fish, the birth-rate is high and the fertility irrespressible.

"Owing to ignorance and want of sanitation, the infant mortality is high, but when that is removed the black population will multiply at a far higher rate than the white, unless the white population of the world learns that it is corn, oil and wine, salads, milk and honey which produce a fertile race, and that meat eating spells increased sterility."

Smoot and Frelinghuysen Say Treasury Ruling May Cost Up to $4,000,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Anywhere from $1,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 may have to be returned to distillers, liquor dealers and former saloon keepers under recent rulings of the Treasury Department, Senators Smoot of Utah and Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, told the Senate to-day. Senator Smoot estimated the probable total of such repayments at $1,000,000,000, while Senator Frelinghuysen said that, according to estimates furnished him, the amount would certainly be $2,000,000,000, and might reach $4,000,000,000.

WHITMAN GUARDED AGAINST ASSASSINS.

Armed Detective With Him After Eleventh Letter Containing Threats.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The life of ex-Governor Charles S. Whitman, who is investigating the Police Department, is being guarded vigilantly because threats of assassination have poured in upon him since The New York American began an attack upon him on last Sunday.

An experienced detective, Joseph Russo, heavily armed, has been directed to be Mr. Whitman's constant companion and protector after the former Governor received the eleventh threatening letter which had reached him since the beginning of the Hearst attack, according to a man intimately concerned with the precautions taken and the reason for them.

ARREST MAN AND WIFE FOR FORGING CHEQUES.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 12.— A man giving the name of Leo Borovitch, 34 years of age, and his wife, 26 years old, were arrested here on their arrival aboard the steamer Empress of Britain from New York in connection with the alleged passing of fraudulent cheques for $40,000 in New York just before sailing. The police stated that the woman was wearing a belt containing $30,000 in cash. Borovitch, according to the police, admitted passing the cheques.

EGGS FROM CHINA ARRIVE IN OTTAWA.

Ottawa citizens may now indulge in real Chinese omelettes made in part of eggs from China. A carload of eggs all the way from Hong Kong were received in Ottawa a few days ago and are now being distributed. They are very small, brown in color, and have a very hard shell. The local produce dealers say this shipment will have little effect on the local prices, many times this quantity being received from time to time from the United States. During the last few days eggs have dropped from 80 to 50 cents per doz.

BOLLING IS EXONERATED.

Find President Wilson's Brother-in-Law Did Not Use Influence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—R. W Bolling, President Wilson's brother-in-law, and treasurer of the United States Shipping board, was exonerated before the Walsh investigating committee of charges that he was paid for using his influence to secure shipping board contracts for supply companies.

These charges were made to the committee by Tucker Sands, former cashier of the Commercial National Bank, Washington. Boiling and other witnesses denied them. Bolling declared Sands was attempting to "get' him for not having used his relationship with the president in getting favors for Sands.

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY.

The new regulations making it necessary for owners of firearms to secure an official permit, authorizing them to have such weapons in thir possession, were designed for the protection of the public, and were made necessary by the number of crimes in which guns have been used. If the law was carried out to the letter it would be a nuisance, as permits would have to be secured for every kind of firearm, even those that are kept as souvenirs. There was, of course, no intention to invade the homes of law-abiding citizens in search of weapons—the object of the regulations is to prevent crooks and gunmen from coming into possession of revolvers or other firearms. And the police will enforce the offensive weapon act, it is hoped, with due discretion and not unnecessarily worry people who are not to be placed in the dangerous category. No citizen of good reputation need be concerned about the new regulations—the law is for the protection of such people, and only the crooks have reason to worry about the matter.

THE OTTAWA SITUATION.

The first week of the present session of Parliament has been more or less a case of marking time. The issue has been joined. The Liberal Opposition has opened hostilities with an amendment calling for a lack of confidence vote and the Government has retaliated through the Premier, its intention of remaining in office as long as possible. And since the two leaders have spoken, the debate has dragged along in a listless, colourless way, varied only by the mysterious speech of L. J. Gauthier, the Quebec member who has deserted his former Liberal colleagues. The chief interest for the present centres in the Farmer group, who have been awaiting the arrival of their leader, Hon. T. A. Crerar. They will probably take their turn in the debate this week and the country will then have a better opportunity to gauge the situation. Until their views are set forth there is more or less uncertainty as to the form developments will take. So far the session has been free from fireworks—in fact has been more than usually dull. But this week may see a change.

THE POLICE ESTIMATES.

It is reported that some members of the City Council are contemplating an onslaught on the estimates of the police department, taking advantage of the legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature, which gives municipal councils the right to refuse payment of the Police Commission's demands if they consider them excessive. The wisdom of allowing the board of aldermen to have anything to do with the expenditures of the police department has always been questioned by many citizens and the Council should be careful in their handling of the matter. There is no reason to assume that the Commissioners are extravagant in their demands and the main point to be considered is whether or not value is being received for the money disbursed on the police department. The Chief's annual report, just presented, gives valuable evidence on this point. Chief Newhall declares that the activity of the city's detectives "is respected by all crooks all over the continent, with the result that Peterborough has been blacklisted by the criminals of the Dominion." Certain it is that in the midst of the crime wave throughout Canada and the United States, Peterborough has been singularly free from serious crime of any kind and the efficiency of the police department must be given a large share of the credit for this most fortunate condition of affairs. In that respect we seem to be getting results for the money invested. This year the Chief has asked for four more policemen, and the commissioners have decided to appoint half of that number, a matter of $2,200 in salaries. With their appointment, protection is promised for sections of the city that the department has hitherto been unable to look after. Chief Newhall should be given every chance and no obstacles should be put in his path in first year of office by reason of a parsimonious policy in dealing with the estimates of the department.

THE GROWTH OF CITIES.

"The other day Mr. J. B. O'Brian of the Civic Guild, declared that he wished it were possible to stop Toronto's growth, and now it is Henry Ford who says that all cities are growing too much and that industry should be developed in small communities. Can it be that human beings are at last going to lose the delusion that bigness constitutes success."—Globe.

The above paragraph suggests another reason why Peterborough, in addition to all her other advantages, should prove attractive to new industries looking for a location. Manufacturers are beginning to realize that it is folly to centralize their plants in the big cities of the country and are seeking out smaller communities where the conditions are better for their employees. The advantages offered by Peterborough in this respect are apparent. Here, while comparatively all the facilities and conveniences of the bigger cities are available, there are the added advantages of an absentee of slum conditions, of room in which to breathe, of a chance for workingmen to own their own homes, of the opportunity to cultivate a garden and of a cleaner, more healthy existence all round. Herding all the industries in the larger cities may add to the size of these centres, but does not add to the happiness of their citizens or to the general prosperity of the country. A spreading out of factories, as Mr. Ford suggests, so that the smaller communities get their share, would have a beneficial effect that would be nation wide.

EFFECTS OF REDISTRIBUTION.

There is a good deal of discussion at the present time about the redistribution which will be made after the census, now being prepared, is taken. One objection raised to an election at the present time is that it would deprive the west of the increased representation which it expects to have after redistribution. The Manitoba Free Press the other day, although on general principles believing that an appeal ought to be made to the country, uttered a note of warning that such an appeal would deprive the western provinces of their increased membership in the House of Commons, which it estimated at twenty.

Is there any certainty that the western provinces will have an increase in their representation? As every student of the British North American Act knows, the basis of representation is found in Quebec according to that Act. That Province was given a perpetual representation of not more than 65 members, and the number of members from each of the other provinces bears to the population of that province the same ratio that 65 does to the population of Quebec. Quebec is never at a standstill in increasing population, and as a result, from statistics on hand, it seems certain that that province will have a population of 2,600,000. This data has been given the Recorder and Times by one who seems satisfied that the population will be fully as large as stated.

Now didvide 65 into 2,600,000, and it will be found that the basis of representation for each member will be 40,000. Ontario, if it reaches three million population, as it ought to, will be entitled to only 75 members. At the present time Ontario has 82 members, so she will probably lose seven.

The most sanguine does not predict a population greater than 8,000,000 for the entire Dominion, for it is a well known fact that until last year there has been little immigration since 1914, while on the other hand not a few people have left the west. Suppose the population of Canada be 8,000,000, with a unit of representation of 40,000, that means 200 members, or a decrease in the present membership of 34. From whence will this decrease come? It cannot come from Quebec because Quebec is assured of 65 members under the constitution, so it must come from the other provinces. Ontario will lose a number of members; the Martime Provinces also. If these figures be correct the west is not likely to have any increase in its representation and there is a possibility of there being a decrease.

The representation from each province now is: Ontario 82, Quebec 65, Nova Scotia 16, New Brunswick 11, Manitoba 15, British Columbia 13, Prince Edward Island 3, Saskatchewan 16, Alberta 12, Yukon 1.

A study of these figures would reveal the fact that it is not altogether unlikely that in the next House of Commons, Quebec will have fully one-third of the entire representation.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The League of Nations at least provides some of the government speakers with a safe topic for discussion.

Has "economy" been entirely eliminated from the City Hall dictionary?

Or do the aldermen expect to carve enough out of the police department estimates to make up for the increased expenditures elsewhere?

With the assessment and tax rate both climbing it looks as if Peterborough ratepayers would be caught both coming and going.

The new Senate chamber must look like a peaceful harbour to many a veteran member of the House of Commons.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

The young lady next door wonders why the housing problem could not be solved by electing a few more to the Hall of Fame.

"Yes," says the Backfence Cynic, if the present tendency in the style of women's clothes is maintained, the bald-headed row may adjourn to the street corners.

"Pop," asked Willie, "What is a Commission?"

"A commission, my son, is a body of men appointed by a government to do what no government would dare to do."

In an effort to give the public the news at the earliest possible time, we have scooped all Canadian papers on the important news of the remainder of the week. Following are the feature stories:

Tuesday — G. Howard Ferguson and Hartley Dewart will suddenly discover that they were both attacking the Drury Government on almost similar grounds, and will turn upon each other.

Wednesday—The Ottawa correspondents will decide the fate of the Meighen Government.

Thursday—The same gentlemen will pick the new Cabinet ministers as usual according to their semi-weekly programme.

Friday—There will be a number of robberies in Toronto, several automobiles being included in the haul, and the Toronto Mail and Empire will publish another illuminating article on auto purloining.

Saturday—There will be more rumours from Ottawa as to what measures the government party will take in retaliation for the Liberals' action regarding "pairs," which, as the Montreal Star observes, always beat King high.

He—In the first place the girl who would be my soul mate would have to be different from the average.

She—Yes; I am quite sure she would.

HINTS FOR WHEN YOUR MOTOR STOPS.

First Thing to Do is to Diagnose Cause of Trouble.

When Mr. Car Owner's motor stops dead on one of these February days, the first question he usually asks himself in either plain or profane language (or both) is "How does it get that way?"

Futile queries of this sort are not likely to help the motorist out of his predicament. What he should learn to do, is to diagnose his car's ailments so he can put his car into running condition again without delay.

Suppose your engine quits with some funny sounds from the direction of the carburetor. First, see that there is gas in the tank, and if there is, your trouble is a dirty carburetor or a clogged gas line. Open the pet-cock at the bottom of the carburetor and see if there is gasoline in the float chamber.

If no gas comes out, disconnect the gas line leading to the carburetor and if gas comes out, the trouble is a clogged screen just in front of the line connection. Here is where many gas lines become clogged. To clean the strainer, unscrew plug and drop connetion, remove dirt until flow is free and then make connection again.

If, however, the gas does not flow the trouble is further back, probably in the screen right at the gas tank, near the water pocket. Clean this out by disconnecting. Considerable trouble can be eliminated by draining the tank occasionally through the petcock, provided for that purpose, under the gas tank.

Cars provided with vacuum tanks have another strainer on the top of the vacuum tank where the gas line connects. To clean this strainer make disconnection in usual manner, the loosened coupling and line uncovering the business end of the screen.

If all strainers are clean and no gas comes, disconnect the line and blow through the pipe. Sometimes a mighty blast of compressed air is necessary to completely free the line of foreign matter.

A dirty gas line is seldom noticed, particularly on cars with no vacuum tank, until one starts uphill. Then the motor spits like a cat. The line needs attention. On cold mornings a little attention to the carburetor will prevent trouble.

The other reason for a sudden quitting of the motor is ignition trouble, a case when the motor dies without murmur or a spit. Ignition trouble may be caused by neglected connections, loose or exposed wires, loose fitting brushes, loose battery connection, or circuit breaker not breaking right.

If ignition runs from the battery, test the system by stepping on starter and watching dial on dash. If the ammeter does not quiver and the starter does not kick over, look at your battery connections, particularly the ground wire. See that these terminals are securely connected and free from corrosion.

Clean the battery connections by unscrewing plugs on end of wire connection and scrape with a knife. Treat both connections this way.

Another place to trace trouble is a loose wire connection on ground coil or distributor box. Sometimes trouble may be traced to the key connection. By working starter and wiggling key around in its socket this can be remedied temporarily, although expert attention shoul be given the part as soon as possible.

EAR IS PROOF OF AQUATIC ORIGIN.

Worms First Colonizers of Land—Voice of the Frog.

LONDON.—"We bear in our heads proofs of our long-lost aquatic ancestry," said Professor J. Arthur Thomson in the course of the fifth of his Christmas lectures at the Royal Institution.

He pointed to the formation of the ear, which, with its delicate chain of bones, corresponds with the organs of the lateral line of fish. This links us with the days before the creatures had left the sea.

"Then, too," he said, "if you taste blood you will notice how salty it is. Is it not extraordinary that the proportions of salts found in the blood of mammals is almost the same as the proportions of the salts in the sea water?"

Land Conquerors.

When life came up out of the sea the plants were the pioneers and pathfinders, and it was this "Conquest of the Land," which was the subject of the professor's discourse.

For the first colonisers of the dry land were the worms. It was they who began the profitable habit of always moving one end of the body first, that is, of distinguishing between a head and a tail, and then pushing the head foremost. It is thanks to the despised worm that we have a right hand and a left. The jellyfish is the same all round and has no more a right side or a left than a glass tumbler.

The worms were the first cultivators of the earth, makers of the fertile soil. They ploughed before the plough, and on their early agriculture rests all our prosperity today.

Coming of the Centipedes.

"The golden age of the earthworm" was millions of years ago. The second great invasion of the dry land brought centipedes, millipedes, insects, spiders. The golden age was at an end, for the centipedes pursued the worms, and so in the course of the ages, the earthworm ceased to be the lord of the earth, an undisturbed and undisputed monarch, and has become one of the most persecuted creatures in existence, hunted by the birds by day and by moles by night.

The professor laid stress on humanity's great indebtedness to another unappreciated race—the frogs and toads.

Have you ever thought, he asked, that for millions and millions of years the silence of the world was broken by no voice of life? There were the sounds of thunder, of breakers on the shore, of water falling, but there was no cry of living thing. A silent world! It was the frogs and the toads—the amphibians—who were the first to break that enormous silence.

They were the first animals to have vocal chords, and the first to have a moveable tongue. "A lot of sonsequences have sprung from that," added the professor, slily.

Bees and Cats.

The lecturer referred with just pride to the discovery, made recently at Aberdeen, of the cause of Isle of Wight Bee Disease. He confirmed the report that this is really due to a little mite which gets into the air tubes of the bee and blocks them. This choking of the passages prevents the life-giving fresh air from circulating in the insect's body. Thus its vital energy is exhausted and it is unable to fly.

THE PATCHES.

One reason, perhaps, why a great many roadside and amateur tire patches do not hold when the tube is assembled into the shoe is that rubber cement is used which is not up to the mark. Usually the cement has been reposing in the car's tire repair kit for quite a time, and it is therefore not so fresh and active as it once was. Be sure to get the best materials you can in the first place, and, further, before going on a long trip examine the tire repair kit to make sure everything in it is in good condition.

LINCOLN TREE STILL SHOWS GOOD GROWTH

Was Planted in 1861, and Was Transplanted Later.

Not far from the imposing Grant Memorial in the city of Washington is a memorial to Lincoln, green and wide-spreading—a hornbeam tree planted by the latter in 1861, the first year of his presidency. When the Grant site was chosen, some years ago, the choice necessitated the removal of the great tree to some other part of the Botanical Gardens, and protests came from every quarter, the writers fearful lest the transplanting would prove fatal. It did not so prove. Those who attended the recent raising of the equestrian statue of Grant could not doubt the robust health of the Lincoln tree. Hornbeams are natives of Europe, slow of growth but magnificent when grown. They attain a height of 100 feet. Their wood, when polished, is closely akin to ebony.

On Buying Curtains

If it's a dainty thing—a brilliant chintz, vivid cretonne, shimmering silk or gossamer chiffon— buy it with never a fear of not being able to wash it. Remember LUX is at your service—its pure, bubbly suds whisk the dirt away, leaving colors bright and clear, and the daintiest fabrics sheer and fresh as when new.

Silk and colored curtains---and LUX

Whisk a tablespoonful of LUX to a whipped-cream-like lather in a gallon of very hot water; then add cold water till lukewarm. Swirl the curtains about—work quickly—press the rich suds through and through the curtains, but never rub. Rinse in three lukewarm waters. If you can, roll in a towel to dry. Or, dry in the shade.

For white curtains—not silk—soak for an hour in cold water. Then wash in the same way, using hot suds. Rinse in three hot waters and dry in the sun.

STREET CRIES AND ARCADY

(By J. K. CHESTERTON)

(Copyright 1921, by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service, Inc.)

I was recently walking in front of a row of rich, respectable houses, rather like tall tombs. There was a sort of park railing in front of them, and on the railing was a little notice which tempted the wrath of God by saying that hawkers and street-cries were forbidden. It certainly stimulated the wrath of men; or at any rate of one man. It is when I see such things in such streets, much more than when I see the slums, that I feel we are ready for the Revolution. Perhaps after all some of the people living in that street will live to see a Revolution. They will live to hear some street-cries then.

The more innocent and beautiful sort of street-cries, to which these snobs were so anxious to shut their ears, are perhaps the last faint echoes of Merry England. Nothing could be more civilized, in the highest sense, than introducing atouch of rhythm and melody into the advertisement of common wares. The old musical advertisement was much more truly worthy of a cultured people than the coarser appeal of the new pictorial advertisement. Our fathers, like poets, bought and sold by means of songs. And we, like savages, are reduced to signalling to each other by picture writing. The street-cries that survive have doubtless degenerated, like the streets. We can form from such fragments only a very faint idea of the ancient custom and culture from which they come. But we know, by independent historical evidence, that they come from a remote period when a popular culture was rather specially a vocal and melodic culture. Foreign mediaeval opinion witnesses to the fact that Merry England was especially musical England.

If even the modern rich were really merry, the solicitors and stockbrokers living in that street would have their own street cries. I like to think of a banker publicly recommending his bank in a sort of ballad; and every merchant wandering about as a minstrel. The lawyer should have a lyrical cry about law like the one about lavender; and a sort of ululation fron the doctor announce his medicine as if it were milk. The Bolshevists are said to have forced people like bankers to sell boot laces. But I am a very moderate Bolshevist; and I should be content with forcing them to sing about boot laces, or even about banks. Yet even in this fancy we can see the fallacy; for such a song would be futile if it were forced. The little bankers who can sing and won't sing may be made to sing, but their song will hardly be of a hearty and rousing sort. And this train of idle reflection naturally led my mind back to the people who do still occasionally sing, and even dance such as the peasant in some of the southern countries. We have been accused of idealing such peasants; but indeed there is a curious paradox in the current version of the ideal and the reality. The real prejudice against peasants is very like the real prejudice against street cries; it is an irritation at once against the ritual and the rude self expression of poor people. The viva-city of the southern village is faintly annoying, because the village consists of streets in which no mere motive could forbid street cries.

Just as it is the coercionist and not the nationalist who believes in the Stage Irishman, so it is the capitalist or collectivist and not the distributionist who believes in the Stage Peasant. It is exactly the materialists who profess to find our ideal an impossibility, whose picture of the material facts is itself impossible. They represent us as romantically praising the peasant for being a happy Arcadian. But they themselves hace actually blamed him for being a happy Arcadian. I do not mean merely that they have blamed him for being Arcadian; they have actually blamed him for being happy. They describe us as describing him as if he were Tityrus perpetually lying idle under the shadow of a beech tree; with scarcely the energy to pipe to a few dancing lambs. But as a fact, they themselves have not only described him as lying idle under the beech tree, but they have actually reviled him for his idleness.

Up to a little time ago at least all our commercial culture referred, for instance, to the southern peasant as "the idle southern peasant." Now the mere phrase "the idle peasant" is very near a contradiction in terms. It is as we had habitually used the phrase "the motionless acrobat." It is as if every other newspaper writer had habitually mentioned "the deaf and dumb elocutionist." It is as if all our current conversation were full of blind sightseers, earless eavesdroppers and legless dancers. A peasant means a man who manages to make his own field pay by his own labor; often an exceedingly difficult thing for any man to do. There are infinite complexities of human immorality, and they doubtless include the most extreme complexities of human inconsistency; but it is almost as easy for a miser to be a drunkard or for a pirate to be a poltroon as for a true peasant to be a true idler. Yet we all know that Victorian literature and journalism were full of these fancy pictures of the smiling and sunburnt reseal of Italy or Gascony, lounging his life away between the sun and the shadow of his vine. How he came to have any vine; or how the vine came to grow on his particular plot of land, the Victorians did not enquire. The Victorians had never experimented in growing vines. In their rugged, strenuous northern fashion, they confined themselves to drinking wines. They drank their port after dinner and discussed the indolence of the Portuguese. With mighty muscular efforts the Victorian Vikings poured out the juice of the vine and drank it, laughing at the loitering and impotent dreamers who had done nothing but dig it, grow it, train it, tread it, ferment it, store it and sack it in carts. I have a great deal of respect and sympathy for these Victorian visions; I am only pointing out that it was they who were the visionaries. It is we who are the realists. Peasant work and peasant wealth are the two great realities. There are all sorts of 5hings c connected with them that people may not like; there are all sorts of things that I should not like; but the realities are there whether we like them or not. It is not we who imagine an Arcadia and then call it Utopia. It is they who first imagine the Arcadia and then actually abuse it for being as happy as an Utopia. They insist that there is no real peasant except the ideal peasant, and then abuse him for being ideal.

Now, behind this mistake, as behind many mistakes, there is another idea that is not entirely mistaken. These Victorian critics did not really condemn the Arcadian shepherds; because there are no Arcadian shepherds to condemn. They were not really disgusted with idleness of the southern peasants; because the southern peasants are not idle. But they were disgusted with something; and something which produced on their minds something like a sincere impression of idleness. There was something with which their capitalist conception of society was really unfamiliar, and towards which it was really unfavorable. It was part of that conception of life to have a certain contempt for foreign conceptions of life; which prevented anything like a patient study of them. They wished to express their vague impression in a short phrase; and the shorthand of it was laziness. It stood to them for something which they honestly felt to be horrible, misshapen, unnatural and almost obscene. It was not laziness; it was not even leisure; it was liberty.

What really puzzled them was not that the peasant never worked, but that he worked as they were accustomed to seeing the poet work or the politician workl. It was not that he never worked, but rather in a sense that he never stopped working; it was in truth the terrible fact that he was never out of work.

He had not to be harassed perpeually in order to get work as if it were a fugitive wild beast to be hunted on the mountains, or to "keep work" like a ferocious wild beast to be kept and fed in a cage. Work was a tame creature and would come when it was whistled for, at any time of the day or night; and sometimes there seemed to be more whistling than working. Work was a domesticated animal; and, like all domestic things, was sometimes a nuisance. The man would often gratify the impulse to leave off working and go back to whistling, or possibly to singing. It is that sudden bust of song that really horrifies the critics from the commercial towns. It is that horrie human noise that can be swept from the streets, but can never be swept from the small fields. A man may stop working to sing or he may sing while he is working, or his song may even grow more loud when his work is more lively; but the very fact of having in his head another rhythm besides the rhythm of the wheel of work, will inevitably involve changes and variations of pace, pauses, exaggerations and special effects. One one day his labor may be like an epic, on another, he will attend to a few trifles like a few triolets. The Eight Hour Day of the Socialists and the Twelve Hours of the Capitalists, will be equally meaningless to him. No plutocrat can make him work; and no bureaucrat can prevent him from working. Thus we find among peasants something that we never find among proletarians, though the peasants may be more thrifty and the proletarians more pleasure loving; we find positive and creative crafts and imaginative institutions of their own invention, not borrowed from anybody. Of that sort of popular culture the street cries are but stray echoes, not now, perhaps, so much worth listening to in themselves. The great houses are shut against them, and by this time the great houses may not lose very much. But I have a feeling that their doors and windows would remain sealed, if a blind beggar came singing down the road, telling in temendous words of the slaughter by Scamander or the tomb of Hector the Horse-Tamer.

The Young Mother

Youth, with its vitality, makes for the young mother's health and happiness. But later, maternal experiences bring a different result. The care of a family, multiplied household duties, and very often the weakness caused by womanly disease, tend to prolong the suffering and to make convalescence a slow and weary process. Many women—perhaps your own neighbors—have had beneficial experience with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which prepares the prospective mother. Send 10 cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of tablets.

HAMILTON, ONT.—"I was advised by a practical nurse to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic during expectancy, and I have had every reason to be grateful for her advice, because it kept me in perfect health and I had practically no suffering. The 'Prescription' not only benefits the mother, but I am positive the child is benefited, too. I would not hesitate to recommend this 'Prescription' to every expectant mother."—MRS. C. WIFE CRUSHED, FROZEN? HUSBAND UNCONSCIOUS.

Sad Story of Tragic Mystery Follows Fatal Runaway.

(Canadian Press.)

BATHURST, N. B., Feb. 21. — With her husband lying unconscious a few yards away, the body of Mrs. John A. Jagoe, lying crushed beneath a heavy gasoline engine, was the tragic discovery made by neighbors at the doors of the Jagoe home at Clifton, a few miles from Bathurst. The details of the accident never will be known and can be reconstructed only in theory.

Mr. Jagoe had visited Bathurst to make some purchases, and was returning home with an engine as part of his sledload. As he was entering the driveway of his farm he was stunned apparently by a board knocked from the fence by the sled colliding with it, and fell clear of the vehicle

It is believed that his wife, coming to his assistance with a lighted lantern, in some manner startled the horses, and they, with a sudden start, upset the sled, allowing the heavy engine to fall on the woman, or as frozen to death as she lay in agony could not be determined.

OYSTER SUPPER IN SMITH TOWNSHIP.

Farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Darling.

A large and happy company of Central Smith people came together on Thursday evening last, when Mr and Mrs. J. A. McGregor entertained with an oyster supper, the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Darling on the eve of their removal to South Monaghan.

After supper Mr. T. H. Graham took charge of the proceedings presenting a program of piano solos, duets and violin selections, interspersed with speeches from many of those present. An interesting item was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Darling, of a handsome quarter-cut-oak secretary accompanied by the following address.

Mr and Mrs. Russel Darling,
Smith Township,

Dear Friends,—As the time draws near for your removal to your new home in South Monaghan, your many friends in Smith Township wished to spend a social evening with you and to express our regret at your departure from our community.

As this neighbohood has always been "Home" to both of you, we have pleasant recollections of your childhood days. The kindly disposition of the children we remember has developed as the years have passed and we new feel, as you leave us that we are losing good obliging neighbors and generous friends.

In asking your acceptance of this secretary we desire to assure you of our esteem, and of our best wishes that you may be spared in health and happiness for many years of usefulness in the community to which you are going.

Signed by Jos. Mann, R M. Fraser, Edward Mahood, Thos. McMullen.

Smith Township,
Feb. 17, 1921

Mr. Darling responded with a brief speech thanking the friends for their kindness and also acknowledging the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. McGregor in making the gathering such a pleasant event.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

CAPT. TOM WALLACE DIES IN TORONTO

M.P. FOR WEST YORK AND SON OF LATE CABINET MINISTER.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—The death of Capt. Thomas G. Wallace, M.P. for West York, took place early Sunday morning in St. Michael's Hospital of pneumonia, after little more than a week's illness. Until within a short time before his death good hopes were entertained for his recovery, but a sudden affection of the heart rendered futile the efforts of attending physicians.

The late Captain T. G. Wallace was the eldest son of the late N. Clarke Wallace, former Minister of Customs and a member of the Cabinet of the late Sir John A. Macdonald and subsequently that of Sir John Thompson.

PROMINENT NEW YORK MAN PRAISES TANLAC

John F. Hyatt, of Albany, N.Y., Is Relieved of Severe Attack of Rheumatism of Many Years' Standing.

JOHN F. HYATT
227 Pearl St., Albany, N.Y.

"I am now seventy-two years old and am just getting rid of fifteen-year case of rheumatism that had me so crippled up I could not walk," said John F. Hyatt, 227 Pearl St., Albany, N.Y., in relating his remarkable experience with Tanlac, recently. Mr. Hyatt was chairman of the committee in charge of building the Albany County Courthouse and was four times elected a member of the County Board of Supervisors. At present Mr. Hyatt is Assistant Superintendent of the Albany County Courthouse, with offices in the building.

"I don't believe," he continued, "anybody could have rheumatism any worse than I did, and my case was of such long standing I didn't expect to ever get over it. I was unable to walk except for a short distance, supported by a cane, and even then the pains struck me every time I took a step. My legs, hips and ankles hurt something awful and my joints were stiff and achey. I couldn't cross my leg without having to lift it up with my hands, and to turn over in bed, why, the pains nearly killed me.

"My appetite was gone and the sight of food nauseated me. My stomach was out of order, and I had a sluggish, heavy feeling all the time. I was weak, off in weight and discouraged so that it looked like I might as well quit trying to ever get well.

"I had no idea Tanlac would relieve my rheumatism when I began taking it last Spring. I took it because I saw where it would give a fellow an appetite. Well, sir, I was the most surprised I ever was in my life when the rheumatic pains began to ease up. I took seven bottles in all and, it's a fact, I didn't have an ache about me, was eating fine and simply felt like I had been made over again.

"I have been in the best of health ever since, with only a slight twinge of rheumatism at intervals, I do not need my cane now, but as I had been unable to walk without it for several years, I got into the habit of carrying it and so still take it along. I am enjoying life and health once more and can conscientiously recommend Tanlac as the greatest medicine I have ever run across in all my experience."

WAASAW ARSON CASE HEARING THIS MORHING

panied on these trips, sometimes by her husband.

Saw the Fire.

Charles Calder, storekeeper, in Warsaw, said that he had known Mrs. Larush for three or four years. This included the time that she lived in Lakefield.

Mr. Hatton—How many months was the house vacant before it was burned?

I'm not sure. It was less than a year. From some time before August.

Were you ever in the house?

Yes. I wouldn't care to pay more than $300 for the property.

On the night of November 16th, you were driving on that road?

Yes; I had been up in the country about 8 miles. I returned about 9 or 9:30 o'clock.

Did you see anybody at Larush's house?

Yes; there was apparently someone coming from the house. There was also a buggy going north. Just one person was in it.

Mr. Hatton—You drove past the buggy before coming to the house?—Yes.

Did you see the fire that night?—Yes.

Did you go to the fire?—Yes.

In what part of the house was it?—Upstairs. The flames had not then broken through the roof.

Burned to Ashes.

Mr. Calder said he had helped with others to fight the fire, but didn't succeed. The house was reduced to ashes and the driving shed of the Methodist church was partly burned.

Witness said that he heard the first alarm of fire about fifteen minutes after he had passed the house. He was draining the radiator of his car when he heard some one call out "Fire! Fire!"

To Mr. Widdifield, Calder said the Larush house had been painted and dressed up with a new verandah.

Mr. Harry Peacock.

Harry Peacock, proprietor of a hotel in Lakefield, testified that Mrs. Larush and Miss Sloan drove up to Hendren and Hunter's livery stable, two doors along Queen street from the hotel.

"It was about 12 o'clock," witness stated to Mr. Hatton. I had heard by a telephone message of the fire in Warsaw. I told Mrs. Larush that I had bad news for her. When I said her house had been burned she replied "I have no enemies in Warsaw." She seemed to be surprised.

Mr. Hatton—Did she tell you where she had been?

Mr. Peacock—She said that she had been in Smith.

Did she tell you she had been at her house in Warsaw?—No.

Had Visited House.

C. H. Hunter, partner in the livery business of Hendren and Hunter, of Lakefield, swore that Mrs. Larush had hired a horse from him in the evening of November 16th, and driven off about seven oclock. She said that she was going to drive about 5 miles out in Smith township.

Mr. Hunter said that he had driven to Warsaw with Mr. and Mrs. Larush about a month prior to the night of the fire. On that carier occasion the trip was made about 8.30 p.m. Witness said that the goods left in the house were strewn about.

"It was all upside down. Potatoes were scattered about in one room. An empty quart whiskey bottle was in another room. I had the impression that some one had broken into the house. That thought came to my mind when I saw the rooms."

House worth $600.

William A. Richardson, insurance agent, Norwood, testified that he had insured the Larush property in the Phoenix Company for $500 of which $400 was on the house, and $100 on the furniture. On the day after the fire, he said, "some one, I think a woman, telephoned me from Lakefield, and said "Have you heard that the Larush house was burned last night?" I said No. Sometime later I heard from Warsaw that there was considerable talk about the fire, and that it was regarded as a suspicious fire."

No insurance had been paid up to Friday, Mr. Richardson said. The policy had been made out to the husband, Andrew Larush.

Mr. Widdifield: Did you consider $400.0 on the house was all right?

Mr. Richardson: Yes. I thought that it was worth about $600.00 apart from the land.

"Is it customary for a claim to be made to you or to the company?"

"The party usually notifies me and I notify the company."

"That was done in this case?"

"Yes."

Lionel J. Bishop.

Deputy Fire Marshal Bishop, in his evidence, told of an interview he had with Mrs. Larush in the presence of Constable Watson, of Lakefield.

"She denied having been near the house the night it was burned. I told her I had evidence that she had been seen there. Finally she said, 'I guess you got me, all right.' She then told me all she had done. She had gone to Warsaw with Miss Sloan to get sealers. She said she had dropped a match in a box of feathers, and that she told Miss Sloan she had dropped a match in some feathers, and she thought her house would catch fire. She dictated a statement with my assistance, and signed it."

Part of the statement was: "I used a match for a light and dropped it while it was still red hot in feathers and didn't bother to put it out. When I went out I said to Miss Sloan, I believe I have dropped a match and my house is going to catch fire."

To Mr. Widdifield. Mr. Bishop said he had led Mrs. Larush to believe he had seen Miss Sloan.

"And you hadn't seen Miss Sloan?"

"No."

"Therefore you told or acted a lie?"

"If you wish to take it that way."

"Did you explain the duties of a Deputy Fire Marshal?"

"I think I told her I was investigating the fire. She told me after signing the statement, that she didn't set fire to the house intentionally."

Mrs. Rose Larush.

Examined by Mr. Widdifield, Mrs. Larush said she was born in England in 1860. She had two matches in her pocket when she entered the house in Warsaw.

"I struck one in the kitchen. I went upstairs in the dark. I struck the other match. I picked up six or seven sealers and brought them downstairs. Part of the match fell on the floor. I put my foot on it. I held the other part in my hand. If there had been any fire left in it, I would have felt it. I think it was out. There were some feathers in a box there. I'm sure the match was out. When I went out on the verandah the horse and buggy were not in front of the house. So I went back into the house and put down the sealers behind the door. I then locked the door and called Miss Sloan. When she came up I asked her where she had been. She said the horse wouldn't stand, so she had driven along the road. She asked me if I had brought the sealers. I said I had put them back in the house when I couldn't see her, but that I would go back later in the week for them.

"When Mr. Bishop came in he didn't say who he was. He asked me where I had been on that night. I told him I had been to Bridgenorth, maybe six or seven miles. He didn't tell me his business, and I wasn't going to tell mine. Afterwards I told him I was in Warsaw. I told him the truth, that I had gone after sealers. I said I had struck two matches. I didn't tell him I had dropped matches in feathers or that I had told Miss Sloan I thought the house would burn."

Judge Huycke: Why did you sign the statement?

Mrs. Larush: I was kind of upset by him because he didn't come in like a gentleman.

Mr. Widdifield: Did he read those parts about the matches and Miss Sloan?

"No. He left them out."

To Mr. Hatton: Some of it was read to me and some left out.

"You told Hunter you were going 5 miles into Smith?"

"I said I might drive into Smith."

"When you came back, you talked to Peacock. Why didn't you tell him you were to Warsaw?"

"Because it was none of his business. He didn't ask me."

"When he told you your house was burned, you didn't say 'That's too bad,' or 'I've just come from there'—nothing like that?"

"No. I had no occasion to say it."

Mrs. Larush told Mr. Hatton that she had wanted the sealers to preserve citrons.

The case was concluded at 1.30 this afternoon, when Mr. Widdifield began his address to the Court.

Mrs. Larush Acquitted.

After hearing the argument of Mr. Widdifield and Mr. Hatton, Judge Huycke froceeded immediately to give his decision, in which he dismissed the charge and acquitted Mrs. Larush.

His Honour declared that the written statement submitted by Mr. Bishop had been improperly procured, and that the Crown's case would have been strengthened had that alleged confession been omitted.

Judge Huycke stated that Mr. Bishop had no business in approaching Mrs. Larush as he did. Ruling out that part of the Crown's evidence, Judge Huycke said that there remained the two statements made by Mrs. Larush, one to Hunter, the livery stable keeper, and the other to Peacock, the hotelman. His Honour said that he was not quite satisfied with the explanation the defendant had given of these two incidents, but that deficiency was not enough to warrant conviction on the very serious charge of arson.

BLUE PENCIL MAKES PREMISES BRIGHTER HERE

Hary Thornton Says That the Wholesale Prices Inaugurated in His Semi-ready Store Will Rule Until the End of February.

"Our sale would seem to be just what our folks have been waiting for," said Harry Thornton, "and during the balance of February we hope to move out half our stock, even though the loss to us will be tremendous.

"While we have advertised that there will be no exchanges during the sale or no refunds, it does not mean that we will let any customer be dissatisfied—but it does mean that our whole staff will be very busy. We will always rectify errors, for we hope to be in business here for many years to come.

"We are selling suits as low as $20.50, and there is not on the market a really high-class woollen suit at this price wholesale.

"While our blue price cards tell the sale price, every man can see just what he is saving, for this has always been a plain open face price store. We believe in that. In fact, Semi-ready clothes with their value marked in the silk label in the pocket, have about killed the old secret mark prices. These old hidden prices were intended to allow the salesman to get as much more as he could get.

"Money must regain its pristine purchasing power, and our shop is going to take a loss now in the hope that we will be able to buy for less and sell for less, despite the fact that there is as yet nothing to justify this outlook," concluded Mr. Thornton.

Contentment is all well enough in its way, but it is death to enterprise.

LADIES SUPERVISE THE WEEKLY DANCES IN G.W.V.A. HALL

OBJECTIONABLE FEATURES ARE ELIMINATED—G.W.V.A. ACTIVITIES.

Mrs. Margot Asquith, in her audacious biography, remarks that she heard the news of the armistice with a numb sort of feeling. It was tidings of so momentous an aspect as to be received with a certain lack of surprise. What seems more noteworthy to anyone who remembers the lengthy days of the Great War is the manner in which its active participants have come back once again to the ways of peace. The hands that erstwhile were busy cutting wire entanglements are now just as busy measuring off yards of silk and ribbon, the feet that stepped gingerly over silent down-faced forms in No Man's Land are now following the horses through freshly upturned furrows, and the eyes that looked on Death in many forms are occupied to-day with the funniest movie or the latest idea in neckties. War and slaughter has not made these men rough and fierce by any means. The G.W.V.A. Hall, where the returned soldiers assemble, is a place of clean, orderly comfort. There is no air of secrecy about it. One outside may see through clean windows into any of the lower rooms, there is a well-apointed room, with kitchenette, where the Ladies' Auxiliary meets to sew and talk, and where the Baby Clinic holds weekly gatherings, on all sides one's wants meet with courteous attention, and women can pass through the billiard room without fear of hearing objectionable language. The dancing hall, which is often rented by private societies, is kept always on Thursday nights for the Great War Veterans' weekly dances, which last from 8.30 to 12, and are run on rather formal lines. They are under the direct personal supervision of the ladies of the Auxiliary, and those wishing to attend must procure invitations from one of them or someone on the board of management. In this way, objectionable features are eliminated, and it may not be quite so easy in future to blame everything on the "returned man," who has often in the past been made the scapegoat for the sins of others, but who really seems now to be doing "his bit," as he did in a different way in the rough days, to "turn the spears into pruning forks, and beat the swords into plowshares."

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

EAT LESS MEAT IF KIDNEYS FEEL LIKE LEAD OR BLADDER BOTHERS.

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing ocasionally, else we would have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment that you feel an ache or a pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few mornings and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

If We Could But See the Tremendous Amount of Industry It Takes to Make the Things We Use

Maybe, we would not wonder that they cost so much. On the contrary, we might wonder that they cost so little.

To follow the evolution of a cotton seed from the cotton field, a tree from the forest; a bit of ore from the mine, until they reach their finished states would not only be interesting, but instructive.

We would readily see that it is the tremendous quantity produced that assists in minimizing the cost.

The part we play in this community is in the distribution.

Like in the making, it is the handling of large quantities that minimizes the price.

We Are Selling As Much As We Can As Low As We Can.

The Cressman Co. Ltd.

Martin-Senour 100 per cent. pure paint, by its absolute purity and correct proportions of all ingredients, its uniformity of composition, and thorough incorporation of materials by modern machinery, produces a paint that works easiest, spreads farthest, hides best, giving an even film of finest texture and highest gloss, that retains its newness longer and outlasts in wear any other prepared paint, or hand-mixed lead and oil paint.

That is why it pays to use Martin-Senour 100 per cent. pure paint.—The paint for wear and weather.

"Neu-Tone," An Oil Paint Without a Gloss

NEU-TONE is an Oil Paint, WITHOUT GLOSS—a sanitary, washable flat finish for the interior decoration of public buildings, hospitals, schools, churches, theatres, offices, and especially adapted for use in every room of the simplest cottage or the stateliest mansion.

We Can Make Your Home Know the Cheerful Influence of Beautiful Wallpapers

Never before were we so well prepared to fulfill such a promise and never before have we made such a statement so early in the season.

We arranged to have these papers come in early, for we believed that many people liked to have their papering done before the spring rush. We were right, for we have sold many bundles already and have been told they are the most handsome patterns seen for a long time.

The person who likes dignity and refinement in Silverware will find the consummation of their opinion expressed in Cromwell, Old Colony, or Louvain.

Besides being good to look at, it is good to use—nicely proportioned and practical in every way. After years of service, it still retains its beauty.

Everything in Flatware, in the above three patterns, is stocked in our Department on Third Floor.

Spring Millinery!

An Abundance of New Models Shown for the First Time —Suitable for Present Wear

Our millinery department has donned the garments of spring. It has tucked away the few odd hats that were reminiscent of dreary winter and has turned its face to gay spring and glad summer.

To go about and view the flower-bedecked creations of bright or subdued colored straws or satins, indeed, brings a realization of the loveliness of the springtime.

There is a great assemblage of inexpensive models. Just the kind that Women want for early wear and can get much service out of, before and after they purchase their more elaborate Millinery for dressier occasions.

There's a Difference in the New Pumps and Oxfords for Women

We welcomed several smart new models to our stock this week. They are distinguished from former season's goods in many novel ways.

A novel strap Shoe is of Brown Kid Leather, and has a single instep strap that fastens with two buttons; a medium heel and recede toe. Price $10.00.

An Oxford of Brown Kid Leather has a medium height, straight walking heel, medium vamp; plain lines. Price $10.00.

An Oxford of Calfskin in the new Tan shade is a very graceful number, and is quite plain. Medium walking heel, recede toe. Price $10.75.

Our new Spring Brogue is priced at $10.00, and a handsome Black Kid Oxford is the same. A Summer Brogue in White Buck is very lovely, because of the perforations and shapely lines. Priced at $11.50.

DRY RAIDERS SEIZE DRUGGIST'S WHISKY.

100 Cases, 9 Barrels, Found With Firm Whose Truck Was Seized.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Prohibition agents raided the warehouse of John J. Walsh Trading Company, wholesale druggists at 451 Kings Highway, Brooklyn, seizing 100 cases of whiskey. The raid followed the seizure in Manhattan on Tuesday afternoon of a truck belonging to the company, on which were found thirty cases of whiskey, and the subsequent arrest of the driver, Louis Lucas, and Richard Saunders of 786 Washington Avenue, Brooklyn, a rectifier of syrups.

A breeze that caused the rear curtain of the covered truck to fly back and expose the whiskey to a prohibition agent, led to the arrests and the seizures, which are valued at more than $30,000.

PROUDLY HE STAYS IN JAIL.

After Lawyer Had Got Him $20,000 Bail.

MONTREAL, Feb. 21.—When after several days' hard work, James Cranshaw, junior, a lawyer, managed to get the $20,000 fixed as bail for his client, Gerald Bruce, junior, partner of Oswald Brothers, brokers, now under arrest in connection with the failure of his firm with debts estimated at $300,000, the prisoner refused his release. He said as he had been put in jail he would stay there until his innocence was established.

SUPPORT MOVEMENT BETTER CENSORSHIP MOVING PICTURES

The Home and School Association of Queen Mary School held their annual meeting and election of officers recently in the school. The list of officers for the ensuing year has previously been published.

At this meeting there was a short musical programme, consisting of an instrumental duet by Misses Gwen Donley and Irene Breckenridge, a reading by Margaret Clarke, an instrumental duet by Misses Moffat and Johnson, and Scotch dances by the Misses Ella and Peggy Hardie.

Various Reports.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $52.80, and the secretary's report showed a very successful year, both from a business and a social standpoint.

At the school art exhibit, held last spring, ribbons were awarded as prizes to pupils for special work. In April, the teachers of the public schools and the Collegiate Institute staff were entertained at a social evening, by the association. A Rummage Sale was held in May, the proceds being used to help pay for the piano installed by the Association in the main hall of the school. A very enjoyable fete was also given by the pupils in June the teachers arranging a splendid programme of games and choruses In September, a social evening was held, at which the pupils successful in the Entrance examinations were presented with their diplomas by Mr. Clark, principal of the school, the ladies of the Association providing an excellent programme and refreshments. A pennant has been presented to the school by the Association to be awarded to the class having the greatest number of parents attending meetings, and it has been decided to hold every second meeting in the evening to give the fathers as well as mothers a chance to attend, as these evening gatherings have proved a great success.

Railings and Lights

A request has been forwarded to the Board of Education for railings at the side of the steps in two places which have proved dangerous in slippery weather, also requesting that a light be placed at the foot of the steps on the street.

A resolution has been adopted by the Association to heartily support the movement regarding better censorship of moving picture, and in the meantime, it recommends that parents constitute themselves very careful censors of the pictures which their children shall be permitted to see.

PILES

ARE GENERALLY CAUSED BY

CONSTIPATION

There are few, if any, complaints more common than hemorrhoids, or piles, as they are commonly called, and scarcely any which cause more trouble, annoyance and misery.

Ninety per cent. are troubled with them at some time or other, owing to allowing the bowels to become in a constipated condition.

Piles are classed under three headings, i.e., itching, bleeding and protruding, and the excruciating pains which accompany them cause misery wrich is beyond description.

Ointments and suppositories may help and relieve for a while, but to get rid of them, it is necessary to have a free, easy and natural motion of the bowels, at least once or twice a day, and by doing this the cause will be quickly removed.

Milburn's Lava-Liver Pills regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the liver and bowels, thus removing the constipation and all of its allied troubles.

They contain no calomel or drastic mineral ingredients, being purely vegetable. They are small and easy to take and do not gripe, weaken or sicken.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Japanese Crown Prince will sail for England on March 3. Nothing is said relative to recent rumors that he might visit the United States.

The Belgian budget, as introduced in the Chamber of Deputies, totals more than 9,500,000,000 francs, and shows a deficit of 4,500,000,000 francs. The expenditures for reparations will amount to nearly 3,000,000,000 francs.

EX-OFFICER PLAYS A BARREL ORGAN.

Wears a Mask, But is Dressed in King's Uniform

(Associated Press).

LONDON. — For the last few months a common but unwelcome sight in the principal streets of the shopping district of the West-End of London has been a barrel organ played by a man in officer's uniform. The wearer of the uniform, of course, has divested it of all regimental badges. Not infrequently he wears a mask. The spectacle of men who have been deemed worthy of holding the King's commission being reduced to turning an organ in the streets has naturally excited the benevolent instincts of passers-by.

Major-General Sir Frederick Maurice, however, has just spoken a warning to the public on the matter. He was speaking at the Stationers' Hall, and mentioned that of 300,000 demobilized in 1919, all but 11,000 were employed by July, 1920. Owing to the recent slump, the figure was now 13,000.

His association had got into touch with men playing barrel organs, said Sir Frederick, and found out who were genuine, but the majority of those men were certaintly not deserving of public support.

Scotland Yard investigated a case in which two men were living in a private hotel. They took a taxi each day to get their organ, and, before starting out, visited a public-house, and were observed to have ten whiskies and sodas.

"There is no need whatever for ex-officers to resort to organ-grinding," a "Daily Chronicle" representative was told by an official of the Officers' Association who had been investigating the matter. "In every case we have looked into it was found that the man had already been helped by the Officers' Association and had never been refused further help.

"We investigated all the cases in which we could get the names. One man told me that he had been already helped by the association and did not like to come again. He also said he was trying to save up enough money to take his wife to California. Of course I could have got him a free passage, and he promised to come to us again the next morning, but he never came.

"It is true that in each case the man had been a bona fide officer, but they were making a good thing out of it, and did not want to give it up."

WOULD FINGERPRINT ALL CAR OWNERS.

Chauffeurs' Spokesman at Albany Hearing Says Former Cause Most Accidents.

ALBANY Feb. 21.—A motion to have all car owners, as well as chauffeurs, "mugged and thumbed," was made by J. F. Moran, representing the Chauffeurs' Protective Association, at the hearing on proposed automobile legislation before the Internal Affairs Committee. Mr. Moran added that the chauffeurs were not going to stand being knocked around any longer and that they had decided to be heard in all matters which concerned them directly or indirectly. He declared that 85 per cent. of the accidents in the State were aused by owners of cars and not by the chauffeurs.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Further enforced liquidation among shippings and oils caused acute weakness at the opening of to-day's stock market. Atlantic Gulf and West Indies made a precipitate decline of eight points to 42 1-4 in the first fifteen minutes, falling two points between sales. Royal Dutch and Mexican Petroleum lost 1 1-2 and 2 1-2 points respectively, American Sugar 2 1-4 and American Woolen 3 1-2. Numerous other industrials, utilities and specialties were lower by large fractions to two points. Much of the selling was reported to be for the account of the stock exchange firm, whose suspension was announced at the opening of the session.

Other shippings were adversely affected by the drive against Atlantic Gulf. Mercantile Marine Pref. lost 2⅜ points, and United Fruit 3 5-8. Oils increased their losses, Mexican Petroleum falling 3 3-4, and Royal Dutch, General Asphalt and Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil 2 to 2⅜. United States Steel, which withstood last week's pressure, forfeited one point, and other steels and equipments were 1 to 2 points lower. Motor, textile and leather specialties participated in the reaction, also rails. New York Central, Norfolk and Western and "Soo" re-acted 1 to 1 3-4 points. Atlantic Gulf recovered part of its loss before noon, despite further unfavourable rumours, but the entire list showed increased unsettlement. Call money opened at 7 per cent.

Atlantic Gulf and several other leaders made further recoveries during the intermediate session but the tendency in the main was towards additional depresson. Conspicous features of the weakness included Mexican Petroleum, Houston oil, United Fruit, International Paper, Sumstra Tobacco and American Agricultural chemical at two to five point declines.

The leaders were temporarily benefited by the drop in call money to six per cent. but prices fell again later when pressure concentrated in coppers. The closing was heavy. Sales appoximated 550,000 shares.

MONTREAL.

(Canadian Press.)

MONTREAL, Feb. 21.—The local stock exchange during the trading this morning was in a weak condition, practically all leaders being fractionally below their Saturday's closing levels. Abitibi sagged from 43 1-2, its closing figure last week, to 42. Atlantic Sugar proved an exception this morning by strengthening a half point to 31. Brompton dropped 1 1-2 points to 45 1-4. National Breweries was fractionally weaker at 51 3-4. Spanish River also went down a half point to 75. Wayagamack was the only steady issue, remaining unchanged at 80.

At the close of the mornings' trading, Brompton registered a new low at 44 while nearly al the principal issues were in a very weak condition.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

(Canadian Press).

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—Bulls had the advantage in the wheat market to-day, with the trade giving attention to the knowledge that the visible supply was only forty per cent. of the average and that exports to date were much above normal. Besides, houses with sea-board connections were buyers. The tariff situation and the crop outlook tended also to stimulate demand. Opening prices, which ranged higher, with March 1.71 to 1.71¼, and May 1.61¼ to 1.62¼, were followed by a material further advance and then a moderate re-action.

Corn advanced after opening ¼ to 1 3-8 higher, including May at 71 1-8 to 71 7-8. The market continued to harden. Oats went upward with corn and wheat, starting unchanged to ½ to 5-8 higher. May 45 3-4 to 46, and then scoring gains all around. Scattered selling had a depressing effect on provisions.

At the close wheat March was 171 3-4; May 161 3-4; Corn May 71 5-8; July 73. 1-8; Oats May 46. July 46 7-8; Pork May 21.00; Lard May 12.05; July 12.45; Ribs May 11.22, July11.57.

Strength in the wheat market later semed due more to lack of pressure than to any continued aggressive buying.

An unexpected falling off in the visible supply of total corn counted later against the bears. Closing quotations were unsettled 3-4 to 7-8 to 1 5-8 net higher.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

(Canadian Press).

NEW YORK, Feb. 21. — Sterling exchange firm, demand 3.87; Canadian dollars 13 5-8 per cent. discount.

TORONTO.

(Canadian Press).

TORONTO, Feb. 21. — All pulp and paper issues, as well as Canada Steamships Common and Preferred, were singled out by bears in heavy trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. The hammering down of these stocks had a weakening influence on the market generally, but a few stocks displayed resiliency, advancing by fractions. Steamships Common dropped three points to 34 in heavy selling, while the Preferred stock lost one point at 67¼.

Spanish River declined 2¼ to 73½, Preferred stock losing 1½ at 86½. Abitibi next in line was down 1 3-4 to 42, and Provincial Paper was extremely weak, opening at 101½, and declining four points before the noon close. Brompton lost 1½ at 45. Dome Mines, Brazilian and Cement were among the firmer isues.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—Cattle receipts were heavy and trade slow. Quotations: Butcher steers, choice, $9 to $9.50. Butchers' cows, medium, $5 to $7. Calves, $14 to $15.50. Lambs, $11 to $12.50. Hogs, fed and watered, selects, $13.75 to $14.25.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE MEETING

Several Addresses Given—Committees Named.

A meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held yesterday afternoon in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum to explain more fully the work and objects of this organization. A splendid exposition of the work was given by the third vice-president, Mrs. V. J. McElderry, and short addresses were also given by the first and second vice-presidents, Mrs. G. H. Popham and Miss M. A. O'Connell. His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, in an enthusiastic talk on the different branches of endeavour which come within the scope of the League, gave great encouragement to everyone connected with it, and Monsignor McColl also added a few words of praise. There was a fine attendance at this meeting, and the League has already achieved a membership of between three and four hundred since its inception, about three weeks ago.

15 BOTTLES WHISKEY IN ONE SUIT CASE

THREE MILLBROOK CITIZENS ARE CHARGED WITH BREACH OF O.T.A.

PORT HOPE, Feb. 21.—Melville Moyse, his wife and Henry J. Armstrong, of Millbrook, were charged here with having liquor in a place other than their dwelling, and remanded until Saturday in order to subpoena an important witness.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, of Peterborough, is defending Mr. and Mrs. Moyse, and will endeavour to show that the suit case in question was not and never had been the property of his clients.

Evidence for the prosecution was that on Saturday, February 12th, a woman who resembled Mrs. Moyse alighted at Millbrook from the five o'clock train from Port Hope. She carried a suit case, engaged Armstrong's car, and he drove her to a store on Main Street, conducted by Melville Moyse. The latter came out and asked him to leave the suit case in the car and call for him (Moyse) for the night train. To this Armstrong agreed, but later Constable H. Nattress seized the suit case from the car in the former's garage. When opened on Monday, it is alleged this suit case contained fifteen bottles of imperial whiskey.

Mrs. Moyse, defendant, declares she was not in Millbrook on the Saturday in question, being ill in bed.

TRANS-CANADA'S ENGLISH PLAYERS

WELL KNOWN ARTISTS WILL HEAD A REMARKABLE CAST IN CANADIAN TOUR.

Further details are now available in regard to the forthcoming transcontinental tour of Trans-Canada's English Players, under the joint direction of Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., and Messrs. Walter Howard and Percy Hutchison, the well-known English actor-authors.

The company, composed entirely of English artistes from London theatres, will open its tour at His Majesty's Theatre in Montreal on Monday, 28th February, in "The Midnight Wedding," the romantic drama which played to capacity audiences at the Garrick Theatre in London for a lengthy run.

Prominent in the cast are Mr. Frederick Ross, who played the title role in the great production of "Drake" at His Majesty's Theatre in London. Mr. Lonsdale, of the Lyceum Theatre, London, is slated for the principal male role, with Mr. Norman Cannon, another London favourite, who has played leading roles both in London and South Africa in "The Midnight Wedding" and other popular dramas.

These three artistes, all of them of established reputation and high standing on the London stage, will be supported by a company of actors and actresses, whose experience and capacity have been proved in years of metropolitan engagements. Full details will be announced later. The repertoire of plays to be given will include "The Prince and the Beggar Maid" and other famous romantic dramas of the day, such as "The Royal Divorce," "The Red Lamp," and "The Silver King."

WINNIPEG KIDDIES

S. Morgan-Powell, dramatic editor of the Montreal Star, is one of the most drastic critics on the continent. It is said of him that he "pans" more shows than he praises. Of The Winnipeg Kiddies he said in part, "The Winnipeg Kiddies at His Majesty's theatre gave keen pleasure. They possess a sangfroid and ease of deportment on the stage that many of their elders might envy. There is nothing slipshod about their work. On the contrary, choruses and dances go with a swing and a vim that bespeak intelligent comprehension of the significence of enthusiasm in stage work. They are a popular attraction, meriting every encouragement and support."

How is that for praise of Canadian Kiddies The Toronto World of Sunday, Feb. 13, devoted half a page to these Kiddies, showing that we need not go outside of Canada for the best stage talent in the world.

This is what the Montreal Herald said, in part, in a column review of The Winnipeg Kiddies who will play a farewell engagement at the Grand on Wednesday, with a special children's matinee at 4:15.

"A more versatile and all-round clever company of entertainers has not been in Montreal in recent times than The Winnipeg Kiddies who opened at His Majesty's last night. The Pollard Australian children were wonders in musical comedy, but they had not the versatility of these Canadian children. What a change it is from the stage born and bred children we have had in juvenile shows. * * * * These young people from the west bring something of the ozone and vigor of our land of healthy breezes. They are juveniles in name only. They not only entertain, they astound. They have a repertoire that would put many of the adult musical comedy and vaudeville companies who visit us to the blush. They are in a class by themselves."

AT THE ALLEN

At the Allen Theatre, beginning Wednesday, Katherine MacDonald in her latest photoplay, "Curtain!" will be the attraction. "Curtain!" is a story of stage life and it is a picturization of Rita Wieman's delightful Saturday Evening Post story. It is a First National attraction.

In "Curtain!" Miss MacDonald plays the part on an actress who achieves a tremendous success as the star of a new play. She is wooed by a millionaire bachelor through a whirlwind courtship and finally marries him and gives up the stage. Later — after she has become the mother of a boy, she discovers her husband is untrue to her—he having gone to Tia Juana with the actress who has taken her place as star. She returns to the stage, getting back her old place, and scores a tremendous hit. Later she finds real happiness, but how is a secret, the telling of which would spoil your enjoyment of the picture.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"DARDANELLA."

With a wealth of catchy music, bright comedy and specialties, "Dardanella" proved a very enjoyable musical comedy as presented at the Grand to two big audiences on Saturday. There were no well known names in the cast, but the work of the company was none the less appreciated and they found little difficulty in holding the interest of the audience. The most notable member of the cast was Miss Elsie Esmonde, who appeared in the title role and whose singing of a French bird song was so superior in merit that it was a surprise to all who heard it. Unfortunately Miss Esmond has only been given the one song number. A voice like hers in musical comedy is so rarely found that it seemed a pity more opportunities were not given to hear her. William Cross provided a lot of amusement by his work as Josia Pettibone, the millionaire pickle king, and Tom Dayton scored heavily in a black face part, his specialty in the last act being one of the features of the programme. Hyland, Grant and Hyland presented a vaudeville specialty that contained novelty as well as merit and the Hoosier Dixie Four were well received in their song numbers. A well-drilled chorus added both to the scenic as well as to the musical success of the programme, while the augmented orchestra threw all kinds of "pep" into the musical score. "Dardanella" is lively and bright and a good cure for the blues.

HULL PUTS BURNLEY OUT OF ENGLISH CUP RUNNING

MADE IT SURE, THREE GOALS TO NIL—EVERTON ALSO ELIMINATES NEWCASTLE BY SAME SCORE—ALLOA DRAWS WITH THE RANGERS AT ILBROX PARK IN SCOTTISH CUP—OLD COUNTRY SOCCER GAMES.

The feature of the Old Country football games on Saturday was the defeat of Burnley by Hull City. Burnley have been selected by all the critics to win both the League and the Cup this year, and were expected to have an easy time defeating the "Tigers," but the Second Division eleven shut out the leaders of the First Division to the tune of 3 goals to 0. This is what makes the game so popular. The "Villans" again accounted for their rivals in the final last year, and Hudderfield went out by 2 goals to 0.

As was expected, the "Wolves" knocked out Fulham at Craven Cottage, but the "Cottagers" must have put up a game fight, as the score was only 1 to 0. Cardiff City also upset the dope by downing Southampton on their own ground by the odd goal. The Spurs made it 4 to 1 against South-End United at the Kursaal, while Preston North-End put out Luton to the tune of 3 goals to 2 on their own ground. — The "Geordies" visited Everton, where the Toffee aMkers made it 3 to 0 against them. There was only one tie game in the round, and that was at Plymouth, where the home team battled with the "Pensioners" for the full ninety minutes without bulg eeintnahg dvodg etaoin thmh bulging the net. Out of the eight games played four went to visiting teams. There are now four first division teams left in the running, while a first and third division team have to re-play.

Rangers Only Tie.

In the third round of the Scottish Cup there were four drawn games, and the most surprising of them all was that of Rangers and Alloa Athletic. The Scottish League leaders must have been taking things a little too easily. Dumbarton put up the top score by trouncing Nithsdale 5 to 0. Hearts, Celtic, and Partick Thistle all won away from home, defeating Hamilton, East Fife, and East Stirling respectively.

THEY'RE AS FULL OF COMEDY AS A PORCUPINE IS FULL OF QUILLS.

Here they are: the "big" four—declared by newspaper critic to be the funniest act on the stage. It's just one little flash from the big revue to be presented here by THE WINNIPEG KIDDIES at the GRAND Theatre on Wednesday, February 23.

A MINSTREL EXCURSION

There is going to be a big minstrel excursion take place to-night, at the Grand. Did you ever indulge in one of these excursions? They are a sure cure for the worst case of blues, and a positive guarantee of a pleasant evening, spent in surroundings that bring recreation and pleasure.

Would you enjoy a trip from your northern home at this time of the year to be transplanted for a time in to the balmy clime of the Sunny South? There to be surrounded with flowers, picturesue scenery, music, singing, dancing and then later to be carried into the jungles of Africa, where wild beasts roam at will, and savage bands hold high carnival. That would be some trip.

There will be an excellent band to lead the excursionists, and a splendid orchestra to furnish music for your pleasure, as well as for the singing and dancing.

Many have taken advantage of these pleasure trips in the past, and from all signs this one will be the largest attended of any to date, and those of you who expect to be of the party should make your reservations early. The tickets are on sale at the Grand box office.

The committee in charge has promised some innovations and surprises entirely new, and guarantee an evening of rare pleasure. The band will parade the streets the day of the excursion. The great Adams will be with it.

PETES DEFEAT BELLEVILLE IN O.A.B.A. GAME

LOCALS PRODUCE WELL-BALANCED TEAM, WITH GOOD SHOOTING AND STRONG DEFENSE.

Belleville's basketball five, conquerors of Queen's quintet, were handed a stiff set-back in their game with the local Y.M.C.A. team at the Gym on Saturday night, the homesters winning by 3 to 17, after leading at half time by 21 to 13. The game was an O.A.B.A. fixture, in the Intermediate series. As points count on the round, the locals have sixteen points to carry with them when they play in Belleville and Kingston this week end.

The Petes looking good on paper did not disappoint the big crowd on hand to cheer them. They handled the ball in clever style, feeding Seely and Nicholls who did the bulk of the scoring, and also played a strong defensive game Sutherland, usually found at centre, was used on the defense, where he put up a strong game.

The visitors were without Weir who was playing hockey with the Belleville O.H.A. team. The Quinte five had plenty of weight and early in the game were going strong their scoring being featured with shots from mid-floor. But they were up against a superior team, as the score indicates.

Seely Led the Way.

Seeley opened the scoring for the homesters with two baskets, after which the Belleville lads did their best work, Alexander and Yeomans scoring eleven points, before the locals could get going again. For the remainder of the game, the Petes had the better of the play. Thirteen baskets were scored by Seeley and Nicholls, the former getting eight.

The Teams.

Belleville. — Finkle, Yeomans, Marshall, Alexander Morden. Spares—Marshall and Buchanan.

Peterboro—Nicholls, Seely, Stuart Darling, Sutherland. Spares — Brownscombe and T. Pogue.

In the preliminary game, the Normal girls defeated the Y.W.C.A. girls by 17 to 7.

In the afternoon games, Cobourg Collegiate boys defeated the local Collegiates, but the girls evened the score by winning their game with the girls from Cobourg.

DE LAVAL AND C.G.E. IN CRUCIAL GAME

ENTRANCE TO CHAMPIONSHIP GAME AT STAKE IN THE CITY LEAGUE TO-MORROW NIGHT.

With good ice in prospect, DeLaval and C. G. E. Toolroom can be relied upon to furnish a lively game when they meet to-morrow night to decide which team wins the second half of the City League schedule, and plays the final game with Hamilton's on Thursday night. Both teams want hard ice. The game is the first on the card for the night and Fred Waghorne will send the teams away at eight o'clock. The teams will use their regular lineups. DeLaval stopped C.G.E. from winning the first half, by one goal.

Bankers and Hamilton's will play the second game and although the Bankers are out of the race, it will be a real game. Hamilton's are out to win as they have yet to register a victory in the second half.

HOW PRICES HAVE FLUCTUATED FOR PAST TWO YEARS

A correspondent supplies the Examiner with the following comparison of prices:

In 1919 beef hides were ..	35c.
To-day	4c.
Lambs, live weight, 1919 ..	24c.
To-day	9c.
Cattle, live weight, 1919 ..	14c.
To-day	7c.
Wool, 1919	70c.
To-day	8c.

A lady was given three hides to take to the city and after selling them she took the money to buy a pair of boots, but on pricing the boots she had to go back to her husband for two dollars more to enable her to buy a pair of boots fit to wear.
